MORALITY AND BUSINESS

People Suffer Because Some Trusts Break Golden Rule Says Pastor.

REV. MR. HERRING'S SERMON.

Too Many Big Corporations and Individuals Governed by False Principle that "Business Is Business."

Rev. Dr. Chales E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, last night preached a special sermon on "The Golden Rule" and its application to present day business methods. He said in part:

"All things, therefore, whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them, for this is the law of the prophets.' The 'Law and the Prophets' is but another way of saying the Old Testament. The Golden Rule, then, is the message of the whole Bible.

"These words have been parodied into the phrase, 'Do others as they would do you if they had the chance, only do them first.' I fear that this is more than a parody. It is nearer the actual states of affairs in our business life.

"Instead of acting up to the measure of the Golden Rule, many men are governed by the principle that "business is business." They justify the use of this statement by saying, that business cannot be run on sentiment. It is true that a man cannot conduct his business as a sort of benevolent institution, but he should run it righteously, so righteously, that his Lord will approve it. The life insurance companies that were found to have betrayed their trust, probably acted on the principle that 'business is business.' The same might be said of the Sugar Trust. It is good business to buy low and sell high, but that is just what the men have done who have stored away the necessaries of life until the demand for these necessaries greatly increased the price. If the Bible code of morals is correct, then this sort of business does not pass muster with God.

"The Golden Rule is but another way of saying, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' If you will look in the Old Testament, Lev. 19: 18, you will find that this is the message of God to the Jews in their business life, and it is no less a message to us, for Christ reaffirmed it. He declared that this thought with the thought of loving God with all the heart is the sum of all Old Testament teaching. Imagine this motto on the walls of the Stock Exchange and on the walls of every business house, 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' Does it sound too ideal for business? Israel was not to hold it as an ideal to be realized in the future; they were expected to put it into immediate practice and when they failed so to do, the prophets uttered the judgments of God upon them. God's law for business men has not changed one particle.

"The Golden Rule means that a man should act in business on the principle of right, no matter what it costs. Thou shalt love thy neighbor as if positions were reversed and you were in his place. How would you want him to act?

"Because certain great trusts do not live according to the divine standard of the Golden Rule, the people suffer. Let us make the matter more personal. Perhaps because we as Christian people do not follow it, we cause others to suffer."

Asked to Pray Daily.

Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at the services yesterday, requested the members of the congregation to unite in a concert of prayer daily between the hours of 6 and 7 p. m. for the work of the church, not forgetting the missionary, Dr. Paul Wilberforce Harrison, who has just gone to Arabia. A notice of this will be published in the weekly calendar each week.

Gesang's Carnival Night.

The committee in charge of the Carnival to be given by the Gesang and Turn Verein on Sunday night, February 13, has issued invitations for the affair. The committee has engaged Martin Denni, a comedian, of New York, to furnish the entertainment. Music will be furnished by Parnbek's orchestra.

Alumni Association to Meet.

The annual meeting of the alumni association of the Plainfield High School will be held at the High School, February 21. An attractive program has been prepared for the occasion.

Co. K's Annual Inspection.

The annual inspection of Co. K will be held on February 21, under the direction of a regular army officer. The boys are putting in lots of hard work in preparation for the event.

PLAINFIELDER LANDS A CONSUL GENERALSHIP

Arthur DeBrigard, of Grant avenue, today assumed the office of consul general to the United States at New York from the Republic of Colombia, South America. He was officially informed of his appointment by President Gonzales Valencia on Friday by cable.

Mr. DeBrigard served in the same position for six years, or until four years ago, when a change in the administration of Colombia took place. Nearly all his life he has been interested in the political affairs of his country, where he held several official positions.

The re-appointment of Mr. De Brigard is in a large measure due to a petition of leading merchants and importers of New York, who petitioned President Valencia to make the selection.

SPECIAL MUSIC FOR GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE

The Ministers' Association of Plainfield is arranging a special musical service for the evening of Good Friday to be held in the Crescent avenue church. An invitation is extended to all the singers of the city, whether engaged in choir work or not, to form a chorus for this service. The work to be given is "The Passion," by Haydn. It is hoped by those in charge to have a chorus of at least 100 voices. R. A. Laslett Smith, organist of the Crescent avenue church, will conduct the work and Howard M. Case, of the First Baptist church, will preside at the organ.

Those desiring to sing in this chorus should send name and address at once, stating the part they sing, to Dr. W. H. Murray, 737 Watchung avenue, or H. M. Case, 52 Craig place. The first rehearsal will be held in the Crescent avenue church Monday, February 7, at 8 o'clock.

JEFFERY PROVES CASE FOR WOMAN PLAINTIFF

William Jeffery, figured as the principal witness in an unusual case in the Fifth Municipal District Court in New York on Friday. About seven years ago Jeffery, through Joseph Essig, of New York, borrowed $500 from Mary Cambeis, also of New York. Jeffery gave a note for the amount and when it matured, Essig came out to this city, and secured the payment from Jeffery.

According to the testimony in the case Essig paid $300 to Mrs. Cambeis, telling her that Jeffery had gone to Europe, and would pay the remaining $200 on his return. Mrs. Cambeis never heard anything from Jeffery, but while reading a newspaper one day, she noticed his name in a story sent out from this city.

She corresponded with Mr. Jeffery and he informed her that he was the man who borrowed the $500, explaining at the time, that he had repaid the money to Essig. Mrs. Cambeis, on becoming acquainted with the true facts in the case, instituted suit against Essig for the recovery of the $200.

Essig put up the claim that the debt was outlawed, but the court ordered that he pay the money to Mrs. Cambeis or go to jail. Mr. Jeffery, as the main witness, was present at the proceedings and offered in evidence the receipted note.

Entertainment at Heavenly Rest.

The Young People's Society of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, recently organized, will give its first dramatic entertainment in the parish house tomorrow night. The program, which includes three sketches, vocal and instrumental music, will conclude with dancing. The affair gives promise of being an excellent one.

Annual Meeting P. C. C.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Country Club will be held at the Hartridge School auditorium tomorrow night, when reports for the past year will be presented and members of the board of governors will be elected from which the officers will be chosen.

Mid-Year Examinations.

The mid-winter examinations began at the Plainfield High School this morning and will continue throughout the week. All the English classes had their examinations today and during the rest of the week the others will be held.

Mrs. S. W. Mulligan, of Orchard place, has entirely recovered from injuries received in a fall seveal weeks ago.

IN DR. RICHARDS' MEMORY

Union Service as a Tribute to the Late Pastor of Brick Church.

LARGE CONGREGATION THERE.

Three Congregations Unite and the Service is Also Attended By Many Plainfielders.

A union service in memory of the late Rev. Dr. William Rogers Richards was held in the Brick Presbyterian church, Thirty-sixth street and Fifth avenue, New York, last night by the Brick Presbyterian church, Christ church and the Church of the Covenant affiliated. The service was attended by many members of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church of this city, of which Dr. Richards was pastor for eighteen years prior to his call to New York.

The Rev. Dr. Richards, who was for seven years pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, died suddenly on Jan. 7, at the age of fifty-six years. The church was draped in black and strung with evergreens.

Addresses were made by Dr. Francis of the Union Theological Seminary, the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, Moderator of the Presbytery of New York, and the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Stimson of the Manhattan Congregational church. The Rev. Edward B. Coe of the Collegiate Reformed church offered prayer, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke, one of the former ministers of the Brick church, presided. There were about 1,000 in the congregation.

MR. BERGEN DECLINES $300 MONTH OFFERED

Attorney Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, general counsel of the Public Service Corporation, who was appointed by Governor Fort as a member of the commission to codify the New Jersey statutes, has announced that it will be impossible for him to accept the position. Mr. Bergen explains that the pressure of other business will not allow him to give the commission work the attention it deserves and he also suggests that his position as a corporation lawyer would make it difficult for him to act on a commission intended to take up such revisions as are contemplated. The appointment with its monthly salary of $300 is still in the air as a result of Mr. Bergen's withdrawal.

Mr. Bergen was selected by the Governor to succeed Alan H. Strong, of New Brunswick, who resigned. George L. Record was also named to fill the vacancy left by the late George T. Werts. The third member of the commission is County Counsel Joseph L. Munn, of Newark.

The commission was appointed several years ago, but has made no report to the Legislature. Last year a big batch of bills, prepared by the commission and each revising various statutes were introduced by former Assemblyman Young, of Essex, but were withdrawn when former Assemblyman William P. Martin criticised several of the proposed acts. It was suggested by Mr. Martin that no action be taken on the bills until they had been fully and carefully gone over. As they were introduced during the closing hours of the session there was no time for this and Mr. Young withdrew them.

Party for Miss Dow.

A party was given in honor of Miss Nellie Dow, of Somerset street, Saturday night. It was arranged by Mrs. Sparks, of Watchung avenue. There were guests from Newark, Trenton and Philadelphia. Selections were rendered by the Echo Quartet, comprising W. Sparks, Peter McDonough, Arthur Dow and W. Sothers. Frank Shephard rendered piano selections. Dancing and games were the feature of the evening. About fifty guests were present. Music was furnished by Suhr's orchestra.

Young Germans to Dance.

The turning section of the Gesang and Turn Verein will give its annual dance and supper on Wednesday night. The affair will be under the direction of Fred Becker, instructor of the classes.

Present Your Bills.

All bills against the city must be in the hands of the city clerk by tomorrow night to insure payment at the February meeting of the Common Council.

—A choice assortment of dried fruits, including fancy prunes, apricots, evaporated peaches and pitted plums, are constantly on sale at Neuman Brothers' grocery.

FIRST BRONZE STATUE CAST IN THIS CITY

The first bronze statue ever cast in this city is now on exhibition at the Hinman Bronze Works, 710 East Seventh street. It is an imposing work of art and was made for the L. L. Manning Marble Works to be used on a monument for the late P. V. Clark, of Newark.

In addition to this interesting casting there is also on exhibition a varety of beautiful castings, chief among which is a massive ornamental solid door for the Leeds Mausoleum at Woodlanw cemetery, New York. The statue weighs 1,300 pounds and the door more than half a ton. The public is welcome to inspect the products of the Hinman concern.

PLAINFIELDERS DRAWN FOR PETIT JURY DUTY

Well-known men were selected in the Union county court today for service on the petit jury, beginning next Monday. Among the Plainfielders chosen are Howard A. Colby, brother of former State Senator Everett Colby, who resides on Evergreen avenue; George H. Chapman, of West Seventh street; Lewis G Timpson, of Hillside avenue, while Lewis DeW. Wiltse, the well-known baseball pitcher, was also chosen for duty.

Other Plainfielders selected today are Andrew G. Carpenter, Arthur Embury Smith, Charles Arnold, Frank Cullen and William Startup. Mr. Wiltse, although he has been making his home here, has not been in the city for sometime and it is doubtful whether he can be secured for jury duty.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. JOSEPH R. HALL

The funeral services of Mrs. Joseph R. Hall were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home on Central avenue, and were largely attended. Rev. George A. Warner, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross, officiated. There were a great many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in Hillside cemetery and the bearers were Mrs. Hall's two sons, Henry and Bradley Hall; her son-in-law, Charles Western, his brother, William Western, and her brother, Albert Brown.

Mrs. Hall formerly lived in Brooklyn, from which place she removed to North Plainfield. Later she removed to Cranford and again removed to this city last April. Her death was due to apoplexy and was sudden. Besides a husband she is survived by five children—Bradley and Henry Hall, Mrs. Ida Western and Mrs. Charles Western, of this city, and Mrs. A. M. Burleu, of Cranford.

GIRLS HOLD DANCE AT THE PARISH HOUSE.

Under the auspices of the Girls' Basketball Club, of the Church of the Holy Cross, a dance was given at the parish house, Saturday night, and was very successful. Twenty couples were present and enjoyed the dancing, which continued until 11:30. Miss Grace Whitou was the pianist.

The program included waltzes, two steps, the Paul Jones, barn dance and a cotillion led by Miss Annie Johnson and Alden E. Moore. The interior of the parish house was attractively decorated with club pennants and banners. Refreshments were served during an intermission about 10 o'clock.

Miss Susan Bennett was chairman of the committee in charge and she was assisted by the Misses Laura Bristol, Ida Hummel, Emma Van-Alstyne, Marguerite Shotwell and Edith L. Roberts, who also comprise the basketball team. The patronesses were Mrs. George A. Warner, Miss Iola Moore, Miss Miriam Carmen and Miss E. L. Roberts.

Y. W. C. A. Athletic Exhibition.

The athletic exhibition of the class of the Young Women's Christian Association will be given tonight in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and a basketball game will be played between the Y. W. C. A. and the N. P. H. S. girls team. The reserved seats for ticket holders will be kept until 8:05 after which those which are left will be sold at the door. The class in the educational department will open tomorrow night.

Will Hold a "Dutch Market."

A "Dutch Market" will be held at Grace M. E. church tomorrow night, supper being served, beginning at 6 o'clock. The young women of the church will be in charge of the affair.

ASSAULTED EMPLOYEES?

Samuel W. Rushmore, Manufacturer, to Face Charges of 5 Former Workmen.

THREW 'EM DOWN STAIRS.

So Say the Men Who Entered Complaints Before Judge Runyon In the City Court Today.

Five complaints were sworn to before City Judge William Runyon this morning against Samuel W. Rushmore, of the Rushmore Dynamo Works for assault and threats to kill. The complainants were Mike Topack, Amos Woodruff, Patrick Breen, Charles H. Wilson and Joseph McCue, all of whom are residents of this city and North Plainfield.

Edward McCue acted as spokesman for the party and told a tale of abuse which amounts to the wording of the complaint. McCue alleged that the five men went to Mr. Rushmore for the pay that was due them Saturday night, and insteading of getting what they went for they were violently thrown out of the office and down the stairs and in the melee hats were broken and feelings much fractured.

In explaining the causes leading up to the alleged assault Mr. McCue said that the men had resigned their positions with the company on Saturday, January 22, and on that same night, three minutes before quitting time he (McCue) had been discharged without any apparent reason. He said the men went in an orderly manner and asked for the pay which was due them, but were told it was not ready and to get out of the office and get out quick. Not moving with the alacrity which would have seem advisable under the circumstances or quickly enough to suit Mr. Rushmore, it is reported that the latter aided their exit in a whirlwind manner.

The case will come up before Judge Runyon tomorrow morning.

GUARDSMAN'S TRIAL FOR MURDER MONDAY

Walter Jacobson, a National guardsman, who shot his wife the day before Christmas, will be placed on trial next Monday in the Union County Court. The trialwas set for today, but was postponed for one week. The charge is murder. The National Guard is taking an active interest in the case, and Co. C, of Elizabeth, is supplying the funds for his defense.

Jacobson has decided to go on trial instead of asking permission to enter a plea of guilty to the charge of manslaughter. Samuel Schleimer has been retained as his counsel. Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen will hear the case. It is said that Jacobson shot his wife by accident, it being the termination of a friendly tussel the pair had at their home.

CALLAHAN FACES SENTENCE OF $100 AND SIXTY DAYS.

John Callahan, who has frequently been before City Judge Runyon on the charge of drunkenness, was up again this morning on the same charge. He explained to the Judge that he had been to a ball Friday night and had been afraid to go home, so he took a couple of drinks to brace him up for the day—this was too much and he went down and out.

He woke up in a cell at police headquarters Saturday afternoon. This morning Judge Runyon suspended a sentence of $100 and sixty days in the county jail on Callahan's promise to reform.

The Judge, in pronouncing this sentence said he had given Callahan every chance to make good his former promises and had now reached the limit of his patience.

Surprised John Gjettleson.

A surprise party was tendered to John Gjettleson, of 404 East Fourth street, Saturday night, in honor of the fifty-fifth anniversary of his birthday. The affair was arranged by Mrs. John Johnson, of South avenue, and was largely attended by members of the church with which Mr. Gjettleson is identified. Games and refreshments were enjoyed during the evening and Mr. Gjettleson reecived a number of gifts

Press Advs. Never Fail.

The Daily Press is constantly winning new laurels as an advertising medium. Miss Minnie G. Morse, of Franklin place, lost her watch one day last week, and advertised the same in The Daily Press. The watch was found by William Nellis, of 302 East Seventh street, a reader of The Press, and returned to the owner.

CHARLES H. FICKE DIES IN SIXTY-THIRD YEAR

Charles H. Ficke, for thirty years a resident of North Plainfield during wich time he had made a name for himself as an upholsterer and a business man of integrity, died at his home, 18 Duer street, on Saturday night of Bright's disease. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at his late the home, the services being conducted by Rev. John Duerschner, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church.

Mr. Ficke is survived by his wife and three daughters, Mrs. S. H. Schleif, Mrs. George Zepp and Mrs. A. W. Pangborn. He will be missed by a large circle of friends who loved him for his kindly and genial disposition. Mr. Ficke was born in Bremen, Germany, sixty-two years ago last December and was therefore in his sixty-third year.

SNATCHED POCKETBOOK FROM A YOUNG WOMAN

Two youths on upper Somerset street, early Saturday night, snatched a pocketbook from Miss Reed, the eighteen-year-old daughter of Aaron Reed, of 10 Fritz place, as the young woman was returning home from town on a shopping trip, in company with her fifteen-year-old brother.

Miss Reed and her brother were walking and passed two boys apparently about sixteen or seventeen years old. As she was going ahead one of the boys snatched the handbag and with his pal dashed down Somerset street, and disappeared at Coddington avenue.

The young woman screamed for help but before assistance came the young highwaymen were off with their booty which consisted of about two dollars in change. Late in the evening Chief Weiss arrested two boys on suspicion. After searching them at the police station he decided they were not guilty and released them.

"IT'S A GREAT SHOW"—MANAGER SANDERSON

Manager Sanderson, of the Plainfield theatre, is much elated over securing George M. Cohan's "The Yankee Prince," with the original cast of seventy-five and with Tom Lewis as the chief fun maker. The production will be seen here on Wednesday night and Mr. Sanderson says that he will bank his thirty years reputation as a theatre manager on his prediction that the local public will enjoy it as well as any musical comedy ever seen here.

To Tom Lewis have fallen the two best parts George M. Cohan has ever written. Local playgoers will never forget "The Unknown" in "Little Johnny Jones" as played by Lewis, who in "The Yankee Prince" has a role equally diverting and original as Steve Daly, the Chicago sporting man in London. Lewis is even funnier in the new Cohan piece in which, by the way, he is featured than in "Little Johnny Jones" when he was fresh from vaudeville. George M. Cohan never wrote a better show than "The Yankee Prince," which will be presented here by a company of 75 people.

The cast supporting Lewis is a strong one including Lelia Rhodes, Mildred Elaine, B. P. Williams, Sherman Wade, Charles King, John Raffadel, Lola Hoffman, Frank Hollins, J. Jiquel Lance and Robert Emmett Lennon. The production is a gorgeous one.

Park Matter to Come Up.

A special meeting of the borough Council has been called for tonight, at which time Mayor N. B. Smalley will offer to the Council and members of the park commission some timely suggestions on the subject. The park commission, which is composed of George T. Rogers, Robert Clark, Jr., and H. A. Bonn.

Went to Sleep on Sidewalk.

Sheridan Jones, colored, on Saturday night imbibed too much liquor in the borough. On his way home he became sleepy in front of the borough bank and decide dto take a nap. Jones completed his slumbers in the borough lockup. He will be given a hearing in court tomorrow morning.

O'Brien Made a Lot of Trouble.

John O'Brien, after being arrested for drunkenness by Marshal Culver in the borough on Saturday night, made a stout resistance as he was being taken to his cell. O'Brien became so obstreperous that it required the united efforts of three officers to put him in the cage.

FACES BIGAMY CHARGE

Mrs. Clarence Bunnell Causes Husband's Arrest on Serious Charge.

HE STICKS TO WIFE NO. TWO.

Printer Maintained Two Homes in Same Block in New York—To Be Tried at Somerville.

"I love my wife, but I love this other woman more," said Clarence Bunnell, a printer, of 108 Fulton street, New York, when his wife and two sons and a mutual friend confronted him and the woman with whom he claims to have been married in North Plainfield August 1 last.

Bunnell came here on the date mentioned and was married by Justice Clark, and it is alleged that he represented himself as a single man. County Detective Tosten went to Trenton today to obtain a requisition from Governor Fort on Governor Hughes, of New York, for the extradition of Bunnell and he will be arraigned in the Somerset County Court at Somerville.

Although Bunnell is accused of having committed the crime on August 1, 1909, his relations with the other woman were not discovered until December 31, and then quite accidentally. Mrs. Bunnell No. 1, feeling lonesome went to her husband's office and finding him alone sat chatting with him for a while, planning for the good time they would have together on New Years' Day. When he had paid off his help he started home with his wife and on arriving within a block of their home Mrs. Bunnell thought something which she wanted from the drug store.

He agreed to wait for her in an adjacent barber shop as he needed a shave so she went to the corner and he went—not to the barber shop, but to an apartment over a fruit store next door. When Mrs. Bunnell could not find him at the barber's she went into the fruit store thinking her husband might have gone there to purchase some fruit for the morrow. The fruiterer asked her to describe her husband and he immediately said that a man answering that description lived upstairs.

Mrs. Bunnell ascended to the second floor and after her knock was confronted by a woman who asked: "What do you want here?" Mrs. Bunnell replied "my husband," of whom she had caught a glimpse through the half open door. Then and there ensued claim and counterclaim for the over-married man, and the opening remark of this story was proved to the dismay of the rightful wife.

On returning to her home, which she did immediately, Mrs. Bunnell acquainted her two sons with the facts of their father's deflection from his martial duties and the three with a friend of the family repaired to the home of the second wife and there Mrs. Bunnell offered to forgive her husband if he would return to her after making a settlement of a lump sum of money on the other woman. This Bunnell refused to do do.

Mrs. Bunnell then took the matter up with the prosecutor of Hudson county, thinking it was in that county the marriage had been uerformed. Asst. Prosecutor McCarthy, of Hudson county advised her to consult Chief Kiely with the result that upon his advice Mrs. Bunnell swore out a warrant which was issued by Recorder Charles M. Dolliver, and Bunnell was arrested in New York Saturday.

The woman with whom Bunnell has become infatuated is Madeline Lech, of North Plainfield township.

Anti-Spitting Crusade.

Mayor Fisk with the aid of the police is going to enforce the spitting ordinance, and it behooves those who thoughtlessly expectorate on the sidewalks of the city to have a care. The fine for an infraction of the ordinance ranges from two to ten dollars for each offense. Cards are being circulated calling the attention to the law as a caution against the habit.

Mrs. Netta Weaver.

Mrs. Netta Weaver, of 323 Cottage place, died last night in her seventy-fifth year from pulmonary troubles. She was a member of St. Thomas' colored mission of Jerseyland Heights. She leaves one daughter and three sisters. Notice of the funeral will be given later.

Turkey Supper at Trinity.

FOWLER'S PLANS STIR ORGANIZATION

Washington, Jan. 31.—The question of revising the rules of the House of Representatives, and, more particularly, enlarging the Rules Committee, of which Speaker Cannon is chairman, is receiving consideration on the Republican side of that body. There is a report that a Republican caucus will be called within a week or so to take action on the matter.

The introduction of the resolution of Representative Fowler proposing to enlarge the Rules Committee and remove the Speaker as a member of that committee, is the subject of much discussion and is being used to determine the sentiment of members.

A prominent "insurgent," who declined to allow the use of his name, expresses the opinion that a caucus for next week is assured. He asserts that regular Republicans in large numbers are in favor of enlarging the Rules Committee. Several "insurgents" express themselves as not in favor of a caucus, but want action taken directly from the floor of the House.

It seems that Representative Fowler stole a march on both regulars and insurgents by introducing his resolution. There had been negotiations under cover for several days looking to an agreement by which four new members of the Rules Committee could be elected by the House, making its total membership nine instead of five, and giving the Republicans six and the Democrats three. But under the scheme then contemplated the Speaker was to be retained as a member. Fowler heard of this scheme and dropped his own resolution into the basket. Since then there has been more trouble than ever, for there is no telling when some Democrat or insurgent may get in a motion to discharge the Rules Committee from consideration of the Fowler resolution and thus precipitate a fight on the floor which would necessitate a square line-up for and against Cannon.

MAYORS WOULD UNITE FOR A WATER SUPPLY.

Paterson, Jan. 31.—With a view of inducing the municipalities in Northern New Jersey to unite with each other in the near future to obtain a water supply of their own, Mayors of several of the communities interested conferred here with Mayor McBride, of this city, Saturday. In his letter calling the meeting Mayor McBride had explained that the Wanaque watershed was capable of furnishing a supply sufficient for a large number of municipalities for a large number of municipalities now dependent on the East Jersey Water Company for this necessity. At the meeting Saturday there were eight persons, including Mr. McBride, City Counsel Merry, Assemblyman McCran, of this city; Mayor H. Y. Crawford and George B. Harris, chairman of the Water Committee of the Montclair Common Council, Mayor Bird W. Spencer, of Passaic; J. P. Lux, of Nutley, and Joseph H. Vreeland, of Pompton Township.

Mayor McBride explained that the people of Paterson had voted for a municipal water plant. The only watershed available was the Wanaque. That watershed, he said, would supply 800,000 people in this section for ever. Paterson, the Mayor said, could finance itself for the establishment of a plant, but felt it would be cheaper to let the other municipalities in. The necessary plant would cost $2,100,000.

Mr. Crawford said Montclair's water contract will expire in 1912 and that the water purveying company had Montclair under its thumb. Something must be done, he said, and he was very anxious to arrange a plan whereby the municipalities could show the State Water oBard that they were entitled to the Wanaqua watershed.

Another conference will be held at an early date after Saturday's conferees have had an opportunity to confer with their governing boards.

JURY DISAGREES OVER ALLEGED TRAIN THIEF.

After being out all night, the jury in the case of Adelberg Shudley, alias George Surbi, an alleged train robber, who was tried Friday in the Union County Court, came in at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and reported it was unable to agree on a verdict. The jury stood all night eight for acquittal and four for conviction. On the last ballot it stood ten for acquittal. Judge Atwater discharged the jurors.

To Found Artists' Colony.

Berkeley Heights, Jan. 31.—Bolton Hall and Dr. Frank Stevens, of New York, were the guests of William Jeffery, of Berkeley Heights Friday. Mr. Hall has recently purchased nearly 100 acres of land on Stony Hill. Mr. Hall intends to have constructed an artificial lake and near it will have built numerous bungalows and will found an artists' colony.

Miss Katheryn Hartshorne, of Freehold, has been visiting friends here for the past few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow, Jr., who are enjoying their honeymoon in Bermuda, are expected home this week. They will reside in this city.

It hardly seems possible that such a little stream as the River Seine should overflow its bounds—and for Paris to be devastated by floods and torrents—gay, lovely, wicked Paris—why, if it were not for the seriousness of it all the situation would be POSITIVELY GROTESQUE.

This same old, slow-going much-fabled Seine HAS gone on a rampage, though, and the very mischief is to pay.

Speaking of rivers, torrents and the like, a river is PUBLIC OPINION—it flows along peacefully enough one day and, fed by tiny drops of dissatisfaction, it is lashed into fury the next.

NATURE rules the rivers, but PUBLIC OPINION is largely a creature of cultivation—of YOUR cultivation and of OURS.

Take, fo example, a store; things may run along pretty smoothly for a long time and a large trade may be worked up; then let exaggerated advertising, inferior merchandise and poor store service creep in and what have you? One molecule of distrust will fraternize with another molecule and the first thing you know the river of PUBLIC OPINION has risen beyond its banks and you are submerged.

Public opinion is an asset or a liability, just as the merchant chooses. WE consider public opinion as our chiefest asset and so does any other store that's REALLY SUCCESSFUL.

The above, of course, is with due apologies to the River Seine.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Last season not a pound of ice was gathered at Swedesboro. This year George Rode has harvested 5,000 tons.

The Williamstown Grange on Tuesday evening will decide whether or not the college-educated woman makes the best wife.

James Horner, of Swedesboro, a Gloucester County freeholder, is recovering from an atack of paralysis and is able to leave his room.

Following a raid upon an alleged hard-cider house at Millville Friday, McCormack Monahan was held under $100 bail for a hearing.

The Gloucester County Teachers' Association and members of the boards of education of Gloucester county held a meeting in the new Woodbury High School Saturday, when they were addressed by Franklin S. Edmonds, of the Philadelphia Board of Education, and Francis H. Green, of the West Chester State Normal School.

While attending the funeral of his mother-in-law, Justice of the Peace Frank Jones, of Beverly, made a misstep off the porch and fell, spraining an ankle.

Pleading guilty to firing two pistol shots at Garret Hicks, colored, Thomas Haywood, also colored, of Hickstown, was sentenced to three years in State prison by Judge Joline in Camden. The men had a quarrel over a basket of turnips.

Atlantic City school teachers are happy over prospects of a general raise in salaries presaged by the action of the Board of Education, which added $100 a year to the pay of a number of teachers in lower grades. Other teachers will share in the increase as fast as money can be secured.

His team struck by a West Jersey and Seashore train near Risley, Antonio Calabrese, nineteen years old, employed by George Geombol, of Buck Hill, was killed. His buggy was smashed, but the horse escaped injury.

With a record of 200 quail, three foxes and a half hundred wild turkeys, Mayor E. P. Stoy returned to Atlantic City from South Carolina and is recognized as the most successful shot in the resort.

At a meeting of the business men of Millville and Commercial townships Thursday night it was decided to sell bonds to raise the $10,000 necessary to build a trolley line from Port Norris to Millville. The Commercial Township Committee granted the right of way for the proposed line and the meeting was enthusiastic.

Having swallowed several strychnine tablets, Paul, the one-year-old son of William Schlagel, of 815 North street, Millville, might have died Friday but for the prompt action of City Physician Ralph R. Charlesworth.

Bleeding from a deep scalp wound and in a dazed condition, a man, who gave the name of Garrigan, entered the office of Dr. F. V. Ware, at Millville, Thursday night, to have the injury dressed. He stated that he was aatacked by an unknown man, who struck him with a blunt instrument and fled.

For the second time in four months, Mrs. Catherine Donohue was arraigned in the Camden Criminal Court Friday on a charge of assault and battery on her husband. She admitted she struck him, but when she expressed a willingness to take the pledge the case was held under advisement.

The special committee appointed by the Millville Council to consider the advisability of ousting the four assessors and electing one assessor for the entire city has been unable to agree, and will so report to the Council.

O. Kuester, late of 628 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, bequeathed his estate to his widow, Elizabeth. His will was probated Friday, by Surrogate Egan, of Hudson county. It is dated January 3, 1903. He died December 21, last.

A similarity of names nearly cost William Williams, a young visitor to Atlantic City, who claimed Philadelphia as his home, ninety days in the county jail Friday. Williams, to use his own epression, had been on a "little toot," and Recorder Keffer, knowing of similar falls from grace on the part of a man of the same name, sentenced him to jail. Williams' face blanched, but other court officials, who had noticed the difference between the two men of the same name, called attention to the mistake and Williams escaped with a light fine.

The building of new roads through isolated sections of Atlantic county may be halted as the result of charges made by County Collector Levi Albertson that the building of the new road between Port Republic and Cologne was "a waste of public money." The collector insists that the craze for road building is loading up the county with highways that will cost $50,000 a year to maintain, and that the only use of some of the newly planned ones is for pleasure trips by automobilists, whose racing speed tears off the surfacing.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

General enthusiasm marked the annual meeting of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany, the retiring president, last week. The Montclair Golf Club offered its course for the annual championship tournament and the matter was left to the executive committee, with power to select the links and the date. There was some informal discussion as to the advisability of changing the championship week from spring to fall, but the probabilities are that the association will decide to follow custom for another year at least.

Word was also received from the Plainfield Country Club and the Richmond County Country Club to the effect that both of these organizations were desirous of giving their links for one-day tournaments during the coming season. Semi-official statements of a like nature were received from a number of other delegates, so that it is a foregone conclusion that these one-day affairs will continue to thrive.

Mrs. Tiffany made a motion, which was carried, to the effect that the executive committee in future be instructed to communicate with the United States Golf Association with regard to the women's national championship tournament with a view to having the parent organization ascertain the wishes of a majority of the women. This could be arranged, it is said, by communicating with the Boston, Philadelphia and Metropolitan women's associations. The recent action at the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association in the awarding of the next women's national event to the West came as a surprise to many in this part of the country.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Tiffany in appreciation of her faithful work during the nine years in which she has served the association in an official capacity. Mrs. Tiffany has at different times been treasurer, secretary and president. Mrs. M. D. Paterson, of Baltusrol, was elected president; Mrs. Howard F. Whitney, of Nassau, vice-president; Mrs. E. F. Sanford, of the Essex County Country Club, secretary; Miss Julia R. Mix, of Englewood, treasurer, and Mrs. F. E. Donohoe, of Montclair, as fifth member of the executive.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Without doubt the largest and most perfectly equipped organization on tour the present season is George M. Cohan's "The Yankee Prince," which comes to the Plainfield theatre Wednesday, February 2. In order to correctly stage this musical comedy success of the century, it requires a railroad equipment as follows: Four sixty-foot baggage cars, two day coaches, three standard Pullman sleepers, one dining car, and two ordinary day coaches. All movements of the company over the various railroad systems during the present season which has extended from coast to coast, have been handled "Special." One can readily see the enormous expense attached to this one item. But it all bears out the assertion so often made by those prominent in theatricals that Messrs. Cohan and Harris are the most liberal producers in the theatrical profession today.

Richard Carle, who will return to the Plainfield theatre Saturday, matinee and night, February 5, with "Mary's Lamb," is at work on his next musical comedy, which is to be presented late in the Spring. This piece he will call "Pro and Con." In it Mr. Carle will play two characters, brothers—one a ne'er-do-well, the other crafty and cunning. The piece

BAYONNE WANTS A NEW POSTOFFICE BUILDING

Providing for a $250,000 postoffice for Bayonne, Congressman Eugene F. Kinkhead, of the Ninth New Jersey District, has just introduced a bill in Congress. The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to purchase a site in the city of Bayonne, New Jersey, and cause to be erected thereon a suitable building for the accommodation of the postoffice.

Sec. 2. That plans and specifications and full estimates for said buildings shall be previously made and approved according to law, and shall not exceed for site and building complete the sum of $250,000.

Provided, That the site shall leave the building unexposed to danger from fire in adjacent buildings by an open space of not less than thirty feet, including streets and alleys; and no money appropriated for the purpose shall be available until a valid title to the site for said building shall be vested in the United States.

The bill has been referred to the committee on public buildings and grounds.

"Bayonne needs a new postoffice," says Congressman Kinkhead, "and I shall do all I can to secure speedy action. I believe the business men and citizens of Bayonne will back me up in my efforts to show that the city is entitled to a new Federal building."

ANTI-TREAT BILL BRINGS HERITAGE TO LIME LIGHT

Assemblyman Walter Heritage, of Sweedesboro, Gloucester county, who has added to his reputation by introducing a bill to prohibit treating, wants it understood that he means business, and that he will do what he can to secure favorable consideration for the measure. He admits that it will have some rough times.

"My idea," says Heritage, "is that this bill of mine is a good measure for the discouragement of drunkenness, for nearly everybody concedes that this treating habit is one of the most prolific causes of inebriety. If it were not for it, many a man would not drink half as much as he does. The fact is that very many drink after they have had enough, and the only reason they keep in imbibing is because they feel they must accept the invitation of somebody to have something. I want to say, too, that many heavy drinkers favor the bill."

Assemblyman Heritage is serving his third term as the member from Gloucester, and he has thus far done nothing to set the State on fire, but his anti-treat bill has quickly made him one of the marked men in the House.

He is a farmer by occupation, and his specialty is the raising of garden produce. He is a Quaker, and in manner is one of the mildest men in the Legislature. He is 55 years old. He is quiet, and has never been known to ask: "What'll you have?"

Russell Giles, who has been living with his brother, "Dolph" Giles, near Denver, Col., has returned to Plainfield, where he will remain.

HIS SECOND IN SERIES ON 'WHERE ARE THE DEAD'

Continuing his series of sermons on the theme, "Where Are the Dead?" Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, last night took for his text Act 2: 25, and discussed at length the meaning of Christ's descent into Hades. Pastor Broek said that it was important to hold correct views on this subject, for some say that it teaches that there is a probation after death. Continuing, Mr. Broek said:

"In one passage we are told that Christ at His death, immediately descended into hell. He explained that the phrase in the Apostle's creed, 'He descended into hell,' was not found in the original Apostle's creed, but was later inserted by some church father and consequently the ambiguity in the creed is explained.

"Did our Lord really go to hell? Peter in his pentecostal sermon quotes some verses from the sixteenth Psalm and applies them to Christ and shows that these words refer to our Lord. Various theories have been advanced as to the explanation of these words. Calvin entertained the view that Christ actually went to the place of everlasting punishment as a part of His atoning work and that He had to bear all that sinners would have borne. Others state that He went down to the place of punishment to proclaim to the archangel of that place that His power was gone. Others have the idea that Christ went to the place of atonement to preach to the inhabitants.

"Was Christ really in hell, the place of atonement? To answer that question we must examine carefully the word translated hell in the text. In the American revised version is reads, 'Thou wilt not leave my soul in hades,' and in the sixteenth Psalm from which Peter quotes, it reads, 'Thou wilt not leave my soul in Sheol.' Now these two terms are simply original Scripture words—Greek and Hebrew—left untranslated and transferred to the English version. The word Sheol does not necessarily mean hell, the place of torment."

Numerous passages were quoted from Genesis, from Job and from David, proving that the word Sheol did not always mean the place of torment. Sheol, the pastor said, simply means the unseen world where departed spirits dwell and this world has only two departments, and only two; a place for the just and the unjust. The soul of Jesus, when He died went to the unseen world not to the dreary portion of eternal torment, but to that other portion where all souls separated from the body are at peace with Christ, which is Heaven.

"There is no glimpse of probation after death in the Scriptures," said Mr. Broek. "Our destiny is sealed in this life. As the tree falls so will it lie."

The pastor will preach next Sunday night on the subject, "Where is Heaven?"

FOOD VALUE OF THE ABALONE.

The abalone is a clean feeder, so that its flesh is superior in soundness and wholesomeness to that of the oysters and other marine creatures which live near shore in water contaminated by many impurities. Besides this, the viscera of these creatures must be swallowed whole, while those of the abalons are quite separate from the muscular or edible part, and can be cut away by one stroke of a knife, says the Wide World Magazine. The weight of a fairly fresh abalone is two pounds, of which all but half a pound is good meat, the shell being very light. The meat is nutritious, being highly albuminous like that of clams, oysters, lobsters and shell-fish generally. Albumen is one of the chief elements of nutrition in milk, cheese, eggs, etc.

But the flesh, as it comes from the shell, is too tough to be eaten, whether uncooked, boiled, stewed or fried. The toughness used to be partly eliminated by pounding and hammering it, but this did not render the meat really tender. No matter how long it may be boiled, the fish remains hard. After many experiments a San Franciscan named J. W. Gayetty, discovered that if the abalone is killed by electricity its flesh is rendered soft and succulent like that of an oyster. A company uses this method at an abalone canning factory at Cayucos, San Luis Obispo County, California.

This company owns several roomy, seaworthy boats, each carrying two Japanese divers, one of whom goes down for three or four hours and is then relieved by the other. The diver tears the abalones, with moss and seaweed attached to them, from the rocks and sends up the shells as rapidly as possible. Under ordinary conditions he can send up a ton of abolones in an hour. As soon as the boat comes to shore, the abalones if not wanted at once in the cannery, are thrown into a tank of salt water, the bottom of which is strewn with rocks, so as to resemble the floor of the ocean, and are kept there till they are wanted.

The flesh and juice of the abalone is treated together, and the product acquires a flavor more delicate than that of the oyster. This "abalone food" may be stewed or fried, while the juice makes a good broth, soup or appetizer.

UNIFORM LAWS IDEA GAINING, BERGEN THINKS

Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, who for fourteen years has represented the State in the fight which for twenty years has been waged for uniform State laws, is enthusiastic over the progress of the movement.

Mr. Bergen attended in Washington last week the conference held by representatives of forty States, including the Governors of thirty of them, for the purpose of arousing interest in the movement. The convention lasted three days, and two sessions were held each day. The object of the gathering was not to take any definite action in the matter, but merely to rouse public interest. There have been nineteen previous conventions, but not one of them was as large or as enthusiastic as that which has just come to a close.

The object of the movement is to obtain laws governing certain matters that shall be the same throughout the country. It applies mostly to matters of a civil nature rather than criminal. The question of divorce has been dealt with very sparingly, for, Mr. Bergen says, it is a matter upon which there is such a wide divergence of opinion that it has been deemed best to give it little attention.

The movement was started twenty years ago among the lawyers, but owing to the apathy of the public, there were few results until a few years ago. That the movement has been far from fruitless is evidenced by the fact that in thirty-six States of the Union the same laws govern negotiable instruments, and in many the law is the same regarding sales, bills and receipts.

Many bills have been drawn up, the greatest care being used in their preparation, but because the public has not realized the importance of the proposition in many cases the labor of the greatest legal authorities in the country has been wasted.

"What we want," said Mr. Bergen last night, "is to have the public at large brought to the realization of what uniform law means to them, as well as to the lawyer. For instance, merchandise is shipped from New Jersey to California. While passing through each State it is governed by the laws of that State. That matters little if the consignment reaches its destination without any mishap, but should it be lost or misplaced, it depends on the laws of the State in which this happens what procedure will have to be taken in order to adjust matters. Yes, I look forward to the time when the movement for uniform law shall have been entirely consummated."

Besides Mr. Bergen, New Jersey was represented at the conference by Governor Fort, former Vice-Chancellor Emery and John R. Hardin, of Newark. The delegates are appointed in each State by the Governor. It was Mr. Bergen's fourteenth appointment as representative from New Jersey, and he is known to the other conferees as one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the movement.

SCHOOL'S BALANCE WOULD RUN STATE

Declaring that "at no former time have our chool administrative forces had so large a sum placed at their disposal," and contending there is no truth in the reports of extravagance, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Baxter at Trenton, has issued a report in which he seeks to show that the schools of the State are managed economically.

"The total receipts for the year just passed were $21,964,419.88," he says, "and the total amount expended was $17,227,331.78, leaving a net balance of $4,737,088.10.

"So large a balance," he continues, "proves the provident tendencies of the local boards of education and discredits the foresight of those who prophesied an era of 'reckless extravagance.'"

Without noting the criticisms that the State is poor while the school forces are rich and have on hand almost as much as it would cost to run the State government for a year, Mr. Baxter says:

"Of the $17,227,331.78, covering all classes of outlay, $11,583,201.30 was used for 'current expenses.'"

He then goes on to say that "current expenses" is the term which applies to the running of schools, including all salaries, car fare of students in the sparsely settled districts, etc.

Going into figures, Mr. Baxter says that if this sum which was spent for "current expenses" of the schools were divided by 424,534, the number of enrolled school children, the per capita expenditure for education would be $27.28. This expenditure divided by 309,661, the daily average of attendance, gives $37.40. Mr. Baxter says this last example is misleading except for the purposes of comparison.

Defending the course of study, Mr. Baxter says "we teach the three R's better than the old teachers, and much else that the youth of today needs to know."

The second largest item of expenditure, $4,996,877.38, was for buildings and repairs. Mr. Baxter says the seating capacity of the Jersey schools is 426,719, an increase of 31,423 over the previous year.

THE SEED.

Give me the children of the land,
And let me fill their days with smiles.
Let me but take them by the hand
And lead them where the sun beguiles.

Let me but have them for a space
And in their little hearts instill
The joyousness of Nature's face,
And with God's songs their spirits thrill.

Let me but teach them where to find
The blessings that were made for them.
And now in Service of Mankind
Is found man's choicest diadem.

Let me have these and I will give
For each back to my fellow men
A human flower that will live
And bloom a perfect citizen.

PUMPKINS AT $1,000 EACH.

"I saw a couple of pumpkins the other day, which the owner said was worth just $2,000." remarked Colonel Lew Chase, of Kirkville, writes a Macon correspondent of the Kansas City Star.

"They were ordinary Missouri pumpkins, worth, apparently, about twenty-five cents apiece, and I believed my friend was playing me for a tenderfoot. But when he got through telling me the story I saw that his statement was founded on the facts."

"About fourteen years ago Mr. Keith, a banker of Sturgeon, Mo., lent a farmer $1,000 to invest in stocks. This investment turned out badly, and the farmer had bad luck in other deals until he went broke. He just couldn't pay the note. Finally he went out West, and there he made a strike. Things began coming his way, and he was soon in better circumstances than he had ever been before."

"After the lapse of about thirteen years he returned to Sturgeon, bought him a farm and settled down again. The banker again presented his note, which by this time, had grown to $2,000, including interest. The farmer gently called the banker's attention to the fact that the statute of limitation had run against the note, and that it was not collectable by law."

"The banker knew that was true; if the borrower didn't want to pay it he couldn't be made to pay it."

"One bay the banker drove out in the country with a friend, and they passed the farm of the man who had taken advantage of the statute of limitations. The farmer was standing in the field when the two men drove by. The banker spied some large pumpkins, and asked the farmer what he would take for them. The farmer said twenty-five cents apiece."

"The banker selected two of the pumpkins and had them put in his buggy. Then he fished around in his pocket for the fifty cents."

"'By George!' he said, 'I haven't got a cent with me, what'l' I do?'"

"'Oh, you can pay me the next time you come along,'" said the farmer.

"'No, I will just give you credit on that note.'"

"'All right.'" returned the farmer, carelessly.

"The banker pulled out the note, and in the presence of the borrower and the companion who was riding with him he made an entry crediting fifty cents on the note, and then drove to town. The same day his lawyer began suit against the borrower, alleging that a payment had been made, and that it brought the obligation again within the law. The banker collected every cent of the debt. No wonder he is saving those pumpkins."

LARGEST BUFFALO HERD.

On a stormy night, in 1871, a mud-spattered rider galloped into St. Ignatius, Mont., with the news that Walking Coyote, a Pend d'Oreille Indian, had shot his wife and fled over the mountains to the Blackfoot Country. The crime created a brief sensation in the sleepy little Indian village, but Walking Coyote was not apprehended, and for a time lived quietly among the Blackfeet. By and by, however, he wanted to return to his own people, but feared he would be punished for his crime. He talked the matter over with a trader.

"If you want to go back," said the trader, "you ought to do something that will make people forget all about the shooting. Now, there are no buffaloes over in the Fatland valley, why don't you catch some calves and take them back with you? They'll cause so much excitement that the people will forget to punish you for shooting your wife."

The Coyote acted on this suggestion, and as a buffolo hunt was then in progress, he soon captured four calves and turned with them to St. Ingatius, writes Ernest Harold Bayes in Recreation. The result was about what the trader had predicted, and the Indian was never punished. The little buffaloes grew up, and when the two heifers were four years old, each of them had a calf, thus was started what afterward became the largest herd of buffaloes in the world.

In 1884 the Flathead buffaloes numbered thirteen head. At this junction C.A. Allard, who was ranching on the reservation and who had long had his eye on these buffaloes, finally persuaded his old friend and neighbor, Michael Pablo, to join him in a deal which involved the purchase of Walking Coyote's herd. The Indian refused to accept a check, it was necessary to get the money, something over $3,000, in currency. Walking Coyote, a Pend d'Oreille and Mr. Pablo told me how he and his partner sat by the side of the road counting this money, laying a stone on top of each stack of bills.

"We got it in small bills," said he, "and it looked like a pile of money to pay for buffaloes." Apparently fate had not forgotten Walking Coyote, for with the money received for the buffaloes he indulged in a short round of dissipation, which ended in Missouri where he was found under a bridge, dead.

Real Title Service

Do you know that the Company has in its title plants in Newark and Elizabeth an abstract of every deed and mortgage on record in Essex and Union Counties?

Of course the number of these abstracts increases daily as new instruments are recorded.

This, with its elaborate system of locating lands affected by these instruments, together with its habit of PERSONALLY VISITING THE PROPERTY whenever possible and proper, make a PROMPT AND ACCURATE SERVICE possible at a minimum of expense.

Fidelity also has in Newark a vast accumulation of data concerning titles in other counties of the State, a corps of trained searchers being kept continually at work on this LARGE AND INCREASING BUSINESS of GUARANTEEING TITLES.

Every purchaser of Real Estate should insist upon a Guaranty of Title by

"THE TWELFTH NIGHT" AT THE NEW THEATRE.

The presentation of "Twelfth Night," at the New Theatre, New York, Saturday afternoon disclosed several novelties which drew forth favorable comment from Shakespearean scholars. One of the most pleasingk innovations fos the singing by Viola of the little love song, which for years has been sung by Feste, the Clown. The departure, if it may be so termed, was made possible by the fact that Miss Annie Russel, who plays Viola, possesses a fine voice. In the text which has been handed down to posterity the song is given to Feste, but it seems most likely that Shakespeare's original intention was that Viola should sing the air. When Director Ames found that Miss Russell could sing as well as act, he was delighted and assigned to her the melody. In fact, the change from Viola to Feste seems so uncalled for that there can hardly be any doubt that the change was made, not by Shakespeare, but by some stage manager forced to meet a sudden misadventure. It is probable that when Shakespeare wrote the play, the boy who took the part of Viola possessed a voice. In a later production the boy could not sing and the Clown was substituted. Shakespeare's intention, however, that this song should be sung by Viola seems clear. When she first proposes to serve the nuknown Duke as a page, her chief qualification, as she puts it, is that she "can sing and speak to him in many sorts of musicke." Yet at the moment when it would be most dramatically effective for her to touch the heart of the Duke with a song which "deals with the innocence of love," she is silent and the melody is given ot the Clown, who is not in the Duke's service at all, but in that of Lady Olivia.

Another novelty in the production was the use of six instruments which in all probability have not been heard on the stage for over a hundred years. These were the small lute, the medium lute, the cittarone (or large lute), the viol-de-gamboys, the recorder and the hautbois. These were played by six musicians who appeared in the Duke's palace and later in Olivia's garden when the Duke came to woo. When Elliott Schenck, the musical director, asked for these instruments, Hamilton Bell, the art director, had great difficulty in procuring them. Some were bought from antiquarians and others were made.

"The Twelfth Night" will be produced tonight, tomorrow night and Wednesday matinee and night.

ENGLAND'S LACK OF ICE.

Why are we so far behind other countries in the use of ice? asks the London News. In the United States in the hot season ice is regarded as one of the necessities of life. In the towns the ice merchant delivers a large block every day as regularly as the milkman brings milk or the baker bread.

All perishable foods are kept on ice as a matter of course, and an American housewife would be bitterly ashamed if her butter were to appear at table in such a state that it had to be helped with a spoon.

All manner of delicious dishes and beverages, ice creams, frappes, sundaes, are concocted with ice or frozen milk as a principla ingredient. And not merely in the hot weather but throughout the year Americans consume iced water in fabulous quantities.

It is believed by some that this may be one of the causes of the American tendency of dyspepsia. But it has been observed that English people who have spent a year or two in the United States always regret the ice creams and the iced water. It has been stated, too, that the large consumption of sugar in the various elaborate iced beverages is partly responsible for the relatively small consumption of liquid among Americans, since sugar, as some dietary experts believe, discourages the taste for fermented drink.

SCOTCH BREAKFASTS.

Women novelists are prone rather to dress their characters tastefully than to feed them liberally; but Dr. Redgill, in Susan Ferrier's "Destiny," dwells on Scotch breakfasts with a gusto worthy of Peacock, says the London Chronicle.

After proclaiming that Scotland in general is "a percet mass of rubbish," and the cookery not fit for dogs, he adds: "But the breakfasts! That's what redeems the land, and every county has its own peculiar excellence. In Argyllshire you have the Lochfine herring—fat, luscious and delicious, just out of the water, falling to pieces with its own richness—melting away like butter in your mouth.

In Aberdeenshire you have the Finnan haddock, with a flavor all its own, vastly relishing, just salt enough to be piquant without parching you up with thirst. In Perthshire there is the Tay salmon, kippered, crisp and juicy—a very magnificent morsel—a leetle heavy, but that is very easily counteracted by a teaspoonful of the Athofl whiskey.

In other places you have the exquisite mutton of the country made into hams of a most delicious flavor.

George—Do think that I am good enough for you, darling?

Darling—No, George; but you're too good for any other girl.—Illustrated Bits.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

Novelized by
FREDERICK R. TOOMBS.

From the great play of the same name by Joseph Medill Patterson and Harriet Ford. Copyright, 1909, by Joseph Medill Patterson and Harriet Ford.

Nolan reached out and, seizing Dupuy's hand, held it firmly. McHenry, at one side, witnessed with a distinct shock what he understood as Nolan's sudden resolve to, as Dupuy had suggested, let "bygones be bygones," else why should he shake hands with the man? Dupuy also felt a thrill of pleasure, even of triumph, as the one time chairman of the Street Railway Workers' union warmly shook his hand. Dupuy smiled and, bowing pleasantly, essayed to withdraw his hand from Nolan's grip and step away. But his smile turned to a wrinkled contraction of his facial muscles, indicating acutest pain. The giant hand of the ex-striker, ex-miner, was closing with crushing force around the lawyer lobbyist's fingers and knuckles. It did not cease to crush, try as Dupuy might to wrest his hand free. At the moment when he felt that he must scream in his pain or else cringingly plead for mercy Nolan's grip partially relaxed, and he swung Dupuy to one side. A grim smile made its way into the furrows, won by suffering and privation in the Nevada mining camps and desolate gold regions, that marked Nolan's visage.

"You see, I'm stronger than you now, Ed Dupuy, just as you was stronger than me twelve years ago—you and Bartelmy between you." A great sigh escaped him as he finished.

Dupuy, now having freed his hand, rubbed it smartly with the other to restore the circulation to the flattened veins. He wheeled away to pick up his overcoat.

Nolan now addressed McHenry, who had seated himself at his desk.

"You're the managing editor?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, I just want to tell you that that was a true article you had about that old hypocrite, Judge Bartelmy, this morning," he stated to McHenry. "Have another tomorrow and stronger." Another idea came to him, and he added, "Who was it got up that one today?"

Dupuy felt that he must come to McHenry's rescue.

"A young man who has since resigned," he interjected for the managing editor. Both McHenry and Dupuy were growing uneasy at the trend of Nolan's thoughts and words. A glimpse into the craniums of them both at this moment would have revealed the same thought to be predominating: "What is he driving at?"

Nolan appeared distinctly surprised at two things—first, that the writer of the story had resigned; second, that Dupuy should be so familiar with the matter. He took a step toward the latter.

"Resigned?" he asked in reverberating tones. "How do you know?" Before Dupuy could answer Nolan wheeled on McHenry. "Is it so, what Dupuy says?" he asked of the managing editor.

"Yes, sir."

"What's his name?"

"Wheeler Brand."

"What did he resign for?"

"Some of the big advertisers forced him to," admitted McHenry calmly.

A look of understanding flitted across Nolan's face. He shifted his glance from McHenry to Dupuy. Then, with a significant smile, he said:

"I see you are still on the job, Ed Dupuy."

"Well, it's business"—began the lobbyist defiantly. But Nolan would not listen to him. Thoughts vastly more important than conjecture as to Dupuy's motives now crowded his brain.

"Where is Brand now?" he asked sternly of McHenry.

"I think he is in the local room now, sir," pointing to the door at his left.

The new proprietor strode impulsively to the doorway and called at the top pitch of his powerful voice: "Wheeler Brand! Wheeler Brand!"

As he had hurried from the managing editor's room after his dismissal from the Advance Wheeler Brand struggled valiantly against a wave of discouragement that assailed him and for a moment or two threatened to overwhelm. "Discharged for 'beating' the town on the story of the year," he muttered. "Well, I'll try to get on across the street," he concluded, "across the street" meaning the Guardian, the bitter rival of the Advance. He went to one of the long oak tables in the city room, where he seated himself next to Higgins, the leading police reporter of the paper, and began nervously to finish the story of a new bank merger on which he had been working when summoned by McHenry. When he finished he laid the pages of copy on the city editor's desk. He dragged a chair to a window, sat down and gazed moodily down at the crowds of people hurrying along the street below.

It was not his dismissal from the staff which chiefly concerned him. He was certain of obtaining another position. In fact, his reputation along Newspaper row was such, and he felt justifiable pride at the thought that he would be at work within twenty minutes after leaving the Advance office if he so desired. But what did occupy his mind to the exclusion of almost everything else was the consideration of what view Judith Bartelmy would take when she heard the news of his dismissal. She had warned him that he was sacrificing his future in his attacks on the powers that be. Undoubtedly now she would be convinced, as some of his friends had already endeavored to convince her, that, after all, he was a fanatic, an impractical dreamer, who could not accomplish his ambition to right what he believed to be great wrongs, who could not, moreover, escape summary dismissal from his paper. But he must go on. He would go on. He would go that very night to a newspaper that would not suppress nor qualify the truth, one that would not distort facts nor misrepresent a situation in order to deceive the public, to which it was its duty to give the truth. Yes, and he would show the big thieves of the city that even if they managed to remain superior to the law at least they could not remain superior to public opinion. The time had come when—

"Wheeler Brand! Wheeler Brand!" The voice of Nolan came to his ears above the ticking of the telegraph instruments and the clicking of typewriter keys. Brand started from his seat. He did not recognize the voice nor did any one else in the smoky city room, as curious upraised faces around him testified. It came from the managing editor's room, however, so he hastened to respond, wondering what it could mean.

Brand entered McHenry's office and faced the three men, his surprise increasing as he saw from the attitudes of McHenry and Dupuy that a huge, rawboned, bronzed faced stranger apparently dominated the situation.

"Yes?" said Brand inquiringly to the stranger, whom he placed as the owner of the voice, because he knew it had not been McHenry's or Dupuy's.

"I am Nolan, the new owner," greeted the stranger.

Brand stepped forward and offered his hand, which Nolan grasped.

"How do you do, Mr. Nolan?" the reporter greeted him, endeavoring to figure just what the mysterious proceeding portended.

Nolan went straight to the point.

"So you've been fired for that Bartelmy article, have you?" he asked.

"Yes, sir."

Nolan turned and shot a triumphant glare at McHenry and Dupuy. Then

"From now on you sit here."

he caused the blood to rush almost blindingly into the head of the young reporter when he swung around, grasped Brand's arm, drew him over to the managing editor's chair, beside which that official was standing, and said, "Well, I've got another job for you." Nolan put both hands on Brand's shoulders and by main strength forced him down heavily into the chair. "From now on you sit here," he announced. "You're managing editor now."

CHAPTER V.

A YEAR passed since the eventful night for Wheeler Brand when Nolan made him managing editor of the Advance. In these months Brand made a showing with the paper that was never dreamed of by the owners preceding as being within the range of possibility. Made absolute master of the paper and consequently dictator of its policy, the young man set a pace that the paper's rivals found difficult to equal, much less to outstrip. His exposure of the scandals in the exclusive world of high life insurance finance has thus far proved the most vital reform of his administration. As a result of this crusade, which drove a half dozen leading officials from almost as many companies, the president of the United States stated publicly that "the vast life insurance business of this country is now on the soundest financial basis it has ever had."

But Wheeler Brand in the press of stirring events had not forgotten Judge Bartelmy. In fact, certain activities of that estimable individual were just now under close scrutiny by the one time reporter, who, if he could be prevailed on to speak concerning it, might possibly observe that the judge was very soon to have an opportunity to make a few explanations which would be received with undoubted interest by the public. The young editor's suit for the hand of Judith Bartelmy might be said, since we are dealing with a judge's family, to be in statu quo. She was still waiting for him "to become sane," as she had expressed herself to him. A girl of lofty principles and of decided strength of character, she could not see his duty from his viewpoint. Perhaps it was all quite natural, quite womanly, quite daughterly, that she should subscribe absolutely to her father's side in the momentous case of "JUDGE BARTELMY VERSUS THE PEOPLE, WHEELER BRAND AND THE ADVANCE."

She was loyal to her father, and she was trying to be loyal to her lover, and the task was becoming more and more difficult. Yet she waited, and Wheeler Brand waited, and each prayed that the other would end the ordeal and heal two breaking hearts.

Today we find Wheeler Brand proceeding toward the luxurious Nolan home on a fashionable residential thoroughfare to visit the proprietor of the paper to hand him a statement of the Advance's progress, to discuss matters of editorial policy and to confer regarding a certain development concerning Judge Bartelmy.

At the Nolan home a reception had been announced, hundreds of invitations sent out, but the responses did not encourage Mrs. Nolan in her social aspirations. Society passed her by. That was the whole story in brief. Society, as usual, was ever so much pleased with itself and was too busy to include Mrs. Nolan, Phyllis and Sylvester in its diversions. The husband and father cared very little for society, had no time for it, but he fondly loved the courageous, warm hearted woman who had uncomplainingly shared with him the onerous hardships of his early days, and it was his desire to gratify her ambitions as well as those of his daughter. The fortune he had plucked from Nevada's flinty bosom enabled him to be generous, and he smiled approvingly on every new extravagance of Mrs. Michael Nolan. Therefore if she was socially ambitious she must have her way and be allowed to carry on her campaign for recognition in whatever fashion she chose. Certainly the home he had established was a fitting vantage ground from which to wage a war of dollars against the precipitous embattlements with which the city's Four Hundred had encircled its camp. Palatial in size, the Nolan residence was equally palatial in its furnishings, and only the magic word from the magic lips of a single member of the magic realm of "the aristocracy" was necessary to send monogrammed coaches in long lines to the Nolan doors, to fill the costly rooms with distinguished faces, to fill to overflowing with happiness the yearning heart of Mrs. Michael Nolan.

But the word had not yet been spoken.

It was now late in the afternoon at the Nolan home. Phyllis walked across the drawing room, irritation plainly marking her pretty pink and white face. The music of a string orchestra stationed in the conservatory ceased. She addressed a servant who stood at attention at a door at the right which led to the dining room.

"Pitcher," she said discouragedly, "I don't think any one else will come, so tell the musicians they can go."

"Yes, Miss Phyllis."

At this point Mrs. Nolan came storming in, carrying a huge bunch of hothouse grapes in her hand.

"Pitcher, I noticed those caterer men are drinking all the champagne, and I want it stopped," she ordered loudly.

Pitcher bowed and went out.

"If our guests won't come here to drink it, at least we will drink it ourselves," Mrs. Nolan announced to Phyllis. "Well, we have done it—sent out 400 cards, and who's been here that anybody wants to see? This is the second time we've gone to all this trouble and expense for nothing and nobody, and if you'll take my advice it will be the last."

"Mamma, Pitcher will hear," the girl protested.

The mother bit a grape from the bunch. She deposited the skin and stones in a Sevres vase on the marble mantel.

"Phyllis, what did you have to pay that musician?" she asked.

"Well, his price is a thousand dollars."

"Good gracious!"

"But I got him for $750. I promised the Advance would help him."

"Seven fifty for playing twice. I'd rather hear the band." Mrs. Nolan bit off another grape.

"You don't understand, mamma. Everybody's wild over that violinist."

"It seems there wasn't nobody wild enough to come here."

"There wasn't 'anybody,'" spoke Phyllis, correcting her mother.

"Well, was there?" retorted the mother as she dropped the grape skin in another vase.

"Oh, dear." Phyllis wailed disconsolately as she seated herself before a small stand. "don't rub it in, mamma! I can't help it."

"Now, who's blaming you, child?" consoled the mother. "There, don't cry. I'm not so disappointed about myself, but I can't bear to see you snubbed right and left. You are good enough to go with any of these people, and you shall too. It's that newspaper that's at the bottom of it. People won't have it, or us because of it, and I mean to tell your father so too. And that's why these 'at homes' is no good."

"Are no good, mamma," tearfully.

"Well, are they? It would have been better to put your $750 into suffragetting. That's what gets you in with the right people—not that I care to vote, but I don't want the men to say I can't."

Sylvester Dolan interrupted the conversation between mother and daughter by appearing before them with his bosom friend, Max Powell, who believed himself to have the makings of a master poet. It was with deepest pride that the Nolan son presented Powell, long haired, sallow faced and seedily dressed, to his mother and sister. Sallow faced? Indeed, his countenance had that sickly greenish yellow hue that comes from long devouring of the muses and long abstinence from the devouring of food.

"Hello, mamma!" he cried enthusiastically. "Here's a friend of mine I want you to know—Mr. Powell, the poet."

"How do you do, Mr. Powell? You look as if it would be easy for you to write poetry. Do you know, poetry just sets me wild!"

Sylvester patted Powell on the back.

"Well, this lad's going to make a big noise in poetry some day. Phyllis, you must have heard of Powell. My sister, old man!"

"Won't you have a cup of tea, Mr. Powell?" invited Mrs. Nolan, visibly impressed by the presence of a poet at her home.

Powell started confusedly to utter his thanks. He did not seem overdelighted at the offer.

Sylvester saw the difficulty. "Tea!" he exclaimed. "Absinth for Powell!"

Mrs. Nolan expressed her regret at not having any absinth and left the room, followed by Phyllis, to arrange for something for Powell to eat. "Poor fellow! He looks hungry," she whispered to Phyllis.

Sylvester caught the poet by the arm.

"I should say he is. Would you believe he's actually afraid that if he kisses me he'll think he means it?"

The annual basketball contest between the Y. M. C. A. first and second team on Saturday night resulted in a victory for the regulars by the score of 46 to 18. Linke and Gavett starred for the victors while Vail and Manley played fast games for the second aggregation. The lineups follow:

First team—Linke and Aalholm, forwards; Foster, center; guards, Gavett, Miner. Second team—Naylor and Templin, forwards; Manley, center; Slocum and Vail, guards.

In the preliminary contest the senior boys triumphed over a consolidated school team by the score of 36 to 18. The lineups follow::

Senior Boys—Dunning, Love and Taylor, forwards; Boice and Peacock, center; Peacock, S. Line and Zeraga, guards. High School consolidated—Coyle and Weber, forwards; Carty, center; Cumming and McNamee, guards.

In the afternoon the Y. M. C. A. Boy's five defeated the Methodist Boy's team by a score of 21 to 6. The lineups:

Y. M. C. A. Boys—Manley, D. McNamee and Moulton, forwards; Scribner and Goodman, center; Hetfield and Blair, guards. Methodist five—Becker and Beekman, forwards; Linke, center; Kiely, Force and Woolston, guards.

BASKETBALL.

The crack Williamsbridge team which defeated the locals on New Year's Day will be the opponents of Plainfield at Y. M. C. A. hall next Saturday night. Manager Listman expects that his team will reverse matters in the impending contest.

Leals and P. H. S. are carded to engage in an Interscholastic contest at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday afternoon.

The P. H. S. basketball team will play the Westfield High School at Westfield Wednesday afternoon.

HERE'S YOUR WEATHER FOR ALL THIS WEEK.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 31.—Present barometric conditions over the northern hemisphere indicate that during the week beginning Monday, January 31, temperature will be moderate for the season generally over the United States until about the close of the week, when a cold wave is likely to appear in the extreme northwest and advance thence to the Atlantic coast by the early portion of next week.

In the meantime storms that will reach the Atlantic seaboard about the middle and close of the present week will be attended by sharp fluctattions in temperature from the Lake regions and the Ohio Valley over the Middle Atlantic and New England States and precipitation generally east of the Mississippi In the middle and northern districts the precipitation will be partly in the form of snow. In the Missouri and Western Mississippi valleys and the plain States precipitation will be comparatively light.

Their specialty is singing and the company carry three sets of scenery that alone will please the patrons. David Rose & Co., will appear in their wonderful act, "The Organ Grinder." It is a clever sketch. Raymond & Hess, rural comedians, are a pair of big laugh producers, with the help of clever songs and stories, while Jack Lyle, the monologue dispenser, will be here with the goods and will give full measure. This week's pictures will be especially good.

The Rasores to Meet.

The Rasores will meet with Mrs. W. D. Murray, of West Ninth street, tomorrow morning, the subject being "William Hamilton Gibson."

DON'T ALL APPROVE OF WINK

British Bishops Differ in Opinion Over Girls' Fun, and One Is Given Lesson.

Though a well-known English bishop has just been stating publicly that he regards it as a most pleasant form of recognition to be winked at in the street by young women living in the districts where he has worked, there is at least one of his Episcopal brethren who used to take a very different view of such salutations.

This pompous worthy was much incensed on one occasion when he was giving what he believed to be a very impressive lecture to a 17-year-old society girl who had been handed over to him for admonishment, to observe her left eye close in a deliberate wink. He sternly told her that such an action was practically akin to immoral behavior, to which she promptly replied: "Rats!" and turned on her heel and walked off.

She has since married and entertains largely. At a recent charity function, at which the bishop was present, she was introduced to him. He failed to recognize her as a former acquaintance until she gave him another of her elaborate winks and said, very archly: "Perhaps you remember me now, my lord!" He did, and what is more, entered into the spirit of the joke, which he now often tells against himself.

WAITED FOR THE PERMISSION

Little Ones, Tired of Church Services, Left Sacred Edifice as They Would the School.

"When the late Philip Auld Harrison Brown, rector of St. John's chapel, was a young man, he used to go to Maine for the summer," said a Trinity trustee in New York. "Dr. Brown often told of an unforgettable incident connected with one of his first Maine sermons.

"Two children had come to church alone, and the minister noticed them from the start of his discourse. They sat in a great, high-backed pew, side by side, very solemn.

"After awhile they got tired. Evidently they thought that church etiquette was the same as the etiquette of the village school. They climbed down from their pew, and the boy took his tiny sister by the hand and led her up the aisle, stopping in front of the preacher.

"'Please, sir,' he said, 'may we go home?'

"'Yes,' said Mr. Brown.

"And they turned and soberly departed, hand in hand."—Los Angeles Times.

It Saves Them.

The American has the saving grace of humor. Seldom in the real pinch does it fail to come to the uppermost and he gets a good laugh out of what men born under other skies would construe as nothing else than a fight.

The "head gent" of a t. t. t. show playing at Holton recently handed out a warm one to the audience. There was so much going on in Holton that night that the theatrical business suffered, but the aforesaid "gent" seemed to think that the people did not appreciate the high-class histrionic art served up by the company. He frankly stated in a curtain speech that in his opinion the plays presented were too refined for Holton. "But," he added, "we will try to get down to your level by presenting 'The Whole Dam Family,' which does not contain a sensible line. I think this play will appeal to you."

"The audience," says Frank Jarrell, in telling the matter, "instead of getting mad and lynching the actor, saw the funny side of the case and laughed long and loud at him. He didn't say any more."—Kansas City Journal.

Was Ready to Make Good.

Some time ago a crowd of Bowery sports went over to Philadelphia to see a prize fight, says Everybody's. One "wise guy" who, among other things, is something of a pickpocket, was so sure of the result that he was willing to bet on it.

"The Kid's goin' t' win. It's a pipe," he told a friend.

The friend expressed doubts.

"Sure he'll win," the pickpocket persisted. "I'll bet you a gold watch he wins."

Still the friend doubted.

"Why," exclaimed the pickpocket, "I'm willin' to bet you a good gold watch he wins! Y' know what I'll do? Come through the train with me now, an' y' can pick out any old watch y' like."

The Reasonableness of Woman.

"There are reasonable women in New York, doubtless," said a police captain, "but not many of them do business with our department.

"A woman from upper Fifth avenue telephoned us recently. Had lost a pair of false teeth between the Plaza hotel and the Opera house. Wanted us to find them and send them to her under seal. Yet when I asked for her name and address she berated me like a pickpocket. Said I wanted to get her name in the papers, or be paid to keep it out. Then she rang off."

"Surely you do not find many like her?" was suggested.

"No," said the officer. "The most of them are worse."

Arithmetically Demonstrated.

"A man should sleep at least eight hours a day."

"It can't be done," answered the weary-looking citizen; "not when one of your neighbors runs a phonograph till midnight and another keeps a rooster that crows at five a. m."

HEARD THE REPORTS OF SUNDAY SCHOOL

The officers and teachers of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, met at the close of the session yesterday afternoon. Superintendent F. E. Smith presided. The report of Chauncey F. Cokhar, secretary, showed the total membership of the school to be 1,023, including all the departments. They are divided into the main school, home department and cradle roll. There are 623 in the main school, 335 in the home department and 65 on the cradle roll. The enrollment for the year of attending members is 70 more than that of last year.

The average attendance for the year was 364, which is 33 more than last year. The largest number present at any one session was 475, which was on rally day, September 19. A new departure during the past year, was that of Star class enrollment. The honors went to Mrs. J. H. Freeman, who had a perfect class seventeen Sundays during the year.

The home department in addition to the membership of 335 has thirty-one visitors, which is not included in the total number of members.

The report of Charles M. Dolliver, treasurer, showed the total amount collected during the year for the general fund to be $1,371.41 and the amount disbursed to be $1,354.85, leaving a balance on hand of $16.56. The amount on hand for the building fund is $83.46. The receipts from the home department for the last quarter were $89.73.

The treasurer of the missionary society of the school, LeRoy Layton, reported that $324.66 had been collected for benevolences during the past year.

During the session of the school a very interesting letter was read from Rev. Walter C. Roe, of Weatherford, Oklahoma, to whom a box of Christmas presents was sent. The box was valued at $40, and was for his use among the Cheyennes and Rapahoe tribes of Indians, where an Indian mission is established.

LEES APPEALS AGAIN

Has Not Yet Heard From Missing Wife—Believes She Was Kidnapped.

RECONCILED TO HIS FATHER.

Was Estranged Because of Wedding Out of His Rank—He Is Now Forgiven.

Victor Lees, the Orange caterer, who asked this paper to help locate his wife who he said had come to Plainfield on January 15, and from whom he has had no word since, writes again to say that now he s positive that his wife has been abducted and asks that the family of an Italian woman be looked up.

Mr. Lees is unable to give the name of the girl to whom his wife intended to pay the visit on January 15, nor can he give any information regarding the woman next door who runs a restaurant or a high class boarding house in New York city, all of whom he mentioned.

The photograph which Mr. Lees enclosed in his letter shows a good looking young woman and one who would seem to be smart enough to frustrate any attempt at kidnapping. However, Mr. Lees believes that his wife has been either kidnapped or murdered and he wants to know which. He has recently received from his father in Germany a letter in which he forgives his son for marrying as he terms it "beneath his rank" and is willing to do all that a father should do for a son. Lees, Sr., according to the son's letter is a wealthy man, owning much property in both France and England, and the reconciliation with the son was the only thing needed to make the latter truly happy until his wife disappeared. He reiterates the statement that they have always lived in peace and happiness and can prove it by his many friends in Orange. When last seen Mrs. Lees wore a close fitting lavender coat, black silk dress and white silk waist topped off with a picture hat in which were two large ostrich plumes. No woman answering the description given has been seen in this city so far as can be ascertained.

COURT HAS DISMISSED BANKRUPT'S TRUSTEE SUIT.

Judge Joseph Cross, of the United States District Court has rendered his decision in the case of Vincent W. Nash, trustee in bankruptcy for William H. Kirch, againt The J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Co. in favor of the lumber concern. This suit has been pending for the past eighteen months and involved a sum of nearly $1,400.

The suit was based upon a so-called preferential payment made to the defendant lumber company four months prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy by Kirch. Judge Cross' opinion makes plain some law on preferred payments. The fact that two amounts—$1,329 and $64.-79—were credited on the lumber company's books to the bankrupt so long before the bankruptcy proceedings were started does not of itself constitute a preferential payment. The money was credited on a contract entered into by the parties to the suit for the building of a house known as the Wilson house on Clinton avenue.

Judge Cross dismissed the case in favor of the lumber company with costs. Coddington and Swackhamer represented the lumber company and Judge William Newcorn appeared for Nash, trustee.

Teacher Resigns.

Miss Grace Per Lee, of the history department in the Plainfield High School, has resigned to take charge of the department of English in the State Normal School, at Cortland, N. Y. Miss Per Lee was graduated from that institution some years ago and since was graduated from Syracuse University. She has had some years of successful experience. The promotion was unsought. While she has been in Plainfield only this year, Miss Per Lee has made her value felt and her departure is regretted. Her class will be taken in charge of by Miss E. K. Cumming, whose former work in the school has been successful.

Named as Commissioners of Deed.

Governor J. Franklin Fort yesterday re-appointed Walter C. McNaughton Joseph T. Vail, Joseph P. W. Taylor, Frederick J. Huff and Harvey R. Linbarger, of this city, as commissioners of deed. John Robison and Dr. F. W. Westcott, of Fanwood, were also re-appointed. They will be confirmed by the Senate next Tuesday.

Announce Engagement.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Emily Lawrence Winant, formerly of this city, but now of Clifton, to Carl Albert Steiner, of Jackson avenue, the borough.

BISHOP FOR 35 YEARS

Right Rev. Dr. John Scarborough's Consecration Anniversary.

FIFTY-TWO YEARS A PRIEST.

Ranks Third in House of Bishops—A Brief Sketch of an Interesting Life.

Almost seventy-nine years of age, the Right Rev. John Scarborough, bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of New Jersey, has been fifty-two years in the priesthood and thirty-five years in the episcopacy. The thirty-fifth anniversary of his consecration falls today. He is the third oldest in point of service among the members of the American House of Bishops, including more than 100 prelates, of whom he is regarded as one of the most distinguished, and yet he insists each year that his anniversary shall be noticed only with the simplest of services, which he feels are in keeping with the simplicity of the life he has lived so long.

In accordance with the wishes of the bishop the people of his diocese have not arranged for any general observance of his anniversary, but his more immediate people, the members of Christ parish, Trenton, in which the episcopal residence is located, have insisted that they be allowed the privilege of commemorating in some way the elevation of one who has served so long, and services were held this morning in Christ church.

On the north coast of England, in Yorkshire, stands a bold headland jutting out into the sea. Here there still remains the ruins of a great castle, whose feudal lord took his name from the place. In the Saxon tongue "scar" means "rock" and "borough" a "stronghold." Hence came the name of the place and of the leading family there. The ancient keep was destroyed by Cromwell's men, but was afterward rebuilt, and is again a partial ruin. The branch of the family to which the fourth Bishop of New Jersey belongs liver near the town of the same name, Scarborough, close to the North Sea. Bishop Scarborough's father was in the Government service and was attached to the Treasury Department. His duties called him to Castlewellan, county Down, in the north of Ireland, and it was here that the present Bishop was born on April 21, 1831.

He came to this country when but 10 years old in charge of his two elder brothers to visit a sister who lived in Lansingbug, N. Y., and it was there and at Troy he received his early education. He later entered Trinity College, Hartford, from which institution he was graduated with high honors in 1854. Three years later he completed his course at the General Theological Seminary, New York, and on June 28, 1857, was ordained to the deconate in Trinity church, New York, and to the priesthood in St. Paul's church, Troy, on August 14, 1858, by Bishop Horatio Potter. His consecration to the Bishopic took place in St. Mary's church, Burlington, N. J., on February 2, 1875. In the nearly 100 years of the existence of the diocese of New Jersey there have been but four bishops— John Croes, 1815-1832; George W. Doane, 1832-1859; William Henry Odenhelmer, 1859-1876; John Scarborough, 1875-1910.

UNCONSCIOUS IN STREET; RECOVERED IN HOSPITAL

Jefferson E. Williams, of 417 Lee place, an employe of the Pond Tool Works, who was found lying at the corner of Fourth street and Madison avenue last night by William Kirkwood and who was afterwards taken to the hospital in the patrol wagon, was reported to be improved this morning and quite conscious.

Mr. Williams said this morning that after leaving the shop last night he walked one block and after that his mind left him and he remembered nothing until he awoke in the hospital this morning. There is a small lump on the back of his head caused by striking the curb, but he is in no danger.

Salvation Army Special Service.

Sesame Club Meeting.

The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at the residence of Mrs. John H. Doane, 423 East Seventh street.

WEST END ENTERTAINMENT

Heavenly Rest Young People Provide an Execptional Program.

DRAMATIC WORK A FEATURE.

Following the Various Numbers Dancing Was Enjoyed—Mrs. Charles Borden Managed the Affair.

Before an audience which tested the seating capacity of the parish huse the Young People's Society of the Church of the Heavenly Rest presented an entertainment last night which for genuine merit would be hard to beat here. The audience was composed of representative residents of the West End, and they shawed their appreciation by continued and hearty applause.

Mrs. Charles Borden, under whose direction the young people covered themselves with glory, was the recipient of complimentary remarks from the rector, Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery, on the splendid success achieved by her charges. The dramatic work last night demonstrated beyond cavil that there are several young people in the society who have natural dramatic talent which under proper development will make names for themselves as high class entertainers.

The rehearsals for the entertainment were begun only three weeks ago, which shows the careful study and attenton given to Mrs. Borden's tutelage. It was a splendid performance from every point of view. Rev. Mr. Mallery in commenting on the efforts of the young people complimented them and their directress and extended the invitation for others to join the society. Several took advantage of the opportunity to apply for membership.

A prologue by Miss Sadie Wadhams was first on the program and was followed by violin selections by Miss Violetta Staples. A living presentation of "That Old Sweetheart of Mine," of which William Ochiltree was the central figure, was next given, the sweethearts being the Misses Anna Hull, Marion Harris, Lillian B. Nicholson, Julia A. Lee, Grace Graves, Helen Sutton, Violetta Staples, B. Laramour, Carrie Quipp and Blanche Thorn, who was "Mary the Bride."

Richard Borden gave a recitation, "1492;" Miss Anna Hall and Jack Hall gave a clever presentation of "Daddy Hague and Auntie Priggins;" David Sutton sang a comic song in costume, which was followed by a sketch, "How She Cured Him," by Lillian Nicholson, Grace Squires, and David Sutton. Miss Julia A. Lee gave a humorous reading, Miss Blanche Thorne and David Sutton, a sketch, "A Slight Misunderstanding." Miss Nicholson sang a solo and the program closed with an epilogue by Juan A. Babcock, Jr.

Dancing until 11 o'clock finished the evening's pleasure. Owing to the failure of the orchestra to appear the Misses Nicholson, Ethel Sleight, Jennie Bennett and Grace Squires volunteered at the piano.

WOMEN HEAR ADDRESS ON MISSIONARY WORK.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, of the First Baptist church, havng for its winter study "The Gospel in Latin Lands," listened to a paper of unusual interest on the "West Coast of South America," presented by Mrs. Albert L. Kennelly at their meeting yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. In describing South America as our nearest continental neighbor, Mrs. Kennelly said the west coast was as different from the other parts, as if an ocean instead of the Andes divided them. The conquest of the country by Spain under Pizarro was described and the Romish religion brought by them at the point of the sword was contrasted as an inheritance with the religion brought to this country by the Pilgrim Fathers. South America's need and North America's ability to help proved an interesting part of Mrs. Kennelly's paper.

In conclusion she quoted from a recent address by Robert Speer on "Our Spiritual Obligations to Latin America." He made the startling statement that twenty men from the United States had put more money in a certain copper mine in South America than all the world had given in 100 years for the evangelization of South America.

The paper was preceded by a devotional service led by Mrs. S. T. Wilson.

Summer Religious Conference.

The Presbyterian Board of Young People Workers will hold its annual summer conference at Pocono Pines, Pa., in August, the conference starting on August 1. A number of Plainfielders will be in attendance.

SALOONKEEPER CLAIMS HIS NAME WAS FORGED

Christian Gloecker, is anxious to secure the identity of the fellow who used his signature to a letter addressed to the Berry Detective Agency, New York, last December. Perhaps the person intended it as a joke, but Mr. Gloecker is having his troubles trying to explain to local lawyers that he is not responsible.

Last December when Mr. Gloecker was away on a hunting trip, the Berry Agency received a letter bearing Gloecker's signature. It was a request to the agency to send detectives out here to shadow Gloecker's saloon during the proprietor's absence.

The detectives came on and were one duty four days. Last month Gloecker received a bill from the agency for $40, representating a charge of ten dollars a day for services. Gloecker notified the agency that he did not know what the charge represented and declared that he had never asked the concern for assistance in the sleuthing line.

The detective people, however, had in their possession the letter bearing Gloecker's signature, and armed with this evidence they placed the matter in the hands of Harry C. Runyon, for collection. Gloecker declares he does not owe the bill nor did he write the letter to the Berry people, authorizing them to send detectives to his place of business while he was absent from the city.

MRS. D. I. SMALLEY DIES AFTER YEAR'S ILLNESS

Following an illness of one year's duration, which developed into a case of Bright's disease, Mrs. Mary Smalley, of Craig place, passed away last evening. She was the widow of Daniel I. Smalley, a brother of Mayor Newton B. Smalley, who died eighteen years ago. Surviving her are a son, Dr. Edwin Smalley, and a sister, Mrs. Fred Bird, who also reside in the borough.

Mrs. Smalley was the daughter of the late John and Sarah Brady, of Orange. In 1875 she married and came to this city where she has since made her home. Prior to illness overtaking her, Mrs. Smalley was a trained nurse.

The funeral service will be held at her late home Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In compliance with a request made by the deceased a short time before her death, the Rev. W. M. Newberry, of Brooklyn, will conduct the service.

GEORGE M. COHAN'S "YANKEE PRINCE" HERE

Manager Sanderson of the Plainfield theatre announces George M. Cohan's musical comedy success, "The Yankee Prince," for one performance only, tonight. Tom Lewis, well known in this city for his impersonation of "The Unknown," in Mr. Cohan's "Little Johnny Jones," will head the cast of 75 singing and dancing stars. Those who remember genial Tom Lewis and those who don't have a rare treat in store for them.

Critics and theatre-goers throughout the country have pronounced Mr. Lewis's performance of Steve Daly in "The Yankee Prince" one that will live for years and years to come. The same big cast and production that was used during the New York, Boston and Chicago run of "The Yankee Prince" will be in evidence here.

Sub. P. O. Station Opened.

The first sub-station connected with the local postoffice was opened yesterday at James C. Field Jr.,'s stationery store on Park avenue, and has already been appreciated by the public. This station is for the purpose of selling stamps and postal cards, the registery of letters and issuing of money orders, and letters may be mailed there. No mail will be delivered from that station.

New Buick Arrives.

The 1910 Model 17 Buick was brought out from New York last evening by Mr. Bender, the local agent, and it certainly is a handsome car. It is one of the largest, most powerful cars on the road today, and the general opinion is that such a car as that at $1,750 is a wonderful proposition. ***

William H. Kenyon.

William H. Kenyon, who formerly lived here and left here about eight years ago, died recently at his home in San Jose, California, where he went for his health. No further particulars have been received concerning his death.

CONVENT PLANS APPROVED

New Structure for St. Mary's Parish to Be Finished by September First.

MUSIC AND DRAWING SCHOOL.

Father Bogan Plans to Use Old Washington School for the Church Societies.

Bishop O'Connor, of Newark, has approved plans for a convent to be erected at Liberty and West Sixth street, opposite St. Mary's church, and work on the structure will be started within a month. It is hoped to take possession of the new building by September 1. The plans were selected from a half dozen or more submitted by well-known architects, and those prepared by A. M. De Meuron, of New York, were considered the best. His work has attracted considerable attention throughout the country, especially the Dunwoodie Seminary, at Dunwoodie, N. Y., which he designed and which cost a half million dollars.

The building will have a frontage of fifty-five feet on Sixth street and sixty-five on Liberty street. It will be three stories and in addition there will be a chapel for the Sisters. It will have accommodations for fourteen teachers and it will be a combination of a music and drawing school and convent. It will be of the latest type of construction and be calculated to meet every need of such an institution. The building will be of pressed brick and white trimmings to conform to the other buildings in St. Mary's parish. Father B. M. Bogan, as pastor of St. Mary's church, will have general supervision of the construction work.

Father Bogan is also making plans to use the old Washington public school building, which was purchased by the parish, and which adjoins the church property. This will be used as a parish building for the nine societies connected with the church. There are six good sized rooms in the building. One will be given to the young women's societies, another to the older men as a reading room and library, another for a young men's club, while the balance will be used as lodge rooms and for various meetings.

In this way all the various parish interests can be cared for under one roof, and with every convenience for the comfort of the parishioners. It is also planned to improve the grounds about the building and make it as attractive as possible.

TRADE BOARD PROGRAM FOR TOMORROW NIGHT.

The February meeting of the Board of Trade will be held tomorrow night, when President William Jeffery will be in the chair for the first time in his official capacity. The meeting promises to be a lively one, judging by the program.

In addition to the reports of committees and a discussion of plans for the coming year's work, there will be a talk by Mayor Charles J. Fisk on municipal affairs Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, will speak on street widening and the membership committee will present outlines of plans for a vigorous campaign. There will also be presented a paper of exceptional interest concerning trolley conditions. Other matters of interest to the board members and citizens generally will be considered.

Civil Service Examination.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces that an examination for the positions of clerk or letter-carrier will be held at the local postoffice on February 26. No application will be accepted unless properly executed and filed prior to February 21. The age limit is 18 to 45 years, except in the case of persons honorably discharged from the military or naval service by reason of disability incurred in the line of duty. The examination is open to all citizens of the United States who comply with the requirements. W. B. Sharp at the local postoffice will give further information.

Bache Goods in Storage.

The household goods of Wallace P. Bache, formerly of East Ninth street, which were attached last week for debt, were placed in storage here today, awaiting a settlement of the various claims. Since last week a few additional attachments have been secured for small amounts.

Golden Eagles Are Busy.

Freedom Castle, Knights of the Golden Eagles, are growing rapidly in membership. Last night the first degree was conferred on six candidates. Past Chief jewels were presented to Frank Neidig and Frank Runyon, the presentation being made by Grand Chief Horace J. Martin.

COUNTRY CLUB ELECTS

Officers Chosen, Committees Named and Reports Read at Annual Meeting.

TOTAL MEMBERSHIP IS 761.

Income $18,995.90—Financial Condition Is Prosperous—Leighton Calkins Is Re-elected President.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Country Club was held last night at the Hartridge School auditorium. Leighton Calkins was re-elected president for the coming year, and the following were elected to the other offices: Vice-president, Joseph M. Shellabarger; secretary, James P. Murray; treasurer, S. Durell Lounsbery. The nominating committee for 1911 consists of Clifton Wharton, Jr., George T. Rogers and Percy H. Stewart.

The treasurer's report showed a total income of $18,995.90 and expenditures of $18,662.83, showing an excess income of $333.07, for the first time in several years. In addition to the regular expenditures from income, the club retired last year $2,500 of its floating debt, leaving only a small floating debt of $500. The clubhouse extensions cost $5,-124.48, which together with the retirement of the floating debt was paid for by the sale of $7,000 of the new bonds.

Mr. Calkins in his report as president called special attention to the fact that the trustees had sold the $7,000 of bonds without making any general appeal to members to subscribe; and to the fact that nearly the entire floating debt had been paid off notwithstanding the fact that the addition to the clubhouse had cost $624.48 more than the original estimates and that it had been found necessary to expend about $814 for necessary repairs to the clubhouse foundations and sewage system. The total membership of the club is 761. The increase in income last year from membership and grounds' fees paid by visitors, was $2,007. The president stated that the club would be opened early in April, with John Hilton in charge again as superintendent and that a very active season was being planned both from the athletic and from the social standpoint. In his report he made particular mention of the efficient services of the chairman of the various committees during the past season.

After the club meeting, the trustees organized by appointing the following as chairmen of the standing committees for 1910:

House committee, George S. Clay; Green committee, R. S. Rowland; Golf committee, Willard Wadsworth; building and grounds committee, John P. Stevens; tennis committee, S. W. Merrihew.

The reports of the president, treasurer and committee chairmen will be distributed to the members in accordance with the custom inaugurated last year. From the showing made by the management last night, the club is in a better condition financially than at any period in its history, with its property in good repair and more valuable because of recent additions and improvements, and with every prospect of continued growth and enlargement.

SENATOR GORE CAN'T TALK TO TRADE BOARD

The following letter received from United States Senator Thomas P Gore, by James E. Martine this morning explains itself:

"Mr. J. E. Martine.

"My Dear Sir:—I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of your favor of recent date and to thank you for the very kindly sentiments which it contained. You may feel sure that it would afford me great pleasure to visit your city and address your people if the pressure of official engagements did not render it impossible. I shall, however, indulge the hope that when the occasion shall again arise that I shall be in a situation to accept.

"You may feel sure that I remember you very distinctly and very kindly, and would be pleased to extend the acquaintance.

"With assurance of the highest esteem and best wishes, believe me,

"Very truly yours,

"T. F. GORE."

Senator Gore was asked to speak at the Board of Trade's annual banquet.

—The excellency in quality of the celebrated White Label Canned goods, sold by Neuman Brothers, has resulted in an increased trade for these products among local housewives.

BROWN BADLY BUMPED

Falls from Delivery Wagon at Fanwood and May Have Fractured Skull.

HIS COLLECTIONS ARE INTACT.

Taken to Muhlenberg Hospital Unconscious and Is Likely to Recover.

Clifford Brown, aged 22, of 65 Orchard street, Elizabeth, a driver for James A. Hearn & Son, of New York city, was picked up unconscious at the top of Fanwood hill last night just after dark. He was discovered lying on his back in the road by a driver for R. H. Macy & Co., who was delivering goods in Fanwood. Brown was suffering from contusions on the head and body and from the indications had fallen from his wagon while under the influence of liquor.

County Physician Westcott, who was immediately summoned, decided that Brown's injuries were of a serious character and notified the Plainfield police, who removed him in the patrol wagon to Muhlenberg Hospital. Dr. Woolley attended the injured man there and this morning would not discuss the case.

Brown is a son of Chas. A. Brown, owner of the Elizabeth Cab Co., on Jefferson street, that city. His father has been notified of the son's plight and will see him today at the hospital.

When Brown was removed to the hospital Marshal Logan, of Fanwood, took charge of the horse and wagon. All the money which had been collected by Brown, including $78 in bills, was found intact, so that the story of a holdup by highwaymen is absurd, according to the police. At the hospital last night it was said that Brown had concussion of the brain, but stood a good chance for recovery.

On regaining consciousness this morning Brown stated that he remembers nothing of what happened to him after delivering a package at the grocery of Scheelen Brothers in Fanwood. He has no idea that he was "held up" nor that anyone struck him. He simply fell from the wagon to the street. The exact seriousness of his injuries has not been determined yet. Later developments will show them.

MRS. HANNAH R. FORCE, AGED 87 YEARS, DEAD.

Mrs. Hannah R. Force, widow of George W. Force, passed away yesterday morning at her home, 109 West Fourth street, after a long illness. Mrs. Force was eighty-seven years of age and was one of the oldest residents of this city, having resided here for about fifty years. Mrs. Force was a native of Rahway and lived for a long time on West Second street.

Six daughters and one son survive her, all of whom reside here. The daughters are Mrs. Augustus Van Deventer, Mrs. J. M. Burnett, Mrs. James Davis, Mrs. S. H. Whitney and the Misses Ida and Emma Force. The son is Benjamin R. Force. The funeral service will be private.

Attractive Hardware Store.

The H E Gayle Hardware Company has been making a number of changes n its store at Front street and Park avenue, which makes it more attractive than ever. Up-to-date show cases have been installed on the left of the store as you enter, affording an attractive display of the large line of hardware handled by the company. The cashiers' desk has been placed on the opposite side of the store, allowing more room for business purposes. The company is carrying an exceptionally large line of goods.

"Education and Democracy."

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield will hold its next meeting Monday afternoon, February 28, at 3 'clock, with Miss Mary Willard, of 954 West Seventh street. The topic will be "Education and Democracy," an address by Prof. Francis Squire Potter, before the National Suffrage Conference at Seattle. This will be read by Mrs. Stephan Haff.

Building a Fine Dwelling.

CAPT. KIDD'S LOOT IS AGAIN FOUND

Somers' Point, a bay resort ten miles from Atlantic City, is wildly excited because it is believed that the fabled treasure of Captain Kidd, of buccaneer fame, has been found. The excitement is no less because of the fact that the supposed discoverers of the legendary loot are said to have made away with it. Old inhabitants, who really credit the belief that something of value has been discovered and made away with, think it possible that the treasure trove may have been plate and coin buried by residents of the ancient seaport when the British vessels, during Revolutionary wars, were off the coast here. The more romantic choose to believe that the alleged recovered treasure was really the Kidd deposit, which has been searched for during the past half century along this portion of the coast.

The supposed recoverers of the treasure are believed to have carted it away during the heavy storm of Saturday night last. They left as clues an old cave within a few hundred yards of the home of County Judge Higbee and hundreds of curious townsfolk spent yesterday and today around the spot.

The uncovered cave had been bricked up with walls over two feet in thickness, which show the greatest care in construction. The top is covered with slabs of red and stone of a quality unknown in this locality and believed to have been brought here along with the supposed treasure buried by Captain Kidd or others who sought its concealment. The bricks are a style similar to those known to have been brought here from England during colonial days, and both stone and brick are so old that they crumble to blows of picks now being used to discover the real extent of the cave.

So far as can be learned from the formal examination made today by Mayor John Campbell the cave is at least 150 years old. When the first discovery was made yesterday the signs left by the mysterious visitors showed that the cave had been opened and that the diggers had continued their work until they uncovered what is supposed to have been a chest or box, square and about six feet long by two feet wide. The box had been dragged to a wagon whose wheel marks were plainly visible, but trace of the vehicle was lost after it had taken to the main road leading to Pleasantville.

UNIDENTIFED MAN IS DEAD FROM EXPOSURE.

Passaic, Feb. 2.—The body of an unidentified man, aged about forty-five years, was found frozen on a lonely bypath at Great Notch, near where the Newark pipe line crosses the Great Notch road, at 11 o'clock Monday night. A young man named John Zulach, accompanied by his sister and an aunt, who were taking the path as a short route for their home at Brookdale, made the discovery. The party made their way to the Great Notch Hotel, from where a telephone message was sent to Chief of Police Coughlin, of Acquakanonck Township, who arrived at the scene shortly before County Physician Armstronk.

The body lay near the small brook, about 800 feet along the path from the Great Notch road. Judging from appearances the man was intoxicated when he attempted to cross the brook, over which were placed two railroad ties, which served as a bridge. He probably fell and sustained some injury, as there was a slight abrasion on his forehead. The man apparently crawled a short distance and then lay down to die of exposure. Two pint bottles of whiskey were found nearby. There were no labels on the bottles and the man's clothing was frozen so solidly that the officers wereunable to investigate the contents of the pockets. The man had a slight sandy mustache, was about five feet four inches tall, weighed about 156 pounds and wore the clothing of a laboring man. The body is at Lucas' undertaking establishing in this place.

BOY MANGLED BY TRAIN.

Perth Amboy, Feb. 2.—Joseph Golita, aged nine years, was run over and frightfully mangled Monday at Keasbey, a suburb of Perth Amboy, by a clay train of three cars and an engine. The accident happened when the clay train passed under an arch over which a Lehigh Valley train was moving at the time.

The boy was gazing upward, watching the train passing overhead, and did not see the clay train until it struck him. The engine of the latter was pushing three cars, and the engineer, Edward Smith, of this city, could not see the boy until it was too late to avoid hitting him. The entire train passed over young Golita, and then Smith and the rest of the crew found him still conscious. One leg was so mangled that amputation will be necessary, but the boy probably will recover. Less than a week ago Golita was coasting down hill and he went overboard in a clay pit filled with water and was rescued with difficulty.

The Junior Mission Band of the First Baptist church, will give an entertainment and conduct a sale at the church Saturday afternoon.

Westfield Council has been given to understand that when the present contract with the Public Service Corporation for street lighting expires, the contract will not be renewed at the present price of $18 per light per year. An incandescent gasoline light was installed on North avenue last night as an experiment and to test the quality of the light.

James W. Fink, George H. Dickerson and George Perry were drawn yesterday from Westfield to serve on the petit jury commencing next week.

Westfield contractors have been notified by the unions that after the first of May the union scale for masons will be sixty cents an hour.

The choir of Westfield Presbyterian church will give their adjourned concert Thursday evening at the lecture-room.

Hook-and-ladder Company No. 1 will hold a meeting this evening at the department headquarters.

BILL FOR ELIZABETH.

Aims to Relieve City of Excise Jurisdiction.

Trenton, Feb. 2.—With a view to the possible contingency that the courts may upset the law passed last winter by which Elizabeth elected an excise commission last fall, Assemblyman Schwartz Monday night introduced a bill proposing to repeal sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of the act creating the charter of the city of Elizabeth, which was adopted March 3, 1863.

If this repealer becomes a law it will have the effect of removing excise affairs from the control of the municipal administration in Elizabeth in event of the elective commission law being declared unconstitutional. In such a circumstance the licensing of saloons in Elizabeth would be done under the general State law, which puts the power in the hands of the county court. The repealer applies only to the city charter of Elizabeth.

Mr. Schwartz also introduced a bill providing that if at any primary any person is nominated as a candidate for office, who, before the holding of the primary, had not filed a certificate consenting to stand as a candidate, his name shall not be printed on the official ballot until he shall file in the office of the county clerk a certificate stating that he is qualified for the office and accepts such nomination.

Sale of

Hosiery and Underwear

A 3-Day Event of Gigantic Proportions

This is our Annual February Sale of High Grade Stockings, which involves thousands of pairs for men and women—all of high quality, all remarkably low priced.

Despite the decided advances in the cost of hosiery we bring to you this year better stockings and half hose than ever before at prices we do not hope to duplicate hereafter. The lots are immense, the character of the hosiery most pleasing. The writer has looked thru the lots and finds many beautiful colorings and combinations, fancy patterns, and dainty clockings and embroidered effects. The styles are all new and there is every wanted size; handsomer nor better hosiery has not been brought across the water at anything like as low a price.

The underwear is the product of the Norfolk and New Brunswick Hosiery Co., well known thruout the land for the excellence of their knit underwear. The lots we offer are the "mill seconds," but as these mills produce only the highest class garments they are hypercritical in their inspection, and any garment with the slightest fault, even tho it may be only in the ornamental stitching or a tiny oil spot from the machines—any garment that cannot be said to be strictly perfect, is not permitted to leave the mill with their regular shipping. Many another mill would pass almost any of these so-called "seconds" as perfect. You may examine them very closely without finding anything, and surely nothing will loom up in the wearing that will be detrimental, and just because of these slight imperfections you can buy these well-night perfect garments of the highest class for about two-thirds their value during this 3 days' sale.

Priest Leaves Rahway.

The Rev. George L. Brown, who has since 1905 been rector of St. Mary's church in Rahway, was yesterday named as pastor of the Roman Catholic church of the Assumption in Morristown. He succeeds the Very Rev. Dean Flynn, who died January 4. The appointment by the bishop will be confirmed by the synodal examiners of the Newark diocese.

Tax Appeal Dismissed.

The appeal of the Royal Manufacturing Company, of Rahway, for a reduction of $8,000 in the assessment on its personal property, was dismissed when the case was heard before the County Board for the Equalization of Taxes, in the Courthouse at Elizabeth yesterday morning. The Rahway concern was assessed at $10,000 and asked for a reduction to $2,000. Tennan & Haight, of Jersey City, were counsel for the company, Francis V. Dobbins, city attorney of Rahway, appearing for that city. It was rumored that should the appeal be denied the case would be taken to the State Board. Mr. Haight said, however, that he would abide by the decision of the county body.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Early indications would make it seem reasonably certain that nearby clubs are going to get more than their share of the golfing plums during the coming season. Already the Woman's Metropolitan Golf Association has spoken in favor of Montclair for its championship, so there is little doubt that the executive committee will act accordingly. So far as the men's metropolitan is concerned, it is the general belief that Morris county will get the preference over Midland and Fox Hills, the other applicants. Then there is the annual tournament of the New Jersey State Golf Association, which seems destined to go to the Essex County Country Club. It is worthy of mention that the West Orange organization ran off the first State tournament back in 1900.

A well-known golfer, while referring to the renewal of harmonious relations between the U. S. G. A. and the Western disturbers, remarked to the writer in the following vein:

"It looks as if there would be no American Golf Association, but that the United States Golf Association was 'it' at last. I certainly hope so. Leighton Calkins, of Plainfield, comes out of this deal as the big man, and it must make those who were responsible for his removal from the executive board a year ago feel sore."

There is a point in the new constitution of the United States Golf Association that aims a blow at the hotel and public courses, so far as becoming active members is concerned. To be eligible, clubs must be able to show that they pay regularly toward the upkeep of their links. It is scarcely likely, however, that the New York Golf Club, which makes its headquarters at Van Cortlandt Park, would care to become a voting member.

The Country Club of Augusta, where Dave Ogilvie, the Morris county "pro," is located for the winter, has issued an attractive competitive schedule which will keep visitors busy till the end of March. On February 18 and 19 contests will be run off that will probably attract professionals as well as amateurs. On the first day the two classes will get together in foursomes, and on the next day will take part in a thirty-six-hole medal play event.

The latest association to spring into existence is the Arizona Golf Association. It is composed of clubs at Douglas, Phoenix, Bisbee and Tuscan, Ariz., and El Paso, Tex. Its first championship will be played at the Douglas Country Club.

The French open championship is to be held over the links at La Boulie on May 30 and 31. This is a favorite resort for visiting Americans each year.

EQUITY JURISTS IN ROBES.

Trenton, Feb. 1.—With the opening of the February term of the Court of Chancery yesterday, Chancellor Pitney and the seven vice-chancellors took their places upon the bench wearing judicial robes similar to those adopted some years ago by the Supreme Court and the Court of Errors and Appeal. Hereafter the robes will be worn by the chancellor and vice-chancellors when sitting in charmbers or elsewhere as well as during the regular term of the court.

There were thirty-one cases on the calendar, and after the preliminary call these were assigned between the eight members of the court, who were distributed throughout the State house wherever accommodations could be found.

GLOOMY FOR OCEAN GROVE.

Predicted That Borough Bill Will Not Be Presented.

The Ocean Grove Borough Association, organized to fight for the incorporation of Ocean Grove as a borough, flooded the Legislature with literature last night at Trenton replying to the contentions of the Ocean Grove Campmeeting Association, which last year defeated the borough bill.

Because Ocean Grove went Democratic last fall on the borough issue, Monmouth County's Assemblymen are not inclined to introduce the borough bill again. It is predicted, in fact, that the measure will not be presented.

New Depot for Resort.

Work at Asbury Park on the new main station of the New York and Long Branch Railroad, according to the company officials, is to start early next fall. Engineers are now engaged in making a survey for the elevation of the tracks for several blocks on either side of the station.

Found Dead From Exposure.

Bayonne, Feb. 2.—Wren Frederick Daly went into a stable on East Ninteenth street Sunday to feed his horses he stumbled over the body of Bornack Muskows, a homeless cripple. Muskows had crept into the stable late Saturday night for shelter and died from exposure.

HARRISON WOMAN IS TERRIBLY BURNED

Missing the light in the kitchen window which had been a signal for him for nearly a score of years on his return home evenings from work, Peter Egan, Jr., of 101 North Second street, Harrison, hurried into his house last night and found his mother prostrate on the floor badly burned, with her clothes still smoldering.

Egan threw two pans of water on the burning clothes and managed to revive his mother. He carried her to her room. She again lapsed into an unconscious state, and Egan searched the neighborhood for a physician.

He finally found Dr. M. O'F. Dolphin, who hurried to the house. It was then 6:15, and the doctor immediately ordered that the victim be taken to a hospital. Mrs. Egan, who was then conscious, refused and fought the police and physician.

Dr. A. A. Mulligan arrived an hour later, and came to the same decision as Dr. Dolphin. Again Mrs. Egan insisted that she would not leave the house, and after a consultation it was decided to place the aged woman under an anaesthetic, although her condition was severe, as she was badly burned. This was done, and shortly before 8 o'clock the woman was taken to St. Michael's Hospital.

The woman had a sum of money in her waist, for the corners of bills of various denominations were found about the floor. The Rev. Father Glennon, an assistant at the Church of the Holy Cross, administered the last rites of the church to the victim.

How the woman was burned is a mystery. The fire in the kitchen stove was about out and a pan containing four potatoes which were not peeled was on it. The lamp was not lighted, but the globe was off. It is the belief of the police that in striking the match to light the lamp Mrs. Egan set fire to her clothing.

Young Egan is employed in the International Steel Pump Works. The elder Egan is employed in Newark, and his work keeps him there until the end of te week. Soon after being notified by his son he went direct to the hospital and remained by the bedside of his wife.

Officeholders Must Quit.

At the Rahway Common Council meeting last night resolutions were passed instructing the city clerk to notify all holdovers in office to turn over the same at once to their successors. Miss Annie Hoblitzel was appointed general assistant in the receiver of taxes office at a salary of $540 per year.

REV. G. F. BROWN PLANS FOR HIS NEW DUTIES.

Rahway, Feb. 2.—Rev. George F. Brown went to Morristown yesterday to arrange for assuming his new duties there. He succeeds the late Monsignor Flynn as rector of the Church of the Assumption. Father Brown came here about five years ago. He soon won his way to the affections of all denominations and peoples. Barry Post, G. A. R., esteem his as a personal friend, as do the other societies in town. Under his management a magnificent school has been brought to the front at St. Mary's, a fine building having been erected through Father Brown's efforts.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The borough board of health will in all probability have its attention called to conditions prevailing in several boarding houses in the western section of the borough at their next meeting. It is reported that sanitary conditions, not to say anything of the moral aspect of the affair, are far from being in harmony with the health ordinances. The houses referred to are inhabited by the foreign element, mostly Poles and Slavs. In one of the houses it is claimed that four families are inhabiting a single room. The conditions have been known for some time past, but for some reason the proper authorities have not interested themselves in the matter.

Edward Heslich's new dwelling on Dunellen avenue will be in readiness to receive the owner and his bride, Miss Grace Predmore, when they return from their honeymoon at Old Point Comfort. The wedding will be solemnized in the Church of the Holy Communion, Sixth avenue and West Twentieth street, at seven o'clock this evening. It will be followed by a reception at Miss Predmore's aunt's home on West Eighteenth street. Fifty guests are invited.

Father Dunphy conducted a service appropriate to the Candlemas celebration in St. John's church this morning.

Miss Mabel Cole has been entertaining out of twon friends for a few days.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The fourth of the series of winter dances being given by the Bachelors' Club was held last night in the hall. The affair was one of the most enjoyable yet held and was attended by many guests from Plainfield and Westfield. The dancng floor was filled from 8:30 until 1.30 with merry dancers enjoying the two step and waltz as dispensed by Suhr's orchestra. This will be the last of the club's dances until after Lent.

A big building boom s promised in the spring. Several pieces of property are to be opened up and houses renting from $15 to $20 per month are to be erected.

Mrs. Frank Hosinger, who has been quite ill at her home on Park avenue, is reported as improving.

Mrs. Benjamin Clark, of Prospect avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives in Newark.

Fanwood B. and E. Co. holds its regular monthly meeting tonight in the company's rooms.

Miss Rita DeMott, our assistant postmistress, has been visiting relatives at Gladstown.

Mrs. William Deegan, of Front stret, has been entertaining friends from out of town.

Mrs. Thomas Walsh, of Prospect street, has been visiting relatives in Brooklyn.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

George Pace and family expect to move to Somerville on the first of March.

Mrs. George Pace visited relatives in Plainfield yesterday afternoon.

John Miller visited his grandmother in North Plainfield.

William Hamilton was in Newark yesterday on business.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Richard Carle, who was so well received here last season, will return to the Plainfield theatre Saturday, matinee and night, with "Mary's Lamb." This has proved the longest-lived and most successful of all the tall comedian's musical comedies. Mr. Carle will once more gambol as Leander Lamb, the hen-pecked husband of Mary Miranda Lamb, who gets into so many difficulties because he insists upon flirting with a charming actress. His company remains largely as it was last season, his principals including Julia Ralph, Adele Rafter, Violet Seaton, Rita Stanwood, Marion Dean, Sylvania Langlois, George Bogues, Abbott Adams, Joseph Coffman and others. His chorus, as always, is large, active and attractive, the many young women appearing as cowgirls, Dutch girls, grisettes, models, shadowgraphs, soldier girls, athletic girls and in various other guises, and wearing gowns of many fashions and hues.

Board of Trade to Meet.

The February meeting of the Board of Trade will be held tomorrow night, when considerable business will be taken up. There will also be a report of the banquet committee, of which Edmund Rushmore is the chairman. The banquet will be held Thursday night, March 3, and among the speakers expected is William G. McAdoo.

Suffered a Slight Stroke.

Mrs. Delia Sheridan, of 426 West Second street, an aged woman, who has been under treatment at Muhlenberg Hospital for the past three weeks suffered a slight stroke f apoplexy last night, but today she was reported as being slightly improved.

MONS. CANET TELLS OF M'ALL MISSIONS

Interesting reports were received at the meeting of the Plainfield branch of the McAll Auxiliary, this morning, from Mons. Canet, the auxiliary's missionary at Limoges, France, in which he told of the happiness afforded the children through the $50 sent to him at Christmas time. This was used for the Christmas entertainment.

Although the members have not as yet received any direct information, they feel sure that the recent floods in Paris must have caused great suffering among the members of the McAll Mission, and in consequence they are more anxious than ever to send as much money as possible to their mission station this year. The local auxiliary ususally sends about $1,000 to Limoges.

In the absence of Mrs. F. G. Mead, this morning, Mrs. John Gray Foster presided.

PERSONAL.

Miss Jessie Reynolds, of Church stret, is detained at home by illness.

Miss Humphrey, the trained nurse, has recovered from a recent illness.

Charles Staats, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting here for the past two weeks, has returned home.

Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, of Grandview avenue, have returned from a sojourn at Atlantic City.

Mrs. H. C. Krebs, of 23 Fairview avenue, has been called to Hazleton, Pa., by the death of her father, which occurred yesterday morning.

EUGENE FIELD, JR., SUED FOR DIVORCE.

Chicago, Feb. 2.—The last chapter of "The Romance of Cocoanut Grove," the honeymoon of Eugene Field, Jr., son of the poet, and his bride, forerly Mrs. Elinor Brooks, which was spent in the African jungles, is expected to be written today in the divorce court. Mrs. Field has filed suit for divorce and her husband is not expected to contest it.

Mrs. Field charges that her spouse would lie abed all night reading romantic literature and then sleep part of the next day and that his literary temperament made it impossible for them to live happily.

The Fields were married in New Orleans five years ago after a love-at-first-sight attack. The couple decided to spend their honeymoon in a cocoanut jungle and hastened to Africa. While waiting the growth of the cocoanut grove the Fields returned to Chicago, where the husband dabbled in literary work.

Gifts for Library.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Plainfield Public Library and Reading Room last night thanks were extended to Mrs. Rufus Lincoln, of West Eighth street, for her valuable gift to the library of a copy of John Sargent's painting in the Boston Public Library, entitled "The Trinity," and also to Dr. A. E. M. Purdy for his gift of medical books and pamphlet cases.

Thank Andrew McC. Parker.

The P. H. S. Athletic Association met yesterday and nominated boys to be voted on at recess on Monday. The person elected will succeed Harry VanZandt, who resigned from the board. Resolutions were also passed thanking Andrew McClean Parker for his interest in the high school and in providing an athletic field for the city.

"Prophets and Pensioners."

Rev. Dr. T. H. Baragwanath, pastor of the Washington Square M. E. church, New York, will make the address at the Epworth League rally to be held at the First M. E. church tomorrow night. Hs subject will be "Prophets and Pensioners." The public is invited.

The Junior Epworth League, of the First M. E. church, will meet in Vincent chapel, Friday afternoon, in charge of Miss May Randolph. There will be an attractive program.

Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, will continue his series of talks at the church tonight on "What Baptists Believe." The theme for tonight will be "What Baptists Believe About God."

The Sunday-school of the First Baptist church has adopted a roll of honor system to increase and maintain regular attendance. Handsome pins will be given for various percentages in attendance, and as a member improves he or she will receive a more attractive pin, which may be kept.

HERE AND THERE.

Through an erroneous statement recently published in another paper, some people have gained the impression that rural free delivery carriers are not permited to accept money for postage on their routes. Rural carriers must accept money for postage, but are also ordered to carry stamps for sale. In other words they are classed as traveling post-offices. The only thing objected to by the government is that of persons dropping loose change in a mail box. It is required that the coins be wrapped in a small piece of paper. In some instances mail boxes are provided with a small receptacle inside for the dropping of coins. When money is dropped in lose in the ordinary boxes it is often difficult for the carrier to see it and there have been instances where water has got into the boxes, causing the coin to freeze fast. For this reason it is requested that money be wrapped in paper.

Miss Carrie Smith, of Trenton, has returned home after a visit with friends here.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Scarlet fever has broken out again at Delanco.

Cash wages instead of checks will be paid the Pennsylvania Railroad operators, station agents and section men this month.

The two glass furnaces blocked at the South Millville works of Whitall-Tatum Company a week ago resumed operations yesterday.

Rev. Edward Drew, of Crozier Seminary, and who has been supplying the Central Baptist church, Woodbury, has accepted its call.

Playing with matches, Charlotte Johnson, three years old, of 554 Haddon avenue, Camden, fired her clothing and was burned about the shoulder and arms before the blaze was extinguished by her father.

A reception was given Monday evening at the Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A., in Camden, to Joseph O. Thompson, road foreman of engines on the Amboy division, he having on Friday reached the retirement age of seventy years. A purse of $200 in gold was given him by the men with whom he has been associated for many years.

Claiming that alleged venders of cocaine arrested here in a police raid at Atlantic City Saturday night were former members of a dope syndicate driven away from the neighborhood of Philadelphia by agitation there, police presented evidence yesterday that resulted in the imprisonment of Harry Simone, Julia Simons and Lloyd Kelly to terms of four and five months each by Police Judge Keffer. He declared his intention of wiping out the cocaine business in Atlantic City.

Admitting a charge of larceny, and that he is deserter from the navy, Howard Llewellyn, twenty-one years old, was committed to jail from the Camden Police Court, yesterday, and the police notified the authorities at the Philadelphia Navy Yard of the deserter's apprehension. Llewellyn was caught stealing an oilskin coat from the Pennsylvania Railroad roundhouse, and confessed also to stealing kettles of lunch belonging to the men. He said he threw the kettles away after devouring their contents.

OFFERS LAND FOR PATRIOTIC PURPOSES.

Trenton, Feb. 2.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Washington's Crossing Park Commission at the State House Monday a letter was received from Dr. I. P. Strittmatter, of Philadelphia, owner of 123 acres of land at Washington's Crossing, upon which tract the old McConkey house is situated, stating that as soon as New Jersey has made complete arrangements for the establishment of a park to perpetually mark the place of Wasington's landing after crossing the Delaware River the night before the battle of Trenton, he will turn over to the State his land at practically cost price.

The only restriction Dr. Strittmatter indicated in his letter was that if he disposes of the property to the commission it shall be held perpetually for patriotic purposes He also said that he bought the land for patriotic purposes and is in complete sympathy with the project inaugurated by the Knights of Columbus of Trenton to have this land set aside for park purposes.

This information from the owner of land which is the key to the situation greatly pleased the executive committee, and Chairman Charles J. Fisk, Mayor of Plainfield, said that half of the work incident to preliminary negotiations to acquire land for the park has been completed by Mr. Strittmatter's attitude.

In order to interest Pennsylvania in the park project, the committee passed a resolution requesting Governor Fort to officially communicate with Governor Stuart, of Pennsylvania, for that purpose of determining the probable attitude of that State in the matter.

MOONSHINERS CAUGHT IN RAID ON DISTILLERY.

Bayonne, Feb. 2.—An illicit distillery was raided early yesterday morning at 20 West Twentieth street, and Morris Decker and two assistants, Alexander Knopler and Louis Terness, were caught in the act, detectives say, of preparing to fill the vates with material for distilling. The men were taken to Jersey City and will be given a hearing before United States Commissioner Rowe.

Two days ago Chief of Police Yare had his attention attracted to a truck loaded with sugar. He saw it turn into West Twentieth street and decided to see where the sugar would be delivered, so he detailed Detective Lazarus to the case, and notified United States Revenue Officer Bechtold. The two men saw a drayload of sugar with three men on it appear again on Broadway early yesterday morning. One of the men as sentinel got off at Twentieth streeet, the second at Avenue C and the third drove up to the house where the still was located and unloaded the sugar.

When the truck had gone away the detectives raided Decker's place and caught Decker and his assistants busily at work. They confiscated 10,000 pounds of sugar, 200 pounds of raisins and several gallons of brandy.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

Our Telephone Monopoly Charges.

In its nature the telephone business must necessarily be a monopoly. It is a public utility that cannot well be duplicated in a community. The man who rents a telephone should be able to connect with all other telephone users, not merely that number who are patrons of one of two or more separate companies. The fact that the telephone is a monopoly is a conclusive reason why it should be strictly under State control. Without such control the monopoly holds the public completely at its mercy. It can charge extravagant rates, it can give inadequate service, it can treat the public with insolence. The telephone monopoly in New Jersey is without restraint, and, taking advantage of its license, it has imposed charges on the public that are excessive and dishonest. Comparisons made with telephone rates charged in other cities of about the same population show that the Newark rates soar high above all others, being five times greater than those of Rochester, nearly four times greater than those of Reading, Pa., which has a much smaller population, and nearly three times greater than those of Buffalo and Providence. The people are being squeezed out of their substance by all kinds of combinations that could be held in restraint by proper laws. Here is one form of imposition that can be corrected at once by legislation.—Newark Star.

The House of Mayors.

The conference of all the Mayors in New Jersey called for next Friday by Governor Fort will give an opportunity for an exchange of views on municipal governmental problems. The Governor has evidently been impressed with the conferences of the Chief Executives of the States at Washington, and believes that better understanding will follow a gathering of Mayors. There will doubtless be much talk regarding uniform legislation for municipal charters. The demand for home rule has been growing apace in the past few years, but there has yet been no substantial basis of agreement as to the best way in which to bring it about.

The announcement is made that some of the things to be considered will be the tax rate and debt limit; a uniform system of accounting, with an audit by the State, and the plan for single-handed departments, the chiefs to be appointed by the Mayor with the consent of the Common Council. Uniform legislation of this character would mean a practically uniform charter for all municipalities, allowing each much latitude to govern itself according to the views of its inhabitants without being compelled to be going every little while to Trenton to get a special bill passed.

Such a general plan is desirable, but the difficulty will be in the details. In Jersey City, for instance, Mayor Wittpenn is in favor of single-headed departments, with appointive heads. The members of the Legislature from Hudson county, on the other hand, have gone on record by resolution as being in favor of the election of all officials now elected and further extension of the elective system. They claim that the appointive plan is undemocratic Those who agree with Mayor Wittpenn hold that the appointive system concentrates responsibility and gives the people the opportunity to fix blame exactly where it belongs. This is the view that has been held in the cities where the commission form of municipal government has been adopted.

There is a somewhat similar divergence of views in Newark. This was shown by the action of the charter revision commission, when it ordered the city law department to draft a new charter. Some of the members favored the single-headed department plan, while others objected strongly. The result was a compromise, and even the details of that have not yet been completed for submission to the Legislature—Newark News.

Guards Direct Primary.

Trenton, Feb. 2.—True to his promise, Assemblyman Wohlfarth Monday night withdrew from the files House 40, and introduced another measure to take its place. House 40 was put in to provide for the filling of vacancies in case of the death of nominees between the primaries and election. Legal minds discovered in it, however, an innocent clause that might have been construed at some time as repealing the direct primary law as it now exists. Mr. Wohlfarth said he would not stand for this and his action last night was the proof. The new bill overcomes the objection.

Messenger Boy Missing.

Rahway, Feb. 2.—Wallace McCarthy, fifteen years old, a telegraph messenger, has been missing since 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, at which time his parents gave him an order to fill at a meat market. The order was not received, nor had the lad been heard from since. His parents are distracted, and friends are searching for the lad. He did not have much known money, but was a great reader of tales of adventure.

New Fire Horses Arrive.

Two new horses for use in the Cranford fire department arrived yesterday afternoon and were at once put in service. It is hoped the new $6,000 firehouse will be ready for occupancy within a week.

CASE AFTER CASE.

Plenty More Like This in Plainfield.

Scores of Plainfield people can tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills. Many a happy citizen makes a public statement of his experience. Here is a case of it. What better proof of merit can be had than such endorsement?

Robert Love, 44 Duer street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For eight or nine years I was a victim of kidney complaint. Every cold I contracted, settled in my kidneys and caused my back to ache severely. Any heavy lifting or much standing gave me additional pain. In the morning upon arising, my back was very lame and this did not disappear until I exercised for some time. I doctored and used several so called kidney cures, but it was only a waste of money. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in the newspapers, I procured a box at Randolph's Pharmacy and began their use. When I had taken about half the contents of the box, my condition was greatly improved and before long the pain left me entirely. I will always stand ready to speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A LOVE TRAGEDY.

Ruskin's Adoration of the Lovely Rose La Touche.

In 1858, when Ruskin was in his fortieth year, he was asked by a friend to give some lessons in drawing to a child named Rose La Touche, whose name, indeed, was French, but whose family were Irish. There sprang up between Ruskin and this young girl a very charming friendship, which, of course, at the time could be nothing but a friendship. They wrote each other letters and exchanged drawings, and then for awhile they did not meet.

Ten years passed by before they saw each other. Meanwhile the child, whom he had remembered as a blue eyed, saucy, clever little blond with ripe red lips and hair like fine spun gold, had become a very lovely young woman of nineteen. They resumed their old acquaintance, but in a very different way. Though Ruskin was now nearly fifty, he gave to Rose La Touche an adoration and a passion such as he had never felt before. On her side she no longer thought of him as "very ugly," but was singularly drawn to him despite the difference in their years.

The two met often. They took long strolls together in the pleasant fields of Surrey, and at last Ruskin begged her to make him happy and to be his wife. Oddly enough, however, she hesitated, not because he was so much older than herself, but because he had ceased to be what she regarded as "a true believer." Some of the things that he had written shocked her as being almost atheistic. She was herself, underneath all her gaiety of manner, a rigid and uncompromising Protestant. She used phrases from the Bible in her ordinary talk, and when she spoke of marriage with John Ruskin she said that she could not endure to be "yoked with an unbeliever."

Yet her heart was torn at the thought of sending him away, and so for several years their intimacy continued, he pleading with her and striving hard to make her see that love was everything. She, on the other hand, read over those passages of the Old Testament which seemed to bar all compromise.

At last, in 1872, when she was twenty-four and he was fifty-three, she gave him her final answer. She would not marry him unless he could believe as she did. His honesty forbade him to deceive her by a pretended conversion, and so they parted, never to see each other again. How deeply she was affected is shown by the fact that she soon fell ill. She grew worse and worse until at last it was quite certain that she could not live. Then Ruskin wrote to her and begged that he might see her. She answered with a note in which she feebly traced the words:

"You may come if you can tell me that you love God more than you love me."

When Ruskin read this his very soul was racked with agony, and he cried out:

"No, no; then I cannot go to her, for I love her even more than God!"

When she died, as she did soon after, the light of his life went out for Ruskin.—Lyndon Orr in Munsey's Magazine.

The Ocean's Age.

The ocean, of course, is not as old as the earth, because it could not be formed until the surface of the globe had sufficiently cooled to retain water upon it, but it seems chimerical to try to measure the age of the sea. Nevertheless Professor Joly undertook the task, basing his estimate upon the ratio of the amount of sodium it contains to that annually contributed by the washing from the continents. He thus reached the conclusion that the ocean has been in existence between 80,000,000 and 170,000,000 years. This does not seem a very definite determination, but then in geology estimates of time in years are extremely difficult because of the uncertainty of the elements of the calculation. The most that can be said for such results is that they are probable.

Couldn't Signal It!

During some tactical operations one of the ships of the squadron had made some bad blunders, and at length the admiral completely lost his temper. He stormed about his quarterdeck and informed his hearers of his opinion of the officer in command of the erring ship. When he paused for want of breath he turned to the signaler and said to him, "And you can tell him that, sir!"

The man scratched his head meditatively. "I beg pardon, sir," he ventured, "but I don't think we have quite enough flags for your message."—London Answers.

Cannibalism.

Among regular cannibals the most varied motives have been found. There are Indians who are said to eat their enemies by way of insult and Australians who consume their deceased parents as a mark of affection. Some tribes devour the dead enemy to abolish him utterly, others to assimilate his virtues. Africa has revealed cannibalism of every sort, from the most solemn religious rite to the most prosaic gratification of appetite and taste.

Traced a Long Way.

She—How far can your ancestry be traced? He—Well, when my grandfather resigned his position as cashier of a country bank they traced him as far as China, but he got away.—London Tit-Bits.

The Remedy.

"What do you think of a man with a rip in his coat and only three buttons on his vest?"

"He should either get married or divorced."—Boston Transcript.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

Novelized by
FREDERICK R. TOOMBS.

From the great play of the same name by Joseph Medill Patterson and Harriet Ford. Copyright, 1909, by Joseph Medill Patterson and Harriet Ford.

"An amusing character, our hostess," commented Bartelmy dryly to Dupuy.

"Yes; she seems very appreciative of your daughter's visit."

"Well," decisively, "she certainly ought to be."

"I suppose we shall see it in the Advance tomorrow," suggested Dupuy.

"Oh, of course!" Bartelmy laughed amusedly.

"By the way," remarked Dupuy, "did you see the evening papers?"

A serious look came into Bartelmy's face as he said:

"I glanced over them on my way uptown, and their accounts of my decision this morning are not at all objectionable."

"No blood drawn," said Dupuy reassuringly. "A little surprising, too, for the Lansing Iron people have been in pretty bad odor with the public ever since the receivership matter last year."

"That was the beginning of all these attacks upon me. I hope the morning papers will treat me fairly."

"Oh, there will be no trouble about them. They have not investigated the matter thoroughly enough yet, of course, excepting the Advance. But you did just the right thing today to bring Miss Judith."

Bartelmy was showing not the slightest hesitancy at using his beautiful and accomplished daughter as a decoy in his plottings. In the first place, he desired that she should marry Wheeler Brand, hoping that the young reformer's zeal against him would disappear; secondly, by prevailing on her to pay attention socially to the Nolan family he was confident that the owner of the Advance would capitulate and become his friend. As for Judith, she little comprehended the entire significance of her father's attitude, and if she had, her frank, genuine nature, which revolted at trickery and deceit, would not have permitted her to continue to do his bidding. She admired and loved her father.

She knew that her mother before her had aided her father in his work and ambitions to a considerable extent, and now that her mother was no longer alive she felt it her duty to fill her place in every possible way. After all, she had only a young woman's knowledge of the ways of men in the business and professional world, and she could discern in the attacks on her father nothing beyond what he himself had taught her to believe—that they were the efforts of envious men or ignorant reformers or misguided fanatics, who assailed him entirely without just cause. However, it would seem that the judge would in any event have attempted to conceal from others his motives for procuring the presence of Judith at the Nolan home on this day. It would seem, no matter how low he had sunk, that he would have denied that he had ever employed her unsuspectingly as a decoy on other occasions. That was the least this father could do for his daughter. But he made no attempt to protect her reputation, at any rate to Dupuy, for in answer to the lawyer lobbyist's remark that he had done "just the right thing to bring Miss Judith today" he replied with his characteristic coolness:

"Oh, in matters of this kind my daughter is of the greatest help to me!" After a moment he continued, "I don't at all like your idea, Dupuy, of my proposing this man Nolan at the club."

"That's our trump card," insisted the other. "Every man has his price—even this young Brand if we could only find out what it is."

CHAPTER VII.

BRAND and Nolan came out of the library after their smoke and were surprised to find Judge Bartelmy and Dupuy in the drawing room. Brand did not appear enthusiastic at the circumstance and, nodding stiffly in the general direction of the two men, proceeded to circle around them toward the door leading to the hall.

Judge Bartelmy advanced pleasedly toward the newspaper owner, who greeted him courteously.

"Judge, this is an unexpected honor."

"An honor to come—believe me, Mr. Nolan, an honor to come."

Nolan saw Brand's dexterous maneuver toward the door, and on calling to him not to go he halted, turned toward the center of the room and stood watching the strangely assorted group of men.

Nolan next addressed Dupuy, who expressed his thanks at the granting of his request for an interview.

Judge Bartelmy, always quick to notice every detail or phase of what was transpiring in his immediate presence, saw that Brand was ill at ease. He called to him cheerily:

"My daughter and I were just speaking of you, Wheeler. The reformer sails a treacherous sea."

"The port is in sight, Judge Bartelmy," was the calm answer.

Bartelmy would have made a success on the stage, in fact, he had been acting a part most of his life and proved the truth of Richard Mansfield's aphorism that "the best actors are never seen on the stage." At Wheeler Brand's significant reply, which smote as ominously on the ears of the judge as it did on those of Dupuy, the jurist gave an inward shiver quite imperceptible to the eye and replied in the most jovial of manners:

"So? So? That's good. That's worth while. Stick to the helm, my boy," he laughed.

"Brand ain't at sea, judge," put in Nolan good naturedly. "He's in the clouds. The air up there makes your nose bleed; but, by the Eternal, you see all that's going on down here."

There was much "going on down here" that Bartelmy by all means preferred to have remain unseen, yet he managed to reply, with an attempt at sincerity:

"More power to you, Wheeler. More power to you!"

Nolan stepped toward the jurist.

"You're a generous foe, Judge Bartelmy," he said warmly, deceived by the smooth tactics of the judge.

"Foe? That's hardly the word," responded Bartelmy, and with deference: "Wheeler and I merely energize differently. He is dynamic; I am static, and that is because he is young and I am old."

"He'll outgrow that, judge. You never will," remarked Dupuy, crossing to Nolan's side.

"But under every system of free government," pronounced Bartelmy in his best judicial manner, "there have always been conservative and liberal parties, whose leaders, while they differed perhaps in method, have been stimulated by an equal love of country."

"That is true, Judge Bartelmy," said Brand, "but I can't concede that you belong to the conservative party."

The judge showed surprise.

"But I don't understand you," he stammered, when Brand went on determinedly:

"Are you not seeking to introduce into our country methods of government undreamed of by our forefathers?"

The judge laughed as though in agreeable tolerance. His skill at verbal parrying was standing him in good stead.

"Oh, I had as much enthusiasm myself in my youth," he said, "but my legal training has forced upon me a certain unfortunate exactitude of thought. But come, come. We old lawyers have long since learned that we cannot carry our quarrels out of court. For instance, of a morning my best friend, Judge Culver, may be at drawn swords with me over some point of law, but the same evening will find us hail fellows well met, exchanging stories before a club fire."

Nolan nodded his head understandingly.

"Yes, judge, that's life—that's life," he commented.

"Half the laws of our country are framed up in clubs," interjected Dupuy.

Bartelmy raised his hand and made a gesture of disapproval.

"I wouldn't say that."

Brand saw an opportunity to score.

"Likewise the safest methods of evading the laws are framed up in clubs," he shot at Dupuy.

Bartelmy pretended to side with Brand.

"That's neat, Wheeler," he laughed. "He scored off you that time, Dupuy." Bartelmy paused. He had now reached a point where he was about to make his supreme effort to capture Nolan and the Advance, to make them friendly to him. He was about to play what Dupuy had truthfully termed "the trump card." "By the way, Mr. Nolan, Judge Culver and I usually dine two or three times a week at the Oak Door club. We need you there. We should have a man in all our discussions of public questions—we should have a practical man of affairs who knows what reformers like our young friend here are really trying to get at. Shall I propose you for membership?"

Dupuy watched the effect of Bartelmy's words on Nolan with intense eagerness. It was an anxious moment for both Dupuy and Bartelmy. If Nolan accepted they felt that they were safe. As for Nolan, he was greatly perplexed. He wanted to accept the proffer, both for his own sake and for his family's. Membership in the Oak Door club was equivalent to a ticket of admission into the fashionable circles of the city. He would be able then to put his wife and daughter in the way of gratifying their desires. Sylvester, too, would be benefited in whatever business career he should take up, and the membership would enable him to meet and make his personal friends the most prominent men of the city—the men he naturally craved to associate with—on terms of equality. Then he spoke:

"Really, judge," he said warmly, "that's something that I never expected to hear from your lips."

"Not at all; not at all! I shall be delighted to put you up, and Dupuy will second me."

"With pleasure," bowed the lawyer.

Nolan hesitated over his final reply. He remembered what Brand had stated regarding the attentions of Judge Bartelmy and his daughter. Probably this offer was a trick, a bribe, and it did not improve the situation to have Dupuy brought into it by the jurist as seconder of his nomination. Still, the idea came into his head—if he accepted it he did it with his eyes open, he need not necessarily change the policy of the Advance toward certain public men. Thus he reasoned, and still there lingered within him an insistent desire, even a prompting, in view of the advantages for himself and his family, to accept at all hazards, under any circumstances.

"Thank you, gentlemen, thank you he said, temporizing, in an endeavor to gain time before actually committing himself. He glanced across the room at Wheeler Brand, wondering how he was accepting the situation. Brand took a quick step forward, straightened himself stiffly and shot a glance of warning over the shoulder of Bartelmy, whose back was turned to him. Nolan nodded his head slightly to show that he understood. Dupuy caught the interchange of signals, and he glared malignantly at the young managing editor. He saw that Brand would do his utmost to swing Nolan away from the subtle snare. Nolan addressed the judge. "I'll think it over—and thank you once more."

Bartelmy and Dupuy started toward a door.

"Now, if you will excuse us, Dupuy and I will join the ladies," said the jurist. "Wheeler, you're not going away yet, eh?" he added.

Brand moved toward the hall door and ignored the query.

"What's your hurry, Wheeler?" asked Nolan as Bartelmy and Dupuy disappeared.

"Oh, it's time to get back to the office."

"H-m! What's the trouble?"

"What's the use of talking about it?"

"Come, get it off your chest."

"I don't have to tell you, Mr. Nolan." He drew closer to his employer.

"You think Mike Nolan is going back on you—isn't that it?"

The young man's voice rang out in his deep disappointment that Nolan was lingering on the verge of an acceptance of Bartelmy's offer, which could mean only two things if his employer yielded, and these were the muzzling of the Advance and the silencing of Brand as long as he remained on the paper. He blamed Nolan bitterly for failing to spurn the offer outright on the moment.

"Do you think you can accept favors from Bartelmy with one hand," he cried, "and knife him with the other?"

Nolan gave a spirited but kindly reply:

"Hold your horses, Wheeler. You know I don't care anything about this social stunt for myself. It don't fit into my life, but remember I've got a family, and nothing comes ahead of them. Mother and I may have a jangle now and then; but, after all, we have been side partners for a good many years. And my girl! There ain't a finer educated or a prettier girl in New York, and she ought to be able to go anywhere, but she can't in this town—this cold man's town. Then, of course, there's Sylvester. I know he ain't as bright as he might be, and I've spent—well, more than twice your salary trying to get him through freshman year at Harvard, and I couldn't, but still he's my son, and if he wants to run around with these other sports, why not? I can afford it, and I guess the kid's got to sow his wild oats anyway. My wife and children ought to be happy with the money I've got, and, as I figure it, if I join this Oak Door club I can help them to get what they want. Do you follow me, Brand?"

"Yes; I understand," sighed Brand. "At first you took up the side of the people, and you are continuing at it. But you and your family have become ambitious, or, at least, so far as you are concerned, you are ambitious for them. When you begin to associate familiarly with rich men as their friend you'll soon find yourself playing golf or billiards with one, drinking whisky with another, and your son will marry the daughter of a third. You will forget all about the people. Your paper will become decadent and feeble. The circulation will dry up." He paused for breath and added warningly in strong tones, "The Advance is now at its zenith, but its decline begins the very day that you are elected to the Oak Door club."

Nolan reached over and seized Brand by the shoulder.

"Wheeler, you're a decent sort of a fellow. I like you and the things you've made the paper stand for, but you don't know what it means to put people that you love on the altar and cause them suffering for the sake of these—these general principles."

"Don't I!" exclaimed the young editor. "Well, that's exactly what I've done. I gave up the girl I loved, who had promised to be my wife, so that I might write the truth." In spite of the emotion which his words had aroused in him Brand's voice never faltered as he spoke.

"You did!" exclaimed Nolan amazedly. "Well, my boy, I don't understand you. I couldn't do that," he confessed.

"Don't think that it was easy for me to do. I've thought of her every hour of every day since, but she'—now his voice wavered—"well, she's forgotten, so it doesn't matter. Mr. Nolan, do you remember what it was that first brought us together?"

"Yes; that story about Judge Bartelmy, and it was a good one, and you've followed it up with a lot of good ones since. Why, Wheeler, there ain't a man in the country that can work up a series like you can. But, do you know, I'm beginning to think that the judge is not all bad. Mind you, I'm not forgetting old scores, but"—he seated himself—"did you ever think of it, perhaps we haven't all the facts of that affair? Some things have happened. Are you sure that he's so all fired wrong?"

"Mr. Nolan, the half hasn't been told about Judge Bartelmy!" cried Brand.

LOCAL ELKS ARE DOING SOME GREAT PINNING

That the local Elks are out to win the championshp in the Elks' League was demonstrated again last night when Plainfield captured the odd game n an exciting series from Elizabeth last night on Campbell's alleys. There was a big crowd of rooters on hand and all of the games were marked by keen rolling.

Plainfield dropped the first game by a margin of fourteen pins, the county seaters winning by a score of 897 to 883. The second clash was a hair-raiser. It resulted in a tie, 851 to 851, but the locals won out in the roll-off by a score of 97 to 89. A sensational spare in the roll-off by Chauncey Stout brought victory to Plainfield. All was gloom when Stout left the 6-10 and 7 pins standing, but Chauncey was there at the crucial moment, and made the spare amid a big tumult of applause by the local contingent.

The final game was also a pippin for excitement, but Plainfield emerged triumphant by the score of 948 to 924. In this contest Johnny Campbell was the "bell-cow" with a 231 ring. The scores:

ELEVEN TEAMS FOR THE NEWARK SIX-DAY RACE

With the formation of the teams completed, everything is now in readiness as far as the riders are concerned for the Newark six-day, ten-hours-a-day, bicycle race, which will be held in the First Regiment Armory, that city, next week, February 7 to 12. There will be a championship sprint race in the Armory next Saturday night, composed of professional and amateur sprint races, a sprint race between Frank Kramer and Iver Lawson and a ten-mile motor-paced race between Jimmy Moran and Elmer Collins.

Work on the construction of the broad track, which is eleven laps to the mile, was started Thursday morning by forty carpenters, under the direction of John M. Chapman, the race promoter, and it will be completed in plenty of time for Saturday night's opening. The start of the grind has been set down for 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, February 7, and it will run until 11 o'clock each night, winding up Saturday night, February 12. There are eleven teams in, as follows:

Frank Kramer, Newark; Willie Fenn, Newark.
Jimmy Moran, Boston; Iver Lawson, Salt Lake City.
John Bedell, Newark; Menus Bedell, Newark.
Worth Mitten, Davenport, Ia., Eddie Rupprecht, Newark.
Ernest Pye, Australia; Paddy Hehir, Australia.
Freddy West, San Francisco; Frank Galvin, Boston.
Norman Anderson, Denmark; Floyd Krebs, Newark.
Elmer Collins, Boston; Walter Bardgett, Buffalo.
George Wiley, Syracuse; Percy Lawrence, San Francisco.
Tommy Smith, Newark; Carlo Vanoni, Italy.
Charley Stein, Brooklyn; Teddy Billington, Newark.

Miss vonOhl at Proctor's.

A real wild west show will be at Proctor's theatre, tomorrow for three days. It is called the "Bronco Busters," and Miss Adele vonOhl, the expert horsewoman, of this city, is featured in the cast. There are eight people in the cast, also two wild and one tamed horse. The stage setting is a corral, where a quartet composed of cowboys, who know how to sing, entertain. A story of heart interest is woven in the act, and it is one of the biggest yet presented here.

—A choice assortment of dried fruits, including fancy prunes, apricots, evaporated peaches and pitted plums, are constantly on sale at Neuman Brothers' grocery.

LOCAL BOWLERS ARE GOING TO BALTIMORE

On to Baltimore! That is the slogan of Plainfield bowlers.

The National Bowling Association tourney, which was held in Madison Square, Garden last year, is carded to open in the Monumental City on April 9 and continue until April 30. Local bowlers made such a big showing in the Madison Square Garden tourney that steps are now being taken to organze teams to go to "Oysterville."

Two five-men teams are sure to compete. The first team will be composed of the same membership as last year—Kiely, Blatz, Stout, Campbell and Nash. The second quintet will probably be made up of Causebrook, Laing, Mathews, Schaub and Radin.

Stout and Blatz, who rolled up a 1,172 score in the two-man competition last season, will hook together agan, while Campbell and Nash will link fortunes. There will be other teams and all of the Plainfielders will roll in the individual competition.

Johnny Campbell is now making arrangements for the trip and local bowlers desiring information can secure it from the local impressiaro. It is understood that reduced railroad rates will be secured.

The next competition to be tapped on Campbell's alleys is a two-man tourney. The entry list was opened last night. The competition will be limited to twenty-one teams and all local pin smashers are going to compete. The tourney is slated to start on Tuesday night, February 15.

The Fraternal League championship will be decided on Thursday night when the Ponies and Raritans will clash. The Red Men are now on top. Should the Raritans win all three games they will tie the redskins and if they win one and lose two they will tie the Knights of Columbus for second place.

The uncompleted individual tourney will be wiped off the slate on Friday night. Johnny Campbell has the title clinched with a record of fifteen victories and three defeats. On Friday night second and third positions will be decided by the results of the unrolled games between Nash, Mathews and Blatz. The records of these men are as follows: Nash, won 12 and lost 4; Blatz, won 11 and lost 5; Mathews, won 13 and lost 5.

By losing one game to Elizabeth last night Hoboken is tied for second place in the race.

Plainfield will journey to New Brunswick next Tuesday night. The Middlesex county cracks were given a bitter dose of medicine on their last visit to this city, but "little Johnny Dunn" declares it is dollars to doughnuts that the team from old Rutgers town will turn the tables. Johnny and C. Stout will put down a little bet on the result.

Tuesday night, February 15, the New York Elks will be here for a game. The Gotham pin knights are not feared by the locals, who are counting on taking three straight.

Hard luck clung to Eddie Laing and "Snapper" Kiely last night. Both had a big share of blow-holes to their credit. Both place the blame on the rooting.

Don't Forget the Turkey Supper.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Society for Christian Work of Trinity Reformed church, the annual turkey supper will be held in the lecture room of the church tomorrow and Friday night. The women have made extensive plans for feeding a large number of people and there will be plenty of good things to eat, in addition to other attractive features.

Local Realty Transfers.

The following local real estate transfers were among those filed last week at the office of the county registrar, Frank H. Smith, at Elizabeth: Marcus W. Manning, et ux. to William D. Manning, southerly side Netherwood avenue, 374 feet northwesterly of George street; $1. Marcus W. Manning, Second street, corner New street; $1.

Will Hold Second Annual Dance.

W. L. Randall, R. T. Skinner, O. P. Crane, J. McCarthy, L. Stites, W. Skinner, Edward Korman and O. Forister, comprise the committee in charge of the arrangements for the second annual ball under the auspices of Roth & Co.'s Plainfield employees, at Saengerbund Hall Friday evening, February 11.

'PHONE TOLLS TOO HIGH

New Jersey Legislature to Get After Company for Its Charges.

TWO RESOLUTIONS APPEAR.

Both Senate and House Hear of Alleged Exorbitant Rates Charged By the 'Phone Monopoly In This State.

Legislative action relative to the excessive rates charged by telephone companies in this State was initiated yesterday by Assemblyman Walter Edge, of Atlantic county, in the House at Trenton, who introduced a resolution in the House asking for an investigation into the alleged excessive tolls charged in New Jersey. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations, of which Assemblyman Tatem, of Camden, is chairman.

This is the second resolution of the kind to appear in the present session of the Legislature. Last week Senator Gebhardt, of Hunterdon county, presented a resolution asking that an investigation be made into the alleged high rates charged by the New York Telephone Company in North and Central Jersey. After a short titlt on the floor of the Senate the resolution was referred to the Judiciary Committee and has not been heard of since. The concern in question has exclusive control of the business in this city.

A joint resolution was presented in the House yesterday by Assemblyman Layden, of Passaic county, which provides that a commission be appointed by the Governor to consist of five members, to investigate a plan for industrial old age pensions. This commission is to report to the next Legislature.

Mr. Moore, of Passaic, introduced a bill which provides that in addition to the power granted to municipalities by their charters, they shall have power to enact all other ordinances which they may deem proper for the protection of life, health and property, although their charter may not give them such ight. Under this bill the power of taxation shall be limited to the provisions of the taxing act of 1906.

Under the provsions of a measure introduced by Assemblyman Ramsey osteopaths are allowed to have a member on the State Medical Board, providing he successfully passes the examination prescribed by the State Medical Board. A bill by Mr. Cole provides that road overseers shall be ballotted for on the third Monday in December between the hours of 1 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

PLAINFIELDERS ON JURY FOR THIS MURDER TRIAL.

Among those drawn for the jury panel from which a jury will be selected for the trial of Guardsman Jacobson at Elizabeth on Monday, are Howard A. Colby, George H. Chapman, Lewis G. Timpson, Charles Arnold, Arthur E. Smith and Andrew G. Carpenter, all of this city.

Jacobson shot and killed his wife the day after Christmas. He claims that the shooting was purely accidental. Co. C, of Elizabeth, of which Jacobson is a member, is supplying the funds for the defense.

Living Pictures at Truell Court.

"The Reveries of a Bachelor," will be given at Truell Court tnight, also an original sketch by Henry C. White, in which he will also appear. There will be piano selections by Miss Mabel Maxson and vocal numbers by New York and Philadelphia talent. Mrs. John Roundey will be the accompanist. The entertainment will be under the management of Mrs. Emily Wilkinson, and the proceeds will be given to worthy local charity.

Art Company Incorporated.

The Craftsman's Art Company of this city, filed incorporation articles in Elizabeth yesterday with the county clerk. The company, which has a capital of $10,000, will engage in manufacturing decorative designs and articles in metal and other materials. The incorporators are Jennie W. Phillips, of Plainfield; James B. Guttridge, of Netherwood, and Theodore J. Shirley, Manning F. Gano and John S. Johnson, of North Plainfield.

Special Meeting of Council.

The Common Council will hold a special meeting tonight when there will be a consideration of a proposed new hack ordinance. Several changes are proposed to meet present-day conditions and it is desired that the whole council pass on the ordinance at this time.

KINGS DAUGHTERS IN "DUTCH MARKET"

A typical Dutch market scene in Holland was presented to those who attended the "Dutch Market Supper" given under the auspices of the Golden Rule Circle of King's Daughters in Grace M. E. church last night. The affair was successful and more than one hundred dollars was realized by the project.

The interior of the church was transformed into a Dutch market. The Dutch decorations of dark blue, red and yellow were conspicuous in the decoration and all of the members of the committees and those in attendance at the different booths were attired in Dutch costumes.

Visitors to the market were received by Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, chairman of the reception committee. There were five booths in operation and each department carried on an active business. The arrangement of the booths and those in attendance follow:

Cake and coffee—Mrs. Charles Harden, Mrs. Lewis Bennett, Mrs. A. B. C. Bodine, Miss Lottie Huff.

Pie, crullers and cheese—Mrs. Dyckman Winckler, the Misses Grace Clark, Mary Hoagland, Loretta Clark and Nettie Bauersachs.

Sausage and rolls—Clarence Steiner, Raymond Miller.

Potato salad and baked beans—Miss Clara Van Fleet.

Meats and bread—Miss Della Voehl.

Anniversary of Bible Class.

The first anniversary of class twenty-four of Trinity Reformed Sunday school, of which H. P. Seader is teacher, was celebrated last night and officers for the ensuing year elected. After the business meeting the evening was spent in having a social time among the twenty-five members who attended. Refreshments were served and the new officers congratulated upon their election. They are s follows: President, Mrs. Clarence Bye; vice-president, Mrs. Edgar Sheppard; secretary, Mrs. A. B. Coles, and treasurer, Mrs. Chauncey F. Colthar.

Miss Alice Spitz, of Lakewood, returned home today after spending two weeks with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, of Church street.

FOUR LEAF CLOVERS CONDUCT A EUCHRE

The progressive euchre given in Debele's Hall last night under the auspices of the Four Leaf Clover Club was a distinct success socially and financially. The attendance reached the two hundred mark and forty-seven tables were in commission during the competition. The club is an auxiliary organization to St. Joseph's church and the affair netted about $75.

The interior of the hall was prettily decorated with flags and bunting and everybody apparently enjoyed themselves. Play started at 8:15 o'clock and at 10 o'clock dancing was begun. The music for this diversion was furnished by Paroubek and Denny.

Mrs. James Hurley was the winner of the first prize and the booby guerdon was captured by Mrs. Arthur Cannon. Other prize winners were the Misses Mary McCullough, Mary Brown, Katherine Whalen, Julia Day, May Burke and McCormick McDonough, Thomas Meaney, Frank Reilly and Walter Hamilton.

Announcement was made that the club will conduct another party after the Lenten season. The committee in charge was the Misses Kathryn Conshay, Nellie Purcell, Frieda Kaiser and Mamie Carney.

BIBLE CLASS STRIVING FOR MORE MEMBERS.

With an enrollment of fifty-seven members, representing an increase of forty-five during the year, the William N. Runyon Bible class of Hope chapel is striving to increase the membership to the one hundred mark. The class-room is being renovated and when the improvements are completed the department will be one of the coziest corners in the chapel.

James Penny, who is chairman of the lookout committee, announces that several social events will be held soon as the improvements are completed. The plans of the class are to hold a dinner and this function will likely be followed by an entertainment or minstrel performance.

Miss M. D. Gorsline, of the Jackson building, who has been ill with a fever, is reported as being improved.

CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCES

Belated Celebrations are Held by Several Protestant Congregations.

FINE MUSIC WAS RENDERED.

Special Sermons a Feature—Many Sunday-schools Also Hold Appropriate Exercises.

Belated Christmas exercises were held by these congregations yesterday:

Congregational.

The services at the Congregational church yesterday included an uncommon occurrence, the celebration of both ends of Christ's life, the birth and the last communion. This would not have happened but for the storm of last Sunday. However, the program of music, both at the church and Sunday school services, were carried out with fidelity and a proper regard for both events.

The Christmas music at the church service was rendered by a quartet compos d of Mrs. Theodore Mantz, soprano; Miss Nellie Winkler, contralto; John D. Townsend, tenor, and Charles E. Lewis, bass. This quartet assisted also at the exercises which followed in the Sunday school. The collection for Muhlenberg hospital was taken up at the morning service and was a splendid contribution.

The Sunday-school exercises were enjoyed by a large number of adults who remained after church to hear the children sing and recite.

Trinity Reformed.

When the members of Trinity Reformed church Sunday school marched into the church last night, singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," accompanied by the organ, and the cornet admirably handled by E. D. Young, the immense audience arose and felt the influence of the martial music. It was the preliminary to a fine program of song and speech in commemoration of Christmastide.

With one or two omissions, the program prepared for last Sunday evening was carried out and provided no little amusement and cheer to the congregation. A feature of the event which will remain indelibly impressed upon those who were present was the quartet sung by Adele and Ruth Freeman, Mildred Clark and Helen Thompson. Miss Adele Freeman distinguished herself in the solo, "O Wonderful Light." Master Charles Todd would have won applause had it been permitted, for his playing of "O Come All Ye Faithful," on the viloin, accompanied by Miss Coriell.

The chorus singing by the school was one of the most pleasing features of the evening and the preparation for the exercises was most evident in the hymn "Star of Bethlehem," led by Horace J. Martin.

The pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek, delivered a short address in which he referred to the lesson brought to the pupils a year ago. At that time he referred to Christ as the Saviour. This time he spoke of Him as the Examiner and if all goes well he will tell about Him as the master next Christmas. Mr. Broek told the children to be imitators of God, for then they would not be imitating anything false.

Superintendent Smith added a few words of praise referring especially to the higher standard reached by the school and wished all the members a happy New Year.

First Baptist Church.

The Sunday-school of the First Baptist church held its Christmas exercises yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when a program of a week ago, was rendered. Superintendent George H. Batchelor was in charge and a feature was an excellent address by Arthur M. Harris, of the school. The program follows:

Prelude, "Hymn to St. Cecelia," Gounod, Miss Florence Wohlfert, violin; Mrs. B. T. Barnes, piano and Howard Case, organ; carol; "God Rest You Merry Gentleman," school; invocation, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss; Christmas greeting, Emily Pilger; Scripture reading, school; contralto solo, Miss Josie Bracker; recitation, "The Shepherd's Vision," Helena Francisco; carol, "The Saviour's Star," school; semi-chorus, "Rock the Cradle," primary department; recitation, "Christmas," Anna Sherwin; solo, Elsie Moore; carol, "Sing for Joy," junior department; offertory, "Minuetto," Beethoven, Miss Wohlfert, violin and Mrs. Barnes, piano; carol, "O, Merry Christmas Day," primary department; address, Arthur M. Harris; carol, "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," school; responsive reading, led by F. W. Jones, first assistant superintendent; carol, "The Christmas Song," junior department; benediction, pastor; postlude, organ. The offering was for

ST. MARY'S RECEIPTS FOR THE YEAR $30,990

An important feature of the services at St. Mary's church yesterday was the rendering of the financial statement of the parish for 1909 by Father Bogan. The report showed that during the year the total receipts were $30,990, the largest in the history of the parish.

The most gratifying feature of the year, said Father Bogan, was the payment of $14,500 for the old Washington School. The parish begins the year with a balance of $7,400 in the treasury. The money will be used as a nucleus for the convent fund. Plans are now being submitted by architects for the structure which will be started in April.

"THE CLIMAX" EVOKES ENTHUSIASTIC APPLAUSE

No better presentation of "The Climax" was ever given than that presented at the Plainfield theatre Friday night. Judging by the frequent curtain calls from the first act to the last, Effingham Pinto and Miss Leona Watson had equal numbers of friends in the huge audience which greeted them on the raising of the curtain on the first scene.

The dramatic posibilities of the play stood out in bold relief through the excellence of the artists who presented it and they were applauded, deservingly, throughout.

The events of Friday night need no comment here. The ball at the Hartridge auditorium with its brilliant assemblage requires no description. Everyone knows that the costumes were notably elegant and that a goodly sum has been realized for the hospital, which latter was the goal desired.

WM. M'INTOSH RESIGNS JERSEY CENTRAL JOB

William McIntosh, of Willow avenue, who has been superintendent of motive power of the New Jersey Central for several years, resigned his position to take effect January 1, and on the same date, Charles Chambers, of Cranford, was appointed to succeed him.

Mr. McIntosh, who is one of the foremost authorities in the country in matters of railroad motive power and construction of locomotives, formerly held a responsible position with the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad company, and he left that position to go with the New Jersey Central. During his service here he has designed several high-class locomotives, which have attracted considerable attention. Mr. McIntosh has been in poor health and only recently returned from Battle Creek, Mich., where he underwent special treatment.

Mr. Chambers has been associated with Mr. McIntosh in the motive power department and is said to be fitted in every way for the responsible position to which he has been appointed.

John T. Odam.

Worshipful Master W. G. Hutchcroft, of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., received word yesterday of the death in a Trenton hospital of John T. Odam; formerly of this city. His death was the result of injuries received December 20, when he fell off the roof of a building at Bordentown. He was a slater by trade and conducted that business here years ago. He was a member of Jerusalem Lodge.

New Year's Eve Wedding.

Miss Justina Summers, of Brooklyn, and Leo Miller, of West Fourth street, were quietly married Friday night at 8 o'clock by Rev. Charles S. Kemble, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, at the parsonage. The couple was attended by a few relatives. After a trip they will reside in this city.

Miss Carrie Hammons.

Miss Carrie Hammons, aged 55 years, colored, died Friday afternoon at her home, 542 West Fourth street, of consumption. So far as known she has not a living relative. The funeral services were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late home and burial was in the M. E. cemetery.

Addressed the Brotherhood.

Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, went to Bayonne yesterday afternoon, where in the Bergen Point M. E. church, he addressed the United Brotherhood of the Bayonne section. His topic was "Fighters and Quitters."

MR. TOLLES' COMMITTEES

Common Council Head Puts New Men in Charge of Police Dept.

HE MAKES FEW CHANGES.

Mr. Buxton Retains Most Coveted Position As Chairman of the Finance Committee.

Contrary to expectations in some quarters, President Ralph I. Tolles occasioned considerable surprise in the announcement of committees at the first meeting of the 1910 Common Council, Saturday night. Mr. Tolles, who is entering upon his fourteenth year as a member of the Council and his fifth year as president, decided to make some pronounced changes for the coming year.

The greatest surprise was in the makeup of the committees on police and alms. There is a complete change in the police committee, Frank DeWitt Randolph, who has been chairman for the past seven or eight years, being succeeded by Charles C. Randolph as the head, while his associates are Frederic E. Mygatt and Frank L. Holt, both new men to the committee. Frank Randolph is made chairman of the alms committee, and his associates are Duncan W. Taylor and W. W. Wilson.

The heads and general makeup of the other committees remain practically unchanged. Herbert Buxton is retained as head of the finance committee, Duncan W. Taylor the fire and building, Frank L. Holt the laws and ordinances, William L. Gloak, street, Frederick E. Mygatt the public affairs, Francis L. Montgomery the street lighting, George S. Clay the license and W. W. Wilson the auditing.

In explaining his appointments, Mr. Tolles said that he had tried to be perfectly fair in the apportionment. He declared that the days for "cliques" in the Council were over and every member seemed to realize that they must al work in harmony for the best interests of the city.

Another important change made in the committees is that of separating the street and sewer committee. Under a new law, the sewer committee must be selected by ballot by the members of the Common Council, while the street committee, like the others, are appointed by the president.

Mr. Buxton moved the amendment of the rules to conform to the new law, re-arranging the committees. After this was done, Mr. Mygatt offered a resolution, which was adopted, that the members proceed to select a sewer committee. Those chosen were William L. Gloak, chairman; Charles C. Randolph, Frank DeWitt Randolph, Herbert Buxton and Francis L. Montgomery. The complete list of committees, other than the one on sewers, follows:

Finance—Herbert Buxton, chairman; Frederic E. Mygatt, Frank DeWitt Randolph, Duncan W. Taylor, George S. Clay.

Fire and Buildings—Duncan W. Taylor, chairman; Herbert Buxton, Frank L. Holt, Charles C. Randolph, William W. Wilson.

Police—Charles C. Randolph, chairman; Frederick E. Mygatt, Frank L. Holt.

Alms—Frank DeWitt Randolph, chairman; Duncan W. Taylor, William W. Wilson.

Laws and Ordinances—Frank L. Holt, chairman; George S. Clay, William L. Gloak.

Street Lighting—Francis L. Montgomery, chairman; Duncan W. Taylor, Herbert Buxton.

License—George S. Clay, chairman; William L. Gloak, Charles C. Randolph.

Auditing—William W. Wilson, chairman; Francis L. Montgomery, Frederic E. Mygatt.

NOTICE.

As the funeral of Mrs. A. L. Force, wife of the publisher of this paper, will be held tomorrow afternoon, The Daily Press plant and business office will be closed after 1 o'clock on Tuesday. The paper will be issued, however, at the regular hour.

Gesang's Enjoyable Dance.

The annual ball of the Gesang and Turn Verein, which was held in Saengerbund hall on New Year's eve was largely attended and an enjoyable affair. The committee in charge was Charles Stranzenbach, A. Wolf and Charles Klotz.

NO RADICAL CHANGES

Mayor Smalley Satisfied with Machinery of Borough Government.

HE OUTLINES HIS POLICY.

William McCullough Succeeds Howard Woolston as Chief of Fire Department.

Mayor N. B. Smalley in assuming the mayorality chair in the borough at Saturday noon made it plain that he is well satisfied with the machinery of the borough government. As expected there were no radical changes in the matter of appointments. The two changes were the appointment of William McCullough as chief of the fire department to succeed Howard Woolston, and Dr. D. C. Adams as borough physician to succeed Dr. A. H. Dundon. In both cases the incumbents of the office refused reappointment. From all outward appearance harmony reigns supreme and unity will prevail between Mayor and Council in the new administration.

There was also a minor change made in the committees, William L. Smalley being appointed to membership on the police committee in place of Julius J. Stahl, who received a place on the street committee. The remainder of the reappointments follow:

Borough clerk, Fred A. Martin; recorder, Charles M. Dolliver; borough engineers, Harry C. VanEmburgh and Frank J. Hubbard; overseer of the poor, Fred Becker; street commissioner, John Y. Barrett; chief of police, George Weiss; secretary of the board of health, Dr. A. H. Dundon.

In the fire department, in addition to the selection of William McCullough, as chief, William Daley was named as captain; tillerman, Otto Reupert; lieutenant and driver, William Gaub.

In reappointing Chief Weiss, Mayor Smalley paid a high tribute to the efficient service of the police department head during the past six years and declared he was highly gratified in reappointing him to the office.

A large representation of citizens attended the opening session at which Mayor Smalley outlined his policy to the members of the council.

BELIEVE LAWYERS ARE AFTER JUDGE'S SCALP.

Several members of the Union County Bar Association held a private meeting Thursday at the courthouse, Elizabeth, to prepare some bills for introduction in the next Legislature. The proposed bills, they claim, will be for the best interests of the legal fraternity in Elizabeth and Union county.

It is understood one of the measures which they will ask to have passed is a bill providing for the appointment of a lawyer to preside over the Elizabeth Police Court in place of Judge Owen P. Mahon, the incumbent, who, it is alleged, is not a lawyer. Judge Mahon, it is reported, has incensed several Elizabeth lawyers by his rulings in cases tried before him and now they are after his scalp and declare they will get it through legislative enactments.

Judge Mahon is a Democrat and his champions assert that outside the coterie of lawyers whom he has offended and who want him displaced his adminstration has given satisfaction to the general public.

He has held the position several years.

THEY GAVE CARD PARTIES ON EVE OF NEW YEAR.

Mrs. W. J. Hudson, of Somerset street, gave a card party to a number of friends on New Year's eve. The guests remained to see the old year out and the new one in. A collation was served at midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram A. Woodruff, of Westervelt avenue, gave a card party at their home New Year's eve. At midnight there was an exchange of greetings, after which supper was served.

Miss Richards' Next Talk.

Miss Janet L. Richards will give her second talk on "Current History" on Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Hartridge auditorium. Those who heard Miss Richards in December were delighted with the clear and interesting way in which she presented the English political situation and other topics of equal importance. Tickets can be bought for these talks from Mrs. Percy H. Stewart, 563 West Eighth street, or at the door.

MRS. A. L. FORCE IS DEAD

Beloved Wife of Newspaper Publisher Goes to Her Reward.

SHE SUDDENLY PASSES AWAY.

Woman of Beautiful Character Died An Hour After Heart Attack—Husband and Daughter Survive.

While surrounded by her family and in her usual bright spirits, Mrs. Clarissa M. Bradshaw Force, wife of A. L. Force, of Duer street, was suddenly attacked by aneurism at her home shortly after eight o'clock on New Year's eve, and passed away in an hour. Medical aid was powerless, despite the heroic efforts of the physician, Dr. Adams, to restore her.

Mrs. Force was a woman of exceptionally sunny disposition and fine womanlyy character and was greatly beloved by the hundreds who enjoyed her friendship during the many years she had made her home here before being called to the Life Eternal. Her domestic life was ideal and widespread sympathy is felt for the grief stricken husband and daughter. While she had passed the three score mark, being in her sixty-second year, she retained the brightness and apparent health of one of half her years.

Together with a number of friends, celebrated her sixty-first birthday anniversary on Tuesday night and at that time, as at all others, she was the life of the party and in excellent health except for a slight affectaion of the heart from which she had suffered for a number of years.

For some twenty-three years, Mrs. Force had been a faithful worker in and member of Trinity Reformed church and her good deeds and kindly influence was marked in that congregation. She was a devout Christian and found much enjoyment and comfort in church work. For two terms she had been secretary and again for two terms president of the Ladies' Christian Work Society and was active in other departments of church usefulness.

Mrs. Force was born in Brooklyn on December 26, 1848, and was the daughter of the late Robert and Sarah Bradshaw. The family removed to Newark, where she was married on September 16, 1868, to Albert L. Force, of this city, at the Bradshaw residence in Mulberry street. Rev. Dr. Levy, pastor of the Kinney Street Baptist church, officiated. Mr. Force was then associated with his brother, the late William L. Force, in the printing business here. Later they become publishers of the Constitutionalist. For many years Mr. Force has been the editor and proprietor of The Daily Press, which he founded in 1882.

The couple took up their residence in East Third street and shortly afterwards removed to thier own home in Duer street, which they have occupied for thirty-five years. By the union, there were two daughters, Clara Josephine, who died twenty-three years ago, and whose death was a great blow to the couple, and Lillian Augusta, who survives her mother. Mrs. Force is also survived by a brother, Robert Bradshaw, of Newark. Her only other living relatives in Plainfield are T. O., J. Hervey, John H. and Charles A. Doane, who are cousins.

The funeral services will be held at the home, No. 82 Duer street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick, a close friend of the family. The remains will be placed in a vault at Hillside cemetery until spring when the interment will be made at the convenience of the family.

There were few dry eyes, when Rev. Mr. Broek in a prayer at Trinity's morning service yesterday offered thanks for Mrs. Force's beautiful life and works. The pastor himself, was deeply moved, so much so that he changed the announced subject for his sermon, preaching instead on the topic "Make Sure of Tomorrow." He said that at the beginning of the new year Trinity had suffered an irreparable loss in her death and he referred to her sweet Christian womanhood, her domestic happiness and love and her devotion to the church and its upbuilding.

Master E. J. Fincke Surprised.

A surprise party was given to Master Edward J. Fincke, of 1122 South avenue, Thursday night. The evening was spent playing games, after which refreshments were served. There were about a dozen guests.

SANFORD WANTS TO BOND DUNELLEN FOR $20,000

Mayor W. A. Sanford in his first message to the Dunellen Council, which convened at noon on New Year's day, advocated the issuance of bonds to the extent of $20,000 to be used exclusively for street purposes. The opinion of the new Mayor evidently met with the popular approval of citizens who heard the message.

The following appointments were named: Borough Attorney, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr.; marshall, James Benson; street commissioner, Goldson Smalley. The office of the overseer-of-the-poor and recorder will be filled later.

FORTY HOURS DEVOTIONS AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH

The observance of the Forty Hours Devotion was begun at St. Joseph's church last night, when Monsignor Connolley, of Phillipsburg, preached a special sermon on "The Love of God." There was a a large attendance and the service was marked by the rendition of the Christmas musical program by the choir, assisted by Korff's orchestra.

The devotions will continue tonight and tomorrow night. Tonight Father Devine, of the Sacred Heart church, New Brunswick, will preach, and tomorrow night Father Egan, of Haddon Heights, will officiate. The celebration will be concluded at this service by the solemn benediction by Father Miller.

NEW YEAR RECEPTION HELD AT PARK CLUB

The New Year's Day reception at the Park Club was a great success. It was held during the afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock and a large number of members and friends called. The clubhouse was attractively decorated with Christmas greens, while the Christmas tree was left on the stage.

Those who received were Mrs. James R. Joy, Mrs. William A. Connor and Mrs. H. L. McGee, and those who presided at the tea tables were Mrs. James C. Peck, Mrs. Alexander Milne, Mrs. Francis DuBois, Mrs. Robert H. McCutcheon, Mrs. Edward T. Wilson, Mrs. George T. Rogers, Mrs. John M. Conklin and Mrs. John Valiant.

A feature of the afternoon were the readings and recitations by Henry Gains Hawn, of Brooklyn. Especially noteworthy were his negro dialect stories. Being a southerner these were given true to nature.

The Junior dance at the club New Year's eve was also a success, the attendance of junior members and friends being large.

NOT SO BAD FOR A NEW YEAR'S CELEBRATION.

The police court this morning was devoid of anything interesting. Several drunks were arraigned before City Judge Runyon and were treated with much consideration owing to the season. John Boberesko and Lewis Comosko, Hungarians got into a fight on New Year's Day and both were arrested by Patrolmen McCarthy and Anderson. It was shown that Comosko was the aggressor in the scrap and he was fined $5. Frank Johnson and William Flanagan received suspended sentences on charges of intoxication.

Nathan Meyers was arraigned on a charge of defacing a tree in front of his house on Watchung avenue, and was allowed to go on his promise to remove the three-cornered sign which he had erected. Grant Miller was araigned on a charge of beating his wife, but was remanded until tomorrow morning to allow witnesses to appear.

Welcomed New Year.

The advent of the New Year was observed by the Young Men's Hebrew Association by a reception and dance which was held in Saengerbund Hall on Saturday night. Several societies from out of town were represented at the function.

Will Speak On January 11.

Leonard Spangenberg, who was a member of the Common Council during the time of "The Big Six," will address the Board of Trade on Tuesday night, January 11, when he will tell something of the work of the council in former years.

The Rasores Club.

The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. Joseph Yates, East Seventh street. The subject will be Harriet Beecher Stowe, with quotations.

AGAIN HONOR MR. TOLLES

For Fourth Consecutive Term He is Unanimously Chosen President.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED.

Gavett Named For Street Commissioner; Dr. Davis and F. W. Dunn For Health Board—A Busy Session.

The Common Council for 1910 held its first meeting for organization, Saturday night, in the office of Mayor Charles J. Fisk, the council chamber being too cold for use. All of the members were present and Mayor Fisk was there as a spectator.

The first business was that of re-electing Ralph I. Tolles president for the fifth consecutive term. He is now serving his fourteenth year as a member of the Council. He thanked the members for the honor conferred and expressed the hope that all would work harmoniously together the coming year for the best interests of the city.

George B. Wean was re-appointed stenographer and typist for another year at a salary of $500, and Jacob C. Dunham was re-appointed janitor for the coming year. Constable P. V. Weaver's bond was offered, referred to the corporation counsel for approval and ordered filed in the county clerk's office.

L. V. F. Randolph petitioned the Common Council to vacate Bryant place, and the petition was accompanied with all the necessary consents of interested property owners. The matter was referred to the street committee. A petition was received from the Borough of Washington, Pa., seeking information about boroughs and was referred to the finance committee. Residents of West Fifth street between Monroe avenue and Lee place, asked for lights and this was referred to the light committee. A petition from residents of East Seventh street for an extension of the sewer system in Central street, was referred to the sewer committee. All matters left over by the 1909 Council were then referred to the proper comimittees.

The resignation of Patrolman Joseph Dunlap was received, accepted and placed on filed.

Mayor Fisk explained that owing to a new law, the appointment of special policemen hereafter must be done by the Common Council, that when a special is appointed he must deposit $5 for his badge and when he leaves office he is refunded $2.50, while the other half goes to a police pension fund, or if there be none, to the city treasurer for the benefit of the police department.

In the opinion of the Mayor, upon the advice of the corporation counsel, it was suggested that His Honor might nominate specials and have the same confirmed by the Common Council. Mr. Fisk explained that he had appointed Thomas O'Gorman, patrol driver; Health Officer W. H. Addis, Overseer-of-the-Poor A. D. Ayers and R. H. B. Dalley specials at Proctor's theatre, as specials, it being necessary that they be given this authority at this time. These appointments were confirmed. Others will be named later.

Mayor Fisk then appointed Miles Roberts, a shade tree commissioner for three years; Andrew J. Gavett, street commissioner for three years; Dr. T. S. Davis and F. W. Dunn, as members of the Board of Health for two years, and all appointments were confirmed.

Councilman Buxton, as chairman of the finance committee, then offered a number of resolutions, which were adopted as follows: Appointing The Daily Press and Courier-News as official newspapers of the city; instructing the finance committee to arrange for the publication in pamphlet form of all the city reports; appropriating $300 to the Shade Tree Commission; $4,000 to the street committee; $1,000 to the Board of Health, and $1,000 to the sewer com-

ANNUAL SALE OF DOMESTICS, WHITE GOODS AND LINENS

We bought these goods several months ago for this Special Sale, long before the sharp advance went into effect, which enables us to sell them from 10 to 25 per cent. less than we could if we bought them now. Lay in a supply now, the saving is worth while.

THE ANNUAL SALE OF LADIES' MUSLIN UNDERWEAR

which we started last Tuesday has proven the most successful we have ever had. Ladies who had heretofore gone out of the city for their undermuslins marveled when they come to view our beautiful stock of snow-white, dainty made, high class garments, at prices way below regular value Because we bought before the advance in cotton.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—In Chancery of New Jersey. Between The Prudential Insurance Company of America, complainant, and Joseph W. Reinhart et al., defendants. Fi. fa. for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above-stated writ of fieri facias to me directed I shall expose for sale by public vendue, at the Sheriff's office, in the Courthouse, in the City of Elizabeth, N. J., on at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all the following described lots or parcels of lands and premises situate in the City of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, being more particularly described as follows:

First Tract—Beginning at a stake being at the intersection of the centre line of Belvidere avenue and Ravine road; thence running in a general southwesterly direction along the said centre line of Belvidere avenue and following the curves of the same as now opened a distance of five hundred and forty-one and five one-hundredths feet to a point being at the intersection of the centre line of Berkeley avenue; thence running in a general northeasterly direction along the said centre line of Berkeley avenue and following the curves of the same as now opened a distance of five hundred and ninety-six and three tenths feet to a stake being at the intersection of the centre line of Ravine road; thence running in a general northwesterly direction along said centre line of Ravine road and following the curves of the same as now opened a distance of three hundred and sixty-four and forty-five one-hundredths feet to a stake and place of beginning.

Containing three and thirty-five one-hundredths acres of land and designated as block "A" on the map of the Belvidere Land and Improvement Company.

And being the same premises conveyed by James L. Anthony and wife to the said Joseph W. Reinhart by deed dated April 19, 1892.

Second Tract—Being known and designated as lot number 24 on a map of proprety situated at Netherwood, in the City of Plainfield, New Jersey, sold by W. L. Strong, trustee, dated July, 1892, made by F. A. Dunham, civil engineer. Beginning as an iron monument being at the intersection of the centre lines of Ravine road and Berkeley avenue as the same are now laid out and opened, and running thence along said centre line of Ravine road in a southeasterly direction and the southwesterly direction and following the curve of the same a distance of four hundred and ninety-two and fifty-seven one-hundredths feet to a stake being the northwesterly corner of property now or formerly owned by Spence and Cudlipp and a northeasterly corner of lot number 25 on said map; thence along the line of said lot number 25 in a magnetic course of south eighty-four degrees five minutes west a distance of two hundred and forty-seven feet to a point being the southeasterly corner of property now or formerly owned by Eliza P. Brown; thence along the line of said property north twenty-eight degrees forty-nine minutes west a distance of two hundred and twenty-four and one one-hundredths feet to a point in the centre line of Berkeley avenue; thence along said centre line of Berkeley avenue in a northeasterly direction and following the curve of the same a distance of three hundred and sixty-three and one one-hundredths feet to the place of beginning. Containing two and two hundred and seven one-thousandths acres, more or less. And being the same premises conveyed to the said Joseph W. Reinhart by deed from William L. Strong dated July 25, 1892, and recorded October 18, 1892.

HE LAYS CLAIM TO BEING A SUPERVISOR.

Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Swayze Thursday night signed an order to show cause why a writ of certiorari should not issue to review the proceeding of the Essex County Board of Chosen Freeholders when it named a successor to John Barrett, of South Orange, as county supervisor of roads. The order, which was signed at the request of Daniel A. Dugan, of Orange, as counsel for Barrett, is returnable January 15.

Barrett declares that under the civil service act his removal was illegal. He was apointed to the position December 20, 1906, for three years. George W. Eager was appointed as the new supervisor of roads, according to resolution, his term beginning on December 21. Barrett is a veteran of the Spanish American War.

In an affidavit signed by Barrett, it is set forth that May 13, 1908, the Board of Freeholders adopted the civil service act passed by the Legislature April 10, 1908, and he contends that under its operation he cannot be removed. He makes the claim that he is legally the county supervisor of roads. In support of this claim he is reporting for duty every day.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T. will hold a regular conclave tonight.

The officers-elect of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be installed on Thursday night.

There will be a joint installation of the officers of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps on Tuesday night, January 11.

JANUARY FURNITURE SALE

As usual, we start the New Year with a big Sale of Furniture. The Sale this year will be of the greatest importance as far as money saving opportunities are concerned. For the past two months nearly every mail has brought us word from Furniture manufacturers all over the country that, owing to the great increase in cost of labor and materials, their Prices would advance from 10 to 25 Per Cent on January 1st. We took advantage of the situation and bought everything we thought we could use for six months to come, so that we are in a position to offer you Furniture at about what it would cost us to buy today.

In order that all may share in this great money-saving event, we offer the following inducement: If you don't need the goods till later on, come in and make your selection, pay a small deposit on them, and we will store them free of charge and deliver at your convenience; or if you need them at once and are not prepared to pay all the cash, take advantage of our "Club Plan" system of Easy Payments. We extend every convenience to responsible persons. This sale should appeal very strongly to prospective housekeepers.

MISS ELEANOR TENNY ALLEN WEEKS' BRIDE

Miss Eleanor Tenny, daughter of Mrs. John Tenny, of Brooklyn, and Allen Weeks, of Boston, were married at 12 o'clock today at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Howard Colby, of Evergreen avenue, in the presence of about twenty-five relatives and intimate friends. Rev. Dr. Hester, of Brooklyn, performed the ceremony.

Following the wedding congratulations were offered and a wedding breakfast was served. Early in the afternoon, the couple left on an extended wedding trip. They will reside at New Bedford, Mass., where the groom is engaged in business as a manufacturer.

THE SHIPS OF YULE.

When I was just a little boy,
Before I went to school,
I had a fleet of forty sail
I called the Ships of Yule.

Of every rig, from rakish brig
And gallant barkentine
To little Fundy fishing boats,
With gunboats painted green.

They used to go on trading trips
Around the world for me,
For though I had to stay on shore
My heart was on the sea.

They stopped at every port of call
From Babylon to Rome,
To load with all the lovely things
We never had at home;

With elephants and ivory
Bought from the King of Tyre,
And shells and silk and sandalwood
What sailor men admire;

With figs and dates from Samarcand,
And squatty ginger jars,
And scented silver amulets
From Indian bazars;

With sugar-cane from Port-of-Spain,
With monkeys from Ceylon,
And paper lanterns from Peking
With painted dragons on;;

With cocoanuts from Zanzibar,
And pines from Singapore;
And when they had unloaded these
They could go back for more.

And even after I was big
And had to go to school,
My mind was often far away
Aboard the Ships of Yule.

FINDING OF LARGEST DIAMOND.

For twelve years the Excelsior diamond enjoyed its primacy, but on January 25, 1905, the greatest diamond known to the world was found in open-working No. 2 of the Premier mine, in the Transvaal Colony, South Africa, and from the finding to the cutting of this magnificent stone and its final disposal, its history is a most romantic one, writes Dr. George F. Kunz in The Century.

The day's work at the mine was over, and Frederick Wells, the surface manager, was making his usual rounds. Glancing along one side of the deep excavation, his eye suddenly caught the gleam of a brilliant object far up the bank. He lost no time in climbing up to the spot, where he had noted the glint of light. He had not been mistaken; it was really a brilliant crystal! He tried to pull it out with his fingers, and as this proved impossible he sought to pry it out with the blade of his penknife. To his surprise the knife blade broke without causing the stone to yield.

Confident now that the crystal must be a very large one, he dug out the earth about it, thinking for a moment that, contrary to all experience in the mine, the stone might be attached to a piece of the primitive rock. When he discovered that this was not the case, he began to doubt that the object was really a diamond. He said afterward:

"When I took a good look at the stone stuck there in the side of the pit it suddenly flashed across me that I had gone insane—that the whole thing was imaginary. I knew it could not be a diamond. All at once another solution dawned upon me. The boys often play jokes on one another. Some practical joker, thought I, has planted this huge chunk of glass here for me to find it. He thinks I will make a fool of myself by bringing it into the office in a great state of excitement, and the story will be told far and wide in South Africa."

Determined to test the stone on the spot, before proceeding further, Wells rubbed off the dirt from one of its faces with his finger, and soon convinced himself that it was not a lump of glass, but a diamond crystal, apparently of exceptional whiteness and purity. With the aid of a larger blade of his knife he finally succeeded in prying out the stone, and bore it away with him to the office of the mine. Here it was cleaned and, to the astonishment of all, was found to have a weight of 302¾ carats, more than three times that of any other diamond that has been discovered. Before many hours had passed the telegraph carried tidings to all parts of the world that the greatest diamond of this or any other age had been brought to light. Mr. Wells is said to have received a reward of $10,000 from the company for his discovery.

T. M. Cullinan, founder and chairman of the Premier company and one of the great prize winners in the lottery of South African speculation, named the diamond after himself; others have called it the Premier, and several different names have been proposed.

Vogue of the Round Muff.

Round muffs are seen again and it is predicted that by another winter the rug muffs will be considered out of date. These round muffs are very broad and also very large round. In fact, there are no signs of the return of small muffs.

DUTIES OF SECRETARIES.

The duties of a private secretary are of an interesting and agreeable nature, and yet few people know anything about the amount of work they involve, says The Book-keeper. The secretary must need be an A1 accountant, a capable correspondent, a good stenographer, of gentlemanly manners and refined appearance. His duties are regulated, in the main, according to the manner in which his employer's fortune is invested.

Suppose $5,000,000 is invested, two-thirds in municipal bonds of the first class, which are issued by the leading cities, and the remaining one-third in farm mortgages, real estate mortgages and stocks, while surplus funds are invested in commercial paper. The municipal bonds require but little care, all the work being necessary being to collect the principal and interest as they become due.

Farm mortgages require a large amount of work. Where they are not secured through reliable correspondents, personal investigation is necessary. To provide against foreclosure, great care must be exercised in selecting farm mortgages, and experience in dealing in farm lands is a valuable acquisition.

Ability to pass on an ordinary abstract of title and a practical knowledge of legal procedure in connection with mortgages, foreclosures, deeds of assignment, releases, etc., is a pre-requisite.

POLYNESIA'S FAMOUS CLOTH.

The "Paper-mulberry" tree (Broussonetia papyrifera) is the source of the famous "tapa cloth" of the Polynesian Islands. This is a natural tissue and is derived from the inner bark, and after being torn off in strips is scraped with shells and beaten with a mallet until it resembles a soft, flexible paper, says the Strand Magazine. The individual strips are united by overlapping the edges and beating the fibres together, until large pieces of the tissue are formed.

It is said that "before Hawaii was swept with the wave of civilization, men and women were dressed in this natural bark-cloth 'tapa' or 'kapa.'" The dress of the women consisted of the "pa-u," or wrapper, composed of five thicknesses of tapa, about four yards in length by three in width, passed several times around the waist, and extending below the knee.

The dress of the men was the "malo," or girdle, about a foot in width and several yards long. A "kikei," or mantle, six feet square, was sometimes worn by both sexes. In former years these natural cloths were sometimes bleached to snowy whiteness, or were dyed in colors, and even printed or ornamented, usually in checks or squares.

A Tiresome Old Joke.

"Ma, what is poetic justice?"

"Let me see. It would be giving your father a Christmas box of the kind of cigars he tells his fool friends I always pick out for him."

"Her celluloid comb took fire."

"Gracious! Did she have it on?"

"Yes."

"Did it smoke much?"

"Just a couple of puffs."

the Day Nursery.

The chorus choir gave its Christmas program of music in the evening before a large congregation and the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, gave a talk on the authorship of well known hymns. The solo work was taken by Miss Louella C. Harris, soprano; Miss Josie Bracker, contralto; William Holmes, bass, and George Smith, tenor. The program follows: Prelude, "Adagio," Bossi, Miss Florence Wohlfert, violin, Howard M. Case, organ; anthem, choir; invocation, Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss; anthem, choir; contralto solo, Miss Josie Bracker; with choral accompaniment; anthem, "Traditional Melody," arranged by Fitzhugh, sopranos and contraltos; sermon, Dr. Chambliss; offertory anthem, choir; benediction, pastor; postlude, "Fantasia," Bach.

First M. E. Church.

The Christmas exercises of the Sunday school of the First M. E. church were held in Vincent chapel, yesterday afternoon, when there was an interesting musical program with recitations by the school, and an address by Harry Gee. Maurice E. McGrath was acting superintendent. The program follows:

"Our Prayer," Margaret Evans; "A Song of Christmas," Helen DeNise; "A Wee Little Boy," Earl Kane; "A Christmas Welcome," Clawson Lynn; recitations, Frederick and Irving Dodge, Florence Lederer; "A Christmas Ball," LeRoy Pope; recitations, "I Wonder," Charlotte Carpenter; song by the choir, Carlton Moore, Jessie Randall, Flora Vail, Warren Moyer, Charlotte Carpenter, Elizabeth Hicks, Alfred Little, Janet Marchant, Carrie Creager, Harold Seal; recitations, Christmas emblems, Howard Fisher; exercise, "Love," Lois Beekman, Carrie Creager, Thelma Dawson, Margaret Dunavan; recitation, Roswell Ewart; exercise, "The Stars," Warren Moyer, Russell Lynn, Arthur McVoy, Loren Pope; song, "Christmas Lullaby," primary department; song by junior classes; "The Spirit of Christmas," eight girls; recitation, "The Little Cripple," Elton Greenleaf.

In the evening the vested choir, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, organist and choirmaster, rendered "The Coming of the King," by Dudley Buck. The soloists were Miss Bertha vanNuis Willis, Harry R. Moyer, Bertram F. Tallamy, Miss Jessie Haynes and William Tallamy was the assisting artist.

Warren Chapel.

The children of the primary department of Warren chapel Sunday school had their Christmas exercises yesterday afternoon. A feature of the program was the presence of the members of Helen Lovell's class of Bethel chapel, who rendered Christmas songs. A solo was also rendered by Miss Nora B. Schenck. E. C. Parvin gave an interesting talk on the characteristics of the Gospel of St. Mathew. The pastor, Rev. J. C. McKelvey, also made an appropriate address.

At the morning service J. Frank Burke, of the Anti-Saloon League, told of the progress being made in the local option movement throughout the State.

Monroe Avenue Church.

Watch-night services during which the thirteenth anniversary was celebrated, were held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church Friday night, under the auspices of the Epworth League. The pastor, Rev. Charles S. Kemble, was in charge.

The services began at 9:30 with an informal social, and at 10:30 refreshments were served by the league members. A novel arrangement in the decorations was used. Early in the evening there was displayed by means of an electric light the figures "1909," and after the last hour of the old year was spent in prayer and song, the above figures disappeared and in their place appeared those of "1910" as the New Year was ushered in. There was a general wishing of Happy New Year, the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," and in conclusion the church bell was rung for several minutes.

First Presbyterian Church.

The quartet choir of the First Presbyterian church, under the direction of Clifford A. Braider, organist and choirmaster, rendered the special Christmas music. The quartet is comprised of Miss Jeanette C. Grant, soprano; Miss Jessamine Bird, contralto; Otto Knauer, tenor; Herbert R. Byard, baritone. Miss Edith Cecelia Ruber, violinist, of New York, assisted. The program follows:

Anthems, "Angels from the Realms of Glory," West; "Night Song of Bethlehem," Buck; "Of a Father's Love Begotten," Macfarlane; "Lo, a Seraph," Harker; solos, "Christmas," Miss Burd; "The Christ Child," Mr. Kanuer; violin and organ, "Virgins Slumber Song," "Meditation" and "Traumerei."

In the morning the Sunday-school held its Christmas exercises, comprising carols, recitations and an appropriate talk by the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring.

Temple Baptist.

Christmas services were held at the Temple Baptist church, yesterday. In the morning the pastor, Rev. J. W. Musson, preached a sermon on the theme, "The Birthplace of the Christ Child." In the afternoon the primary department of the Sunday-school held its exercises. There were recitations by Fred Berg, Wells Rose, Lillian Ryno, William Cartright, David Meyers; duets by Mabel Meeker and Hardress Patterson and the Misses Mattie and Christine Viebrock; recitation, Helen Waldron, and carols by the school. There was also an address by the pastor.

In the evening the first anniversary exercises were held. There was an excellent sermon by the pastor on "Christ the Light of the World," and an orchestra of ten pieces rendered special music.

PHYSICIANS BANQUET AT OVERLOOK HOSPITAL.

More than 150 physicians from all sections of this State, New York and Philadelphia attended a banquet given by the Summit Medical Society in Overlook Hospital at Summit Thursday night. The sun parlors were transformed into four dining-rooms, which were decked in red and green with huge palms.

The table decorations were elaborate, holly and Christmas greens being used profusely, together with miniature bells and candles in red. The favors were booklets descriptive of Overlook Hospital.

Dr. James F. Mitchell, of Washington, was the honor guest. He read a paper on "Local Anesthesia," which was greatly enjoyed, and was followed by general discussion.

While the medical men performed all sorts of successful operations on the menu a Newark orchestra discoursed pleasing airs.

Dr. William H. Lawrence, Jr., head of Overlook Hospital, arranged the banquet, which was declared to be the most enjoyable ever attended by the physicians. Dr. Lawrence was assisted in perfecting the details of the function by Miss M. A. Harrison, superintendent of the hospital.

There and Back.

"Papa, may I take my auto
In the country for a ride?
I will start out early, papa,
And be home by eventide."

"Yes, my boy, you have permission—
You may go where'er you choose;
But if you would get back some time
Take along your walking shoes."
—Yonkers Statesman.

Poor Nagg.

"Mrs. Nagg treats her husband as she might a schoolboy."

"Yes, did you hear how she punished him for some minor fault the other day? She made him stay in the house after supper and button her shirtwaist down the back eleven times."

MAY THE BEST MAN WIN, JEFFERY'S SENTIMENT

Editor, The Daily Press:

Mr. Harry W. Marshall, the present president of the Plainfield Board of Trade having written to that organization in most emphatic terms stating that under no circumstances would he accept re-election to that office, led me, at the request of many friends, to consent to run for the presidency of the body, and for the reason that it was pointed out there were factional differences in the organization and that I was not identified with any faction and would make a harmony candidate and upon hearing that Mr. Edmund W. Rushmore was also candidate I wrote him stating my position; two days later I offered to withdraw if Mr. Rushmore really wanted the presidency at which he replied, "First off, I thought I wanted it, but now I don't." I then gave an interview to the papers relating the circumstances and today met Mr. Rushmore, who informed me that he had decided to run and we shook hands over it and each promised the other that the loser should move to make the election unanimous. I now learn that the Rushmore forces will go for the re-election of Mr. Marshall. It is reported that I am not an eligible candidate because I do not live in Plainfield, which is bosh. My executive qualifications were proven at the recent election at Warren township, also in New Providence township, where I reside. I am a member of the Board of Trade and any member is eligible for election to any of the offices therein. My election to the presidency, supported by an up-to-date corps of officers and executive committee, should prove beneficial to this organization. I am not a believer in recounting the experiences of the past, but believe that our experiences either fit us or unfit us for certain work.

I leave it now for the members of the Board of Trade to decide who they want, votes cannot be cast over the telephone and it is to be trusted that there will be a large attendance at the election, which will be held Thursday, January 6, 1910, so that the choice may be the result of a substantial vote of the Board.

I am making no personal canvass.

WILLIAM JEFFERY.

WANTS HOUSE BACK HE GAVE FOR MINE STOCK.

Jersey City, Jan. 3.—The New Jersey Court of Chancery was appealed to Wednesday to cancel a deal whereby William J. Winges, of Hoboken, traded a house and land in Dunellen, valued at $10,000, for mining stock. The case came up before Vice-Chancellor Stevenson in the chambers.

Winges wants the house back, and from what he said at the trial of the case it was evident he was willing to give up all the stock he got.

The sory he told was that in 1902 he gave the house and land to Benjamin W. Carlow, of Portland, Me., and got in return 8,000 shares of stock in the Colorado Consolidated Gold Mining Company. Winges said Carlow told him the company's plant was turning out $20,000 gold a year and that dividends would be paid on the stock on April 1, 19103. To Winges the April 1 date had no especial significance. He told the court that he did not receive any dividend at that time, nor at any other time.

Carlow, the plaintiff said, agreed to sell 4,000 of the shares within a year at $2.50 a share, but failed to carry out that part of the contract. Winges explained that he was one of a party of stockholders who took a trip to South Dakota at the company's expense to inspect the mines. When he got to South Dakota, he said, several dark holes in the ground were shown to him, but he did not enter them.

Then Carlow was asked to testify. He said the company never had issued any statement of earnings and had paid no dividends, as far as he knew. He had been a director of the company, but had not attended more than two meetings. The company was captalized at $5,000,000, but he could not tell how much of the stock was outstanding. The witness added that a man with a fortune of $30,000,000 was making an investigation of the property, and probably would be heard from soon. Carlow explained that about 70,000 shares of the stock are owned by members of his family and himself.

In the proceedings it came out that Winges also became interested in another mine, known as the Hidden Fortune gold mine. Winges expressed the opinion that the mine is so well hidden that no one can find it. He alleges he has a claim against Carlow for $1,750 for 100 shares of company owning that mine.

An Unpleasant Reminder.

General Leonard Wood, at a dinner in Newport, praised a soufflee, says the Washington Star.

"Good cooking is a boon to mankind," the general said. "We should none of us feel above it, none of us, men or women. I am rather in sympathy with the bitterness of Scroggs.

"Mrs. Scroggs, after a very unsatisfactory dinner, said, shrilly:

"'When you married me, young man, you didn't marry a cook!'

"'Well,' said Scroggs, and his tone was very bitter—'well, you needn't rub it in.'"

Robert M. Burrows, of Woodbury, who has recently been appointed clerk of the House Pension Committee, at Washington, and Mrs. Mary Moore Hoffman, of Reading, were married in Woodbury by Rev. Edward Dillon Wednesday night.

Two young men entered the office of Fred J. Potter, supervisor of the Amboy division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Bordentown, while no one was around at noon Thursday, and stole a $50 gold watch belonging to Reading Z. Poinsett, a clerk.

A debutante dance was given Thursday night in Jersey City, when Miss Marguerite Soney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Soney, entertained at the home of her parents, in Gifford avenue. The large house was decorated with fir boughs, Christmas greens and poinsettia. Mrs. Soney received with her daughter.

A purse of $500 in gold and a roundtrip ticket for Europe were presented to Rev. John Hardenbrook Townsend, rector of the P. E. church of the Ascension, Atlantic City, Wednesday night at a farewell reception tendered him on the eve of his sailing for a three months' holiday abroad. Five hundred people of all denominations joined in the demonstration.

Gertrude Hamilton, fifteen years old, employed in Ackerman's silk throwing plant, Paterson, is now at the General Hospital, suffering from a painful injury to her right hand which was caught in the cogs of a reeling machine Thursday afternoon. The flesh was literally stripped from the hand, and the thumb and one of the fingers were badly crushed. Unless the injury heals properly, the thumb and finger may be amputated.

"We are snowbound in Atlantic City and we don't care for how long, as were were married Saturday night," came the word Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Ladd, of Clayton, from their pretty daughter Ida, who was soon to have had a wedding, with John Brooks, of Philadelphia, as bridegroom. Mr. Brooks and Miss Ladd were spending Christmas in Atlantic City and, becoming storm-stayed, decided it would be a good time and place to spend their honeymoon. Miss Ladd was a social favorite in Clayton, and her many girl friends are heart-broken to think they will miss a grand wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Ladd, who are among the most prominent people in Clayton, sent back their congratulations.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"In the Bishop's Carriage," the dramatization of the famous novel of the same name, which comes to the Plainfield theatre January 10, is one of the most costly and elaborate productions taken on tour this season. Miss Stephaine Longfellow, an actress of most interesting personality, portrays the principal part, Nance Olden, who is a sort of female Raffles. But unlike the hereditary tendencies of that gentlemanly thief, the peculations of "Nan the Nipper," are the result of vicious environment. Her natural instincts are good, and her regeneration is one of the prettiest stories ever staged. Baker and Castle, the managers, have given this play a sumptuous mounting and a splendid company.

Our Great January Sale

The big year beginning sale which so many thousands of people have learned to watch for begins today, greater in scope and more interesting in its money saving possibilities than ever before. January will be a month of extraordinary doings at this store. We have planned a series of special sales which embraces practically every department, and the offerings taken either individually or collectively, are as interesting as any that have ever been presented to the buying public of this vicinity. It will pay you to watch our newspaper announcements carefully, and it will also pay you to visit the store every day.

A FULL SIZE 25c JAR OF

Bruguier's "Satin Skin" Peroxide Cold Cream FREE

WOMAN'S CHIEF CHARM—A GOOD COMPLEXION

beautiful complexion is the admiration of ebery woman, but a great many ladies beliebe that if nature has been unkind to them in this particular, or if they habe once d a beautiful complexion and lost it, they can do nothing but submit. This is a mistake. She who has neber had a clear skin can debelop one, and she who has, rough illness or some other cause, lost her clear complexion, can find a remedy.

WRINKLES ERADICATED

"How shall I keep my face free from disfiguring wrinkles?" is a question of vital importance to every woman. These distressing lines which drag the features out of shape and distort the beautiful contour—the tiny net work that gathers about the eyes, raying off into "crow's feet," the heavy indentations that mar the brow, and the deep creases about the mouth—must be banished if the woman wishes to retain her beauty.

"Satin Skin"

will make the flesh firm and close-pored, thus preventing wrinkles.

"Satin Skin" Cold Cream Will Make the Skin Clear & Remove All Facial Blemishes

"SATIN SKIN" is unequalled as a complexion beautifier and skin food. It permanently removes chaps, roughness, dust or grease; opens the pores of the skin, giving it all of its original healthy, youthful freshness. Makes a dark or sallow complexion lighter and clearer. Leabes the skin soft, spotless and satiny. It is the ideal face cream for ebery dainty and particular woman. Has a faint sweet odor of "Lilies of the Valley"

TO GET A FULL SIZE 25c. JAR OF THIS DAINTY PREPARATION FREE

BRYANT DISCUSSES CHILD LABOR LAW

A vigorous discussion of the existing discrepancy between the factory law regulating the form of employment of children in factories of New Jersey and the compulsory school law, are features of the annual report of Labor Commissioner Colonel Lewis T. Bryant, which has been sent to Governor Fort for transmission by him to the incoming Legislature.

Colonel Bryant says that in the administration of the laws regulating the employment of minors in factories his department has been confronted with the difficulty existing between the factory and compulsory school attendance law. He then goes on to say:

"In order to obtain a more satisfactory enforcement of both the factory law regarding the employment of minors, and the compulsory school law, I am of the opinion that the Department of Labor should have absolute control over the question of age, and that so far as the manufacturer is concerned a certificate of this department should fully protect him in the employment of minors. The school authorities should pass on the educational qualifications specified under the law, and it would be well to have the certificate made one of the requirements of issuing working papers. If it may be deemed advisable to specify an educational test as a requisite for factory employment, the standard being such as to permit of a reasonable, uniform and universal enforcement. This arrangement, in my judgment, would have more satisfactory results than a law demanding a higher standard, but indifferently enforced.

"The jurisdiction of the Department of Labor should be extended, I believe, to include the enforcement of a law regulating the age of employment for minors in mercantile establishments at least during school hours."

Commissioner Bryant, commenting upon the factory canditions in New Jersey, says that present child labor conditions are good, and reflect the benefits of a strict enforcement of the law applying thereto. During the year the department ordered 259 children discharged.

PERSONAL.

A. R. Tranchand is confined to his bed with an attack of rheumatism.

Mrs. Kate Yeomans, of Leland avenue, who suffered a stroke of paralysis on Wednesday, is still in a critical condition.

The Misses Marguerite and Kathleen Phillips, of Madison avenue, entertained a number of friends at their home New Year's eve. Dancing was the feature and at midnight supper was served and an exchange of greetings.

NEW YEAR'S RECEPTION OF A PASTOR AND WIFE.

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Herring held a New Year's Day reception at their home on DeLacy avenue, Saturday afternoon and evening. A large number of members of the First Presbyterian church and other friends called during the day. In the afternoon there was an informal program of music by Miss Edith Rupel, violinnst, and Clifford A. Braider, pianist.

In the evening, Miss Helen George rendered several piano solos. Mrs. Clifford A. Braider and Mrs. LeRoy Gates were in charge of the dining-room in the evening.

Injured "Jumping" a Coal Train.

Edward Hewitt, aged 15 years, of Newark, is a patient at Muhlenberg Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull and injury to several fingers on his right hand. He, in company with three companions, was attempting to "jump" a coal train on the Lehigh Valley Railroad at South Plainfield, yesterday afternoon, when he fell. He was taken to the hospital, where today it was said his chances for recovery are good.

Christen Jensen Passes Away.

Christen Jensen, a well known carpenter, formerly of this city, but lately of Tulsa, Oklahoma, died in that city on December 26 in his thirtieth year. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from his former residence, 200 West Second street, at 2 o'clock. Mr. Jensen leaves a wife and two children. He was a member of Court Plainfield, No. 1144, I. O. F., and the Carpenters' Union.

Y. M. C. A. Basketball Games.

Six games of basketball were playedn on the Y. M. C. A. courts on New Year's day, the scores being as follows: Williamsbridge, 38; Y. M. C. A., 28; N. P. H. S. 48; Y. M. C. A. 2nds, 20; Scotch Plains, 30; Crescent Avenue, 8; Hope chapel, 33; Trinity, 8; First Presbyterian, 28; First Baptist, 23; Y. M. C. A. Juniors, 37; Hope Chapel Juniors, 4.

Protest Against Insurance Rates.

Members of the local Conclave of the Order of Heptasophs are protesting against the imposition of higher rates of assessments and options which they regard as unjust and contrary to law. A more complete statement of the conditions imposed by the supreme conclave will be printed tomorrow.

New Year's Eve Supper.

The Independent Social Club held its first annual supper and watch-night meeting at the home of William Hartpense, on East Second street, Friday night. It was an enjoyable affair. Edward Koechlein acted in the capacity of toastmaster.

Week of Prayer Observance.

The week of prayer will be observed in the Congregational church this week on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The W. C. T. U. branch, colored, will meet at the Calvary Baptist church, Thursday afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock. Meetings will be held every Thursday.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary with appropriate exercises tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. A. W. Hayes, secretary of the Elizabeth district, will take part in the service.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT GRACE P. E. CHURCH.

After the feast of the circumcision on Saturday morning at Grace P. E. church the rector, Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, held a reception at which a large number of the parishioners of Grace church paid their repects to the rector.

Yesterday the regular services of the church were held and in the afternoon the childrens carol festival was held.

Funeral of Lorraine C. Hurtt.

The funeral of Lorraine C. Hurtt, was held yesterday afternoon at his late residence, 442 West Front street, the services being conducted by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church. J. Edmund Skiff sang two solors. Another service was held at the vault and was conducted by the Brotherhood of Trainmen and the bearers were from the same organization. Many floral tributes were received from friends of the popular young trainman. The body was placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery and will be interred beside that of his father in the spring.

At Proctor's.

George W. Gotthold & Co., appear at Proctor's theatre, today in a screaming farce, entitled "Cousins," and Usher & Whitcliff will present a sketch called "Ranch Girl," a charming western story; a western girl left an orphan, and the owner of the ranch falls in love with an eastern chap who works on the ranch. John Mayon & Co., will offer a comedy sketch, good for the blues and Smither Brothers, clever comedy acrobats will do some good work. The pictures are of the same high class.

Served Sixty-three Dinners.

At the Calvary Baptist church Saturday afternoon, sixty-three dinners were served to the poor people of the city, men, women and children. Nine dinners were sent to the homes of those unable to be present. The dinner was in charge of the women of the church.

Frank Buckland, Jr., Baptized.

Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buckland on South Second street, Friday night to baptize their infant son, Frank Buckland, Jr. The son was very ill with pneumonia.

Mayor Fisk's Reception.

Upward of three hundred guests accepted Mayor Charles J. Fisk's invitation to meet him on New Year's Day and enjoy his hospitality. Besides all the city officials people from all walks of life paid their respects to the Mayor.

January Term Opens Tomorrow.

The January term of the Union County Court will open tomorrow at Elizabeth, with Justice Bergen on the bench. The calendar is not a very heavy one.

FAMILY REUNIONS WERE THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

The Blair and Dowd families had a reunion at the residence of J. R. Blair on New Year's day at which there were twenty-one representatives of the two families present.

Another reunion was that of the Wyman and Trimmer families at William Wyman's home on East Front street. Here thirty-four enjoyed the day. Representatives from Middle Valley, Elizabeth, Neshanic and this city were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Senno, of East Seventh street, gave a dinner party to a number of friends on New Year's Day. Covers were laid for fifteen. The home was attractively decorated in red and green. Guests were present form Newark, Elizabeth, Bound Brook, Philadelphia and this city. Mr. and Mrs. Senno received a number of gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Alpaugh, of 223 East Ninth street, held their usual family reunion on New Year's Day. For the past twenty years this reunion has been held on Thanksgiving Day, but owing to the illness of their son, D. S. Alpaugh, and the absence of another son, Edward J. Alpaugh, it was decided to hold the affair on New Year's Day. The children are Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Alpaugh and their daughters, Emmelene, Bessie and Florence, of East Sixth street; Mr. and Mrs. Forman Alpaugh and daughters, Lucy and Elsie, and son, LeRoy, of Orange. The other two sons, Edward J. and Chester T., live at home.

SUPRESSION OF HIGH SCHOOL PAPER UPHELD.

Rahway, Jan. 3.—At the closing session of the Board of Education held Wednesday night, an objectionable issue of the High School Review was discussed. City Superintendent of Schools William J. Bickett, addressing the board, said:

"Last year the High School Review, a paper published under the auspices of the High School and written principally by the pupils of that institution, printed an article that reflected upon one of the teachers. The publication and the article got out to the public before this was known and the papers could not be called in. A censor was therefore appointed to look over the copy and squelch anythink of the same nature thereafter. Last week an article appear that, it is claimed, was inserted in the copy. After passing through the hands of the censor, and before the copy reached the printer, I learned of the affair and suppressed the paper, confiscating the whole issue and destroying it. I have brought a paper for the board members to read."

It was a disciplinary measure, and I felt it to be necessary. The article cost us about $27, representing the expense of getting out the paper. I would like my action confirmed.

A unanimous vote to sustain the superintendent was passed. A recommendation that the board pay the $27 was not considered.

When the first copies of the Review appeared, the female teacher who objected to the article that is allaged to have been disrespectful to her went to the High School principal and complained. He turned the matter over to the school board for action.

A decision of the previous meeting not to accept the resignation of Miss Allie Gibson as teacher was reconsidered and her resignation accepted. The fact that Miss Grace Smith, a teacher, has her class divided into two sections, which obliges her to teach an extra hour each day, resulted in her being allowed $10 per month extra, so long as this condition exists. The extr pay is to date back to the commencement of the class division.

REV. JOHN Y. BROEK SPEAKS AT NETHERWOOD CHURCH.

Rev. John Y. Broek conducted a special service at the Netherwood Reformed church last night and took for his subject "The Conditions of a Successful Church." Mr. Broek selected an appropriate text and said in part that every great movement must have a leader. In the religious history of His Kingdom God has always provided leaders to carry on His work. We need not only leadership in the church today, but organization was essential. We must work together where we are doing things for God.

Combination is God's principle. Order is God's first law. We share privileges and we must also share burdens. God has organized His church here on earth that she might live in peace and holiness.

A successful church needs co-operation on the part of its members. One member cannot say to another, "I have no need of you." We all need each other and the church needs all its members.

St. Mary's School Exercises.

Children of St. Mary's parochial school enjoyed their deferred Christmas exercises in the school hall yesterday afternoon. The little folks received presents, distributed from a tree and prizes for proficiency in studies during the year.

A Good Omen.

Manager Sanderson did the best business on New Year's since he obtained control of the two local theatres. At both the Plainfield and at Proctor's, there was S. R. O. at matinee and night performances.

REVIEW MISSION EFFORT

Women's Foreign Society of First M. E. Church 25th Anniversary.

SOME INTERESTING HISTORY.

Miss Minnie B. Sharp Reads An Interesting Paper—A Luncheon Is Served At Noon.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church held its twenty-fifth anniversary meeting this morning in Vincent chapel, when there was an interesting review of the work of the society during the past quarter of a century. Mrs. Addison W. Hayes, wife of the pastor of the Westfield M. E. church, and corresponding secretary of the general auxiliary for the district, conducted the devotional services. Then followed the reports, which proved interesting to all present. Mrs. Mary L. Winter, president of the society, presided at the meeting.

Miss Minnie B. Sharp, recording secretary, presented a review of the work of the society for twenty-five years. Among other things she said:

"On Wednesday evening, January 7, 1885, Miss Clara Cushman, a missionary on leave of absence from her field of work, made an address in the interest of the Women's Foreign Missionary society, and if I remember correctly, she had been invited by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Tuttle, who thought this church should be represented in the work of sending the gospel to the women of foreign lands who could not hear it, only through the women sent out by the society.

"The following Friday afternoon, the women of the church met in the church parlors for organization. After the meeting was opened by Dr. Tuttle these officers were elected: President, Mrs. Samuel Mitchell; vice-president, Mrs. R. R. Fairchild; corresponding secretary, Miss Addie McGee; recording secretary, Miss Susie Jackson; treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Loomis.

"Four years later, Mrs. Mary L. Winter was elected to the chair, and has ever since been president, except part of one year, when Mrs. J. L. Hurlburt was president. Mrs. Loomis served as treasurer for five years, then resigned and Miss Jackson was elected and has since carried the burden of that office. There have been a number of corresponding secretaries. Miss Rachel Day served from 1894 to 1903, the others serving one, two or three years. The recording secretaries have been Miss Susie Jackson, Mrs. G. R. Cornwell, Mrs. Nelson Y. Hull and Miss Minnie B. Sharp.

"During the first year there was recorded a membership of eighty-two. At the November meeting of that year, Mrs. James McGee, gave the society $50 for the support of a Bible woman, and each year succeeding that sum was raised for the same purpose. Since then another Bible woman has been supported and the outlook of the society today is bright.

"The money raised during the past quarter of a century amounts to $2,667.74, and what has been accomplished for Christ's Kingdom no one can know, except the Master, who alone can give the increase."

After the meeting the members enjoyed a luncheon served by a committee from the society.

TRINITY SUNDAY-SCHOOL GRADUATING EXERCISES.

There was an interesting session of the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church on Sunday afternoon, when the graduating exercises took place. Twenty-one pupils were passed from the beginners to the primary department, thirty-five from the primary to the junior department and twenty-two from the junior to the main school. The passing from one department to the other was accompanied by special services and each child received a diploma.

As the transfers were made the superintendents of the various departments in dismissal and acceptance of the pupils made appropriate remarks, and each separate newly formed class listened to a short address by the pastor, Rev. John Y. Broek. The graduates from the primary to the junior department each received a Bible in addition to the diploma. After the transfers there was speaking and singing by the various new classes. The report of the superintendent of the school was the most encouraging ever given and shows that Trinity is growing both in numbers and spirituality.

Will Give Wedding Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Johnson have issued invitations to a wedding reception to be given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Moore, of 747 Webster place, Thursday night, January 6, at 8:30 o'clock.

TO CONSIDER PETITION FOR GASOLENE STORAGE

There will be a meeting of the Common Council as a committee of the whole, Thursday night, when all of the local auto garage owners will be invited to be present and listen to an expert on the storage of gasolene. The meeting has been arranged by the fire and building committee, of which Councilman Duncan W. Taylor is the chairman.

The purpose is to secure all possible information on the subject, relative to the application of the F. L. C. Martin Automobile company for permission to install a gasolene tank of ten thousand gallons capacity on its property on Park avenue. Mr. Taylor has been communicating with experts throughout the country on the subject and the committee will not make any recommendations until every phase has been considered.

HEPTASOPHS IN REVOLT; OBJECT TO NEW RATES

Many members of Protection Conclave, No. 505, Improved Order of Heptasophs, in this city have declined to accept any of the options suggested by the Supreme Conclave and which were to become effective on January 1, and will pay their assessments under protest, claiming that the Supreme Conclave has no power to increase the rates upon a certain class of members or reduce the amount of their certificates.

It is maintained that the late decisions of the Court of Appeals in the cases of Dowball vs. the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association and Wright vs. the Knights of Maccabees, as reported in the New York Press of December 12 last, define the powers of fraternal organizations.

The action of the Supreme Conclave affects nearly all the members of the local conclave, reducing the amounts of some certificates hundreds of dollars. This seems to the members an unjust discrimination as they have already stood a raise in assessments of more than fifty per cent. on the amount they agreed to pay upon joining the order.

The circular letter sent out by the supreme secretary refers in detail to the action of the Supreme Conclave, which held its session at Saratoga last June and it insists that all options must be selected and returned to the supreme secretary by January 1. Many of the members have refused to file their acceptances on the grounds stipulated above.

CITY FATHERS ADJOURN TO NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

According to the plans decided upon Saturday night, several members of the Common Council met last night and immediately adjourned to Monday night, January 10, when the regular business of the new year will be taken up. Those present last night were President Tolles, Charles C. Randolph, Francis L. Montgomery and Duncan W. Taylor, together with Mayor Charles J. Fisk.

The reason for this action was that there was little or nothing that could be done last night, as more time is needed to get into shape several important maters demanding the attention of the members. In the meantime, the various committees will have time to prepare business for presentation on Monday night.

Rafferty Cafe Re-Opens.

Godfrey J. Weinman, successor to the late John Rafferty, yesterday opened the cafe at 213 Park avenue. For five years he was connected with Cawley's Hotel, Somerville, and late proprietor of the Grand View Hotel, Fair Haven. Mr. Weinman proposes to conduct the business in the same satisfactory manner that characterized the previous owner.

Reappointed Attorney.

The Fanwood Township Committee at a meeting on New Year's day reappointed Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., as township attorney for the ensuing year. Mr. Hetfield received notification of his reappointment yesterday, accompanied by a letter, commending him for efficient service during the year.

Hunt Club Chase.

A half-dozen members of the Watchung Hunt Club enjoyed a chase on Saturday, starting at Dog Tavern and finishing at Westfield. The hunters found the snow pretty deep, but there were no spills.

Refuse to Accept Resignation.

Chris Cumins, whip of the Watchung Hunt Club, has tendered his resignation to the club, but the members have refused to accept it. He will remain here for the present.

MR. LOVELL RE-ELECTED

Following Organization, Education Board Listens to W. C. T. U. Plea.

THE COMMITTEES ARE NAMED.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges Greeted As a New Member—A Janitor Resigns.

The meeting of the Board of Education last night was enlivened by the presence of several members of the local W. C. T. U., including the president, Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, and Mrs. Emily Coard, of Los Angeles, Cal., both of whom spoke on the subject of essays on temperance questions in the local high school and the pupils in the seventh and eighth grades of the other schools.

Mrs. Tomlinson told of the desirability of having the higher grades compete for prizes offered by the county, State and national unions, using as an argument the value of inculcating knowledge of the injurious effects of alcohol on the human system. The local union has a standing prize of $5 for the best essays on submitted questions, and it is desirable to place these questions before the hgher grade pupils for their absorbtion and discussion.

Mrs. Coard talked along similar lines giving the results in figures, of the plan as developed at Los Angeles, Pasadena and other California cities. In the competition there is a natonal prize of $50, which may be won by some pupil in the East. It was stated by Miss Tomlinson and reiterated by President Lovell that the Plainfield schools stand as high as any other schools in the matter of temperance learning. The matter was deferred until the next meeting of the board for decision.

The formal organization of the board was the first matter considered and Mr. Lovell was re-elected president; W. B. Tyler, vice-president; F. T. Woodhull, secretary. Dr. B. VanD. Hedges was greeted cordially at his first meeting with the board and was appointed chairman of the committee on fuel.

The report of the dental examining committee was read at length and showed the members how much work there is to be done in the mouths of the pupils of Stillman and Whittier Schools.

The resignation of Janitor H. P. Pugh, of Irving school was accepted and the nomination of his successor was left to the building committee with power. Harry Fraley, who has been Mr. Pugh's assistant, will probably be given a trial at the job. Other aplications for the position of janitor were received from Eugene Lawson and F. M. Kelso.

A letter of thanks was read by Secretary Woodhull from C. F. Abbott in appreciation of the resolution recently passed by the board regarding his long service.

President L. N. Lovell announced the appointments of committees for the ensuing year, as follows: Teachers and text books, L. N. Lovell, W. S. Tyler and F. T. Woodhull; books, stationery and supplies, Buckle, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and L. N. Lovell; buildings and repairs, Woodhull, Buckle and Hedges; finance, Tyler, Woodhull and Lovell; fuel, Hedges, Buckle and Tyler.

The question of whether the pupils of the public schools will be allowed to contribute funds to Muhlenberg Hospital was discussed and finally referred to Superintendent Maxson with power. According to the plan outlined for the purpose, prizes are to be awarded to the individual and class making the largest contribution of money. The policy to be adopted in this matter will be given out later. The board adjourned at 9:40.

Congregational Week of Prayer.

The week of prayer will be observed in the Congregational church with meetings tonight, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The topics for the first three evenings will be those recommended by the Evangelical Alliance: Tuesday, "The Foundations Unshaken, Immovable;" Wednesday, "The Church of God on Earth;" Thursday, "Missions, the Necessary Expression of Christian Devotion." On Friday evening the topic will be "The Spiritual Interest of the Sunday school," and the meeting will be in the nature of a Sunday school rally. Classes are asked to vie with each other to have the largest number present. The new hymn book will be used and special music is expected at each meeting.

Celebrate Epiphany and 12th Night.

The annual Epiphany children's services will be held in the Church of the Heavenly Rest Thursday evening at 7:30, after which the children will adjourn to the parish house where a "Twelfth Night" party will be held.

LACK BIBLE KNOWLEDGE

Rev. Dr. Eaton Says American's Ignorance is Creditable to Jungle.

HE PREDICTS GREATER UNITY.

Noted Clergyman Declares He Knows of Few Places Where Prayer Is Needed More Than in Wall Street.

Although he called prophecy a dangerous pastime, the Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, who resides at Watchung, told his congregation Sunday that the churches of America in 1910 might look forward to greater unity and an increase in the layman's activity. At the same time he said that Americans in the mass have a "knowledge of their church and of their Bible that would not do credit to jungle inhabitants."

"It is characteristic of our life today that we find everything unsettled, no matter into what region of thought we enter," he said. "This attitude is beneficial in many ways, yet we encounter difficulty in holding up clean cut issues and standing by them. There was a time when we believed fully in the Bible, taking every period and comma as the word of God. Now a perfect flood of light has been turned upon the Bible; the attitude of the mind toward it has changed and must change in every age.

"In the general question of the general Christianity of America we fust consider a growing sense of unity among all the churches. The question is not of Protestantism as against all other beliefs, but solely of churchman against infidel.

"Looking forward into this year, what is there for you and me to take as the basis of our life? They say that down in Wall street men have not much time to pray, but I know of few places where they need it more. You men who have your places in the business world will place your faith in the Bible and in prayer. I think that Americans, no matter what they have done for economic or social progress, have a knowledge of their church and their Bible that would not do credit to jungle inhabitants. I am not speaking of the men only; I feel sure that if you asked the average small girl to turn to Deuteronomy she would look for it in the New Testament."

OSGOOD AGAIN HEAD OF HEALTH BOARD

The annual report presented by Secretary Dr. A. H. Dundon at the meeting of the Borough Board of Health last night, showed that health conditions are generally good in that municipality. There are a few contagious cases on hand, but none of them considered of a serious nature.

The annual election was held and Joseph O. Osgood was re-elected president and Dr. A. H. Dundon secretary and registrar of vital statistics. Louis Ollif was retained as health inspector and Francis J. Blatz, Esq., as counsel.

UNION COUNTY COURT WAS OPENED TODAY.

The January term of the Union County Courts opened today with Justice Bergen on the bench. Three grand jurymen from this city were sworn in, Ralph I. Tolles, Charles H. Hand and B. Frank Coriell.

Justice Bergen's charge was brief and to the point. He cautioned the grand jury not to let any violator of the excise laws escape, and told them to carefully weigh all evidence brought before them.

Mr. Odam's Funeral Tomorrow.

Funeral services for the late John T. Odam, who died in Trenton hospital on New Year's day, will be held in this city at the residence of his brother, Ely M. Odam, 1038 Arlington avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. A service will also be held at his late home in Philadelphia this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Funeral of F. W. Gray.

The funeral of Frederick W. Gray, who died as a result of a fall on New Year's eve, was held this morning at his late residence, 984 Hillside avenue. The services were conducted by Rev. George Bowers, of Mt. Bethel. The interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Plainfield Kennel Club Meeting.

The regular annual meeting of the Plainfield Kennel Club will be held at Truell Hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Officers will be elected for the present year and plans for the 1910 bench show will be discussed. All members are urged to attend.

COWBOY RUNS AMUCK

Terrorizes the Staid Citizens of Dunellen and Attempts to Jump a Train.

BROKE UP COUNCIL MEETING.

Medical Assistance Required to Calm Rum-crazed Westerner—He Pays a Nominal Fine.

Phil Lloyd, a giant Oklahoma cowboy, with long hair, weighing more than 200 pounds, and standing six feet two and one-half inches, whooped things up in true wild west fashion in Dunellen yesterday afternoon and evening for several hours. Lloyd made his appearance in Mayor Sanford's bailiwick in the afternoon and promptly on his arrival there he tried to consume all of the applejack in town.

Toward evening he became so boisterous that the supply was cut off, and then he terrorized a number of the citizens by indulging in noisy demonstrations on the street.

The climax to Lloyd's wild actions came shortly after six o'clock when he announced that he was going to jump on the cow catcher of the first engine going west and return to Oklahoma. In the meantime, Marshall James Benson was notified of Lloyd's intentions. When he arrived on the scene Lloyd had reached the Chestnut street crossing and leaped over the gates, and standing in position to jump on a west going passenger express which was approaching. The express was about 300 feet distant when Benson nabbed the rum-crazed westerner. The cowboy put up a hard fight bpt after a tussle, Benson manacled Lloyd, and escorted him to the lockup in the borough hall, followed by a crowd of children and frightened citizens.

When Lloyd was secure behind the bars he gave a series of dances and sang songs of the plains galore. A supper quieted him for a time, but when the borough solons arrived at the hall, to hold their first regular Council meeting of the year, he started afresh. The Council started its proceedings, passed a few miscellaneous bills, but the rumpus was so great, that Mayor Sanford was obliged to suggest an adjournment.

Toward midnight the condition of Lloyd became so bad, that he tried to demolish the cell doors and do himself bodily harm. Borough physician Platt was summoned, and after giving treatment to the rum-crazed cowboy, Lloyd quieted down.

When Lloyd appeared before Recorder Campbell this morning he declared he had no recollection of his doings of last night. He said, however, that his last stopping place was in Plainfield, where he had a job shoveling snow. Recorder Campbell fined five dollars.

GEORGE S. CLAY MEMBER OF NEW YORK LAW FIRM.

The firm of Dillon & Hubbard, attorneys and counsellors at law, No. 195 Broadway, New York city, has been dissolved by mutual consent, and a new firm comprising John F. Dillon, John M. Dillon and George S. Clay, the last named of this city, together with John C. Thomson, will continue the practice of the law at No. 195 Broadway, New York, under the firm name of Dillon, Thomson & Clay. Harry Hubbard will continue the practice of the law at No. 71 Broadway, New York.

Noted Forester to Lecture.

James S. Whipple, Forest, Fish and Game Commissioner, of the State of New York, will give an illustrated lecture at the Hartridge School auditorium Tuesday night, January 11, at 8 o'clock. Beautiful stereopticon views will be shown. The lecture will be given under the patronage of the following men: Orville T. Waring, Alexander Gilbert, George P. Mellick, L. V. F. Randolph, Charles W. McCutchen and Charles C. Burke.

Resolutions for Ira W. Travell.

The resolutions tendered to Ira W. Travell by the Board of Education after his resignation last fall, have been engrossed by W. Montgomery Smith and at the meeting of the board last night were signed by all but James Buckle. The handsome piece of work will be suitably framed and forwarded to Mr. Travell at Morristown.

Mrs. McVey Reimbursed.

A resolution by Mr. Tyler at the meeting of the Board of Education last night which received the approval of the whole board provides for the payment of $11.25 to Mrs. Lucy McVey for the use of the telephone in her home for school purposes.

Hope Chapel L. A. S. Meeting.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will meet at the home of Mrs. Milton Miller, on Everett place, tomorrow afternoon.

TRUST COMPANY MAKES REMARKABLE SHOWING

In another part of this issue will be found the statement of the Plainfield Trust Company as of December 31, 1909. This concern makes a most excellent showing, in fact the best in its history. The deposits now total $2,815,203.94, an increase of $717,049.53 for the year, while the surplus and profits have been increased $46,478.36 to $202,501.58, or to more than twice the amount of the capital. In addition to which $5,000 of the cost of the building has been written off. All of this is in addition to a generous distribution of interest to depositors.

The Trust Company was organized in 1902 and this splendid statement reflects the growth and earnings of but seven and one-half years' activity. The company is to be heartily congratulated on this great success.

WHAT IS THE $5 FOR? JANITORS WANT TO KNOW

Why should a school janitor be compelled to pay $5 for a special policeman's badge and then lose half of this amount on the return of the badge to the Chief of Police? This question caused a whole lot of discussion at the meeting of the Board of Education last night and, as the board think, with reason.

The janitors fail to see why they should deposit five good dollars for the purpose of wearing a distinguishing emblem of authority when there is absolutely no emolument to be derived and they have lodged a protest with the board. They don't quite see the justice of contributing $2.50 to the police pension fund when they are not considered in the benefit of that fund.

Their badges may be of use in chasing trespassers away from the school grounds, but, well what is there in it? The question could not be answered with any clearness last night, so Vice-president Tyler will investigate and report at the next meeting.

President Lovell appointed Mr. Tyler and himself as the members of the Board of School Estimate after the other committees had been named.

NEW MARKET FIREMEN GET NEW QUARTERS

George Schenck, a member of the New Market Fire Department, surprised his friends and fellow members by presenting to the volunteers a frame building on his property for use as a headquarters.

The communication presenting the building was read at the annual meeting last night and a vote of thanks was immediately extended to Mr. Schenck for his generous gift. The structure will be moved to property of Justice Clark T. Rogers, who has offered the use of his land to the fire laddies. The firemen plan to take possession of the new fire house in the spring. A reading room will be provided and other comforts arranged.

The annual election resulted as follows: President, Alvin G. Nelson; vice president, W. T. Piddington, Sr.; treasurer, Clark T. Rogers; secretary, W. T. Piddington, Jr.; chief, Clark T. Rogers; first assistant, Harry J. Piddington; second assistant, Alex. Stillwagon; foreman, Alex. Herlich; with George Schenck and R. P. F. Von Minden as assistants. Alex Herlich was elected steward.

PLAINFIELD COUNCIL INSTALLS OFFICERS.

Past Councilor E. Gibson Smith installed the following officers of Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its regular meeting, last night: Councilor, William F. Richards; vice-councilor, Harvey Van Pelt; warden, D. J. Fleming; conductor, A. R. Fleming; treasurer, Julius G. Williams; recording secretary, Fred E. Sebring; financial secretary, Joel Pennington; trustee, eighteen months, Alfred Peck; chaplain, John D. Oakley. The council enjoyed a visit from Deputy State Councilor Trimmer, of Roselle, who made a few remarks.

"What Baptists Believe."

Commencing tomorrow night and continuing indefinitely on Wednesday evenings, Rev. J. W. Musson, of the Temple Baptist church, will speak on the topic: "What Baptists Believe." He will base his remarks on the articles of faith of the Baptist church. Tomorrow night the subject will be "What We Believe About the Scriptures and About God."

FIVE TOOK SOLEMN VOWS

Bishop Mc Faul and Other Dignataries of Catholic Church Officiate.

AT MT. ST. MARY'S COLLEGE.

Service at Which Nuns Take Vows of Perpetual Profession—The Bishop Makes Address.

The Rt. Rev. J. A. McFaul, of Trenton, and other distinguished representatives of the Catholic church were present at the reception and perpetual profession ceremony of five nuns who entered the religious world, at Mt. St. Mary's convent yesterday. The two services occupied two hours and the latter ceremony was marked with the impressiveness as is usual on such occasions.

The five women who took the vows of nuns were Sister Mary Paul Cannon, of Hoboken; Sister Mary Regis, of Red Bank; Sister Mary Casimir Schlis, of Bound Brook; Sister Mary Cornelia Anderson, of South River; Sister Mary Hillery Keely, of Summit.

Miss Genevieve Dineen, of Dunellen, was received as a novice into the order and given the name of Sister Mary Charles. She is a graduate of St. Gabriel's Academy, of North Plainfield, and entered the convent six months ago. Three years hence she will take the perpetual profession and become a nun.

Bishop McFaul spoke at length after the religious exercises in which he explained the duties of the various orders of the Catholic church. He said that women entering the nunnery make three vows, viz.: Voluntary poverty, perpetual chastity and perfect obedience.

Among the visiting clergymen were the Rev. William H. Miller, rector of St. Joseph's church, of the borough; the Rev. Edward Dunphy, rector of St. John's church, Dunellen; Monsignor Charles J. Kelly, of Hoboken; Monsignor Connolly, of Phillipsburg; Dean Mulligan, of Camden; Father McConnell, of Belmar; Father Reynolds, of Red Bank; Father Vinner, of Raritan; Father Ryan, of Bernardsville; Father Leahy, of Princeton; Father Devlin, of Hoboken, and Dr. Griffin, of Trenton.

ROBERT EMMETT SCOTT HEADS TYPO UNION.

The Plainfield Typographical Union, No. 399, met last night and elected these officers: President, Robert Emmett Scott; vice-president, C. A. Nichols; secretary and treasurer, H. W. Thomas; sergeant-at-arms, C. W. Francisco. It was announced that all arrangements were completed for the first annual ball to be held at Saengerbund Hall, Friday night, January 29.

The members resolved to send a floral piece to the funeral of Mrs. Albert L. Force, wife of the publisher of this paper, as a tribute of respect.

JUDGE CODDINGTON REAPPOINTED ATTORNEY.

The Piscataway township committee, at its organization at Nelson's Hotel, New Market, on New Year's day, reappointed Judge William A. Coddington, of this city, as township attorney for the ensuing year. Arthur Tappen was elected chairman, and George Harris was selected as treasurer. The new committee consists of Messrs. Tappen and Harris, John Geary and Charles Day, township clerk.

Hope Chapel Celebrates.

The Hope chapel Sunday school was twenty-two years old Sunday and the event was marked by special exercises. After the lesson, G. Herbert Condict, superintendent, spoke briefly concerning the anniversary and introduced F. H. Andrews, one of the first officers of the chapel. He spoke of the founding of the chapel and of the generosity of some of the early members, and the good work accomplished during the existence of the chapel.

Dr. Stanley White to Speak.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vanderbeek, of Buffalo, have been spending the holidays with Mr. Vanderbeek's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Newton Vanderbeek.

At the election of officers of the Somerville Fire Department on Saturday Dr. C. F. Halsted was elected chief and John Gernert, Jr., first assistant.

Miss Emma L. Canfield and Jacob Reich, of this place, were married Thursday at the Fourth Reformed parsonage by Rev. Henry J. Wahl.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Vanderveer and daughter, Margaret, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Houston.

David Smith, superintendent of the Duke farm, has gone to Florida.

Miss Helen Shepherd is spending a week in Bridgeport, Conn.

RARITAN.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Staats Quick celebrated the fifty-first anniversary of their marriage last week. They have two children, John V. M. Quick clerk of the Somerset District Court, and Mrs. A. Q. Amerman, of Newark.

Sylvester Kelly and Miss Grace Kelly are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cassidy, on Somerset street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lane and daughter, of Easton, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dumont at Stanton.

Harold Carpenter, of Newark, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. William N. Adair.

William Towlan, of Frankfort, is visiting in Brooklyn.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Mayor Sanford's proposition to bond the borough to the extent of $20,000 for street purposes caused quite a stir among the citizens. While the general trend of opinion is toward improvements it appears to be the opinion of the majority that the amount named should be divided with other needed improvements.

The newly elected officers of Friendship Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be installed on the evening of January 10.

Miss Ruth Gardner is expected home from Boston this week, where she has been spending her holiday vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tobb, have returned to Port Richmond after a visit with relatives in the village.

Mayor Sanford will fill the office of recorder until a successor to Judge Campbell is appointed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. L. Peters entertained relatives over New Year's.

The borough school re-opened this morning after the holiday vacation.

Miss Anna Ace has recovered from a severe cold.

STANDARD OIL GROUP EXTEND BANKING CHAIN.

The Standard Oil group of financiers, it is stated, has practically added the Carnegie Trust Company, the Van Norden Trust Company and the Nineteenth and Twelfth Ward banks, which the Van Norden owners controlled, to their chain of great downtown banks and trust companies.

The consolidation of the Carnegie Trust Company and the Van Norden Trust Company, with the two State banks, which has been pending for several months, is to be effected, it is understood, within the next six weeks. The resources of these combined institutions will amount to $42,000,000.

The placing of the two trust companies and their subsidiary banks in the ranks of the financial institutions headed by the Rockefeller National City Bank clique was the outcome of the resignation, it was said in Wall street last week, of C. C. Dickinson as president of the Carnegie Trust Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Soverign, of Regent street, have returned home from Detroit, Mich., where Mr. Soverign attended a convention, of salesmen of the Acme White Lead and Color Works. He is the eastern representative of the company.

LAST CALL.

'Tis the day before Christmas and
all through the stores
The people go tramping by dozens and scores.
They didn't shop early and now it is late
And they are all left in a terrible state.

But some had no money and waited for pay
And therefore are doing their shopping today.
And some received presents they didn't foresee,
And some forgot something for trimming the tree.

'Tis the day before Christmas and
all through the streets
The people are running their Marathon heats.
But all of the shoppers are merry and bright
And hope to get through with their trouble by night. —Exchange.

GOLF.

In the case of the Notts Golf Club a point is raised as to the penalty stroke and the procedure which governs the playing of a ball which has been accidentally moved. It seems that in a stroke competition a caddie dropped a club on the ball of his master, the ball being on the putting green. The ball having been moved by the dropping of the club, the caddie lifted it and placed it upon the spot from which it had been moved. The incident having been reported to the local committee, a penalty stroke was imposed, though the players, after subsequently referring to the rules, came to the conclusion that there was no penalty imposed for the accident, and they accordingly altered the figure on the card so as to omit the imposition of the penalty stroke.

The players asked that the subject should be referred to the rules of golf committee, and that body replied that the player to whom the moved ball belonged was disqualified. The point upon which guidance is asked is whether the ball should have been played where it lay after the dropping of the club had moved it, or whether it was correct on the part of the caddie to replace it. The rules committee points out that a penalty stroke was incurred through the accidental moving of the ball and that the ball should have been played from where it lay after the accident.

DIAMONDS AND TRADE DURING CURRENT YEAR

Prosperity has returned, according to the figures of the imports and exports for the calendar year of 1909, just published by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

The surest indication of ready money, officials declare, is the diamond market, and during the first eleven months of 1909 this has boomed, the importation of cut diamonds amounting to $25,214,541, three times more than during the same period last year and almost $6,500,000 more than during that time in 1907. In fact the imports of cut diamonds for this year, with December omitted, amounted to over $1,000,000 more than for the twelve months of 1907, the banner year in the importation of cut diamonds. On these cut diamonds this year the United States Government has collected $2,500,000 in duties. Belgium and Netherlands are the countries selling the most of these stones to the United States.

It will surprise many people to learn that over $40,000,000 worth of diamonds and other precious stones were imported into the United States for the first eleven months of 1909. These are the correct figures and represent an increase of $28,000,000 over the figures of 1908, and more than $8,000,000 over 1907, this country's record year for the import of jewels.

During the calendar year the foreign commerce of the United States exceeded in value that of any earlier year, with the single exception of 1907. The imports were larger than for any previous twelve months, but the exports will fall somewhat below those of 1906 and 1907.

The only matter for serious reflection in the report is the statement that the exportation of food stuffs, both raw and manufactured, has fallen lower than has been noted in a decade. This gives rise to some apprehension, especially when it is accompanied by the statement that while other countries are selling to the United States, this country's trade with other nations has suffered.

JANUARY FURNITURE SALE

As usual, we start the New Year with a big Sale of Furniture. The Sale this year will be of the greatest importance as far as money saving opportunities are concerned. For the past two months nearly every mail has brought us word from Furniture manufacturers all over the country that, owing to the great increase in cost of labor and materials, their Prices would advance from 10 to 25 Per Cent. on January 1st. We took advantage of the situation and bought everything we thought we could use for six months to come, so that we are in a position to offer you Furniture at about what it would cost us to buy today.

In order that all may share in this great money-saving event, we offer the following inducement: If you don't need the goods till later on, come in and make your selection, pay a small deposit on them, and we will store them free of charge and deliver at your convenience; or if you need them at once and are not prepared to pay all the cash, take advantage of our "Club Plan" system of Easy Payments. We extend every convenience to responsible persons. This sale should appeal very strongly to prospective housekeepers.

FREEHOLDERS DELAY ELECTING A COUNSEL.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders organized Saturday at Somerville and completed its work with the exception of electing a counsel. This office has been held by John A. Frech, a Democrat, for nearly a score of years. The new board is a tie politically, there being six Republicans and six Democrats. The Republicans decided to support all the old Democratic officers except the counsel. Thomas E. Gibson was re-elected director; Arthur P. Sutphen, clerk, and Joshua Doughty, engineer, without opposition. The Republicans nominated Hugh K. Gaston for counsel against Frech, who was again named by the Democrats. Gaston received six votes, Frech five and there was one blank. Four ballots were taken with the same result. Director Gibson ruled that there was no election.

It was decided to lay the matter of counsel over until the next meeting.

Director Gibson called attention to the power of the board to bond the county in the construction of stone roads. He said it was confronted with applications for nearly 200 miles of roads and had voted to build about twenty. The county can spend only about $20,000 a year for roads.

The report of County Collector E. B. Allen showed receipts for the year of $570,851.07, and disbursements aggregating $535,272.60, leaving a balance of $35,578.47, with taxes due from various townships amounting to $8,148.40.

A report was presented on the cost of the new courthouse. The amount paid out for the building and all its furnishings was $289,600.34. The bonds issued and the premiums amounted to $287,059.40.

AN ACCOMMODATING MAN.

They were talking of Captain Philander Howe, who had died a few days before the meeting of the Old Salt Club, says Youth's Companion. "He was a good man as ever walked," said Captain Cosgrove, "but he was what I call too retiring in his disposition; always stepping out o' the way."

"You're right, there," said Captain Saunders. "Recollect how when Mary Latham was all ready to say yes if he'd give her the chance, he was too scairt to ask her, and so William James marched right up and carried her off under his very nose, he stepping out o' the way?"

"Certain I do," answered Captain Lowe, "and I do," answered Jane Willet at her cap for him and got him, because when that old aunt that brought her up said, "Cap'n Philander, you've been here three times runnin' to spper, and I understand from Jaen you've beaued her home twice from meeting,' he didn't have the sprawl to git up an' go, but jest stayed there, numb as a log, till he stepped out, an engaged man!"

"'Twas the same with naming the children," said Captain Cosgrove. "Five boys an' not one of 'em named Philander for his father and him, but all for her folks; and then when the girl came—the last one—he did say that if't had been a boy, he'd been meaning to ask her how she thought Philander'd do for a name; and she up and named that poor helpless little creetur 'Philandy,' an' he jest stepped out, 'stead of telling her he didn't like it."

HUGE EGG FOR MUSEUM.

The Brooklyn Museum, in the Eastern Parkway, has just obtained and placed on exhibition a great egg similar to those that figured largely in the fanciful history of the world, reports the New York Tribune. Most every school boy has read of the wonderful roc, the bird of ancient times which could pick an elephant up in its talons and carry him away to its young. At least, no reader of "The Arabian Nights" has failed to learn of this mythical bird.

The great egg is not a roc's egg, but it is one of the class of egg which give rise to the epyornis, a bird that was about the size of the ostrich, but was heavier, and which is supposed to have lived in the era of early man. It could not fly.

Each egg of this ancient bird is as big as six ostrich eggs and equal to 148 hen's eggs. The shells are so hard that the natives formerly used them as bowls or water bottles. It is supposed that the bird was exterminated by primeval men. The men traced the birds to the sandy beaches, where they went to lay their eggs in the sun to hatch, and secured the prizes for food. Naturally, in the course of time the birds died off, as none was born to take the place of the old.

The food value of one of the mammoth eggs can be estimated. If the scientists are right in saying that a hen's egg contains as much nutriment as a quarter of a pound of meat, one epyornis egg chould equal in food value thirty-seven pounds of meat—enough to feed twenty people for a day.

A NEW CABOCHON.

It is of stiff feathers arranged in pinwheel fashion. Rows and rows of these little quills are arranged in concentric circles, and the cabochon is sufficiently ornamental to allow the wearer to forego other trimming.

A clever woman can make one of these new rosettes at home. From an old millinery box countless unused feathers may be rescued from oblivion. These may be fastened on a circular foundation, beginning at the outer circle. In the center a jeweled button will look well. And there you are with something new for the upturned brim of your winter hat.

GAILY COLORED JAPAN.

Land is so scarce in Japan and the people so numerous that a farm rarely consists of more than an acre or two, states a writer in the Outing. These little farms are divided up into tiny fields. During the season of the year in which we made our journey, one of these fields is filled with sprouting barley, light green in color; another field—perhaps the next—with vetch, a laventer-colored, clover-like fodder; a neighboring field, with a dark green grass from the seed of which a lamp oil is manufactured; another with the pale yellow flower of themustard; and scattered here and there, fields filled with what looked like a variety of lily—some white, some red, some yellow, but all equally brilliant.

Then to get the complete picture you must imagine patches of flowering azaleas dotting the roadside; towering round-topped camella trees breaking the sky-line with frequent splashes of bright green; usually in the shade of these trees, houses with white plastered walls and red-tiled roofs, about the more pretentious of these houses white plastered walls above which appeared a profusion of palms, roses and strange native flowers; and in the doorways of the garden walls, kimono-clad Japanese girls—the kimonos as many and as gaily colored as the garden that framed them.

I have traveled in but one other country that is so gaily colored; and that was some few years ago, when in the company of a number of other youngsters, and an evil-smelling magic lantern, I used to make frequent visits to the Land of Primary Colors.

CALVIN THE MISUNDERSTOOD.

Probably no leader of a great movement is regarded with more general disfavor or with less comprehension than Calvin, says a writer in The Century. To many of us his name is a synonym for all that is sour and forbidding. We think of him as one who begrudged any pleasure, however innocent, to his fellow creatures; a grim, sour man who was never happier than when committing the souls of poor, frail human beings to an eternity among the damned.

Yet to the people of his own day such a view could have been nothing short of astounding. Among the men and women who lived in intimate, daily association with him, Calvin was a much—a singularly—loved man; one capable, moreover, of giving out a very lively and sincere affection on what must seem to most of us but small provocation.

He was not a scholar merely; he was a man of the world. He had traveled, was familiar with the life of courts, was on terms of intimate friendship with many of the most distinguished persons of his day. He had a commanding intellect, a literary style which was the envy and admiration of the learned. He knew law as well as he did theology, French as well as he did Latin. His grasp of a wide range of subjects, as well as his attention to details, were things to marvel at. Add to these an inexhaustible patience and a bulldog tenacity of purpose, a vivid human interest and an amazing capacity for work, and we begin to understand how it was that this penniless and sickly foreigner, who came to Geneva in the first instance so utterly unknown and without prestige as to figure in the records merely as "a Frenchman," ended by setting his stamp so ineffaceably upon the place that it remains there even to our day.

PERFUMED SILKEN ROSES.

Those who adopt the rose as a favorite flower will be very glad to hear of the perfumed silken roses. These may be made in different sizes and of different colors, but those of a delicate shade seem to be the most popular.

One kind of rose is made of pale pink satin, with sachet powder stuffed in its heart.

Young girls are very fond of wearing roses as hair decorations, and for these there are wreaths of white roses consisting of a dozen white blossoms, wired together. To scent the wreaths put them in a box in which a delicate sachet has been placed.

To bring out the color of the cheeks a delicate pink rose of silk may be worn on the side of the bodice. This will give a pretty effect if nestled in a bed of silver tulle or of silvered chiffon. Sprinkle its pedals with attar of roses.

Jogging His Memory.

A small boy went into a South Boston drug store, wrinkled his face, rubbed his head and rubbed his left foot up and down his right leg in an effort to remember something that had escaped him, relates the Boston Record.

"Say," he said, "will you tell me the name of the place where we Americans have so many soldiers?"

"Fort Sheridan?"

"Oh, no. It's further away than that."

"The Philippines?"

"That ain't just it, but it's somewhere round there."

"Perhaps you mean Manila?"

"Manila! That's right! I knew I would get it after a while. I want a bottle of manila extract for flavorin'. They're going to have ice cream."

Slain Man Buried at Last.

Newton, Jan. 4.—The body of Demeter Leleak, who was shot to death on Christmas night near Andover by a fellow workman, alleged to have been Lewis Zackwick, was buried by P. B. Wintermute in the Andover cemetery Friday. The expenses of the burial were borne by the county at the order of Acting Coroner Jeptha C. Clark, of Andover, and the Freeholders in session Saturday allowed Mr. Wintermute $15 for his service.

Never Will Forget.

Bill—Did you say he remembers the first dollar he ever made?

Jill—Sure; it was counterfeit, and he did time for it!

PERTH AMBOY HOTEL TO GO TO NEW HANDS.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 4.—The Packer House, one of the oldest hotels in New Jersey, will change owners on January 15, nine years to the day since the present proprietor, Peter Floresch, assumed charge. The new owner will be G. W. Crawford.

Mr. Crawford came here Saturday, preliminary to taking charge of the Packer House, and on that day the owner of the property, Mrs. Julia Peck, died at her home in New York. She was the widow of Rev. Aaron Peck, at one time pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Harlan G. Mendenhall, whose husband was also pastor of the same church. Mrs. Peck was a daughter of Stelle Manning, for many years a resident of this city, and she inherited the Packer House property upon his death.

LONDON'S OLD-TIME COOK SHOPS

In primitive times, the only places in London where the public could be entertained with food had been the cook's shops, writes Edmund Gosse, in Harper's Magazine. The famous East Cheap was a great thoroughfare down which the stalls of the butchers alternated with those of the cooks. You chose a joint at the flesh market, and you carry it next door to be cooked for you by a certain hour. If you wish for wine, you must bring that with you, for the cooks sold no liquor, although they seem to have provided, as time went on, more and more of the natrual accomplishments of meat, such as bread, vegetables and pastry.

This habit continued until well into the reign of Elizabeth, and so long as such an inconvenient custom prevailed there could have been no real comfort for any citizen who chose to dine abroad. He must have had as much trouble with porterage and baskets as a country party has today at a picnic.

But about the time that Shakespeare came up to London, a remarkable change took place in the customs of the town, and the practice of public hospitality and entertainment was singularly facilitated. The nature of this change lay in the sudden developement of the tavern, and the consequent withdrawal of the cookshop. The worshipful company of Pastelars, as the cooks were called, ceased to enjoy the monopoly of providing hot meals.

Caterpillars Used for Food.

The natives of the upper Congo are very fond of certain kinds of caterpillars, gathered from the trees which these insects frequent during the caterpillar season, says The Wide World Magazine. They assert that "Mira," as they call these edible caterpillars, are very palateble when cooked in the proper way. Several kinds are eaten, ranging in size from small insects less than two inches long—which form clusters or nests in the branches of the trees, and are therefore easily gathered—to big, hairy monsters five or six inches long and proportionately thick. The way that these latter are held in the fingers and crawl over the hands and arms before being consigned to the frying-pan is anything but a pleasing sight.

MAYOR EXPECTS SEWERS

Borough's Executive in Message Dwells on Proposed Improvements.

MR. SMALLEY OUTLINES POLICY.

Favors Substitution of Commission for Freeholder Board—Advocates Public Park—Talks on Taxation.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley in his message delivered at the organization meeting of the Borough Council took an optimistic view of the bright outlook for the installation of a sewerage system shortly. The Mayor declared that in his opinion that the question of the location of the plant will be settled by the Council within ninety days.

Mayor Smalley slapped the freeholders mildly and advocated a law authorizing the county to be represented by a commission. Mr. Smalley spoke as follows:

"This being the annual meeting for the purpose of organization, it seems proper at this time for me to make some few remarks in reference to our work.

"I wish the people of this borough, and you of the Council in particular, to feel that I appreciate the office to which I have been called. I realize perhaps more than any other man the responsibilities of this office. Our borough was formed something over twenty-five years ago, and I have had the pleasure of serving in this same capacity nearly one-third of the time, a very unusual distinction to be placed upon one person. I appreciate it and I expect to carry out the purposes of this office in conformity with the wishes of the people as closely as it is possible for me to so do, and with the support of this Council I may be able to accomplish this end.

"I am not going to detain you for any great length of time, but there are a few things that might be mentioned in connection with our borough's growth that are very important. I hope within the limits of my term, and I fully believe that it will come about, that this borough will have installed a system of sewerage, which every man admits is very much needed. I am confident that within the next ninety days we will have the question of the location of our sewer system settled. I am confident that if this Council acts promptly, followed by the sewer commission, that before the end of the year we will have our proposed system of sewers well underway, and I am just as sanguine that if we accomplish that and we install a proper system, the property values will raise enough to justify the present assessment, and we will see a large number of the best people coming to live in what is known as the most beautiful building section anywhere in New Jersey. There is no good reason on earth why this borough should be held up in its growth if reasonable care is exercised by the authorities. Our property values and the general welfare demand that we keep pace with the times to that extent at least. While this great question is one that will be hard to solve, I believe that in the hands where it now rests, there will come a solution so satisfactory to the people, that at the expiration of two years, they will be able to show that North Plainfield's government will compare favorably with boroughs of the same character.

"You gentlemen, realize, as well as I, that this is not an easy government to handle. If our forefathers had had the foresight to have placed the county line between Somerset and Union through the centre of Front street instead of through the centre of the brook, we would no doubt have been more prosperous, but we are limited in a great measure.

"We are as you know at the extreme end of Somerset county, where, with high valuation and a growing tax rate, we should all hope that in the near future, for the benefit of the county in general, that the law authorizing the county to be represented by a commission will be taken up and acted upon, and it is my belief that if this is done we will receive much greater benefits than under the present regime. I can say from my experience as a member of the county tax board going about the various townships, that the work of the board of freeholders is not in keeping with the progressive state of affairs which should exist.

"I regret that the establishment of a park for the borough has not met with the approval of the commission appointed. My opinion of that is, that if proper care can be used in laying out the territory in which that park would be located, it would not only be advisable but very profitable to this borough to locate the park in that territory and control it, and the opening up of new streets during the installation of the sewer system, would save more money than the park would cost. This matter will come up at a subsequent meeting and can be handled judiciously by the committee interested in looking after our sewer matters.

"I am handicapped somewhat in the discharge of my duties due to the fact that I am not going to appoint a corporation counsel at this time. For a long term of years former Senator Reed served in that capacity, and having framed the borough laws, he was very familiar with their provisions. I do not know that he would serve in that capacity again, but I regret exceedingly that he is not with us on this particular occasion in order that we might derive the benefit of his counsel.

"The sewer question is in the hands of a competent commission, and it is being advised by Mr. Depue, of Newark, and I believe that it is good business to continue him in that capacity, and that it will eliminate many of our troubles within the Council.

"I am gratified to preside over the destiny of this borough because of the makeup of its governing body. I believe that the mayor of a borough or city, should preside, and should be held responsible for the busines done by its Council in reference to all matters. This borough has had many men holding the office of mayor preceding my election, and I hope that when my term expires we will continue that same line of high standard of men for that position.

"In my appointments today I am not going to make a great many changes. My predecessor, Mayor Townsend, appointed many of those who served during the previous administration, and I believe without exception that they have made good in their various offices, and I am going to continue them in their places in order that this borough will receive just as good a government in the future as it has in the past, because it is not a one man's government. The men of the various departments were selected because of their particular ability to fill the place with credit, and I expect that they will perform their several duties in a straightforward and sensible manner.

"We are fortunate in lying near the city of Plainfield in some respects, one, because they have a goodly number of fire apparatus, and they have never been called up when the response was not prompt and effective. For this reason it is my judgment that our department should be kept always within bounds.

"The same thing will apply to the police force. We have practically all the force necessary here, first, because of the make up of our citizenship they do not require so much looking after as some communities, and second, this is a residential town and the people do not need too much policing, and again Plainfield has a great many officers who are practically at our command when needed.

"I am interested enough in the future of this borough to join you gentlemen in any proposition that will present itself for the borough's improvement. I believe the utmost care should be made in laying out the present unimproved lands within its borders, so that the character of our citizens who might come to us in the future will be of a high standard rather than otherwise. The greatest credit that can come to any of us, or the best that any of us can receive when we retire from our different positions is, to feel that the public is fairly well satisfied with our acts.

A government of this sort should be sustained by taxation. It is not only the people in North Plainfield who are taxed high, but taxes in all the cities and boroughs in the northern part of the State are high. Again when the people are continually demanding so many improvements from the governing body of the community, it is expected that the tax rate will increase from time to time, but that will not prevent the mayor and Council from watching the various other methods for the escape of the public funds.

"It is a hard matter to look into the future, but I hope that the men in the various departments will have a watchful eye on the affairs of the government of which we are participants, because no matter how hard we try some unusual expenditures are apt to take place.

"I have said about all that I care to say at this tme, but before proceedng wth the further business, I wish to extend to the people of the borough of North Plainfield a prosperous and Happy New Year, and ask you for your support in the deliberations of this body, and should any of our citizens have matters of importance pertaining to the welfare of the borough to offer, I believe I am voicing the sentiments of this Council when I say, 'We trust that you will bring them to our attention.'"

MRS. OVERLAND DIES AT AGE OF 79 YEARS.

Mrs. Elizabeth Overland, a resident of this city for a score of years, and for forty-five years a resident of Dog Watch Hollow, in Warren township, died last evening, at the home of her son, Herman Overland, on West Fourth street. Mrs. Overland was 79 years of age, and a native of Franklinburg, Germany. She came to this country when a girl, and before coming to Plainfield lived on a farm near Coontown.

Surviving her are five sons, one daughter, fourteen grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren. The funeral services will be held on Thursday at 11 a. m. at the home of her son, and at the Coontown church at 1:30 o'clock.

DUNELLEN'S NEW MAYOR

Tells of His Aspirations for the Future Government of the Borough.

MAYOR WANTS A SINKING FUND.

Hopes the People Will Back Him Up In His Suggestions For Improvements.

In assuming the office of mayor of Dunellen on New Year's Day Mayor William A. Sanford made known the policies which he would pursue in an exhaustive message to the Council. As the time appears ripe for more improvements in that municipality it is the general opinion that the Council will give careful consideration to Mayor Sanford's suggestions. The Mayor in his address to the Council said:

"Gentlemen of the Council and citizens here assembled, I hardly expected to see so many faces here today. I thought it would be a sort of common function, but it seems to have assumed a rather higher character than I thought. I know many people have come here today, it has been hinted to me that they would, for the purpose of hearing a speech.

"Now, I would simply say in that connection that the days of oratory are past. That would be perfectly proper at political gatherings, where promises are made. Now we have come to the point where promises must be kept.

From oratory we have got to come down to the serious realities of business and take up the different propositions which may present themselves to us and think them over in a serious way and deal with them in a serious manner. This occasion is one of serious import to me. I feel that I am assuming a burden of responsibility which at my time of life and in consideration of health, I possibly might have avoided but it seemed as if circumstances pushed me to the front and I was compelled to take hold of public work.

"When I first came to the borough some five or six years ago my friends wished to push me forward for the mayoralty. It would have been a very unmodest thing for me to accept. You have now placed me in this chair. I have been placed here I am satisfied by the best people of this community regardless of politics and to those people I owe a duty which rests upon me more heavily than party promises.

"I positively refused to listen to anything to advance my interest as a party man, for the purpose of gain. I positively refused to pledge an office, and I have come into this chair positively unpledged and free to do my duty as a citizen of this borough and as a man. Upon me, therefore, there is a heavy responsibility because I feel that I owe it to the very best people in this borough to do the very best I can. Now, I may not succeed altogether. It is pretty hard for a man, when there is only one right way out of the infinite number of one ways and they are infinite; it is pretty hard that man with only a finite mind to search out of the infinite that which is just right. So, therefore, if at any time I should err, I want you to remember that I am only human, but so far as in me lies, I intend to do my duty. I am going to do my best to make you a good mayor and I want you to back me up in it."

The Mayor then gave a brief summary of what he wished to accomplish for the borough. He would strongly urge the raising of more money by some method for the work on hand. The Mayor spoke of the large number of real estate developments along the Central Railroad as far as Bound Brook, a large number of which would not be built upon, but the people would come out into the country and become permanent residents of communities offering the best facilities and felt that the time was opportune for the borough to be bonded and money raised for permanent improvements on the sinking fund basis which would be soon returned to the borough in the shape of increased valuations and by larger population. He explained that the borough spent $2,000 for streets each year, which, if a certain portion was applied to a sinking fund, would still allow the borough sufficient funds, if economically used. The bonded indebtedness could be worked out on the following basis:

An issue of $10,000—Sinking fund, $300; interest, $450; total, $750; balance from amount raised of $2,000 available for borough funds, $1,250. An issue of $15,000—Sinking fund, $450; interest, $675; total, $1,125; balance from amount raised of $2,000 available for borough funds, $875. An issue of $20,000—Sinking fund, $600; interest, $900; total, $1,500; balance from amount raised of $2,000 available for borough funds, $500.

The Mayor also recommended a proper amount of policing, proper sanitary conditions, attractive parks, and as far as possible a better and more attractive borough, which will result in increased valuations and a rapid growth in population.

"Seems like a good many toys for one boy."

"Well, his uncles and his father must be amused."

MAKING GOOD SOUP

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT POINTS IN COOKERY.

Staple Food Over Which Too Much Care Cannot Be Extended—Proper Preparation of Stock—Consomme and Puree.

How to Make Stock.—This is the foundation of all meat soups, and every housekeeper and cook should know how to make it. There are two kinds of stock, white and brown. White stock is made of chicken and veal, either together or separately, brown stock of other meats in combination or alone. Chicken and veal may be added to other meats for brown stocks. For ordinary soup a kettleful of left-over meats and bones will make good stock. The kettle should have a steamtight top. After covering the meats and bones with water, let them stand for half an hour; then put the kettle on the back of the stove and let it simmer. When the stock has been simmering for half an hour stir in the seasoning, salt, white pepper, a pinch of celery seed or a celery root. The stock should not be skimmed until it has cooled off, when a layer of fat cakes on top and may be removed without trouble. If the weather is cold enough, the stock will jell as it cools. The stock should be allowed to boil gently until the meat is reduced to shreds. Strain it twice into a bowl, once through a strainer and once through muslin, and stand the bowl where the stock will cool.

This jellied stock forms the foundation for most soups and sauces and every good cook should keep a bowl of it in her refrigerator.

Consomme.—Trim the bone of a shin of beef and put it into a soup kettle with two scraped carrots, two peeled onions, three leeks, a few stalks of celery and a small bunch of parsley roots, all chopped finely. Add six cloves, a teaspoonful of peppercorns, a bay leaf and, if it is to be consomme for a special occasion, it may be beautifully cleared by adding the whites and shells of three or four eggs. Over this pour two quarts of stock and a quart of water. Let simmer over a moderate fire for several hours. Strain as above directed, let cool and remove the layer of fat. When straining, strain first through a colander. Anything finer would be choked up by the egg shells, etc. A little sherry may be added to this if desired.

Puree of Rice.—Cut a pound and a half of loin of veal into small pieces and put in a double boiler with two quarts of milk and a cupful of thoroughly washed rice, a small onion and pepper and salt to taste. Simmer on the back of the stove until the rice is done and the meat cooks to shreds. Strain through a fine sieve and return to the saucepan. When it boils up again move to one side and stir in the yolks of two eggs that have been previously beaten up with the juice of half a lemon and strained. Turn into a hot tureen and serve with sippets of toast.

SALAD THAT IS A NOVELTY

Many Ingredients Called For in the Preparation of the Kartoffel Salad.

Cut into small pieces, Julienne fashion, cold boiled potatoes, two cupfuls or more, and cover with the following dressing: Two tablespoonfuls of olive oil (or melted butter if preferred), one of cider vinegar, one teaspoonful of onion juice, a saltspoonful of salt, and one of black pepper. Allow the potatoes to marinate in this for half an hour, placing directly on ice to chill. When ready to serve add three chopped hard-boiled eggs, three small onions grated, one tablespoonful of minced pickled beet, eight finely-sliced olives and two tablespoonfuls of minced parsley. Thoroughly blend the ingredients together, adding one cupful of mayonnaise dressing, to which has been added two ounces of cooked bologna sausage rubbed to a paste. Arrange in cup of crisp lettuce leaves, decorating with hearts of blanched celery and cubes of aspic jelly.

Sandwiches.

Take round of sandwich bread, cut off crust before slicing, slice bread in pieces one-half inch thick. Mix one slightly beaten egg with one jar of club cheese, pinch of salt and red pepper. Butter bread with plenty of cheese, put on top three slices of crisply fried bacon and put under broiler until cheese is melted. This makes a delicious sandwich of toasted bread, melted cheese and broiled bacon.

Rice Cooked with Milk.

In the place of water use milk, letting it come to a boil before adding the rice. Rice cooked in this way is much richer and better. Rice is done when you can cut the grain easily, but for many uses it should easily crush.

An Original Idea.

The best way I have found to remove grease from the top of a cup of beef tea, mutton or chicken broth is to quickly plunge a bit of ice into it. The grease adheres and the ice does not cool the broth.

Corn Salad.

One medium sized cabbage, one dozen ears corn, five red peppers, one quart vinegar, three tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, one tablespoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of celery seed, one cupful sugar; boil and seal.

MAKES BROOM LAST LONGER

Invention of Pennsylvanian Will Be Eagerly Taken Up by Economical Housekeepers.

The life of a broom, like that of almost everything else, depends on the care that is taken of it. All housewives know that to stand a broom brush end down on the floor will soon wear it out. Hence the number of devices to hold a broom by head or handle, one of the best of which is shown in the illustration. This holder was designed by a Pensylvanian. It consists of a ring somewhat larger in circumference than the handle of a broom, with a sharp outstanding spur. Fitting over the ring is a spiral spring with an opening in the center. The ring is drawn down over the handle of the broom and the spring affords a resistance which makes the ring fit firmly. All that is necessary, then, is to hang the broom up on the kitchen wall or door by the spur into plaster or woodwork, preferably the latter, because of its greater stability. This keeps the broom proper free from dirt and from spreading.

FOR THOSE FOND OF CARROTS

Five Ways in Which This Most Healthful Vegetable May Be Made Ready for the Table.

Creamed carrots—Scrape and wash the carrots, cut in thin slices crosswise; boil in salted water until tender, drain off the water, cover with sweet milk, add salt to taste and a small piece of butter. Thicken with a spoonful of flour to the consistency of good cream.

Carrot croquettes—Boil four large carrots until tender; drain and rub through sieve, add one cup of thick white sauce, mix well and season to taste. When cold, shape into croquettes and fry same as other croquettes.

Carrot soup—One quart of thinly sliced carrots, one head of celery, three or four quarts of water, boil 2½ hours; add one-half cup of rice and boil for an hour longer; season with salt and pepper and a small cup of cream.

Carrot pie—Scrape and boil the carrots until very tender; then mash thoroughly, and to one cup of carrot add one pint of milk, one-half teaspoon each of salt, cinnamon and ginger, one well-beaten egg, sugar to sweeten taste. Bake slowly in one crust like squash pie.

Carrot preserve—Boil the carrots until tender; peel and slice them, and to each pound add one pound of granulated sugar and one-half cup of water; flavor with lemon. Simmer slowly until rich and thick, then seal.

Carrot marmalade—Boil the carrots untol perfectly tender; then mash to a fine, smooth pulp, and to each pound allow one pound of sugar, six almonds, the grated rind of one lemon and the juice of two, and a few drops of almond flavoring. Bring to a boil gradually, and let boil, stirring constantly for five minutes; then pour into jars and seal.

Frosted Crab Apples.

Wash and cook until tender. Take one cupful of the water in which the fruit was cooked and with it dissolve one pound of granulated sugar; place the fruit in this and simmer for ten minutes; remove carefully so they do not break and lay on a platter to cool; then take each apple by the stem and roll in the white of an egg diluted with one teaspoonful of water and then roll in coarse granulated sugar. Lay on buttered or waxed paper to dry; then redip in the egg and sugar. Use as a garnish for the jellied ring or serve with a blanc-mange pudding, the water and syrup in which they were cooked being used for the pudding foundation.—Housekeeper.

White Sour-Milk Cake.

This is an original sour milk cake, which we like. Cream one cup sugar and one-half cup butter; add 1½ cups flour, containing one-half teaspoon soda, pinch of salt, one teaspoon vanilla, one egg, half cup sour milk. If milk is very sour put in a large half-spoon of soda. Bake as a layer cake.

Improving Homely Dish.

Old-fashioned beef stew, with which we are all familiar, and which when made right and filled with vegetables is really delicious, may be made more so by adding a cup of stuffed olives, a dash of paprika, and a teaspoonful of minced parsley just before serving.

Don't Pile Hot Dishes.

A point to be given the new waitress is that china plates, cups and saucers should not be piled one upon another while they are hot. They must be cool before they are packed, otherwise the glaze will crack easily.

MR. PETERS' DISCOURAGING FAILURE

By MAX ADELER

Upon the first day that Mr. Peters began to do work for the Argus as a reporter, he came in early in the evening and wrote the following item:

"John Wilson was kicked by a mule yesterday on Passyunk avenue."

When Peters handed the item to the editor, that individual said:

"Peters, that is too short. It is not full enough. You must expand it a little."

So Peters sat down and rewrote it as follows:

"Yesterday, at half-past 12 o'clock, a man named John Wilson, while walking along Passyunk avenue, near Clinton street, was kicked in the side by a vicious mule, and badly hurt."

"Peters," said the editor, as he looked this over, "this won't do; it is not sufficiently vivid. What you want in an item is a picturesque quality; you need the element of imagination. You must poetize your items, as it were. I think I will pay you by the column, so as to incite you to effort in the proper direction."

"You want it poetized, do you?" asked Peters.

"Yes; work it up with an eye to dramatic effect."

"All right," said Peters, "I'll put it through in the proper style."

So Peters went back to his desk, and an hour or two later he had produced an item something like this:

"Yesterday (ah! yesterday! another day added to the rolling tide of years that sweeps backward into the mournful past bearing with it a burden of human sorrow!) an American citizen (proud title! Prouder than the glittering baubles of rank bestowed upon their creatures by pitiless despots; a title that our revolutionary forefathers bore covered with a halo of glory) named (What's in a name?) John (a name borne by some of the greatest men that ever lived) Wilson, was walking (and no better physical exercise has ever been discovered. It develops every muscle, and gives all the organs of the body free and active play) down (that is to say southeast, with a slight inclination to the southward) Passyunk avenue (so-called because the Indians gave the title of Passyunk to the creek that erst meandered through that region). It was about (we are not positive as to the very minute) half-past twelve o'clock (high noon), the glorious sun was looming through the celestial vault of azure at the rate of millions a mile a second (that is, apparently looming, for the astronomers tell us that the earth moves and not the sun), and shining meantime upon a scene of more than loveliness. A mule (an animal well known to the early Egyptians, and traces of which are found upon Babylonian bricks) stood at the corner of Clinton street calmly (the mule is always calm. Where, where on earth is there a spirit more imperturbed and less excitable than his?) eating (with apparent relish, too) some (perhaps a dozen pounds of hay (timothty, we were informed) from the tail-end of a wagon. (It was a Jersey wagon, without springs, and with yellow wheels.) Mr. Wilson, casting his eye (figuratively casting it, of course—not literally) over the frame of the patient animal, observed a burr (such as is produced in the Jersey swamps in rich profusion) upon the tail of the mule. He felt a philanthropic impulse (known only to the hearts of the truly humane) to remove the tantalizing (the word is derived from 'Tantalus,' for which see any classical dictionary) substance, so as to make the mule more comfortable. He seized the tail with his left hand (if we are correctly informed), and took hold of the burr. It stuck, and it is supposed that in pulling it he must have hurt the mule, for the mule suddenly let drive with both feet (hind feet), and struck Mr. Wilson somewhere in the vicinity of the fifth rib. (Reference to a good picture of a skeleton will enable the reader to locate the exact spot.) While the mule resumed with an appearance of indifference its frugal repast, Mr. Wilson was doubled all up, and his spirit wandered in the realms of unconsciousness. He (that is, Mr. Wilson, not the mule) was—"

At this point Mr. Peters concluded to show the item to the editor, to see if it would suit.

"If you like it," said Peters, "I'm going right along with a column or so more, giving a full account of Wilson's misery, an algebraic formula for the calculation of the velocity of a mule's hoofs, and a picturesque description of the magnificent vista which would have met Wilson's view if the muscular force of the mule had been sufficient to have sent him to an elevation as high as the snow-line, how do you thing that will do?"

Then the editor called the cashier, and instructed him to pay Peters to date and discharge him, and to call a policeman to put him out if force should be necessary.

Peters has given up journalism. He is writing up advertisements for a new kind of hair dye.

Her Bright Idea.

The daughter of a Providence clergyman was reading in her ecclesiastical paper an account of a religious ceremony in a western diocese: "The solemn eucharist was sung by Bishop Weller, with Bishop Grafton pontificating from the throne." "What does pontificating mean?" she asked her father. "Have you studied Latin and don't know the meaning of a very simple word?" was the reply. "Oh, yes, I see, it means he bridged it."—Boston Transcript.

British Innocence.

"Over in London," drawled the British tourist, "some of the hotels have hops every evening, 'pon me word they do."

"Well," laughed the clerk in the American hostelry, "over here we have bellhops."

"Ha, bellhops? And is that a dawnce with bells?"

Proof Positive

By Jane Church Rosenberg

"I can give you Tom's address now," Mrs. McAllister said, addressing Joe Bailey, who had stopped at his friend's house on his way down town. "Oh, dear!" she added, under her breath, tearing open a letter the postman had just handed to her. "I wonder if he has missed it."

"Anything wrong with Tom?" asked the man, anxiously, as he saw the letter fall, half-read, from her hand.

"Joe," she said, "Tom has written as if he had my picture with him, but he left it at home. Here it is"—she added, picking up a heavy brown envelope—"all ready to send to him."

Taking out the photograph she looked earnestly at the pictured face, which bore no trace of doubt or sorrow.

"Joe," Mrs. McAllister said, turning suddenly to the man, "I shall not send it to him now; I can't even write to him—how miserable I shall be!"

"Don't feel so badly—don't doubt Tom," Joe Bailey pleaded, "he may have another picture of you."

"No, he hasn't," she returned, quickly, "I gave the last one I had of any kind away last week."

"Let me see it, Mrs. Tom? Oh, yes," he said, as she handed the picture to him, "Graves made it, didn't he?"

Mrs. McAllister had not heard him. She had given up to her misery and sat on the couch, her face buried in the pillows.

Joe Bailey arose, and looking at his watch, said:

"An engagement at ten—five minutes past now. Good-by, little woman, don't cry any more."

No answer came from the woman who had received her first jolt upon the highway of life.

It was Tuesday of the same week, and Joe Bailey had spent a few hours playing golf at the Country club links. Upon entering the smoking compartment of the belated traction car he found Tom McAllister occupying one of the wicker chairs.

"Hello, Mac!" he exclaimed, dropping into the adjacent seat, "I thought you were off on a two weeks' trip."

"Your letter, Joe, spoiled me for business, and I am going home on Sunday with Alice.

"I was sure, Joe," he added quickly, "that I left that picture at the office. I wrote as I did because it pleased Alice to think that I am comforted by looking at it when I am away. It was good of you to send me another photograph, but I'll tell her all about it when I get home. The little girl is pretty level-headed, and will take it all right, I know."

Joe Bailey's reply did not carry the emphasis of conviction:

"Of course you know best, Mac."

Mrs. McAllister sat at her desk, endeavoring to compose a dignified yet sufficiently resentful letter to her husband, but found it a difficult task.

A step on the porch and the sound of a key in the lock made her rush into the hall, every nerve quivering in glad surprise. The next minute she was in her husband's arms and his voice was saying:

"You did not write, Alice, and I had to come home."

She released herself, but all the studied words she had intended to say were forgotten.

"How could you do it, Tom; how could you?" Her voice was low and full of tears.

"Do what, little girl?" he asked.

"Write as you did about the picture when you had left it here."

Tom McAllister gave one quick look at his wife's pale, sad face, and, stooping, he quickly opened his suitcase.

"Alice, dear," he said, "I have another picture of you—here it is."

Her body relaxed, the rose that came to her cheeks again, and a deep-fetched sigh escaped her lips.

"I am so glad!" she cried rapturously, as she grasped the piece of cardboard in her outstretched hand. Then, with sudden decision, she added:

"Joe is a very loyal friend, Tom. He said you might have another picture, and you did."

University on a Novel Plan.

The American university at Washington is beginning the erection of buildings to cost $2,000,000. The Methodists hope to crown their educational system with this post-graduate institution.

In two respects the American university will be unique, says the Educational Review, in that it will be the only educational institution in the United States which will confine its instruction to post-graduate studies and will not have any undergraduate schools attached to its scheme of education, and that the university will not enroll any students until every building is erected and the total assets, property and endowment, amount to at least $10,000,000. The buildings now being constructed are for the law department, the colleges of medicine, technology, art and a great museum.

Waistcoats for Dogs.

Fancy cold weather waistcoats for pet dogs, made by experienced tailors, is the announcement that meets the eye in a London west-end shop. These waistcoats are made in all the latest colors and of the finest materials. They are braided and beautifully finished, and must take hours to manufacture. Charms in the shape of mirrors, tiny brushes with the dog's monogram on the back, and silver beads are other novelties advertised for dog wear.

EVERYBODY MUST USE AND BUY FURNITURE

There is nothing new or particularly startling in that statement, but it is a matter of great surprise and wonderment why so many will buy poor furniture—something that will not and cannot wear, or even appear well for any length of time.

It is fortunate for our customers, yet, in a way, unfortunate for us, that we do sell good furniture. It lasts a long time. It will give satisfaction for the price we sell it. It carries with it the modern style and finish and it is put together (not thrown together) for use as well as adornment for the home.

There are those who want to refurnish their homes with the more beautiful and comfortable furniture of today—those, many of whom, perhaps, have not had the good, serviceable kind.

Again, there are those who want to buy the right make and correct style in single pieces for the living-room, dining room or den.

To those, we want to give every assurance that we have a varied and complete assortment of the most artistic single pieces (as well as suits) for the completion of the "setting" of a room—all of that same serviceable class.

We might go into a lengthy description of what is being exhibitied on our three large floors, but to be best appreciated, and the quality and price realized, the goods must be seen. We, therefore, extend a most cordial invitation to you to visit our show rooms and see just what we have.

Don't feel sensitive about coming, even if you are "only looking around and may buy later." We get a whole lot of pleasure showing our goods. You will get a whole lot of pleasure and satisfaction out of them when you buy.

"You get just what you pay for when you buy here."

| Woodmen | 2 | 4 | 819.2 | 877 |
| Public Service | 0 | 9 | 794.1 | 839 |

The schedule for this week is: Tuesday, Elks vs. Raritan; Wednesday, Woodmen vs. Public Service; Thursday, Plainfield vs. Jersey City Elks' League; Friday, Red Men vs. Ponies.

GOVERNORS TO MEET IN CAPITAL JAN. 18

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Arrangements have been practically completed for the two great conventions which are to be held in Washington during the latter part of this month—the conference of governors and the National Civic Federation. President Taft has promised to speak at each convention.

Business men representing nearly every industry of importance and legislators from all parts of the country have agreed to participate in one or both of the conventions. If the programs are adhered to, the two conventions, which plan to work in harmony, will discuss every subject which could possibly be of interest to the American people.

The governors' conference will be held January 18, 19 and 20, and the Civic Federation will be in session January 17, 18 and 19. The delegates to the Civic Federation conference are appointed by the governors and the presidents of commercial, agricultural, manufacturing, labor, financial, professional and other organizations national in extent. The National Association of Uniform State Law Commissioners is included in all State delegations, and will take a prominent part in the conference.

The purpose of the Civic Federation in holding this conference is to develop uniform State legislation. The uniform State law commissioners have agreed upon a number of bills which will be recommended by the conference.

Among the subjects which will be considered are: Conservation of national resources, taxation, regulation of interstate railways and quasi-public utilities, control of corporations, life insurance, fire insurance, automobile regulations, road building, vital statistics, public health, safeguarding dangerous machinery, factory and mine inspection, compensation for accidents, convict-made products, pure food regulations and discrimination against married women as to the control of their children and the holding of property.

EAST END CHURCH TO BE ORGANIZED.

The organization of the Netherwood Reformed church will take place tomorrow night under the direction of the Newark Classis of the Reformed church. Rev. Dr. James R. Vance, pastor of the North Reformed church, Newark, will preach the sermon, which will follow a short devotional service in which members of the Classis will take part.

After this service, those who wish to unite with the church will remain when deacons and elders will be chosen and the names of the members enrolled. While the east end congregation will form an independent church for a time, at least, financial support will be received from the Board of Domestic Missions of the Reformed church. Royal A. Stout, who has been in charge of the work, will continue his services. He will be graduated from the New Brunswick Seminary in May.

At the service tomorrow night, Miss S. Etta Raybert will sing and Arthur L. Titsworth will preside at the organ.

DRAMATIC FORMS.

Monday Afternoon Club's Subject for Study.

The first paper on the English Drama, the subject of study for the Monday Afternoon Club during the rest of the year, was presented yesterday at the meeting in the Hartridge School auditorium. The paper on "Dramatic Forms" was carefully prepared by Miss Marguerite Wallbridge, now in the south, and was read by Miss Edith Leonard. An interesting discussion followed.

"Significant Events of 1909," presented by a number of members, preceded the paper.

At the week of prayer services at Trinity Reformed church tonight, Rev. Dr. G. E. Read, of this city, will make the address.

Jack Maclay, of Summit, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hudson, of Somerset street.

The coming production of "In the Bishop's Carriage," at the Plainfield theatre January 10, under the direction of Messrs. Baker & Castle, who have given this great play the same elaborate scenic investure and superior cast that made their "Grausstark," companies the sensational success of two seasons. They have entrusted the part of Nance Olden to Miss Stephaine Longfellow, whose wonderful triumph in this difficult and complex role has proven their wisdom in promoting her to stardom. The story is that of a pretty young girl—a waif, who has grown up into a clever thief, under the tutelage of Tom Dorgan, a professional burglar. She thinks she loves him until she meets a good man who points the way to the higher life, and as one critic wrote, "Then is depicted one of the prettiest three-cornered love games that has ever been staged."

FINED FOR SNOW ON WALKS.

Summit, Jan. 4.—About thirty of the 120 property owners and tenants against whom complaints were made by the police for violation of the ordinance requiring the cleaning of snow from sidewalks, were fined $1 each by Police Justice Hicks yesterday morning. Among those fined were Hamilton W. Mabie and Rev Walker W. Gwynne, rector of Calvary Episcopal church.

The complaints against former Police Justice Walter P. Sampson and former Health Commissioner Franklin D. Peale were dismissed, as were those against a few others, who convinced the court that the snow found on their walks by the police had drifted there after the walks had been cleaned. In nearly every case the property owners contended that their walks had been cleaned. Practically all of those against whom complaints were made are New York business and professional men and they complained bitterly about being detained here this morning. Today and tomorrow morning the remain cases will be tried.

Active, Though Blind and Old.

Washington, N. J., Jan. 4.—Mrs. Elizabeth Stout, mother of Councilman Samuel L. Stout, attended the watch meeting at the Methodist church Friday night in spite of the fact that she is eighty-eight years old and has been totally blind for nineteen years. She was the most enthusiastic of those present in her expressions of well wishes for 1910. Mrs. Stout has been a resident of Washington for twelve years, making her home with her son, and in spite of her affliction has been a regular attendant at the watch meetinsg, not having missed a meeting in eleven years. She lost her eyesight as a result of a sunstroke.

Would Be Next Postmaster.

Newton, Jan. 4.—Freeholder James E. Baldwin, of this place, is an aspirant for the office of postmaster of Newton, to succeed Richard F. Goodman, who has held the office three terms. Mr. Baldwin made this announcement Saturday. He is endorsed by the Sussex County Republican Committee, and in addition to this is a petition in his favor being circulated signed by a number of patrons of the office. Mr. Goodman's term expires on January 30. He has not yet publicly announced that he wishes to retire or continue in office. Mr. Baldwin is the only person who has announced himself.

New Mayor Wants to Know.

Matawan, Jan. 4.—S. B. Eggleston was sworn in as Mayor of this borough Saturday at noon. Much friction developed between the majority of the Council and the Mayor. The Mayor is for improvements, and says that the amount of money which has been expended for a number of years past should have given better results if properly looked after in its disbursement. The Mayor has called for a full and complete statement from the collector and finance committee as to the financial condition of the borough upon his assuming office. John P. Lloyd was selected as borough attorney.

Many Beautiful Floral Tributes—Rev. Dr. Johnson Pronounces the Eulogy.

The funeral services of Mrs. Clarissa M. Bradshaw Force, wife of A. L. Force, took place yesterday afternoon at her late home, on Duer street, North Plainfield. The services were conducted by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, and Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick, a former pastor and intimate friend of the family.

The spacious home of the family was filled to its utmost limits by friends of the woman who had endeared herself to so many of Plainfield's people and when the beautiful words of the twenty-third psalm were uttered by Pastor Broek,, at the opening of the service, there were few dry eyes in the rooms.

Mr. Broek's opening and closing sentences were scriptural and were parts of the Bible best loved by Mrs. Force, and words which she loved to quote. The prayer which followed was equally simple and showed the feeling uppermost in the mind of the pastor, who had learned to esteem in the highest terms, one of his most faithful flock.

Rev. Dr. Johnson's eulogy which followed Pastor Broek's prayer was a beautiful epitome of the splendid life and high character of Mrs. Force; her love and devotion to her home and church and to the many Christian qualities for which she will long be remembered

At the conclusion of Dr. Johnson's address the assemblage were permitted to take a last view of the remains and pased out, silently considering the beauty of the change from the earthly life to thie heavenly repose.

Many and beautiful were the floral tributes received and placed about the bier, and they came from the friends, associates and societies of which Mrs. Force was a member.

Following is an original poem recited by Dr. Johnson at the conclusion of his address:

Why do we moan
For loss that doth enrich us yet
With upward yearnings of regret?
Bleaker than unmossed stone
Our lives were but for this immortal gain
Of unstilled longing and inspiring pain!
As thrills of long-hushed tone
Live in the viol, so our souls grow fine
With keen vbrations from the touch divine
Of noble natures gone!

Gentlest of spirits; not for thee
Our tears are shed, our sighs are given;
Why mourn to know that thou are free
Partaker of the joys of Heaven?
Finished thy work, and kept thy faith
In Christian firmness unto death;
And beautiful as sky and earth
When autumn's sun is downward going,
Thy blessed memory of thy worth
Around thy place of slumber glowing!

Mother—made for motherhood,
Wife most fit, most true, most rare—
Busy after others' good,
For herself the last to care;
Like the chosen Mary pure,
Like her, true and strong of heart,
Bright to enjoy, brave to endure,
As is wife's and mother's part.

She was true woman; one in whom
The springtime of her youthful years
Had never lost its fresh perfume,
Though knowing well that life hath room
For many blights and many tears.
Blessing she was; God made her so;
And deeds of week-day holiness
Fell from her noiseless as the snow,
Nor did she ever chance to know
That aught were easier than to bless.
No simplest duty was forgot;
Life had no dim and lowly spot
That did not in her sunshine share.

She joyed in little kindnesses,
Which most leave undone, or despise;
For naught that sets one's heart at ease,
And giveth happiness or peace,
Was low-esteemed in her eyes.

A full, rich nature, free to trust,
Truthful, yet never sternly just,
Impulsive, earnest, prompt to act,

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION CELEBRATION

The Loyal Temperance Legion held its annual Christmas entertainment in the W. C. T. U. rooms, last night, under the direction of Mrs. Henry Thomas, superintendent, assisted by Mrs. George B. Staats, and Henry Thomas. The rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion. The program comprised the singing of Christmas carols, recitations, exercises and dialogues, and a feature was an interesting address by Mrs. M. D. Tomlinson, president of the W. C. T. U.

During the evening prizes were awarded to the members for faithful attendance. Miss Theodosia Vail received a gift for not missing a meeting during the past year, while a number of other children were remembered for not missing more than a few days or a week.

After the entertainment there was a distribution of gifts to the children, including candy and oranges. This was in charge of Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Stats. The latter provided the oranges. Mrs. C. W. Griffn presided at the piano during the exercises and Mr. Thomas led in the singing of the carols.

HELD XMAS EXERCISES AT MONROE AVE. CHURCH

The Christmas exercises of the Sunday-school of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church were held last night in the church. Walter McGee, the superintendent, was in charge. Rev. Charles S. Kemble, the pastor, made the opening prayer.

The members of the school gave a cantata entitled "Santa Claus Surprised." There was a cast of forty-two and the affair was greatly enjoyed and enthusiastically received by the large audience.

The cantata was filled with catchy music and the performers filled their parts to perfection. The songs were well sung, the costumes were pretty and the marching and countermarching on the stage was cleverly executed.

The decorations were in chage of John McCormack. He transformed the church into a canopy of green, with innumerable Christmas bells, suspended in all parts of the room. The stage illuminations were by George Henry Fisher, Jr. Two small Christmas trees were on the stage, and in the general decorative scheme the figures 1909 and 1910 were displayed by electricity. In the work of decoration and stage work, John J. Praed and Lewis Mulford assisted.

Miss Charlotte Aldrich was the pianist and trained the children and had general supervision of the cantata, for which she deserves much credit. The cast:

"Mother Goose," Louise McCormack; "Santa Claus," Herbert Hillman; "Jack Frost," Robert Lee; "Evergreen Girls," Sophia LePoidevin, Stella Rink, Lillian Harris, Ethel Runk, Viola Stewart, Mrs. Gilbert and Mrs. Shreve; "icicles," Arthur VanPelt, Clarence Drake, Charles Goodwin, Walter Walters, "snow flakes," Eleanor Manning, Madeline Davis, Mabel Peck, Evelyn Peck; "holly girls," Alice Williver, Bessie Gunzelman, Jennie Gray and Louise Praed; "mistletoe girls," Annie Lee, Elsie Organ, Clara Lee and Christian Lude.

Robert Lee, as "Jack Frost" in his song, "Way Off in Christmas Land," made a decided hit. Herbert Hillman, as "Santa Claus," in his song, "I'm a Busy Man," received several rounds of applause. After the performance boxes of candy and oranges were distributed, under the direction of Blanchard E. Randolph, John Grey and Fred Jacobs.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH HOLDS SPECIAL SERVICES.

Calvary Baptist church did its share toward helping the poor colored people of the city on New Year's day, contributing no less than sixty-three dinners to poor people who enjoyed their repasts in the church and sending out twelve good dinners to those who were unable to be present in the church. G. W. Bailey, the pastor, was assisted in the philanthropic work by a committee composed of Mrs. Robert Stiff, Mrs. Fernanda Brown, Mrs. Daniel Robson and Mrs. Twyne.

The week of prayer in the church will be continued until and including Friday night, services beginning at 8 o'clock each evening. Sentence prayers and hymns make up the program and the atendance is growing at each meeting.

THE WEATHER.

Snow tonight and Thursday; rising temperature; increasing east winds.

Max., 36; Min., 2.

MORE SNOW AND COLDER

Such is the Weather Forecast for Tonight and Tomorrow.

ICE CUTTERS ARE VERY BUSY.

Another Cold Wave Coming From the West—Thermometer Two Above This Morning.

According to "Weather Prophet" John Neagle, there will be snow tonight and Thursday; rising temperature; increasing east winds. The maximum temperature reported was 36 degrees above zero, while the minimum temperature was two above zero at 8 o'clock this morning.

While many believed that this morning was the coldest of the winter, the official record shows that this was not so. On New Year's morning Sergeant Neagle's thermometer registered one degree below zero. The majority of householders found it exceedingly difficult to keep warm last night and it was a question of stoking the furnaces and stoves to the limit to keep comfortable. There were numerous reports this morning of frozen water pipes and other troubles, incident to winter weather.

The local ice dealers have been "making ice while the cold lasts" and large forces of men have been engaged in cutting ice during the past few days. It is the general belief that the dealers will obtain a full supply of ice this winter and there should not be a shortage next summer. Tier's ice-houses have been filled, while rapid progress in filling the ice-houses in the valley is being made.

The worst is yet to come, according to the weather man, for he announces a blizzard for tonight. The storm was central last night over Missouri, with exceedingly heavy snows in the upper Mississippi Valley and snow and high winds over the lake region and Ohio Valley. If it maintains schedule time it will reach here this evening, having increased in intensity, the Washington bureau says:

But with the snow today a rising temperature is promised and tomorrow, to add to the mess, it may rain. In eleven hours following midnight on Monday the temperature dropped 22 degrees or 2 degrees an hour. It was 5 degrees higher at 5 o'clock yesterday morning than at 9 o'clock and one degree lower at noon than at 9 o'clock. A bright sun shining in a sky without a blemish had no effect at all, apparently, on the downward progress.

HACQUER TO JOIN IN HUNT FOR SOUTH POLE

Archibald Hacquer, formerly a local newspaperman, but now connected with the city news department of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, is contemplating a trip to the South Pole next spring.

While doing newspaper work in the Quaker City, Hacquer gained the friendship of Prof. Wetherill, the noted navigator, who was a warm supporter of Dr. Cook in the latter's contentions that he discovered the North Pole.

Prof. Wetherill recently received a proposition from the American Philanthropic Society to lead an expedition to the Antartic in quest of the South Pole, which is now under consideration. If the proper amount of funds is forthcoming the trip will be made.

Prof. Wetherill proffered "Colonel" Hacquer a position as one of his secretaries, which the latter has decided to accept, if the plans for the trip materialize.

Firemen Nipped by Cold.

With the thermometer registering three degrees above zero at 1:57 o'clock this morning, the fire department responded to a telephone call from the home of Mrs. Sallie Robinson, at 62 Sanford avenue. A small fire was discovered in one of the rooms, but the blaze was extinguished before the arrival of the firemen.

Hope Chapel Services.

At Hope chapel, the week of prayer will be continued tonight at 8. Albert M. Brodst, teacher of the Y. M. C. A. Bible class, will be the leader and the topic will be "Love, the True Spiritual Life." Tomorrow night's service will be preparatory to the communion and will be led by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard.

Small Yard Fire.

A fire in a pile of debris in the yard of Henry C. Irons, on West West Seventh street, called the fire department out yesterday morning. There was no damage.

MISS JEANETTE KRAFFERT WEDS GEORGE M. HENNE

Miss Jeanette C. Kraffert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Kraffert, of 530 Woodland avenue, and George M. Henne, of Titusville, Pa., were quietly married at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. Only the immediate members of the bride's family were present. Rev. Morgan Ashley, rector of St. Stephen's church, performed the ceremony.

After a wedding trip the couple will reside at Titusville, where the groom is in business. The bride is a communicant of St. Stephen's church, where she has been a regular attendant. Owing to the fact that her mother is an invalid, no one outside the family witnessed the ceremony.

"JACK TAR" WEARREN OFF ON LAST TRIP

"Jack" Wearren, of the U. S. Battleship Connecticut, returned to duty today after spending a ten day furlough with his parents at 211 Rock avenue. The Connecticut sails today for Cuban water for a six months' cruise. Wearren's term of enlistment will expire in four months and at its completion he will return to this city and engage himself with civic affairs.

During his absence Wearren has been around the world. He started his see-going on the Battleship Kansas when she entered the commission. It was on that sea-lion that Wearren encircled the globe. On November 15 he was transferred to the Connecticut, a sister ship of the Kansas, and flag ship of the squadron.

During his travels Mr. Wearren said he was greatly impressed with the hot pace being set by Americans in Australia and Japan. In the former country,. he declared, that hundreds of Yankees are getting rich in sheep raising.

TROLLEYMEN MAY STRIKE; CONFERENCES COMING

That a strike is imminent among the motormen and conductors of the Public Service Railway is the opinion of those who have watched the developments of the past few days immediately following the announced voluntary increase in the pay of the men. Many of the officers of the unions with which the men of this coporation are affiliated are openly declaring that they want certain concessions or there will be a tie-up which will affect the entire service in this State and which may extend into others.

It is reported that Revin Orr, international treasurer of the union, is decidedly against a strike of the men, but says that it will amount to that unless President McCarter does not recede from the antagonistic position he has taken in regard to the claims of the men. These latter want a ten hour day with consecutive hours and a uniform wage of twenty-five cents an hour. The control exercised by the officers of the unions has been the only esstopal in the radical action recommended by the men two months ago. W. D. Mahon, the national president of the trolleymen's union, is expected here shortly and will hold conferences with the men in various places looking toward a settlement of the questions at issue.

Salvation Army Meeting.

There will be a special meeting at The Salvation Army hall tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Jackson and four members of their family. Owing to illness, Mrs. Jackson was not able to be present at the meeting on Sunday night. Therefore this will be in the nature of a welcome meeting to Mrs. Jackson. A cordial invitation is extended to all to be present.

Bolton Hall Acquires Farm Land.

Bolton Hall has purchased nineteen acres of land opposite the Murphy farm at Stony Hill, New Providence township, from Robert G. Rogers and Charles Burgmiller, and forty acres from William Henry Rogers and brothers. The latter property adjoins the nineteen acre tract.

TRADE BOARD'S TICKETS

Two Factions Striving for Supremacy at Annual Election.

MEETING IS TOMORROW NIGHT.

One Ticket Is Rushmore and Crane—Jeffrey Leads the Other—Herr Candidate For Re-election.

Not for years has there been so much interest taken in a meeting of the Board of Trade than that scheduled for tomorrow night, when officers will be elected for the coming year. There are two tickets in the field and the opposing factions each claim victory in advance.

Edmund Rushmore, now vice president, is the candidate of the present administration to succeed the president, H. W. Marshall. This faction calls itself the "conservatives" and in addition to Mr. Rushmore for president, its ticket contains the name of J. Henry Crane for secretary. Mr. Rushmore is a real estate broker and Mr. Crane a lawyer.

The other faction's ticket is headed by Williar Jeffrey, "the bungalow man," who is a candidate for Mr. Marshall's position. The present secretary, A. S. Herr, is a candidate for re-election. Mr. Herr wishes it understood that he is a candidate of no faction; that he rests his case with the members on his record and that he is as ever pledged only to the best interests of the community. He says that his vote for the presidency will be cast for Mr. Jeffrey, but that he desires his friends to know that he has not solicited any votes and will abide by their impartial decision.

"I have consented," said Mr. Crane today, "to become a candidate for the secretaryship. If elected, I will work hard to advance the interests of the board. I deplore factionalism, but at the suggestion of Mr. Rushmore, I have consented to become his running-mate. There is real work for the board to do in a conservative and non-sensational way this coming year and if I can help I will gladly do so, either as an officer or a private in the ranks."

The report is current that Mr. Marshall may consent to become a candidate for re-election and that in that event Mr. Rushmore's friends will vote for him.

William Jeffrey said today that he was not a factional candidate. He added that he had been requested by his friends to run for the office and that he had not neither would he solicit any member's vote.

MRS. DOBBINS TELLS OF CENTRAL AMERICA

A paper full of interest on Central America was presented by Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins at the meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room. Mrs. Dobbins pointed out at the opening of her paper the ease with which the republics of Central America can be reached, only three days from New Orleans, the variety of soil and climate, their fruitfulness and geographical importance, as they include the isthmus of Tehuantepec in Mexico and Panama in South America, the short commercial route between the Pacific and Atlantic oceans.

Mrs. Dobbins described the population made up of pure blooded Indians, pure whites, negroes, Spanish and Indian and Creole half breeds, most of whom are superstitious, ignorant and slothful. Education, she said, was free, but very few children were enrolled except in Salvador, where attendance at school was obligatory. Roman Catholicism, she alleged, was the prevailing faith but mixed with remnants of African heathenism.

The lack of mission work among a people so sadly needing the benefits of the gospel was one of the features of Mrs. Dobbins' story. In Gautemala, with her two millions of people, she said, were two missionaries from the Presbyterian Board who had labored in Gautemala City since 1882. She concluded her paper with showing how broad a field for mission work was offered by the four millions of people living in the Central American Republics, especially pleading for the medical missionaries who could accomplish the best results.

A devotional service, led by Miss Mary Thickstun, preceded the paper.

Buys the Palmer Tract.

William Jeffrey has purchased the Palmer property, about twenty-three acres, located on Sherman avenue, near the property recently sold by Charles Lyman.

NORTH PLAINFIELD TO BE WELL POLICED

North Plainfield is sure to be properly policed during the administration of Mayor Smalley as twenty-nine regular and special guardians of the peace have been appointed. A number have already taken the oath of office and Borough Clerk Martin is sending out notices to the remainder to present themselves to be sworn in. The police appointments are as follows:

Regular marshals—Lemuel Pope, Charles Keller, Frank Culver.

Special Marshals—William Kiernan, John Johnson, Peter Bowers, Dr. D. C. Adams, Herman K. Linsman, William Gaub, J. H. Smalley, Theodore Martin, George Giddes, Gustav Anderson, James L. Ollif, Charles Ammerman, George B. Stewart, Richard McDonald, Henry Johnson, F. M. Whitley, William McCullough, John Barrett, H. Myers, John Reinman, Erich Sohl, Frank Webster, Frank Shuck, Clark Mundy, G. W. Giddes, Theodore Smith.

The call men appointed in the fire department follow: Walter Chandler, Frank Keller, James C. Walker, Clinton Conover, Albert DeCamp, Harry Shuck, Percy Culver.

M'INTYRE'S CONCERT NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

With a piano quartet and an assisting artist of international reputation assured, the fourth and last of the McIntyre Chamber Music Evenings, to be given next Monday evening, at the High School Auditorium, promises to be the most successful and charming of the series.

Contrary to the precedent long established by Joseph McIntyre, Plainfield's well known pianist, his trio will be augmented by a viola and this makes it possible for the artists to present Beethoven's op. 16 for four instruments, piano, violin, viola and 'cello. Another announcement of equal moment and one which will doubtless create a pleasureable thrill among all devotees of music living here, has to do with the reappearance in Plainfield of Miss Christine Miller, the contralto whose exquisitely rich and resonant voice has been heard in all the principal cities of this country.

Miss Miller is a resident of Pittsburg, educated abroad and her voice cultivated by the most finished masters. Hers has been one uninterrupted series of successes since she first made her appearance upon the concert stage. It will be recalled that Miss Miller's first appearance occurred at the song recitals held under Mr. McIntyre's auspices at the home of Mrs. Stephen A. Ginna last March. Recently she sang before the Author's Club in Chicago, an organization which claims to be the most discriminating and critical in the New World. Miss Miller, also, has appeared for three successive years as one of the soloists of the great Bach Mass in B minor, which is given every year in Chicago.

The personnel of the quartet for Monday evening's concert is: Joseph McIntyre, piano; Arthur Lichstein, violin; Otto K. Schill, viola, and Vladimir Dubinsky, cello. Mr. Lichstein, it will be remembered, was to have appeared at the concert at which Signor Campanari, of the Metropolitan Opera House forces, created such a furore here, but, due to illness, cancelled his engagement at the eleventh hour. Mr. Lichstein will participate in the quartet and later he will be heard as soloist. Mr. Schill is from Newark and he is regarded as one of the foremost masters of the viola in this country. Altogether the concert promises to be a memorable one and already many demands have been made for extra seats by the patrons.

Trolley Kills Horse.

A hore valued at $300 and belonging to the Hand Storage and Express Company, was struck by an Arlington avenue trolley on Randolph road last night and died later as a result of its injuries. The accident occurred at 10 o'clock, the team being on its way to this city from Matawan. After being hurt the horse continued its journey, but when the Park avenue railroad bridge was reached, the animal dropped dead.

Will Hold Union Services.

Union services of the three M. E. churches will be held tonight in Vincent chapel, when Rev. C. S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will speak. Tomorrow night the service will be held at the Monroe avenue church, and Rev. Ora J. Shoop will speak, while on Friday night Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson will speak at the meeting at Grace M. E. church.

MATCHES FOR AMUSEMENT

Children's Love for Pyro-display Leads to $4,000 Loss on Park Avenue.

STUBBORN FIGHT OF FIREMEN.

Elmer E. Gulick's House Gutted By Flames, But Furnishings Are Saved.

Fire, which originated by children playing with matches, almost totally destroyed the home of Elmer C. Gulick at 1146 Park avenue yesterday afternoon. It was one of the most stubborn blazes to fight in the history of the local fire department. Practically all of the furnishings of the house were saved, but the damage to the building is fixed at about $4,000 by Fire Chief Doane. The flames executed most of the damage to the upper portion of the dwelling. The house is owned by a Mr. Voorhees, of New Brunswick, and the loss is covered by insurance.

The firemen received a setback in checking the flames because of a delay in sending in an alarm from the box. Fire headquarters reecived its first news of the fire in a telephone message from Mrs. W. E. MacClymont, who resides on Woodbine avenue, or opposite the Gulick house.

The fire got its start in a room on the southwest side of the second story, where Mr. Gulick's children were playing. It is evident that the children started the fire, became frightened, and went down stairs without giving an alarm, thus giving the flames an excellent opportunity of making a headway.

When the apparatus reached the scene nearly all of the second floor was at the mercy of the fire. Flames were shooting up and down and through the studding and weatherboards on all sides and also through the roof. Being hard to get at they spread with rapidky despite the efforts of the fire fighters.

The firemen, however, labored persistently with three streams of water, and assistance from the chemical apparatus, and in one hour the flames were under control. The alarm was sounded at 3:45 o'clock and the recall was made at 5:40 o'clock.

All of the furniture was removed from the house across the street to the MacClymont home before the arrival of the firemen by a carpenter, who was engaged at work at the latter place. Mr. Gulick's children and housekeeper were also taken care of there.

A striking feature of the fire was that repairs to the fire whistle had just been completed when the alarm was turned in.

INDEPENDENT SOCIAL CLUB IS ORGANIZED.

At the regular monthly meeting in the Babcock building last night the Independent Social Club closed its charter list with a membership of twenty-two. Considerable business was transacted. The committee appointed to prepare a list of names from which one was to be selected for the club, made its report, but the changing of the club's name was deferred until a special meeting Tuesday night.

The charter member list follows: George H. Cole, F. C. Denton, William Dorman, Harry Doty, Arthur J. Dow, James Downing, George Dunavan, William J. Hartpence, H. Hoffman, Edward Koechlein, E. R. Honeyman, William Hoffman, James Kenny, Roy Lee, Gustav Meisner, Wallace Morton, Archibald Niles, James Niles, D. Rogers, George Slorah, Albert Trotter, N. J. Wiley, G. Wilson, R. Bird.

Judge Rebuked Jury.

Judge Lloyd, in the Middlesex County Court, issued a scathing rebuke to the jury which failed to agree in the suit of Nora Gilliland vs. William E. Burns, yesterday. Serving on the jury were Peter C. Staats, of Dunellen, and George Schenck, of New Market.

Foresters Install Officers.

Addison R. Jones, of Newark, high court officer, installed the officers of Court Watchung, No. 3871, Independent Order Foresters, last night. There was a good attendance of the members and after the business there was a smoker and a general good time.

Henry Bittle Dead.

Henry Bittle, one of the oldest residents of Dewey Park, died on Monday in his eighty-fourth year. The funeral will be held tomorrow from the residence of Mrs. John Kingley, Dewey Park, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Charles Smith, of John street, is visiting relatives at Freehold.

D. F. Stewart, of John street, is entertaining friends from Greenville.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The Christmas music at Holy Innocents P. E. church on Sunday, was greatly enjoyed by all who heard it. The regular choir was ably assisted by Miss Jessie Haynes, contralto; Charles Western, bass and B. S. Hall, tenor. In addition to the hymns the choir rendered two anthems in which the solos were rendered by Master John Richards, Charles Western, B. S. Hall and Miss Bella L. Kelly. The quartet part in the second anthem was sung by the Misses Zella Kelley, soprano; and Jessie Haynes, contralto; B. S. Hall, tenor, and Charles Western, bass. Great credit is due Miss Rita G. Brokaw, the organist for her success in training the choir.

While practically all of the borough citizens appear satisfied over the start made by Mayor Sanford, some of the disgruntled Republicans are a bit exercised over the appointment of Goldson Smalley, a Democrat, as street commissioner. The only objection to Smalley is solely because he is a Democrat, but the universal opinion among boroughites is that Smalley is well fitted for the position and that he will make good.

The Piscataway Township Committee held its first regular session of the year last night. With the exception of passing on a batch of miscellaneous bills no important business was transacted. An informal discussion was held on contemplated road improvements in the spring. It is understood that considerable money will be expended for this purpose in the South Plainfield district.

Two well-known residents of New Market celebrated their birthdays during the holiday week. On Christmas Day Frederick Holden, passed the eighty-second mile post in his career, while on the following day Peter Benwood entered upon his seventy-eighth year. Both men are hale and hearty and enjoying life and hope to reach the century mark.

The Feast of the Epiphany will be observed in Holy Innocents church by a special service which will be held in the Guild room tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. After the service the Altar Society will hold a meeting.

The Junior Auxiliary of Holy Innocents church will meet in the Guild room of the church Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock.

Friends who have been visiting Alexander Stillwagon and family have returned to their home at Perth Amboy.

Rev. and Mrs. H. N. Jordan have been entertaining friends from out of town during the holidays.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hour, who have been visiting Mrs. Hour's mother, Mrs. F. M. Westcott, of the borough, have returned to their home at Troy, N. Y.

The new addition to the public school was opened to the several classes yesterday. The additional room will give the school its assembly room again.

Invitations are out for the fourth of the series of winter dances being held by the Bachelors' Club, the date being Tuesday night, January 11.

The trolley schedule was upset during the early morning hours yesterday, owing to the cars being held up by a fire at Elizabeth.

The weekly prayer and praise meeting of the Baptist church will be held tonight in the parlors of the church.

Frederick Hetrick's license which was applied for at court yesterday, was laid over until Friday.

Fanwood B. & E. Co. holds its regular monthly meeting tonight in the company's room.

Miss Caroline Lent has returned from a two weeks' visit at her home at Palmyra, N. Y.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Birds from the Sunswick poultry farm here are now on exhibition at the Baltimore Poultry Show. The birds are in charge of the new manager, John Arnot. They were on exhibition at the Madison Square Garden Show last week, where they took nine prizes.

Herbert Ball, seven years old, of Storage road, was severely injured Monday, while playing. He fell striking his head against a bed. He is under the care of Dr. Hayes.

Samuel Manning is spending a short time with friends in New Brunswick.

Miss Mary Gallagher, of Metuchen, is visiting friends in town.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Stephanie Longfellow, Hudson Liston and Harry L. Minturn are the celebrities that head the splendid cast which Messrs. Baker and Castle are offering in Channing Pollock's dramatization of "In the Bishop's Carriage," coming to the Plainfield theatre on January 10. Miss Longfellow portrays "Nance Olden," one of the most novel and difficult roles known to contemporary drama. She impersonates a thief and makes the character not only attractive, but exceedingly fascinating. There was no particular reason why "Nance" should steal, yet she did so constantly and in a very skillful manner, and what is worse, she seemed to like it.

The motive of the play is to prove that love can overcome even such gross lapses of conduct (not to say defects of character) as those existing in "Nance Olden." She falls under the influence of a good man, "Latimer," and he, despite his wealth and social position, takes at first a casual and then a deeper interest in the girl, and in the end winning her back to good behavior and the prospect of a happy life.

There is not a dull moment in the performance given by Mildred and Rouclere, after the curtain rises at 8:15 p. m. until its downfall at 11 p. m. Its one continuous, fast and furious rush of mirth, magic and music seasoned with delightful comedy. Every detail of scenic and stage investiture, electrical and color effect, costuming, beauty and all other little but important items that go to make up a perfect and exquisite entirety are in the hands of skilled and high salaried artists who are used to catering to audiences that demand the best in theatrical endeavor. As a special feature of the program Marshall P. Wilder the world's renowned entertainer will appear. Mr. Wilder has appeared sixteen times before Queen Victoria and seven times before King Edward the present ruler of England, and has entertained all the crowned heads of Europe. The late President Grover Cleveland rightly named him "The Prince of Entertainers and the Entertainer of Princes." Marshall P. Wilder will positively appear here with Mildred and Rouclere Company on January 12 at Plainfield theatre.

NEGROES AND THE CENSUS.

Washington, Jan. 5.—Census Director Durand yesterday predicted the coming count will show approximately 10,000,000 negroes in the United States. He ordered that negroes be selected to count their race in those enumeration districts where the blacks muster two-fifths or more of the population, and in many Southern districts will prevent negroes from enumerating whites.

The instructions, approved by Secretary Nagel, subject all applicants to the efficiency tests.

Miss Josephine Bruggeman, of New York; Miss Elizabeth Augustin, of Philadelphia, and Miss Emma Wersing, of this city, have gone to Daytona, Fla., where they will remain with friends until spring.

ACCUSE DETECTIVE OF ILLEGAL LIQUOR SALES.

Roselle Park, Jan. 5.—Policemen Birmingham and Ratchford, of Roselle Park, went to Kenilworth Monday night and arrested Detective Thomas L. Carey, of the Union County Private Detective Agency, on a charge of selling liquor without a license. Cary, with companions was in possession of the Kenilworth Inn, under an execution taken from the Sheriff's office on judgment obtained against Herman O. O. Schmidt, proprietor of the hotel, by his brother-in-law, Valentine Vonderlin, in the District Court last week. Carey was taken before Judge Woodruff, in Roselle Park, and released on his own recognizance to appear when wanted, Edward Kenney, another detective, was arraigned before the judge yesterday, and also bailed. The detectives were employed by Leavitt & Atwater, attorneys, of Elizabeth, to make a continuous levy. Vonderlin's judgment amounted to $500, and as there was not enough in the place to satisfy the levy, the detectives have been in possession since last Friday collecting every nickel that comes over the bar, putting it to credit of the judgment against Schmidt. The detectives are still in possession of the place.

Schmidt has become deeply involved in legal complications in Union county during past months. He was arrested for beating his wife. Soon afterward she started suit for divorce in the Court of Chancery. This suit is still pending and Schmidt is paying alimony. Yesterday judgment was obtained against Schmidt for $500 and possession of the hotel by the Kenilworth Realty Corporation. He owed for thirty-three months' rent. If the judgments are not paid he will be evicted from the hotel.

GOVERNOR SATISFIED WITH TAFT CONFERENCE.

Trenton, Jan. 5.—Governor Fort expresed himself yesterday as entirely satisfied with results of his conference with President Taft at the White House Monday. The Governor called upon the President by invitation, for the primary purpose of discussing the program for the forthcoming conference of Governors at the White House, Governor Fort having been selected as chairman of the Committee of Arrangements. Governor Fort was extremely busy yesterday and said that if he were inclined to do so he could not discuss the details of his visit.

He said, however, that there was nothing in his conversation with the President which could be made public at this time.

183 Doctors Licensed.

Trenton, Jan. 5.—During the past year medical license of the State has been granted to 183 physicians, about nineteen per cent. of whom held scientific or literary degrees. About eleven per cent. of those who presented themselves before the State Board of Medical Examiners were rejected. Under the law of 1908 providing for the licensing of chiropodists by the same board, twenty applicants were examined and eighteen were licensed. These facts are shown in the annual report of the medical examiners.

Disputes Right to Clerkship.

Bayonne, Jan. 5.—Michael Vrobel, clerk of the recorder's court, has refused to yield his seat as clerk to Joseph P. Heraty, recently appointed by Council. Vrobel kept the seals, and his removal of them has made much trouble for the recorder. Yesterday a compromise was effected, and both men are acting as clerk pending judgment on the case by a higher court.

FUNERAL OF MRS. FORCE

And make her generous thought a fact,
Keeping with many a light disguise
The secret of self-sacrifice.

Hand in hand with angels
Through the world we go:
Brighter eyes are on us
Than we blind ones know;
Tenderer voices cheer us
Than we deaf will owa;
Never, walking Heavenward,
Can we walk alone.
Hand in hand with angels,
Some are out of sight,
Leading us unknowing
Into paths of light;
Some dear hands are loosened
From our earthly clasp,
Soul in soul to hold us,
With a firmer grasp.

They whose hearts are whole and strong,
Loving holiness,
Living clean from stain of wrong,
Wearing Truth's white dress,—
They unto no far-off hight
Wearily need climb;
Heaven to them is close in sight
From these shores of Time.

It lies around us like a cloud
That world we do not see;
Yet the soft closing of an eye
May bring us there to be.
Its gentle breezes fan our cheeks;
Amid our worldy cares
Its gentle voices whisper love,
And mingle with our prayers.
Dear hearts around us throb and beat,
Dear helping hands are stirred,
And palpitates the veil between
With breathings almost heard.
That silence, solemn, sweet and calm,
They have no power to break;
For mortal words are not for them
To utter or partake.
So light, so soft, so sweet they glide,
So near to tuch they seem,
They lull us gently to our rest,
And melt into our dream.
And in the hush of rest they bring
'Tis easy now to see
How lovely and how sweet a change
The hour of death may be.
Dear souls around us! watch us still;
Press nearer to our side;
Into our thoughts, into our prayers,
Wth gentle promptings glide!
Let death between us be as nought,
A dried and vanished stream;
Your joy be the reality,
Our suffering life the dream.

Among the many floral tributes received were those from the Consistory of Trinity church, Thimble Circle, Rose Villa Musical Club, Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity church; Home Department of Trinity church, Plainfield Typographical Union, No. 399, Business and editorial staff of the Courier-News, men of The Daily Press, the Thimble club, Ladies Christian Work Society, of Trinity church, and numerous pieces from friends in Poughkeepsie, New York city, Philadelphia, Newark, Elizabeth, Washington, D. C., Morristown, Cranford and this city.

The interment will be deferred until spring and will be at the convenience of the family. Following were the pall bearers: A. J. Leader, H. E. Gayle, Robert Clark, Jr., Theodore Hardy, F. S. Cutter and F. E. Smith.

The following is a contribution from a friend:

"Days, hours, minutes come
And pass, as time;
Love, character, hope and faith,
Do all entwine
As units in the universe,
Christ's love and thine."

REV. FOREST E. DAGER TO GIVE SERIES OF TALKS.

Rev. Dr. Forest E. Dager, of Philadelphia, who is well-known as a Sunday-school evangelist, spoke before the members of the Plainfield Sunday School Union, at the First Baptist church last night. Arrangements have been made with Dr. Dager to have him speak at the same place every Tuesday night this month under the same auspices. He will teach the lesson and give practical thoughts along the line of teacher-training work in the Sunday school.

Miss Nettie Beeching was in charge of the meeting, and introduced Dr. Dager. At first he taught the lesson for next Sunday on the subject of "The Temptation of Jesus," after which he gave an interesting talk on normal work, giving many helpful suggestions to teachers on the preparation of the lesson for teaching in the class. There were nearly one hundred active Sunday school workers present to enjoy the talk. All persons interested in this work are invited to attend the lectures to be given by Dr. Dager on succeeding Tuesday nights this month.

BERKELEY'S LYCEUM WILL BE IMPROVED.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Berkeley Realty Company, which owns the Lyceum, of Berkeley Heights, the condition of the company was found to be excellent. Several improvements have been made to the building during the year and an addition to cost $2,000 was ordered. The whole building is to be equipped with steam heat and up-to-date partitions, patent ventilators and a gymnasium with baths.

These are the officers of the company for the coming year: Joseph Kuntz, president; Rudolph A. Shaffer, treasurer, and George Heber, secretary; the old officers, William Jeffrey and Frank C. Shaffer, having disposed of their interests in the company in order to accept election to the school board in March. The law is very explicit concerning members of the Board of Education having any interest either direct or indirect in anything for which the board pays.

The Lyceum free library will be opened shortly. It contains almost 1,000 volumes of interesting books and will be under the management of the people of the township.

The W. C. T. U. will hold its monthly business meeting in the rooms tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

JANUARY FURNITURE SALE

As usual, we start the New Year with a big Sale of Furniture. The Sale this year will be of the greatest importance as far as money saving opportunities are concerned. For the past two months nearly every mail has brought us word from Furniture manufacturers all over the country that, owing to the great increase in cost of labor and materials, their Prices would advance from 10 to 25 Per Cent. on January 1st. We took advantage of the situation and bought everything we thought we could use for six months to come, so that we are in a position to offer you Furniture at about what it would cost us to buy today.

In order that all may share in this great money-saving event, we offer the following inducement: If you don't need the goods till later on, come in and make your selection, pay a small deposit on them, and we will store them free of charge and deliver at your convenience; or if you need them at once and are not prepared to pay all the cash, take advantage of our "Club Plan" system of Easy Payments. We extend every convenience to responsible persons. This sale should appeal very strongly to prospective housekeepers.

RARITAN PIN KNIGHTS HUMBLES LOCAL ELKS

Raritan won three straight games from the Plainfield Elks in the Fraternal League, last night, by close margins. The first and second games were lost by the locals by respective margins of 25 and 35 pins, while the last game was easier for the Somerset County pinners, who won with 76 pins to spare. The scores:

GOLF.

In the opinion of a well known Boston scribe the year 1909 has had more than its share of odd competitions, but the most foolish of all was the Tom Morris memorial tropay. The "Hub" writer also takes occasion to hand a "jolt" to the much overdone bogie competition. Part of the criticism reads as follows:

The competition for the Morris trophy was played against the par of the home course of any club in the association that cared to enter by a team of eight of the club members, their aggregate showing to count. In the play were forty-six clubs, found in California, in Colorado, in Ohio, in Illinois, in Tennessee, in Pennsylvania and in Hawaii—the Oahu club, of Honolulu. It was won by the Denver C. C. by a team only one of whom has the least claim to national fame as a golfer, with an aggregate of 16 down to par.

No criticism is intended of that competition. An association, of course, is entitled to hold any kind of competition, however foolish it may be. And its effect has done a good deal for the game of golf by exploding the worship of the part of a links or of the bogie of a links, about which so much has been said and written.

Leaving this travesty on golf competitions to its fate, the question comes whether it would not be well to dump the whole par business overboard and to send Colonel Bogie after it to drown forevermore.

At the annual meeting of the Baltusrol Golf Club held recently practically the old board of governors was re-elected, with only one change. Later the governors will meet and select their officers. The meeting was held in the new clubhouse, now nearing completion, and the opinion expressed by those present was that it would be possible to have the formal opening some time next month. The board of directors follows:

BASKETBALL.

The junior girls will play the senior girls a game of basketball at the P. H. S. gymnasium this afternoon. This will be the first time that the classes have been represented by the girls in basketball.

The P. H. S. basketball team will play the Adelphia Academy team at Brooklyn, Friday afternoon.

The first and second boys' basketball teams will play a practice game between the girls' game this afternoon.

P. H. S. Baseball.

Manager Runyon, of the P. H. S. baseball team, is arranging a fine schedule for the coming season and predicts some fine games. Captain VanZandt will start practice in the gym during the middle of February. He says that there is plenty of good material for a fast team.

THE CHURCH PRESS AGENT.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—A press agent for every church and constant advertising in newspapers, as a means of creating interest in religious affairs, were parts of a plan advocated Monday night in a lecture at the Doremus Congregational Church by E. G. Packard, of Boston, who calls himself a "publicity evangelist."

The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides, showing just how the advertisements should be worded and the illustrations used.

"It is a fact, which many ministers are beginning to understand, that commercial methods can be applied to religious work," he said.

'PLAINS FIREMEN HAVE A RED-HOT ELECTION

The annual election of the Scotch Plains Volunteer fire department as a rule is creative of more genuine excitement in that village, than a general election, because of the keen rivalry for honors between the two companies, the Bucket and Engine Company and the Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, which comprise the department, and the contest of last night, in which the Bucket and Engine Company's ticket, headed by Charles Meyer for chief, emerged victorious, was in keeping with the hotly contested elections of past years.

Both companies had tickets in the field and the scramble for voters was on for weeks past. The contending companies had almost their total membership out to vote, there being only four members who failed to appear to exercise their privilege to vote. Many of the voters journeyed from this city and other out of town places to vote. The polls were open from 8 until 9 o'clock, and the electioneering between the rival companies was continued at a brisk gait until the last ballot was cast.

The result showed that the Bucket and Engine Company's candidate for chief, Charles Meyer, squeezed through a winner by a majority of two votes over William Reynolds, Excelsior's candidate. Meyer received 28 votes to 26 for Reynolds; for first assistant chief, Wiliam Jamison, on the B. & E. ticket received 28 votes to 24 cast for Philip Bland, on the Excelsior ticket; Harry Goodwin was elected second chief over Charles French by the same vote.

The members of the Bucket and Engine Company were highly elated over their success and Chief Meyer "blew" the victors and vanquished to a chicken supper after the battle.

PREPARING CELEBRATION FOR BISHOP SCARBOROUGH.

Plans are under way for the celebration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the consecration of the Right Rev. John Scarborough as Episcopal bishop of the diocese of New Jersey, the date of which falls on February 4, next. The exercises will take place in Christ Episcopal church, in Trenton, and invitations will be issued to the clergy throughout the diocese, numbering about 150.

There are now only two Episcopal clergymen actively engaged in the ministry in the diocese who were so engaged when Bishop Scarborough came to the diocese. They are Rev. Alfred B. Baker, of Princeton, and Rev. Charles M. Perkins, of Vineland, both of whom are deans. In the list of bishops of the American church Bishop Scarborough now stands sixth in the length of service among a total of 100.

SERVICES FOR MRS. DOANE TO BE HELD TOMORROW NIGHT.

Mrs. Benjamin H. Doane, of Sandford avenue, who died at Liberty, N. Y., Monday night, will be buried at the convenience of the family on Friday. The funeral services will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the home of J. Hervey Doane, on East Seventh street.

Mrs. Doane had been ill for several months and had gone to Liberty in hopes of regaining her health. She is survived, besides her husband, by a son and a daughter. She was Miss Mary Davis, of Marion, S. C., and married Mr. Doane seventeen years ago and lived in New York for a number of years, having come to Plainfield in search of better health. It was not possible to state this afternoon by whom the services will be conducted, but a former pastor of New York is expected.

Babies In Peril.

A fire which broke out in St. Vincent's Foundling Asylum at Montclair, last night, nearly destroyed that institution, and it was only by the prompt action of the firemen and some neighbors that its occupants, two nurses and thirty-three babies, were rescued. The asylum is a large two story frame structure, erected nearly sixty years ago. It was the original edifice of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, which is carrying on the work of the asylum. A nurse discovered smoke and called up the home of the Sisters of Charity, in Elm street, near by.

Firemen Had a Feast.

Members of Hose Company No. 3 departed from the regular routine last night and had a social session. A chicken supper, which was prepared by Yens Claassan, was hugely enjoyed. Entertainment of the occasion was provided by Captain George Mehl, Jr., and Charles Pearson.

Will Re-erect Smoke Stack.

The Hand Express Company will have charge of the re-erection of the huge steel smoke stack recently blown down at the factory of the National Fireproofing Company's plant at Lorillard. This smoke stack is one of the largest in the country.

Real Estate Item.

A. D. Thompson has purchased the property, No. 945 Central avenue, from the estate of Rebecca Ladew. Joseph T. Vail was the broker.

PERSONAL.

Miss Phoebe Herman, of East Fifth street, is spending a few days with friends at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Margaret and J. Allen Wilson, of Grove street, have returned from an extended visit to Atlantic City.

Miss K. M. Rutledge has returned to Brooklyn, after spending the holidays with Mrs. Oscar Harrison, of this city.

Mrs. Wilbur Schaffer and daughter Katherine, have returned from a holiday visit with Mrs. Schaffer's mother at Annandale.

Among the guests recently entertained by Mrs. E. D. Noe, of East Fifth street, were her daughter, Miss Eva, from New Yor kcity, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mason, of Brooklyn.

Miss Josephine Kissam will leave this city for the south on Monday, January 10. She will visit relatives in North Carolina, going from there to Florida for a stay before returning north in the spring.

Miss Mamie McCarthy, of Stamford, Conn., free hand artist in the employ of the great Yale Lock works, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Messler, has returned home. Miss McCarthy is a leader in her profession in the Nutmeg State.

OUTWITTING THE BOLL WEEVIL.

The problem of the South at the present time is, first to raise cotton at all; and, next, to develop an early-maturing seed that will produce cotton of not less than one inch to one and one-sixteenth inch, on hill land, writes Harris Dickson in Success Magazine. If this problem cannot be successfully met, then the spinners of the world must go elsewhere for cotton to make their finest fabrics.

Earliness in cotton depends upon the structure of the stalk. This is the cotton that has short joints and begins to throw out fruit limbs near the ground. Always select a cotton that begins at once to throw out fruit limbs on which the fruit forms quickly, close to the stalk. The planter should go to the field himself, choose his stalks and keep those seed separate at the gin. The production of any plantation may be increased from 25 to 30 per cent. without increasing the acreage, simply by paying close attention to the planting of better seed.

Cotton must be planted in wide rows, running east and west, so that the sun shines in. Hot sun is the best friend the farmer has in fighting the weevil. When the weevil lays her eggs in the square, the square turns yellow and falls off. If it falls in the hot dust, that square will parch up and die.

There can be no such thing as "laying by" the crop and putting aside the plow. The plow and the picker must be running at the same time.

When the young cotton comes out in the spring, it grows very rapidly. If the weevil is there, already, some of them may be poisoned with Paris green or arsenate of lead. This question has aroused much discussion, pro and con. If the punctured squares are picked off, that generation of weevil will be set back from two to thirty days—which often makes a difference of crop or no crop.

It may sound like a joke, but a swarm of children with a tomato can apiece, will pick off enough weevil, one by one, to save a crop. On a certain tract of seventy-five acres, at cost of $225, these little workers increased the production something like eighteen hundred dollars.

EXPLORATION OF CHINA'S WALL

It was in the year 1901 that I first undertook to explore certain regions of China which were practically unknown to the civilized world, writes Prof. W. E. Geil in Harper's Magazine. Months were spent in this expedition, studying the natives, learning their habits and customs, becoming familiar with conditions; all of which was necessary preparation for the second visit, which was made for the purpose of traversing the entire length of the great wall—a feat never before accomplished by white men, so far as history records.

I started in May, 1908, from Shanhaikwan, my party consisting of Americans and Chinese. With pack mules heavily laden we crawled along the wall, forded rivers and streams and tramped steadily onward, until in September, 1908, we arrived in Tibet, having covered a distance of perhaps 1,800 miles. We followed numberless curves and loops, although as the crow flies the eastern and western ends of this great rampart are but 1,145 miles apart.

During seven months of exploration I discovered evidence of the existence of at least ten other walls, built at various times, and some of them probably erected before the great wall was conceived in the marvelously active, highly imaginative brain of that truly great ruler, Chin Shi Hwang.

A NOSE FOR NEWS.

The Genuine Newspaper Reporter is Born, Not Made.

"Poet are born, not made," said the retired newspaper man to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "and I might add that reporters come into this world in much the same way. For instance, the 'born' reporter will get a story if there is one in sight, while he who only has what I would call a mechanical sort of training will skim over the same ground without ever discovering that anything out of the ordinary has happened. Not many years ago I was holding an important position on one of the principal journals of Chicago. I was one day put on the city editor's desk, and, wanting to test the ability of two new men on the staff, I assigned both of them to the same story. Of course neither knew the other was in the neighborhood, and you ought to have seen their respective reports. One of them had a two column story that created a sensation from one end of the city to the other, while the other turned in about two 'sticks' of the driest stuff I ever remember to have read. I am satisfied that both the men covered the story to the best of their respective abilities. One of them simply had a 'nose for news' and the other didn't. As I said, reporters are born, not made by studying 'journalism' in the abstract. The natural born reporter is at home in a newspaper office, he can live on ink and can sleep soundly on the imposing stone. He sees little news in a dog biting a man, but he is quick to grasp the importance of an item telling about a man biting a dog."

A Treat for the Doctor.

A Philadelphian, who has since then fortunately regain his health, was last year the subject of an extended examination by specialists, according to Lippincott's.

"The examination seems to have delighted Dr. Blank," said the patient to one of the doctors, when they were alone for a moment, "for I have noticed that his eyes are positively beaming. I assume, then, that my case is not a grave one."

"Well," hesitated the physician addressed, "I hardly feel justified in saying that. But I understand from Dr. Blank that he is going to perform a number of interesting operations on you."

Just to Show the Dog.

"Tell me when we get to Blank street," said the woman with the dog.

"Blank street!' called the conductor, stopping his car.

"Here's Blank street, lady."

But the woman held the dog up to the window and pointed to a nearby house.

"Does 'oo see it, Pinkie?" she cooed. "That's where we used to live, Pinkie."

The conductor started the car.

"I didn't want to get off," she explained, "I only wanted to show Pinkie our old home."—Detroit News.

LEGISLATURE TO OPEN NOON HOUR, TUESDAY.

Trenton, Jan. 5.—Governor Fort yesterday requested the secretary of State to send out notices to the members of the Legislature that the 134th session would be called together at noon next Tuesday. The experiment of changing the time from 3 o'clock in the afternoon to midday was made last year with satisfactory results to all concerned. The change in time had been advocated by newspapers and newspapermen all over the State, the earlier hour giving them an opportunity to give to the public a comprehensive account of legislative happenings on the opening day.

Charles A. Doane and his two children, Irene and Burnet, have returned from a visit over New Year's Day with relatives in Brooklyn.

HAPPY RESULTS.

Have Made Many Plainfield Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Plainfield citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone happy to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Plainfield by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. J. C. Manchester, 120 Lafayette place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble for a long time. I doctored a great deal but failed to find a cure until I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and made up my mind to give them a trial. Good results followed their use and my kidneys were soon restored to a normal condition. I believe my cure is a permanent one and I will always give Doan's Kidney Pills my endorsement when an opportunity occurs."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

REVERENCE IN CHURCH IS SORELY NEEDED

Taking as his subject "The Needs of the Church Today," Bishop John H. Vincent, at the reception given in his honor at the new Vincent M. E. church in Elm street, Nutley, said Monday night that in his opinion the church today needed more ideals, more pronounced social life, more strengh of purpose, a sharper line between indulgence and recreation, more art and good literature, more intelligence, more reverence and a more positive and aggressive religion. Particular reference was made to the need for reverence for the church and the church building. He said he hoped the time would soon come when people would not enter the church on Sundays and chatter and talk until the first hymn is announced.

"It is not appropriate," said the bishop, "and, in my estimation is inelegant, impolite and irreverant, and distracts the mind from the serious work of worship, which is the avowed purpose of coming to church. This reform is, above all, needed in the Methodist Episcopal Church. I don't mention the conditions in any other churches, but I do think that, if for nothing but the example we set for our children, we should maintain obsolute silence when in the house of God, except as we raise our voices in his worship.

"You may say this is a small matter, but it is not. It would mean an immeasurable broadening and deepening of our spiritual life if we spent the time from our entrance into the church, until the service started, in silent prayer for our children and friends.

"I hope that in four weeks I may receive a letter from your pastor saying that my words on this subject have had good effect and that the church is absolutely silent before each service."

Speaking on ideals, the bishop said he believed in every one having an ideal of his own. He never knew a person to make much of a success in life who did not have a high ideal and strive for it relentlessly. Death would be a relief, he thought, to some old people he knew who had no ideals and did not believe in everlasting possibilities and had nothing to live for.

On the social life of the church the bishop's opinion was that the social relations of the church could be made so pleasant and ideal that worldly society would fall in behind it, its people being attracted to the better and more charming life of the followers of God. He urged especially the cultivation of the good and beautiful in conversation, literature and art in the church, the Sunday-school and the home. He gave Dwight L. Moody as an example of a crude man who became a cultured and fluent speaker through the study of good literature and constant reading of the Bible.

After the regular program of the evening a reception was given the bishop, and many in the congregation were introduced to him. A supper was served in the supper-room in the basement.

TO WAR ON CIGARETTE HABIT IN MORRISTOWN.

Morristown, Jan. 5.—Cigarette smoking among boys ranging from eight to fourteen years old has attained alarming proportions in Morristown, Physicial Director Staff, of the local Y. M. C. A., declares. He has appealed to Police Chief Holloway to take some action. Mr. Staff says that he has made an investigation and finds that a large percentage of small boys are smoking cheap cigarettes and inhaling like veterans. Little shavers hardly big enough to be away from their mothers' apron strings, he says, can be seen on the streets puffing away on a cigarette or sucking on pipes.

Many of these boys, the physical director states, are purchasing the cigeratees from local stores, and he believes the police not only should get after the tobacco dealers, but should take into custody several youngsters caught smoking and give them a lecture and notify their parents. Mr. Staff says that he is willing to assist the police as much as he can in informing the parents of the tobacco habit of their boys whenever he learns of it.

"It's a shame that the habit has grown so on the boys here," said Mr. Staff. "It's killing many of them, for I have noticed several boys who belong to the gymnasium classes of the asociation coming to the building simply doped full of nicotine. They have dull eyes, haven't any ambition to do gymnastic work and just lie around on the sofas or cushion chairs in the association. I'm much interested in the boys and I don't want to see any of them get the cigarette habit. I am going to do everything I can to stopt it.

"I have appealed to the police and I am appealing to the parents of boys. Of course it isn't necessary for me to state the harmful effects of cigarette smoking on boys of tender age. Every father or mother who reads the newspapers knows what cigarettes have done toward dragging down young boys and young men."

Chief Holloway said he was interested in the crusade and would cooperate in checking the growing habit among youths. The trouble, he declared, was that boys got men to go into the stores and purchase cigarettes for them.

STATE AGRICULTURISTS TO HOLD THEIR SESSION.

Trenton, Jan. 5.—The thirty-seventh annual meeting of the New Jersey State Board of Agriculture will be held at the State house here January 19, 20 and 21. The session will open with a roll call of the delegates and will consist of morning, afternoon and evening meetings, at each of which subjects of particular interest to farmers and others will be discussed by prominent officials in the agricultural field.

The first day the reports of the various officers and committees of the board will be read. In the afternoon Governor Fort will deliver an address. There will be addresses also by Professor F. C. Minkler, of the State Agricultural College of New Brunswick; Dr. Edward B. Voorhees, president of the board, and W. D. Zinn, of West Virginia.

The evening session of the first day will be featured by a discussion of the game laws by Benjamin C. Kuser, president of the Fish and Game Commission.

At the second day's meeting Professor F. C. Sears, of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, and E. M. Tousley, secretary of the Right Relationship League of Minneapolis; H. E. Cook, of St. Lawrence University of Canton, N. Y.; James E. Rice, of Cornell University; Carey W. Montgomery, of Newark, O., and State Entomologist John B. Smith will be the speakers.

The business of the meeting and election of officers will take place on the last day.

GOVERNOR CALLS FALSE ALLEGED LAKEWOOD TALE.

Trenton, Jan. 5.—Governor Fort expressed his displeasure yesterday at the publication of a supposed dispatch from Lakewood bearing upon the luncheon he is to give to members of the Legislature at the Laurel House next Thursday. The published account of the affair coupled the Governor's name with the efforts which have been made against the tuberculosis preventorium, giving the impression that the Governor instead of being the host was to be the guest of honor of the Laurel House in recognition of his stand against the preventorium.

Every line in the publication was false and malicious, said the Governor yesterday. He added that so far as he was aware not a person at Lakewood nor anywhere else had suggested entertaining him in any way, that the luncheon he was giving was in accordance with his usual custom and that neither the Laurel House nor any one else had anything to do with it excepting himself.

The Governor concluded that the purpose of the story was on its face contemptible and he was satisfied that it was from an inspired source.

Edward Hewitt May Recover.

Edward Hewitt, the fifteen-year-old lad from 55 Elm road, Newark, who is at Muhlenberg Hospital with a fractured skull, the result of falling off a coal train at South Plainfield, which he was trying to "jump" remains about the same. The physicians in charge believe that the lad's chances for recovery are good, provided there are no complications.

PROPER WAY TO DRINK MILK

Should Be Consumed Slowly—Best Method Is to Take Teaspoonful at a Time.

There are two ways of drinking milk, the right and the wrong way, and a majority of people drink it the wrong way. This is the chief reason why milk disagrees with some people. Milk must not be imbibed like water. It should be drank very slowly, a sip at a time. Really the best way is to take a teaspoonful at a time.

There is a scientific reason for drinking milk slowly and in small quantities. Milk curdles as soon as it comes into contact with the juice of the stomach. If a whole glass of milk is taken at one draught into the stomach the result is a large curd through which the gastric juices cannot readily penetrate and act with the necessary solvent power.

Milk, without question, is one of the most valuable of foods. It contains all the elements necessary for maintaining the physical health of those who know how to use it properly. Indeed, most people would be better off physically if milk and entire wheat bread formed their ordinary diet. Especially is this true of delicate persons whose powers of digestion have become enfeebled. Persons suffering from nervous prostration are not able to digest meat, and will find a purely milk diet of the greatest benefit, provided they imbibe it properly.

Horace Fletcher says that each mouthful of milk should be held in the mouth long enough to enjoy the chemical action of the saliva before swallowing.

TRULY A MAN OF SIMPLICITY

Inexpensive Costume and Household Furnishings of Burgher One Hundred Years Ago.

We are accustomed to think of masculine dress as to-day much simpler and much less costly than a hundred years ago. This may be true, but there were exceptions. In "The Taverns and Turnpikes of Blandford" S. G. Wood prints an inventory of the clothing and household goods of Col. Samuel Sloper, who had served his town in the war as well as in political matters.

Samuel Sloper was not arrayed in king's garments. His inventory, made in 1803, contained no mention of sword, not even a gun, nor buckles, nor any silver ornaments of any kind, nor silken stockings; only a hat valued at 36 cents, one linen shirt at 40, "one pair old velvet breeches," worth 50 cents, "one fancy cotton vest," $1; "one striped nankin vest," 33 cents; "one pair of buff breeches," $1.50, and one pair of woolen hose. That was all. He must have been a man of simplicity.

His household goods were plain affairs, too, and seem to indicate that he had given up the business of public host before his demise, since he died possessed of but two bedsteads and four dining chairs, although his kitchen boasted of nine chairs. The neighbors used to come in and occupy them and chat together, perhaps. There were only a half dozen knives and forks, and other paraphernalia of dining room and kitchen to correspond. —Sunday Magazine of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Spoiled Climax.

Actors and actresses sometimes meet with strange interruptions in their most thrilling scenes.

Richard Mansfield used to tell grimly of a performance of "A Parisian Romance," in San Francisco. He was at his best, he would say, that night. He carried the entire audience with him. And when his great climax came, when he lifted the last glass of champagne to his lips, and his face twitched, and his hand and arm shook convulsively, splashing the wine in all directions, there was a profound silence, a thrilling horror in the house.

In this tense, breathless moment, a man in the gallery was heard to cry out in fierce indignation:

"'Holy Moses! Who was that spit in me eye?'"

Magnificent Copy of Bach's Piano.

The Museum of Munich has just had built a magnificent copy of the grand piano of J. S. Bach, of which the original figures in the collection of ancient instruments at Berlin. The piano of Bach, which had been built according to his directions for his personal use, is a veritable masterpiece of keyboard technique. It is a piano with a double keyboard, in which there is for each touch four strings, which can, at the will of the executant, play or be silent, as in the organ. The replica of the Munich museum reproduces faithfully the sonorous effects of the original, and it is to be regretted that it had not been placed where the public could hear Bach's music just as he played it.

Buncoed.

"No, me good woman, I didn't come fur nut'n' ter eat; I knowed me job better'n dat."

"What did you come for, then?"

"Jest ter tip you off ter w'at de woman down de road is sayin' about you."

"Well, what does she say?"

"She says dat your cookin' is so plum bad dat even de hoboes can't eat it."

"She's just right, they can't; move along!"

The Late Crop.

Hank Stubbs—Chestnuts are awful wormy this year, ain't they?

Bige Miller—You be'n readin' them funny papers, too?

ORIENTAL SERVANT A JEWEL

All Around Ability of the Indispensable "Boy" in India Is Something to Wonder At.

In these days of loud wailing about the haughty domestic, exorbitant wages and small returns it is soothing to recall the efficiency and submissive service of the oriental servant.

In India the indispensable "boy" does everything—"boy" being a generic name regardless of age or native dignity—receiving in remuneration the equivalent of $12 to $14 a month at the most. He buys your railroad tickets, checks your luggage, settles the clamors of luggage coolies, gives your tips and shoos away the hordes of beggars, telegraphs to hotels for your rooms and takes care of them when you get there, makes the bed, brings the afternoon tea, stands beside your chair at table and serves you, brings your account when you leave and wrangles for you over its inevitable extortions.

At the dak bungalows he forages for your meals and, if necessary, cooks them. He produces washmen, sewing men and all sorts of dealers in everything in demand. He makes up your bed on sleeping cars and replenishes your supply of ice and soda. He runs your errands, cleans your boots and hats, darns your stockings and mends your clothes.

When you walk abroad, he attends you and directs you to the bazars where you will be robbed least, receiving his commission later from an appreciative proprietor.

For every cent intrusted to him for general expenditure he renders an account, and though he doubtless robs you gently he does not let others do it (and it is distinctly advantageous to be robbed by one person rather than a score).

He is silent and noiseless, salaams whenever you speak to him, and never enters your presence with his shoes on or his turban off.

And, finally, his multifarious day ended, he wraps himself in his shawl and sleeps across your threshold.

Here's a Tongue-Twister.

Grenville Kleiser, instructor of the Public Speaking Club of America, whose headquarters is at the West side Y. M. C. A. in New York, defies anybody to repeat accurately from memory the following tongue-twister:

Esau Wod sawed wood. Esau Wood would saw wood. All the wood Esau Wood saw Esau Wood would saw. In other words, all the wood Esau saw to saw Esau sought to saw. Oh, the wood Wood would saw! And, Oh, the wood saw with which Wood would saw wood! But one day Wood's wood saw would saw no wood and thus the wood Wood sawed was not the wood Wood would saw if Wood's saw would saw wood. Now, Wood would saw wood with a wood saw that would saw wood, so Esau sought a saw that would saw wood. One day Esau saw a saw saw wood as no other wood-saw Wood saw. In fact, of all the wood-saws Wood ever saw saw wood, Wood never saw a wood-saw that would saw wood as the wood-saw Wood saw saw wood, and I never saw a wood-saw that would saw as the wood-saw Wood saw would saw until I saw Esau Wood saw wood with the wood-saw Wood saw saw wood. Now Wood saws wood with the wood-saw Wood saw saw wood.

Mr. Kleiser was formerly a member of the Yale faculty.

Jay Gould and the Physician.

A case of resemblance that bothered New Yorkers for years was that of Jay Gould, the millionaire railroad magnate, and his innocent double, a New York physician. The physician was taking a stroll one morning at an American winter resort, when he was confronted in the path by a dwarfish, swarthy, wizen-faced man wearing a brown check suit.

"Mr. Gould, I believe?" the physician murmured.

Gould stared at his "counterfeit presentment." "I am not quite sure that I am," he exclaimed. "I wish you wouldn't wear clothes like mine."

"Shave off your beard, and I won't!" snapped the physician.

These men were for years constantly mistaken for each other, and if the physician had not been honest Gould might well have feared for his millions, for the physician might have presented himself almost anywhere as Gould and raised "on his face" almost any sum of money.—Sunday Magazine of the Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Number Thirteen.

Does the number 13 influence a career in the army? is a question asked by a Paris contemporary, impelled by the fact that M. Oudin appears thirteenth in the navy list at St. Cyr. He has just been gazetted as a sublieutenant in a cavalry regiment, declares the London Globe. Thirteen is not looked upon as an unlucky number at St. Cyr, for among those who have stood thirteenth in the list are Marshal MacMahon in 1825. Gen. Bourbaki held the same place nine years later. Gen. Lavcaucouret, one of the heroes at Metz in 1870, was another 13. Among the living generals is Gen. Balloud, who left in 1868, and has since had a brilliant career.

No Match for Her.

"Ah!" he lightly cried, "I cannot give you the key to my mind."

She smiled till the tips of her pearly teeth fretted her ripe, red lip.

"Why should there be any key to your mind?" she gently asked. "Do men put locks on empty storerooms?"

Seeing that he was no match for her in trenchant badinage he strolled languidly away.

ON NOT BEING INDEPENDENT

"Do you know," broke out the girl who likes to talk, "I've just been considering the most interesting ideal! Suppose nobody had to fuss over trying to be what he felt he was expected to be, and could just accept himself as he was—think of the time one would have really to enjoy life!

"The reason this great thought dawned on me," explained the girl who likes to talk, "is that when I got up this morning I felt lazy and mortally yearned to skip my gymnastics that I sternly writhe through twice a day. You see, I'm getting stout and I realize that nothing but stern, heroic, regular slaving will help me.

"I had to argue with myself. I said firmly: 'Now, you know perfectly well that those reducing exercises won't do you ten cents' worth of good if you are haphazard about them—it's the steady plugging away that counts!'

"It's dreadful to think that all my life I'll have to struggle that way! Why, I just long for a real legitimate excuse to escape my duties. Talk about inheriting a fortune! If I could wake up some morning and know I had a day's freedom from those gymnastics that I loathe I'd go mad with joy. Think how lovely it would be if I could just comfortably grow fat and nobody would be shocked, and I was just as goodlooking as though I were thin and I knew it didn't matter! Simply because I realize the world will think me a sight if I don't attain sylphlikeness I'm doomed to struggle on!

"Then look at Daisy Greene! She has such a desperately pretty face that everybody says, 'Gracious! I expect people are just crazy over that girl! She probably is the most popular person in her crowd and has a dozen proposals a season!' What's the result? Why, poor Daisy, who is perfectly simple and unassuming and would far rather stay at home and read novels or embroider centerpieces, is wearing out her young days being a belle because the world thinks she should be! You needn't tell me that girl isn't a slave! Look at the way she races about to theaters and luncheons and dinners! She smiles, smiles perpetually, and is always keyed up to be charming and attractive—when she doesn't give a picayune for the fact that her dance program is filled first and the papers call her a social favorite.

"She's bored to pieces by it all. She's just as much tied to a treadmill as I am with my gymnastics, and there's no escape for her, either. Everybody has decided that she'll make a brilliant marriage and be a social leader, and she wouldn't dare for her life marry a man who wanted to stay at home and read the paper evenings and wear a smoking jacket, for such a howl would arise about her throwing herself away with all her beauty and genius for the whirl of society! All because she knows what's expected of her and bows to public opinion!

"Consider the way Mrs. Updike wears herself out endeavoring to make her daughter grow up into what she thinks Hazel ought to be instead of what Hazel naturally is! Hazel is a lumpy, ordinary young person of 14, who has no taste for the artistic and no gift or charm. She'd be perfectly content to be left in a corner and not bothered all the rest of her life—in fact, that's the only role she'd make a success of. Yet her mother is miserable and makes Hazel miserable by eternally goading her on to shine, putting her in an exclusive school to make proper friends when she can't make friends any more than she can pick Mars out of the sky to trim a hat, chasing her to her French lessons, standing over her like a monument while she tortures the piano, insisting on her painting dreadful things, making her do clumsy antics at dancing school, keeping at her grimly.

"It would be pathetic if it wasn't so ridiculous! Why can't she accept Hazel for what Hazel naturally is and let it go at that? She'd have lots more time to enjoy life and Hazel would have some peace. But she is haunted by the knowledge of what people think a daughter ought to be, and she'll keep at it till they both die of exhaustion or till Hazel elopes with a grocery clerk and lives happily ever after.

"I feel sorry for George Edwards. He'd be such an ideal, ladylike proprietor of a dry goods store in a small town—and here he is trying to be a clubman, a cotillon leader and a sad dog generally! Just because his father has money and he's been to college and something is expected of him! If he belonged to 50 clubs and had a new dress suit every ten minutes I should always see, hunting George's footsteps, like a second self or a familiar ghost, a nice, bowing, retiring little man, with a yardstick handy and an eager desire to display the last bargain in silks!

"Think how much simpler it would be for George! He wouldn't have to work nearly so hard as he does now, and maybe his countenance would lose that pained, anxious expression which comes from wondering if he's doing the right thing and whether the right person has noticed it at the right minute! Why can't people be independent?"

"Well, why don't you start it and quit your hated gymnastics?" demanded a listener.

"Oh," hopelessly said the girl who likes to talk, "that's different!"

ERRORS COST MONEY

LARGE SUMS WASTED BY VARIOUS GOVERNMENTS.

For One Misspelled Word 4,000,000 United States Telegraph Blanks Were Destroyed—Kaiser Wilhelm's Editorial Work.

Enormous sums of money are frequently expended by various governments to rectify errors, often apparently trivial, in government printing.

The United States, some years ago, destroyed 4,000,000 telegraph forms owing to the misspelling of a single word.

In 1883 several hundred thousand greenbacks were canceled before issue owing to the same cause. An employe was convicted for attempting to steal some of these worthless notes, with the intention of selling them to collectors.

The Austrian government is so intolerant of mistakes that it cancels documents, not only on the ground of serious mistakes or misspelling, but even as the result of a misshapen letter. The use of a small instead of a capital "B" in the word "Briefe" led a short time ago to the destruction of 25,000 forms issued to the various post offices.

In 1850 an Austrian designer of bank notes signed his name in tiny letters at the foot of a drawing. The engraver copied the name, and before the mistake was discovered 10,000 notes were printed, all of which had to be burned.

Before the union of Italy, more than one attempt was secretly made to turn official papers and notes to propagandist uses. A custom house regulation form so spaced by the compositor that the initial words in every line, if read consecutively, were a declaration against the papal claim to govern Rome.

In another case the spacing of words in certain bank notes was so arranged that by drawing a pencil line in a particular way a rude outline of the arms of Savoy resulted. These notes, of course, never saw the light, the device being too obvious to escape detection.

In 1901 a Spanish engraver was heard boasting that he had "signed his name" on every one of the 10,000 bank notes just about to be issued. When called on and asked for an explanation, he declared that he had been joking.

But an examination of the notes showed that certain letters in one line were raised a microscopical distance above those next to them.

These raised letters spelled the employe's name. Seven hundred and fifty dollars was the price paid by the authorities for their engravers' joke.

The kaiser's persistent interference in all matters of art has cost the fatherland heavy losses in canceled printed matter. One of his first acts as sovereign was to show his subordinates how the imperial arms should be printed.

After many thousand forms and documents had been impressed with these arms an antiquary of high authority proved to his majesty that the new design was not only wrong, but also humiliating to himself. Seven thousand five hundred dollars' worth of papers were promptly reduced to ashes.

In another case the kaiser "subedited" the German money order form in such a way that the public could not make head or tail of it. Finally the new form had to be called in and thousands of unissued copies destroyed.

Fifteen thousand pounds' worth of postal orders had to be destroyed by the British general post office some time ago owing to the poundage stamped on the face having been 1d stead of 1½d, as it should have been. The estimated loss to the country was $500.

France has been a bad sufferer. In 1898 more than twenty thousand hundred-franc credit notes were printed with a word badly misspelled, the error not being noticed until some of the notes had been issued to banks.—New York Herald.

Kind Man from the Country.

An amusing incident occurred in a hotel a few nights ago. It appears that a farmer from South Jersey, who was unusually ignorant of city ways, went to the hotel with his son. The father retired early, but the son went out to "see the town."

At 12:30 o'clock the farmer went downstairs and inquired of the night clerk if the boy had returned yet. He was told that he had not. The father went back to his room. An hour later he again appeared before the clerk and said:

"Hain't Jack in yet?"

Again he was informed that the lad was out. The old man made several subsequent trips, and still his boy was among the missing. Finally, at 3:30 o'clock, the farmer trudged wearily down the stairs and asked again if his boy had returned.

"No, he's not in yet," replied the night clerk.

"Waal, I guess he won't come in, then. Guess you needn't wait up any longer."—Philadelphia Times.

Doing Fairly Well.

"How is your courtship coming along?"

"Oh, fairly well."

"Are you getting any nearer her father?"

"A little since fall began. We've moved in from the front veranda to the parlor and he's moved in from the back porch to the kitchen."

RECLUSE A PROBLEM

ABNORMAL LOVE OF SOLITUDE HARD TO UNDERSTAND.

All Classes of Society Included Among Those Peculiar Individuals Who Have Shut Themselves from Their Fellow Men.

The recluse is a human problem which has defied doctors and scientists alike. They can give no satisfactory reason why an otherwise sane person should shut himself up and refuse to mingle with his fellow men.

Only a few days ago an extraordinary story of self-banishment was revealed at an inquest held at Chatham. The central figure might have stepped out of the pages of Dickens for he was known by the curiously romantic nickname of "Walter All-Alone."

Twenty years ago Walter Tibball—to give him his real name—was a prosperous butcher. Then one morning he disappeared from his usual haunts, the business was sold and the streets of Chatham knew Walter Tibball no more.

For the rest of his life he lived in a miserable shanty on the outskirts of the town—alone and silent. The little food he ate was delivered by a man who seldom saw Walter All-Alone and never conversed with him.

The cottage fell into a very bad state and Tibball's health broke down but he strenuously refused medical aid and resolutely declined to enter the infirmary.

At the inquest it was stated that Walter All-Alone had condemned himself to this wretched existence by way of expiating some purely imaginary fault.

Henry Cavendish, the famous natural philosopher and chemist, was a recluse who astonished England.

A son of Lord Charles Cavendish and a nephew of the third duke of Devonshire, possessed of enormous wealth, the subject of universal admiration because of his scientific attainments, he preferred the solitude of his study and the company of his books to the pleasures society could offer him.

For many years he lived at Hampstead, in a large, roomy house, attended by a number of female servants, who, however, were strictly enjoined to keep out of his sight. If a domestic by the merest chance came into the presence of Cavendish, she was instantly dismissed.

Every morning the philosopher would leave a note on the hall table naming what he wanted for dinner. No one saw him place the note there, but, accustomed to the strange customs of the establishment, the meal would be prepared, and only the remains of the repast signified the presence of the master of the house.

When Cavendish died, in 1810, he left behind him nearly $5,000,000, beside a lasting reputation as a scientist and writer on natural philosophy.

The case of Capt. Wilson contains every element of tragedy and pathos. Educated at a great public school, he entered a crack cavalry regiment when only 20 years of age. Then followed a decade of popularity in London society.

But everything changed with the death of his supposed father. It was then revealed that Capt. Wilson was not the son of the man to whom he owed his splendid position; he was only a foundling. Though his foster-parent had left him his entire fortune, he resigned at once from the army and from his clubs, said farewell to all his friends and retired to an obscure village in the south of England. By his will he disposed of $750,000.—London Telegraph.

Why He Ended Friend's Nap.

Speaking of the Friend who sat in the jury box of the United States court with his hat on the other day, Attorney Francis B. Lee of Trenton told of a little incident that happened in connection with a good Quaker acquaintance of his who lives near Moorestown. One day the Quaker in question went to sleep in meeting and started to snore. For awhile the nasal notes were soft and smooth and did not disturb the worshipers, but finally the sleeper let out a few extra links and kicked up such a commotion that a kindly disposed friend thought it the part of wisdom to awaken him.

"Friend Nathaniel," he whispered, poking the sleeper in the ribs, "I think thee had better arouse thyself."

"What did thee say? What did thee say?" exclaimed Nathaniel, suddenly starting out of his slumber. "What is the matter?"

"Nothing, Nathaniel," replied the other, without even breaking into a smile, "only thee was snoring a little, and I was afraid that outsiders would think that the spirit had moved thee to a trombone solo instead of an expression of thy convictions."

Not What He Expected.

"Had a great surprise to-day."

"How was that?"

"My son pointed out the famous football coach to me."

"What surprised you in him?"

"Why, it was a man. I always thought it was an ambulance."

Truly Novel.

"I have tried to write something out of the ordinary in this novel."

"Well, my boy, I think you have succeeded."

"In what particular?"

JEFFERY'S LAST WORD

"Bungalow Man" Scents Enemies in "the Powers That Be" Here.

ANNOUNCES THE PLATFORM.

He Declares that "Certain Gentlemen Do Not Want Innovations Introduced" By Man Who Knows How.

William Jeffery today formally announced his candidacy for the presidency of the Board of Trade, whose annual election takes place tonight. He is of the opinion that political powers are at work to bring about his defeat and hence had issued a formal statement. Mr. Jeffery has as his running mate A. S. Herr for the secretaryship, but it should be understood that both assert that neither one is allied with any faction and each will stand on his record. Mr. Herr is at present secretary of the board. Edmund Rushmore, now vice-president, is a candidate for the presidency. It is reported that he is in sympathy with the present administration and will throw his strength to H. W. Marshall for another re-election to the presidency although the latter does not want the job. On the Rushmore ticket for the vice presidency is J. Henry Crane, a lawyer.

Here is Mr. Jeffery's letter issued today:

Editor, The Daily Press:

My judgment is that the fight for the presidency of the board has narrowed itself down to Harry Marshall and myself. "The powers that be" as I am informed do not want Jeffery because he is too active and Rushmore is not active enough. Certain gentlemen do not want innovations introduced in the Board of Trade, nor too many questions asked by men who know how to ask them. I believe that the members of the Board of Trade feel that the time has come when the opportunity presents itself to the Board to secure an executive officer who is free from factions, cliques and one who has made good and can make good for the Board of Trade.

I desire to announce my candidacy for the presidency and send herewith the plyatform upon which I stand.

Yours,
WILLIAM JEFFERY.

January 6, 1910.

This is Mr. Jeffery's platform:

"The accumulated brain and force of the board, in harmonious and united effort should be a tremendous power for good. Increase the Board's sphere of usefulness. Publicity. Let the outside world through news and properly placed newspaper advertising, know what Plainfield offers. Welcome suggestions from the people. Cooperation.

More commodious and suitable quarters. Membership should equal five per cent. of the population. Visit other civic organizations. Invite them to visit us. Welfare of the Board's territory and the people's interests.

Secure recognition outside of Plainfield. All meeting should be interesting recreation. Commend the right—condemn the wrong. Close and harmonious relation of the officers and executive committee."

HERE'S A WORTHY OBJECT FOR HELP

"Ordered South." Many a man has had to face the prescription "complete rest for two or three months, or——" When the doctor pauses like that it means, oh, so much to the waiting wife. It suggests, somehow, a widow and a few more orphans. And if leaving work means starvation, too, then what is to be done?

The Charity Organization Society is confronted with just such a problem now and it feels that in the case, which they know to be deserving, there is an opportunity for some one or more charitably inclined people to assume a small burden of fifty dollars in order that the bread winner for one family who is ill may be sent away for the rest which has been prescribed.

The wife, while it is hard for her to contemplate the change, is quite willing to undertake service somewhere while the children will be placed with those who will care for them during the forced separation of the family.

Further particulars of this case may be had by calling at the rooms of the Charity Organization Society, 544 West Front street, or call up 'Phone No. 103.

State Vice-Councilor William B. LaRue will install the officers of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., tonight.

FORM A CONGREGATION

Netherwood Reformed Church Formally Organized by Classis.

REV. DR. VANCE PREACHES.

Representatives of Classis Conduct Service and Organization Meeting—Church Is Free of Debt.

The Netherwood Reformed church was formally organized last night and Rev. Royal A. Stout appointed the minister in charge. The Newark Classis consisting of Rev. Charles B. Condiet, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Newark; Rev. William W. Conner, of the Bellville Reformed church; Rev. Stuart N. Hutchinson, First Reformed, of Newark; Rev. Dr. J. I. Vance, North Reformed, of Newark; Rev. John Y. Broek, Trinity Reformed, of this city; Elder Mitchell, of the First Reformed church, of Newark; and elders F. E. Smith and H. J. Martin, of Trinity Reformed, Plainfield. Rev. Royal A. Stout was elected a corresponding member of the classis.

The services opened with devotional exercises at which Rev. Mr. Condict presided. The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Stout responsive reading led by Rev. Mr. Condict and the Scripture by Rev. Stuart Nye Hutchinson, and prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Conner. Miss S. Etta Raybert sang a solo accompanied on the organ by A. L. Titsworth. Rev. James I. Vance, pastor of the North Reformed church, of Newark, and president of the Board of Domestic Missions delivered the sermon taking for his text from Philippians, 1:27, and spoke as follows:

Dr. Vance took for his text Philippians 1:27; "Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel."

Dr. Vance said in part:

"The lives we live as Christians must give credit to what we teach. Members of a church must live worthy of the gospel. We must rebuke skepticism and shame sin. This will make a conquering church. Let this newly organized church be made of people whose lives are worthy of the gospel.

"Paul pleads for a united church. In order that we may have such a church, we must fight shoulder to shoulder, and stand foursquare to all winds that blow. If the church of Christ would only stand together, she could conquer almost everything. The apostle wants a united church that it may be a permanent church. Christians should stand shoulder to shoulder for certain things. Paul does not speak so much about corporate union, as Christian personal union. Christians must be brotherly and kind toward each other. If this occurs, the organization will take care of itself.

"We must get together for the sake of the gospel and for sake of Calvary. If w ecan get together for the sake of trade, can we not get together for Christ. We must not stand in estrangement of each other, for the sake of sectarianism.

"We need people in the church who are dead in earnest. The power is not in our earnestness, but in our message. The gospel is power of God unto salvation and must become our companion in arms. Whether this church grow rapidly or slowly, become self-supporting or aided financially for a length, the important thing is to live lives worthy of the gospel."

After the sermon the call from the classis for the special meeting was read by Rev. Royal A. Stout. The petition contained thirty-two signatures of residents of the vicinity asking the classis to organize the new church. The classis went into executive session and the petition was granted. Seventeen members were received into membership by letters other churhes while fifteen were from other churches while fifteen were admitted upon confession of faith. These latter candidates were examined by Rev. Dr. Vance and upon their admission the church was declared duly organized.

Rev. John Y. Broek pronounced the benediction.

The church begins its work free from debt and is founded on sound principles which practically guarantees its continued existence. No small congregation ever started under more favorable circumstances. The history of the movement toward establishing the little church is interesting. The matter was presented to the classis on April 29, 1909, at the spring session. Money was raised by the classis to undertake the work and by persistent endeavor and

NO, THEY WERE NOT DRUNK

It was Nature's Skating Rink That Caused Pedestrians' Antics.

MANY MISSED THEIR TRAINS.

Icy Pavements Caused Trouble—That Snow Forecast Fooled All—Some More Weather Predictions.

Those whose business compelled them to be out late last night will remember the experience longer than they would if old Jupiter Pluvius and Jack Frost had not made a big combine to waylay the unwary and incidentally make things uncomfortable for the pedestrian.

Lots of folks who would under no circumstances whatever stagger had a hard time preserving an equilibrium and many of them did not succeed. One man was noticed crawling on his hands and knees up a flight of front steps at his residence and he was making poor weather of it until his wife extended the handle of an umbrella to him and helped along in the process of getting home.

When they woke up to the fact the people realized that this was the slipperiest evening that has thrust itself upon a too confiding public in a long time and some of them didn't realize it at all until they had measured their lengths upon the glassy sidewalk. It was a thin veneer of the kind which deceives and many a man was brought low, but fortunately falls were not accompanied by injuries. Skates were popular with the school children this morning and the business man who has forgotten how to skate envied the little fellows as they skimmed along the glassy walks happy in the opportunity to use their Christmas presents.

Scores of New York commuters missed their trains this morning because the sidewalks would not permit of running and the middle of road enthusiasts had an opportunity to jibe their less nimble friends. All the early morning express trains left without the "regulars" and the conductors were chuckling to themselves over the snap they were enjoying.

The weather sharps are all tied up in their opinions as to whether the icy part of the storm has passed. The weather bureau at Washington looks for clearing weather tonight, but the New York forecaster does not agree with the prognostigation. He says snow will follow the present disturbance which practically covers all the States east of the Mississippi river.

MOTHERS, CAN YOUR BABIES BEAT THIS?

Irene, the ten months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald, of West Fourth street, can always be able to count Wednesday, January 5, 1910, as one of the unlucky days of her career.

Little Miss Fitzgerald encountered three thrilling experiences yesterday, but she passed through all unscathed. At 9 o'clock in the morning Irene rolled out of bed for a starter; two hours later she nearly swallowed an open safety pin which she picked up while creeping on the floor. The little one was probably saved from choking to death by prompt attention from her mother who succeeded in extricating the pin from Irene's throat.

Before being put in her cradle for the night, Irene succeeded in scalding her hands and arms by upsetting a cup of hot tea while occupying a seat on her father's lap at the supper table.

Will Study Foreign Missions.

The Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, during January and February will devote its time to the study of Korea, Immigration and South America, for which purpose the association will be divided into sections as follows: A class of young girls led by Miss Edna Brown, subject, Korea; one for boys, leader to be announced, subject, Immigration; one for adults, led by Miss Harriet Halloway, subject, South America. The classes are open to all interested.

Dr. Stanley White to Speak.

Rev. Dr. Stanley White, one of the secretaries of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, will give an address on South America and Korea before the Young People's Association at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tomorrow night. As Robert E. Speer has recently returned from a seven-months' visit to South America and Dr. Brown has just arived from Korea, Dr. White will have the latest and most interesting news.

ASKS FOR MAIL CARRIER

Postmaster Garretson, of Dunellen, Hopes to Establish Delivery Service.

MERCHANTS URGING SCHEME.

Recommendations Will Be Made to Postoffice Department in Report Which is Now Being Prepared.

Postmaster Henry C. Garretson, of Dunellen, in his report which he is preparing for the postoffice department at Washington, will recommend the appointment of one letter carrier for that office. Mr. Garretson in his efforts to give the residents of that place carrier service will have the united support of the merchants as well as all citizens. While no movement to prepare a petition on the part of citizens to the postoffice authorities it is likely that such a step will be taken.

Under the existing postal rules towns in the third class, as Dunellen is classified, are not entitled to carriers, but since the introduction and successful operation of the rural delivery system, exceptions have been made to the general rule.

The rules state that offices to be designated in the second class must transact an annual business of not less than $10,000. As the business of the Dunellen office approximated a little over half that amount last year, and has shown a steady growth, the postoffice department, it is thought, will coincide with Postmaster Garretson's suggestions.

Several years ago the hopes of Dunellen's citizens for better postal service were elevated by an agitation calling for the consolidation of that office, New Market, South Plainfield, Fanwood and Scotch Plains, with the Plainfield office, the local office, being the central receiving and distributing point, but the scheme failed to materialize.

MR. GILMORE QUIETLY WED TO MISS YAEGER

Mrs. Charles Yaeger, of Webster place, today announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Emma Yaeger, to Harry J. Gilmore, of Westfield. The announcement came as a great surprise to the many friends of the couple as well as the bride's family, who did not know of the marriage until today. The couple tried to keep it quiet, but in some mysterious way it became known.

The couple was married at Jersey City on November 30, by Rev. Gotlieb Andreae, pastor of a Presbyterian church in that city. Since that time the groom has been living at his home in Westfield and the bride has been living at her home. Their plans for the future are not made as yet.

The bride was formerly a member of Grace church choir, and has been active in the work of the parish. The groom is employed at the City National Bank, and is also an athlete of some note. He was a member of last year's Y. M. C. A. baseball team, being the star second baseman. Both the bride and groom have a host of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McKeon Entertain.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. McKeon, of East Second street, entertained about thirty-five guests at a euchre party on New Year's night. The house was decorated in green and red. Refreshments were served during the evening. Honors were awarded to Mrs. John McKeon, Jr., Mrs. Dorgan, Miss Anna Doyle, Mr. Rippley, Mr. Moran and John Doyle.

Foreign Mission Meeting.

The meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tonight will be in the interest of foreign missions. Prof. C. H. Robertson, of Tientsin, China, and William D. Murray will tell about the convention of the Student Volunteer Movement for foreign missions, recently held at Rochester, N. Y., and about the work in China.

Mrs. G. H. Babcock Gives $1,000.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Plainfield Public Library, last night, the president reported the gift of $1,000 from Mrs. George H. Babcock, the interest from which to be used for certain definite purposes in connection with the Babcock Scientific Library.

Arranging Birthday Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Duncan, of West Third street, have invitations for a party in honor of the seventeenth birthday of their daughter, Miss Jessie Duncan, on Thursday night, January 13.

MYSTERY PLAY TOMORROW

Junior Auxiliary of Church of Holy Cross Will Present Christmas Story.

INCIDENTAL MUSIC A FEATURE.

Play in Blank Verse Said to Be of Unusual Interest—English Cycles Recalled.

An old English mystery play, the action of which deals with the incidents attending the nativity of Our Saviour, is to be presented by members of the Junior Auxiliary of Holy Cross church at the parish house tomorrow night, when nineteen of the young people of the organization will take the parts of the characters of the Bible story. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the furtherance of the work of the auxiliary in the field of domestic missions.

Written in blank verse, the play develops in an impressive way the theme of the Nativity, incidents of which are depicted in its four scenes. As the first production of its kind in this city the play is arousing considerable interest among church people, and the sale of tickets has been gratifying. It is a typical Christmas drama, written in the style of the mystery plays given long ago by wandering players in the various English cycles.

A feature of its presentation is the incidental music, including carols and solos of religious music. Six of the auxiliary girls will form an angel choir, and there will be additional soloists. Special scenery and costumes have been prepared, and the action of the play has all the charm of the Bible story and the old English presentations.

The parts of Mary and Joseph will be taken by Marjory Heaton and Grace Wakefield, and these are the other characters: Tobias, landlord of the Inn at Bethlehem, Selina Cornwall; David, his servant, Helen Lee; Zachary, Ezra and Ben-Ezra, three shepherds, Kate Elliot, Gussie Bremmer, and Violet Murray; Eliphaz, Nadab and Uzziel, three merchants, Charlotte Wadhams, Alma Carver and Ida Hummel; Martha, a child, Florence Cornwall; Abel, her brother, Grace Cornwall; Angels, Ruth Douglas, Pauline Mauray, Elizabeth Voorhees, Dorothy Keller, Annabel Schneegas and Nettie Rilling; Herald, Ethel Rilling.

The incidental music will be rendered by Holy Cross choir, accompanied on the piano by Organist Will O'Brien. Miss Laura Bristol will be the soloist.

GOLDEN EAGLES INSTALL NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS

Freedom Castle, No. 43, Golden Eagles, installed these officers last night: Past chief, Frank Neiding; noble chief, Lewis A. Martin; vice chief, Nelson Wiley; high priest, John Bolsterli; sir herald, David Weiss; venerable hermit, Walter Busts; clerk of exchequer, R. V. Kinney; keeper of exchequer, W. W. F. Randolph; master of records, R. V. Vail; worthy chamberlain, George Church; esquire, William Alling; ensign, Walter Randall; first guard, Lewis Stites; second guard, Harry Josephs; trustees, Caspar Waglow, Joseph Randall, Frank Runyon; representative to grand lodge, Peter Bennett.

The installation ceremony was admirably executed by members of Somerville Castle and was followed by a collation. Frank Neidig, the retiring noble chief, made a few remarks in which he thanked the members and officers for their cooperation during his term, and urged that they lend their support to L. A. Martin, his successor, in the same manner.

Funeral of John T. Odam.

The funeral of John T. Odam, who died in Trenton last Saturday, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of his brother, Eli M. Odam, of Arlington avenue. The services were conducted by Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel. The interment was in Hillside cemetery. A previous service was held at Mr. Odam's late home in Philadelphia, before the body was sent to this city. Mr. Odam is survived by a widow and several children who live in Philadelphia.

Young Friends to Meet.

The Young Friends Association will meet at the meeting-house on Watchung avenue, tomorrow night. The subject will be "Has the Government Benefitted the Indians?"

Miss Helen Lynch, of East Fifth street, has been entertaining Miss Helen Griffin, of Newrak, during the holidays.

CITY BAKERIES INSPECTED

Board of Health Report Shows There is Room for Improvement Here.

THE MILK SUPPLY IS BETTER.

Tuberculosis Cases Increased By Nine Over Last Month—Various Licenses Granted.

The regular monthly meeting and also the annual meeting of the Board of Health was held last evening in the offices of the board, with all the members present.

Dr. B. Van D. Hedges was re-elected president, Dr. T. S. Davis, secretary, and Fred W. Dunn, treasurer, for the ensuing year.

Reports were read, showing the sanitary condition of the city for the past month. The number of communicable diseases reported in December, is as follows:

Scarlet fever, 8; typhoid fever, 2; tuberculosis, 11; diphtheria, 6; chicken pox, 3; measles, 14; total, 44.

Sixty-five dairies, creameries and milk bottling places were inspected during the past month. The results were favorable in the majority of cases. One dairy was, however, prohibited from sending milk to a creamery supplying milk in Plainfield.

Sixty-four samples of milk were collected and analyzed during the month and the quality was found to be better than for the previous month.

Twenty-two houses and seventy-one rooms were disinfected during the past month, on account of communicable disease.

An inspection was made of a number of barber shops and they were found to be in a first class condition.

"An inspection of the bakeries of Plainfield and North Plainfield was made during the past month, in connection with the Borough Board of Health," says the report. "These inspections made at night in order to observe the methods used in baking. The results showed that there is plenty of room for improvement and it is the intention to inspect these bakeries once each month in an effort to bring them up to the standard prescribed by the Pure Food law."

W. R. Way was granted a permit to sell milk from his store. B. C. Firstbrook was also granted a permit to sell milk in the city.

The following plumbing bonds were ordered filed: George F. Giles & Company, Charles M. Raybert and James Whalen.

The total number of plumbing inspections made during the past month was ninety-four. Total number of general inspections made was 262. Total inspections made in December 356.

The following returns were made to this office during December: Marriages, 15; births, 28; deaths, 33; still births, 1.

The annual report of the board for 1909 was presented at this meeting and will be submitted to the Common Council at its meeting on Monday night.

MR. MORCOM'S FUNERAL TO BE ON SATURDAY.

The funeral service of Thomas Morcom, of Plainfield avenue, who died yesterday afternoon, will be held at his late home on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It will be private and will be in charge of the Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which the deceased was a member.

Mr. Morcom resided in this city for about a quarter of a century and was a native of England. He had been ill for several months with a a complication of troubles. He is survived by a wife, two daughters and one son. He was engaged as caretaker of the Evergreen cemetery.

Judgment Against Putnam.

A suit brought by William H. Fletcher, of Ithaca, N. Y., against Edmund H. Putnam, a Watchung avenue tailor, was decided against Mr. Putnam in the District Court this morning and judgment rendered by Judge Newcorn for the plaintiff for $20.57 with costs and interest added. The suit was on a promissory note on which the defendant filed a set off. Martin H. Stutsman appeared for Mr. Fletcher and Winfield S. Angleman for Mr. Putnam.

One Broken Wire.

The main line trolley wire was discovered broken at the corner of East Fifth street and Franklin place last night by Chief of Police Kiely, who notified the P. S. Railway. The wire was repaired at once.

STORK OUTWITS FLAMES

Fire Visits Rubin's Domicile While Messenger of Love Tarried.

BUT THE STORK WON OUT.

Daughter Born In Hospital This Morning—Girl Nearly Suffocated—Damage to House and Furniture $1,000.

While Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Rubin were awaiting a visit from the stork at their home, at 47 Pearl street, in the borough last night, a fire occurred at the house and drove the inmates outdoors in a sleet storm that was raging at the time. The messenger of love, however, refused to be balked in its mission by the invasion of the flames, as Dr. J. H. Carman, who was in attendance, had Mrs. Rubin removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, where she gave birth to a bouncing seven-pound daughter early this morning. Despite the excitement mother and daughter are reported as doing well.

The house is also occupied by Henry Levine, the owner, and family, the former being responsible for the fire. Mr. Levine at 8 o'clock in the evening was preparing to leave the house. While looking for a pair of rubbers, under a couch in a room on the second floor, he lighted a match, the fire from which ignited the sofa. The blaze brought the search for the rubbers to an abrupt termination and Levine hurled the burning couch out of a window into the yard.

In the excitement Levine did not notice that the window curtains had caught fire and had forgotten that his four-year-old daughter, Etta, was in the room. He rushed downstairs, and into the yard and devoted his attention in trying to save the couch.

In the meantime, Mrs. Taub, his motherin-law, remembered that the little girl was left in the room. She summoned Levine, who hurried up stairs and rescued his daughter, who was suffocating in a smoke filled room. Prompt treatment by Dr. Carman, however, resusticated the little girl.

The flames spread rapidly from the curtains and found their way into the partitions and rapidly journeyed to the attic. Prompt work of the firemen, however, checked the flames and the damage was confined to the attic and a part of the second floor. Owing to the snow, sleet and ice the firemen experienced a difficult task in checking the flames and they remained on duty for three hours.

While performing their duties on the roof of the porch, Lieutenant William Gaub and William Hogan slipped on the ice and fell into the snow, a distance of twenty feet. Both escaped injury.

Levine was badly burned about his hands in removing the burning couch from the hous .

The damage to the building and furniture will total about $1,000. The loss on the house is covered by insurance but the furniture was uncovered. The lower and s cond floors of the house were completely gutted and the furniture was practically all rendered usel ss.

NEWARK CONFERENCE M.E. CHURCH, IN MARCH

The annual session of the Newark Conference of the M. E. church will be held in the Central M. E. church, Newark, of which Rev. Dr. W. H. Morgan is the pastor, for one week beginning March 31, and promises to be one of the most interesting gatherings of the conference held in several years. Several matters of great importance, it is said, will be considered. Bishop W. F. Anderson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., will preside over the session and direct the deliberations of the ministers. The work of the approaching conference is of interest now as the churches have entered upon the fourth quarter's business, although the quarterly conferences have not yet been held.

Although no official announcements have been made, that usually being done at the fourth quarterly conference, it is said that the local M. E. church pastors have been invited to return another year. Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson has made a host of friends since coming here and has done good work. The same is true of Rev. C. S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue church and Rev. Ora J. Shoop, of Grace church, it is said, and there is no desire on the part of the members to make a change.

DETECTIVES MAKE LEVY DESPITE DIFFICULTIES.

Roselle Park, Jan. 6.—Detectives who have been in possession of the Kenilworth Inn since last Friday, making a continuous levy on property of the proprietor, Herman O. O. Schmidt, as a result of an excution made on a judgment found against him in the District Court, Elizabeth, by his brother-in-law, Valentine Vonderlin, are still in possession.

It is expected that he will be evicted under another judgment obtained in the same court by the Kenilworth Realty Corporation, some time today. Schmidt has tried in many ways to make the detectives' stay uncomfortable. He first allowed the firs in the hotel to go out, and later discontinued the serving of meals, the detectives say. Though almost frozen and nearly starved, according to their story, the detectives, under orders from Vonderlin's attorneys, continued to stay at the hotel. Monday night Schmidt had two of the detectives arrested for selling liquor without a license at the hotel. They were Thomas L. Carey and Edward S. Kenney. They gave bail to appear when wanted.

Tuesday Schmidt threatened to shut off the power for lights in the hotel and James A. Dowd, chief of Union County private detective agency, ordered the detectives making the levy to have lanterns with them over night. Dowd was at the hotel during the night. He says he will stay at the hotel if the roof is taken off until he completes the levy.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS WANTED BY UNCLE SAM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—Census Director Durand stated yesterday that, as a result of his conferences with the supervisors of census throughout the country he finds that in many sections, especially in the larger cities, there have not been as yet sufficient applications for the positions of enumerators. It looks, he thinks, as if the country is so prosperous that people are not as anxious to get these responsible places as had been expected.

The scarcity is giving the director some concern, as only a few weeks remain before the date for closing the consideration of applications.

The director, therefore, urges all persons desiring places as enumerators to make application as promptly as possible, and he hopes that in order to help get a perfect census public-spirited and energetic people throughout the country will offer themselves for these positions, even though they may not care for them from the standpoint of the pay involved. The director says:

"Although the actual work of taking the census will not begin until April 15, it is essential that those who wish to act as enumerators should apply immediately. Except under unusual circumstances, no application received after January 25 will be considered. About 65,000 enumerators will be required. Each will work in his own locality. Any competent person is entitled to apply for this position, and will be fairly considered for appointment.

"Political recommendations are not necessary. The supervisors to whom application must be made, have been instructed to consider all candidates and to select solely on the basis of efficiency.

"The test will be of a strictly practical character, substantially the same as was used in 1900. It will consist of filling out a sample schedule of population, and, in the case of rural district, filling out also a sample schedule of agriculture, these schedules being precisely the same as will actually be used by the enumerators in their work later on. In order to assist candidates in preparing for the test, copies of the blank schedules and general instructions regarding the manner of filling them will be furnished to each candidate in advance. Any person of ordinary common school education and good judgment should have no difficulty in passing.

"This test is not a civil service examination. It will be conducted under the direction of the supervisors of the census, and the papers will be examined only by the supervisors and by the census bureau. In order that convenient examination places may be provided for all candidates, local civil service examining boards and postmasters will be called upon to preside at the actual taking of the test in certain cases, but in this respect they will act merely as the representatives of the supervisors of the census."

The enumerators will earn about $60 each. Those in the rural districts must complete their work within 30 days and those in cities of 5,000 or more population at the preceding census within two weeks, from April 15, 1910.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Preparatory services will be held at Hope chapel tonight and on Sunday evening there will be communion with reception of new members by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard.

The subject of the week of prayer service at the Congregational church tonight will be "Praise: That Missions are possible as an expression of Christian devotion." Tomorrow night the subject will be "For the Sunday school and all work for the young."

The union week of prayer service will be held at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, tonight, when Rev. Ora J. Shoop, of Grace church, will speak. Tomorrow night the meeting will be held at Grace church and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson will speak.

Rev. Bryant Gray Harman, who was a member of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church during his boyhood and college days, has accepted a call to the rectorship of Calvary church, Cairo, New York, in the foothills of the Catskill mountains.

PERSONAL.

Charles Smith, of Jersey City, who has been visiting friends here, has returned home.

Mrs. Fred Bird has taken to her residence with Mrs. Daniel Shalley at Duer street and Craig place, the borough.

Mrs. George Young, of Brooklyn, has returned home after spending the past two weeks with relatives in this city.

Mrs. Gilbert Lovell, in a letter written November 13, states that Mr. Lovell is slowly recovering from a severe illness, and their son, Leander, has recovered from his illness. They are located in China as missionaries.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Nearly all of the Camden county officials Tuesday attended a hog killing at the county almshouse, Blackwood.

Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, will address the union men's meeting next Sunday afternoon in Kemble M. E. church, Woodbury.

Hugging her pet cat too tightly, Mrs. John I. Emery, of West Hanover street, Trenton, was scratched on the eye, and she will probably lose that member. The animal never showed any other unfriendliness to her.

Sheriff and Mrs. John Rancier, of Paterson, had as their guests at dinner Tuesday night the court constables and their wives in addition to a few personal friends, in the sheriff's living apartments adjoining the county jail.

Former Freeholder Abram G. Hopper, of the firm of Steele & Hopper, building contractors, is seriously ill at his home, 77 Twelfth avenue, Paterson, suffering from pernicious anemia, and litte hope of his recovery is entertained.

Residents of Seaside Park were overjoyed Tuesday to learn that the Ocean County Board of Freeholders had finally voted to advertise for bids for the construction of the beach road to connect the resort with the mainland.

No changes were made in the officers of the Camden County Republican executive committee for the new year, when Harry Reeves was re-elected chairman; Alfred L. Sayers, secretary, and Harry C. Sharp, treasurer, Tuesday afternoon.

Work on the $48,000 grammar school building at Millville, a considerable portion of the wall of which fell some time ago, has been held up until spring. The opinions of the school authorities differ greatly as to what caused the collapse.

Governor Fort Tuesday signed a requisition on Governor Stuart, of Pennsylvania, for the return to Camden of Edward F. Breier, wanted on charges of embezzling some $700 from The Courier Publishing Company, for which he was an agent.

A testimonial dinner is to be given to Joseph M. Thompson, chairman of the Ocean County Republican committee, January 12 by political friends. Among the guests will be Judge Berry, Senator Mathis, County Clerk George H. Holman, Sheriff Cox and Assemblyman Crosby.

Pending suit for divorce, Mrs. Caroline Kurth, of Seventh and Walnut streets Camden, was Tuesday allowed $4 a week alimony and $25 counsel fee by Vice Chancellor Learning. Mrs. Kurth alleged cruel treatment in her bill of complaint, and in his answer Kurth made many accusations.

John F. Small, eighty-nine years old, of Beverly, who enjoyed the distinction of having been elected justice of the peace both as a Democrat and a Republican and who served for a number of years, was stricken with sudden blindness as he came out of the postoffice Monday. Friends assisted him home. Tuesday he had partly recovered his sight.

Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw is announced as one of the speakers at the annual banquet of St. Mary's Brotherhood at Burlington on January 13. W. E. Schermerhorn will be toastmaster and other speakers will include former Governor E. C. Stokes, Frank C. Katzenbach, Jr., former Mayor of Trenton, and Rev. John Fearnley, of St. Mary's Hall.

The officers-elect of Jerusalem Lodge, No. 26, F. & A. M., were installed Tuesday night, after which there was a banquet.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tonight, when the officers-elect will be in the chair for the first time this year.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow night and the good and welfare committee will provide a god time for the members.

GOLF.

Quite a curiosity in the playing of a stroke competition is provided by another Scotch club. A tournament was being held at Cambuslang early in October, when three couples of competitors drove off together from the last tee. This was about 5:30 o'clock in the evening and darkness was approaching. It was pointed out also that these three pairs were not the last competitors on the course, and the local committee asked the information whether the six players were disqualified. The rules committee answers in the affirmative and points out that Rule 1 for stroke plays does not permit more than two players to play together.

A good yarn is told of the final round for the Irish golf championship at Newcastle, County Down. In the course of the day Mr. Mitchell, the title holder, and his opponent were caught in one of those heavy showers for which Newcastle is notorious. The champion turned up the collar of his jacket, but finding he had no pin with which to fasten it about his throat he asked his caddie if he could oblige him. The caddie fumbled at the foot of his waistcoat, failed to find what he wanted, and then, taking off his cap hesitatingly and looking at it silently for a second or two, he replied: "Well, sor, I have a pin; but, sure, it fastens a little bit av white heather in me cap, and that's for good luck for you, sor."

"Ah, you are the right sort," said Mr. Mitchell; "on no account remove your white heather." A pin was secured from another quarter, and the white heather remained in that caddie's cap until the championship was safe in his master's keeping.

GOVERNOR J. F. FORT WANTS A NOON MEETING.

Governor Fort yesterday had Secretary of State Dickinson send out a letter asking the legislators to meet next Tuesday noon, instead of at 3 in the afternoon, the latter time being the one on which they have usually met for the past 100 years, excepting last year, when the governor got the time changed at his request.

The convenience of the legislators and to give the people a chance to see the capitol, the legislature and the governor and to get home the same day prompts the request of the governor, which request he will make in person today when he dines the legislators at Lakewood.

JANUARY FURNITURE SALE

As usual, we start the New Year with a big Sale of Furniture. The Sale this year will be of the greatest importance as far as money saving opportunities are concerned. For the past two months nearly every mail has brought us word from Furniture manufacturers all over the country that, owing to the great increase in cost of labor and materials, their Prices would advance from 10 to 25 Per Cent. on January 1st. We took advantage of the situation and bought everything we thought we could use for six months to come, so that we are in a position to offer you Furniture at about what it would cost us to buy today.

In order that all may share in this great money-saving event, we offer the following inducement: If you don't need the goods till later on, come in and make your selection, pay a small deposit on them, and we will store them free of charge and deliver at your convenience; or if you need them at once and are not prepared to pay all the cash, take advantage of our "Club Plan" system of Easy Payments. We extend every convenience to responsible persons. This sale should appeal very strongly to prospective housekeepers.

HEPTASOPHS REVOLT A MYTH HE DECLARES

The following communication has been received by this paper relative to an article published in The Daily Press on Tuesday. The item referred to as grossly exaggerated was written by one oft the prominent members of the order and the article was a quotation from his communication.

This is the communication:

Editor, The Daily Press:

My attention has been called to an article in last night's issue headed "Heptasophs in Revolt." While I have no desire to enter into a newspaper controversy, yet the facts are so grossly exaggerated that I feel it my duty as a supreme officer of the order to state them as they are. The Improved Order Heptasophs, an organization over thirty years old, passed laws at their last supreme session bringing those who were members prior to 1910 up to their attained age July, 1901. This they had a perfect right to do, for a member when he joins subscribes to the laws in effect at that time, or any that are made thereafter. The decisions referred to have nothing whatever to do with this case.

The Supreme Conclave realizing the fact that some of the members were along in years and perhaps unable to pay the new rate, submitted an option to those who choose to avail themselves of it, whereby they could have the difference between their old and new rate charged against their certificates. Failing to do this they either pay the new rate or surrender their membership. Your article says that the action of the Supreme Conclave reduces the amounts of some certificates hundreds of dollars.

I have the list of members before me with the various amounts that would be charged against them and these amounts range from 29 cents to $66.24 and in one instance where the member had nearly reached the age limit at the time he joined the order, his amount would be $164.40; but in every case where the amount is over $20 the member has either a $2,000 or $3,000 certificate and can well afford to pay it or have it charged to his certificate. As to there being a revolt of any kind this is the first I have heard of it. The fact is there is none here or elsewhere.

The members of the order, about 80,000, realize that the laws passed were the most just and equitable ever enacted by a fraternal organization and were intended to strengthen and perpetuate what is one of the noblest orders in existence.

J. V. E. VANDERHOEF,
Supreme Committeeman,
Improved Order Heptasophs.

Cost $16,000 to Become Sane.

Terre Haute, Ind., Jan. 6.—John Sudbrink, who has been insane since he was injured two years ago while working as a brakeman on the Big Four Railroad, has been restored to sanity by an operation on his skull, only to be told that $16,000 damages obtained from the company has been expended in medical treatment.

SURGICAL OPERATION ON FISH.

Fish surgery is by no means an unbroken record of failures. On the contrary, and despite its attendant difficulties, some notable successes have been scored, says an exchange. Perhaps the most daring piece of work that has been performed at the New York Aquarium was the removal of a fungoid growth from one of the fins of a five-foot shark, while the most difficult was the grafting of skin upon an eel. That the latter proved a slipper patient the reader will readily conjecture. Indeed, the holding of piscine patients while they are being operated upon is a serious problem, which must be solved by means of specially made boxes, soft wrappings, and the like contrivances.

The most frequent successful operations are performed upon fishes whose air bladders fail to effect their proper functions. The chief cause of such defects is the too rapid removal of a fish from the water to the air, as when it is captured or removed from one tank to another. It is brought quickly to the surface with its mouth open. Its air bladder is charged to a greater or less extent with water, which enables it to maintain its specific gravity in deep waters. But the suddenness wth which the fish is jerked out of its natural element prevents it from correctly adjusting the quantities of air and water in the bladder, and congestion results. When returned to its tank the wretched creature is unable to sink or rise at will, and is washed about by the movements of the water in a helpless condition.

It has been found that fishes injured in this way may often be cured by a little gentle massage. The operator grasps the fish firmly with the left hand by the tail, drawing it carefully out of the water up an inclined board reaching into the tank, but allowing the head and shoulders to remain submerged. Massage is then commenced toward the gills, and generally, after a few minutes' action of the hand, the air is forced out of the bladder.

Massage does not always prove successful in relieving the trouble, however, and more drastic measures have to be resorted to. In the case of a deep-sea bass which had lost complete control of its air bladder and lay wallowing on the surface, quite unable to sink or swim, it was recognized that a remedy must immediately be found if the fish were to be saved. The bass was taken from the water and a surgeon's needle inserted just behind the pectoral fin into the air bladder. The air was thus liberated and the patient was again able to control itself perfectly. A few days in a hospital tank healed the slight puncture and effect a complete cure.

GENERAL W. F. SADLER PUTS OUT A HISTORY.

Adjutant General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., sent out yesterday bound copies of the records of officers and men of New Jersey who took part in the wars from 1791 to 1815, inclusive.

The results of this work, which has been in process of preparation for some time, include the expedition against the Indians, 1791; the naval war with Tripoli, 1801-1805; war with Great Britain, 1812-1815, and the naval war with Algiers, Africa, 1815.

A. G. HOOLEY PRESIDENT OF THE KENNEL CLUB

Election of officers for the coming year, together with reports of the past year, comprised the chief business at the annual meeting of the Plainfield Kennel club, held at Truell Hall, last night. Owing to the bad weather only twenty members of the club put in an appearance, but the meeting was interesting and much enthusiasm was shown.

A Clinton Wilmerding, who was president last year, gave a review of the club's history during the first twelve months, and then announced that under no circumstances would he be able to continue in office, although urged to do so. Resolutions were adopted thanking the retiring officers for their earnest efforts in behalf of the club.

Abram G. Hooley was chosen president of the club for the coming year, and owing to his great interest as a dog fancier and the fact that he has one of the best kennels in the country, will insure the continued success of the club. The other officers chosen are as follows:

Vice-president, John C. Haywood; secretary, Charles Faber; treasurer, Edward F. Feickert; honorary vice-pesidents, Robert A. Fairbairn, William J. Buttfield and Edwin S. Hooley.

There was considerable discussion regarding the bench show for the coming year and it promises to be bigger and better than ever. It will be held immediately following the annual horse show in June, and the date will be announced later.

The report of the first annual bench show held last June was received and proved to be very gratifying. It was stated that the deficit only amounted to $27, and when it is considered that a $1,500 show was held, the small shortage was considered remarkable. Every kennel club expects to lose money the first year, but the results here were far better than expected. The local club has a large and gratifying membership, comprising the best people of the city and nearby places. The few mistakes of last year will be avoided at the coming show and there is no reason why it should not be equal to any outdoor show held in the country. All of last year's exhibitors have promised to return and there will be the usual attractive prizes.

CHRISTY MATTHEWSON BECOMES AN AUTHOR

The famous Big Six of the New York Nationals has just about completed the manuscript of a baseball story for boys of all ages, and it is the promise of his publishers, the R. J. Bodmer Co., of New York, that it will be ready for delivery in February. This will be the first of a series of boys' stories on sports, to be known as "The Matty Books." Associated with "Christy" Mathewson, the "Father of the Fadeaway," in the preparation of "The Matty Books" is W. W. Aulick, the sporting writer, who will act as editor of the various publications.

The king of twirlers is an occasional visitor to this city at the home of his brother-in-law, Dr. P. B. Cregar, on Grant avenue. During his visits here scores of local fans made his acquaintance.

Matty, in speaking of his new position, says he hopes the official scorers won't mark up too many errors against him.

"I don't claim to be a Shakespeare in the Literary League," says the Old King, "but I believe I've got something to say to the boys, that may interest them. I haven't hit on a name yet for this baseball story, and if any of the fans, old or young, think they have a happy title, I'll be mighty glad to hear from them at the office of my publishers, Suite 608, 437 Fifth avenue, New York. I think a good way to select a title would be to take the one the majority of fans favor.

"The story is about a boy who comes to the leading college of the United States from the other end of the continent. He isn't very well off in money, but he has a natural ability for ball-playing, and this brings him something in the end. Maybe the readers will be able to trace a resemblance between the hero of the book and a certain young player who gets his name in the box score about every time the Yankees play a game of ball. I've written the story just as I have thought it out, and I think the championship games referred to would come out as I have made them come out in the book. Oh, no, I shan't leave baseball myself, just because I've become an author. I'll be in the game as long as they'll let me stay."

"GIANT JACK" PAYNE TO QUIT POLICE WORK

John C. F. Payne, who has made a creditable record as a member of the police department, will tender his resignation at the next meeting of the Councilmanic police board to take effect January 15. During his five years honorable service, he has made the record of never having struck a prisoner with his billy, although he has repeatedly arrested dangerous characters of powerful physique.

Patrolman Payne was a member of the Y. M. C. A. State champion track team, and was third man in the shot put in the athletic events a year ago. He also made a record as a member of the Y. M. C. A. baseball team.

"Jack" as he is familiarly called by his many friends, holds the record of being the only "cop" in New Jersey who had the "nerve" to box with "Bob" Fitzsimmons. "Lanky Bob," two years ago, dismissed his trainer, when he found that Payne could give him all the "exercise" he needed.

His friends say that his resignation is due to long hours and poor pay, the claim being made that the wages here are less than in any city of the size in the East. Payne has not announced his future plans. He is the most powerful built young man on the force.

METHODISTS' UNITED SERVICES CONTINUE.

The first union week of prayer service of the M. E. churches was held last night at the First M. E. church. Despite the bad weather there was a good sized congregation out and all enjoyed the sermon by Rev. Charles S. Kemble, of the Monroe Avenue church.

Dr. Kemble took for his theme, "Christian Unity," and during the course of his sermon he presented a great many helpful suggestions which, if followed, will lead to Christian unity. During the service there were several earnest prayers and the meeting was a deeply spiritual one. This evening the service will be held at the Monroe Avenue church, and Rev. Ora J. Shoop, of Grace M. E. church, will preach. Tomorrow night the service will be at Grace M. E. church and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson will have charge.

Thomas Buckley, of Orchard place, fell on a slippery sidewalk this morning and broke an ankle. Mr Buckley is an erecter of printing presses and is employed by the Potter Printing Press Works Company.

MIGHT FINISH THEM HERSELF

Great Actress Given Opportunity to Show What She Could Do in Way of Laundry Work.

It is related of Fanny Kemble that she carried the tragic air of the stage into everyday affairs. While in Boston she stopped at the Tremont house, and was accustomed to dine in her rooms at five o'clock. On one occasion the waiter brought her dinner ten minutes too soon, and she make him take it away until the hour had struck. On another occasion she gave the servant some clothes for the laundry.

"When can these be returned to me, washed and ironed?" she inquired.

"The day after to-morrow, madam, at noontime."

"Be it so," was the dramatic reply, "at 12 on Wednesday."

But on the hour appointed the clothes had not been returned, and at ten minutes past noon a servant stood before her in response to the short summons of the bell.

"My clothes that were to be returned at 12 to-day—bring them.'"

"But, madam, we have not been able to get them ready, owing to a difficulty in the laundry. You shall have them to-morrow."

"Bring them now—they were promised to-day."

"I know it, madam, but they are not ready."

"It matters not to me; bring them just as they are."

The servant went out, and a few moments later two men entered, bearing a tubful of soapsuds and wet clothes, set it on the floor, and went out.

MONGREL PIECE OF ARTISTRY

English Captain's Head on French King's Shoulders a Curiosity in Isle of Wight.

There was set up in the seventeenth century, at Yarmouth, Isle of Wight, what is probably the most curious piece of art extant, erected to the memory of Sir Robert Holmes, a British naval officer of that period.

The odd circumstance is that the statue was not originally designed for Holmes at all, but for a very different personage, no other, indeed, than Louis XIV. of France.

This statue, finished as to the figure, but in the rough as to the head, was being taken to France on an Italian vessel, when it was captured by a British man-of-war commanded by Holmes. Upon perceiving the unfinished condition of the statue, Holmes with grim humor, compelled the artist, who had accompanied his work, to chisel his (Holmes') head on the king's body. And so it stands to-day.

Holmes was eventually made governor of the Isle of Wight, which fact accounts for the location of this mongrel bit of artistry.

The Tub Cure.

It is being told now that the latest fad in society is the tub cure. The patient arises just as the crisp air of the morning is mellowed by the first sunbeam. An ordinary washtub is then filled with hot water and soapsuds, into which various articles of linen are thrown. After they are thoroughly saturated the patient takes them up one at a time and rubs them briskly up and down on the washboard placed in the tub. This is kept up until the hands, arms and face are a glowing pink. The patient then goes into the open air and hangs all the linen articles on a line stretched for that purpose. The one completing the task first announces the time to the others over the telephone and is entitled to a prize. It is exciting sport and also invigorating exercise.

Galileo.

In 1564 Galileo, the greatest scientist of that age, was born in Pisao. At 18 years of age he made a most important discovery, which was later used in constructing a clock for astronomical purposes. Learned in medicine and mathematics, he later invented the hydrostatic balance with which is ascertained the specific gravity of solid bodies. Later he discovered the three laws of motion. In 1609 he offered the first complete telescope to the Doge, at Venice, and the same year invented a microscope and a crude species of thermometer. But for all these, this illustrious interpreter of the mysteries of nature was brought before the officers of the Roman church and forced to deny the truth of his scientific discoveries.—The Argonaut.

Concerning Argument.

Certain people seem to arouse the spirit of arguing in each other. Sometimes they are husband and wife; sometimes they are friends, or merely acquaintances. It usually begins when the people are involved in situations where their interests clash. So they argue about those interests. Gradually the state of mind excited by arguing becomes fixed. It makes the people argue even when there is no clash of interest. Often they don't realize that they are arguing. They think they are merely stating honest opinions. What they are really doing is expressing resentment. Nearly always it is feeling that controls the mind.—John Barry in Harper's Bazar.

Late Hour Explained.

"What kept you until this late hour?" asked the husband of his suffragette wife.

"Well, my dear," she answered, meekly, "it took us an hour to greet one another, the meeting lasted 30 minutes, and the rest of the time was spent in saying good-by."—Detroit Free Press.

KINGS DAUGHTERS' UNION HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The executive board of the City Union of The King's Daughters held an interesting meeting this morning at the Y. M. C. A. parlors, when reports for the past month were received. The treasurer reported a balance of $229.47, and during the month of December 242 children were cared for at The Day Nursery, while the city nurse made 113 visits.

It was voted to hold the birthday tea and reception of The Day Nursery on Friday afternoon, January 21, from 3 to 6 o'clock and the public is invited. Each person attending is requested to bring something for the storehouse.

The board is gratified with the many donations made to The Day Nursery during the holiday season, in addition to about $25 from persons who do not care to have their names made known, there was received $10 from five little girls, who held a sale on East Seventh street; a large donation of toys, games, etc., from the Park Avenue Baptist church; the Christmas Day collection, $21.75 from the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church; about one hundred articles of dry groceries from the Seventh-Day Baptist church; $10 from the Religious Society of Friends; a barrel of flour from a friend; $10 from Salaam Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles Mystic Shrine; gifts from pupils of the fifth grade of the Lincoln school.

In addition to the above, Miss Walbridge, of West Eighth street, at her own expense, provided a Christmas tree and all the accessories on December 30; also provided refreshments, etc., for the children. The Public Service Corporation lighted the tree free of charge for that occasion. The King's Daughters take this means of acknowledging the receipt of the above and thanking the donors.

Musicale & Literary Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian church, a musicale and literary entertainment will be given at the church on Thursday night, January 13. Clifford A. Braider, organist of the church, has charge of the program. The artists will be Miss Edith Rubel, of New York, violinist; Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto; Miss Leah A. Coleman, dramatic reader. Mr. Braider will be the accompanist.

Form a New Real Estate Firm.

Lamar VanSyckel, son of the late Dr. Sylvester VanSyckel, of Clinton, Hunterdon county, and a nephew of former Judge Bennett VanSyckel, of Trenton, has formed a partnership with John H. Doane, in the real estate and insurance business, with offices on the ground floor at 207 North avenue.

Bishop Vincent In Town.

Bishop John H. Vincent, formerly of this city, but now of Chicago, spent yesterday afternoon with his friend, Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney, of First place. He left last night for Warren, Ohio, where he will deliver a course of seven lectures.

BENEFITS FROM THE TROLLEY.

In traveling on those fast, prompt, roomy, modern cars, run smoothly, without jerks over a solid roadbed by courteous employes, it seemed to me that this thing was being done even better here than anywhere in up-to-date Germany, says a writer in Success. And I recalled, with humiliation, the obsolete conditions generally obtaining today among our Eastern trolley systems.

I stopped off wherever fancy dictated, talking to farmers, storekeepers, professional men, traction officials and railway men—all sorts and conditions of people; but keeping especially on the alert for an experienced, intelligent and communicative conductor.

He was not hard to find.

"What's your line doing for this part of the State?" I asked him.

"Doin?" he echoed. "The line's simply making it! I've been running these interurbans ever since Ohio first saw them, and I can tell you they've brought in a new day for the city, and for the village, and for the country.

"Take this section of the road. When the company was securing the right of way, four years ago, lots of the farmers were afraid of the idea, and asked so much for the lease that the company found it cheaper to buy their whole farms outright and be done with it. Today many of those same farmers are coming and wanting to buy their farms back again because they see what this thing is doing for their old neighbors.

"It was the same story with the small storekeepers," he continued. "They thought judgment day had struck 'em along with the interurban. And, at first, their trade did fall off considerable. But bit by bit they saw people's wants increasing So village trade picked up. And then the city folks began swarming out of town and building homes along the trolley line. They were awful glad to get into the country, and grew loyal to their new homes and traded with the local stores. The upshot is that the trolley has helped all village tradesmen except the clothiers."

He went forward to drive the car while the motorman ate his luncheon.

"Let me tell you," he went on, rejoining me in twenty minutes, "we're doing more for the farmer than just to increase his wants; we're putting money in his pocket. Wherever an interurban line has gone it has, for one thing, raised land values from twenty-five to one hundred per cent. It has brought the farmer in touch with the briskness and system of modern commerce, and taught him to use business methods in his farming. It's given him a wider choice of markets. And he can get his milk, eggs, fruit and vegetables to town fresher. He receives his market quotations by rural free delivery and 'phone, and takes quicker advantage of high prices by means of us."

Borough Building Operations.

Since the adoption of the new borough building ordinance last spring up to December 31, Building Inspector J. J. Stahl passed favorably on 16 permits for new buildings and 11 permits for alterations.

UNION BAR ELECTION; TALK ON LEGISLATION.

Elizabeth, Jan. 6.—City Attorney James C. Connolly was re-elected president of the Union County Bar Association at the annual meeting Tuesday in the courthouse, following the opening of the January term of court. Prosecutor C. Addison Swift was elected vice-president; Paul Q. Oliver, of Westfield, secretary, and Nathan R. Leavitt, of this city, treasurer. Members of the bar from Plainfield, Westfield, Rahway and other parts of the county were present.

A bill to change the method of prosecution in the lower courts, as recommended by the October grand jury, was read at the meeting.

The bill was drafted by a special committee of the bar association, and provides for the establishing of law judges on the benches of city criminal courts in Elizabeth and other second class cities. The bill was informally discussed, and it was decided that a special meeting be held next Monday afternoon, at which the measure will be discussed in detail.

Because of the number of trivial criminals cases which are now referred to the grand jury much time is taken up and the cost to the county is thousands of dollars annually. The October grand jury recommended that the bar association devise some way of disposing of petty criminal cases in the city criminal courts.

BOY PEEKED AT NOTE; PREVENTED A SUICIDE.

Denver, Col., Jan. 6.—The inquisitiveness of a messenger boy saved the life of a young woman giving the name of Miss Eva Hains, nineteen years of age, who had taken several bichloride of mercury tablets with suicidal intent.

The girl wrote a note to a male friend informing him of her intentions and gave it to the messenger to deliver. The messenger read it and hurried to the police station with it. Police Surgeon Mudd was dispatched to the girl's room and found her in great agony. Emetics gave relief and an hour later the girl was pronounced out of danger. She refused to discuss her attempt to end her life.

The note gave instructions to send word to her father, William Frazier, Waterloo, Ind.

TAFT SPECIAL MESSAGE OVER UNTIL TOMORROW.

Washington, Jan. 6.—The further announcement was made at the White House yesterday that President Taft's combined special message on the interstate commerce and anti-trust laws would not go to Congress until tomorrow.

It was stated that the President desired that further time should be given for the distribution of the message, which was sent out in printed form yesterday afternoon. The message transmitting the attorney-general's report on the Glavis charges against Secretary Ballinger will be sent to Congress today instead of tomorrow.

"LITTLE TIM'S" RICHES DWINDLED INTO $2,000.

New York, Jan. 6.—While it was generally thought that the late "Little Tim" Sullivan, Tammany aldermanic leader, had died a millionaire, it is now understood that he left practically nothing. Only $2,000 on deposit in a bank is all the cash said to be available for his widow and son.

The report that he had held stocks and bonds or deeds for large parcels of real estate in this city is said to be unfounded. His generosity is believed to be the reason why the estate is so small.

MARINERS ADRIFT ON OIL BARGE RESCUED.

Bayonne, Jan. 6.—Rescued by an ocean-going tug, oil barge No. 56, of the Standard Oil Line, bearing Captain James Andrews and five men, was brought into port here yesterday morning after all hope of saving the men had been abandoned. The barge went adrift fifty miles at sea several days ago, and it was feared it was lost with all hands.

The rescued men were Thomas Larkins, Frederick Snowden, James Wolf, Thomas Kelly and John Downes.

Rahway's New School Board.

Rahway, Jan. 6.—The new Board of Education, part of which is elective, and part appointive, was Tuesday night in its first regular session. The new president, F. M. Stillman, and all members were present. The chairmen of the various committees appointed are: Instruction, John M. Randolph; building, T. H. Randolph; financial, Henry Jardine; school estimates, Henry Jardine. Commissioners John M. Randolph, Ralph Ritter and Carman were appointed a committee to revise the rules and regulations of the board. Fred C. Hyer was retained as attorney for the board. The amount of insurance in force on the new high school building was reported to be $40,000. The regular night for board meetings will be the first Tuesday in each month.

BREW THAT STARTED STRIKE

Fearful Concoction Responsible for Trouble Among Women of Cigar Factory.

There never was such a strike as that of the 100 women employed in a cigar factory just across the river from New York. All Hungarians, they are as husky as catamounts and have the same regard for the sacredness of human life that a polar bear shows. None of them can speak English and no one dares to get close enough to them either to find out what their demands are or to tell them that they have been accepted. All anyone knows is that they are on strike and likely to stay so. The proprietors of the factory are said to be considering the wisdom of starting another factory in San Francisco and letting the strikers take this one apart, if they want to.

The strike started when some inspired idiot at a Hungarian wedding built a concoction to which he gave in Hunky—the name of "lightning conductor." Local tradition holds that this brew is composed of gin, orange bitters, svenska punch, beer, new cider, creme de menthe, absinthe and rum, all mixed in a tin washtub with roast apples floating in it. That recipe may not be absolutely accurate, but whatever the lightning conductor is made of, the results were always the same, says the New York correspondent of the Cincinnati Times-Star. After the first drink the guest tries to kick the bride. At the second drink she sought to set fire to the kitchen and at the third drink she pulled her old-country shawl about her round placid face, grabbed a bat in one hand and started out howling down the street, smashing at every living thing in sight. After the fourth drink a strike of cigar rollers seemed almost ridiculously easy.

The 100 amazons that once rolled cigars in the factory have seized every avenue of approach to the building. They patrol night and day keeping up big bonfires all night long round which they sit and drink. The 15 police of New Brunswick have been whiped to a cream custard twice and finally gave the battle up. Nothing but a Gatling gun could possibly have any effect upon these women. A delegation of townspeople that called on Chief O'Connell got a flat refusal to interfere. "I'll not sacrifice my men," he said, glaring at the delegates. "But I'll tell you—if I can find out who built that lightning conductor I'll hang him on a street corner as an example."

Farming in Egypt.

A sailor on board the Rhode Island on the trip of the battleship fleet around the world last year wrote from Egypt describing graphically the wonders of the pyramids and other interesting things in that country. Of the farming there he says:

"From the statue of Rameses the Great we went for a long ride over the splendidly irrigated land to the tombs. The farming land was quite a sight.

"They have brought corn from the United States and raise it here in great quantities. They also raise the wheat, clover, cabbages, lettuce and nearly all vegetables.

"Did you ever see an Egyptian plow in a museum? They use that kind here now. As a rule they are drawn by bullocks, but I saw them plowing with camels, bulls, a bull and a camel and also by hand.

"It was a strange sight. Quite different from the riding gang plow they use at home."

Nerve Timing.

A strange instance of the care and minuteness with which the human body is now studied, in the effort to understand its powers and functions better, is furnished by a paper read recently at a meeting of the Royal society in London on the "Rapidity of the Nervous Impulse in Tall and Short Individuals." Even the difference in time required for a "nerve telegram" to traverse the bodies of different persons is regarded as a matter of scientific importance.

A series of observations has shown that the length of the nerve does not affect the velocity with which an impulse passes between the brain and the extremities, and consequently that more time is needed if the path is long than if it is short. It follows that a short man should feel a step on his corns quicker than a tall man; but the difference is so slight that the offender has no better chance of escape in one case than in the other.—The Sunday Magazine.

Pictures of Presidents.

In every department, and in fact in every bureau, are to be found the pictures of the former heads of those departments or bureaus. Pictures of all of the presidents are not in the White House, but many are to be found there.

Neither are the pictures of the wives of all the presidents those who occupied the position of "first lady of the land," to be found in the White House, though a goodly number have been preserved. It is rather a notable fact that the pictures of nearly all the women who have graced the position of mistress of the White House are placed in the lower rooms and corridors. This region might be termed the basement, though it scarcely merits that position in architecture.

All of these corridors are used at the big functions at the White House, and no doubt more people see the pictures of the women than would be the case if they were hung in the upper rooms.

PARADISE LOST AGAIN

By S. E. KISER

(Copyright, 1909, by W. G. Chapman.)

Once there was a boy of ordinary intelligence and attainments, and his name was Thomas. Blissfully he played with a rosy-cheeked maiden, Mandy by name. It made the neighbors glad to see Tommy and Maudy romping care-free together, and Tommy's mother did not think Maudy's mother was a slovenly housekeeper. Furthermore, it is a fact that Maudy's mother did not feel that the parents of Tommy were socially impossible. It was agreed that the children were exactly suited to each other; they seemed to agree in their tastes, and they were supremely happy together.

As they grew up the affection each had for the other failed to diminish. Everybody who knew them took it for granted that they would as soon as they were old enough get married. When Tom was 20 and Maude was 18 they began to have the exclusive use of the Mullins front parlor—Mullins being Maude's last name—on Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings regularly, and on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings when they were not otherwise engaged. And, oh, how happy they were! Certainly they had lovers' quarrels occasionally, but these were always quickly made up, with the usual delightful informalities that attend the adjustment of such differences.

When Tom was 25 and Maude 23 he had eyes for no other girl, and she regarded him as the one man in the world who was absolutely without a fault. By this time people who knew them began to wonder when they were going to get married. Mrs. Fergus said that she should think, seeing they'd been courting ever since they were babies, it was about time they went to housekeeping, and Mrs. Gummidge declared she couldn't see any sense in people putting it off and off year after year when they'd got their minds made up.

By the time Tom had reached the age of 27 and Maude was 25 a good many of their acquaintances were beginning to regard the affair as a scandalous one.

Why in the world, people asked, didn't they get married? Tom was able to support a wife, and it was a shame, if he didn't intend to have her, for him to keep other young men away. But Tom and Maude kept on being happy. Night after night in the Mullins front parlor they made love and blissfully agreed that life was well worth living, or, at least, that it would have been if other people had kindly minded their own business, for by this time the lovers had found out that they were the talk of the whole neighborhood.

It was shortly after Maude had celebrated her twenty-seventh birthday that Tom went to her one morning with trouble on his mind.

"Darling," he said, "your father came to me to-day. I suppose you know why?"

"It's too bad," she replied, "that people can't quit bothering themselves about us."

"After all, we've known each other a long time. You know I love you with all my heart."

"Yes, dear. And you know I have never cared for anyone but you."

"We have been very, very happy."

"Very, very happy."

"Why should we put it off any longer? I can give you a good home, our parents are waiting to give us their blessing, and—and—"

"And," she said when he tried to think of the proper word, "why should we go on giving our friends cause to worry?"

"This is the way the situation presents itself to me, darling," he assented, taking her in his arms and kissing her the six thousand, seven hundred and eighty-fourth time.

So they were married and lived unhappily ever after.

Christianity in Japan.

In the Protestant Episcopal mission in Tokyo, Japan, are two boarding schools for girls, which have some 350 students. The principals and teachers are Japanese, with the exception of two foreign missionary teachers. In St. Paul's college for boys and young men are six hundred students, and there would be many more if they could be accommodated.

Stir in Suits and Dresses

Our Drastic Clearance Sale Excites Great Interest. Values are Unequalled by Any Other Store

Go back to last January. Do you remember the sweeping sale we conducted, the movement which rid us of every laggard in the garment section? When we were thru we found the department free from debris, ready to receive new suits and dresses as fast as the makers produced the new styles, placing us in a position to take full advantage of every trade turn and to look forward to new conquests instead of backward at the wreckage of a past season.

And we find ourselves today with only the most up-to-date apparel on hand—suits and dresses fashion loving women can wear with pride—and these smart, new, fashionable things we are selling at prices matching the best offerings many other stores are making of styles that belong to days that have gone.

SHOOTING POLICEMAN COST JOSEPH KISH $500.

New Brunswick, Jan. 6.—For the second time within a week the $10,000 damage suit of Policeman Lawrence C. Jensen, of Perth Amboy, against Joseph Kish has been settled out of court. Jensen was shot by Kish some months ago and Kish served a term in State prison for the assault. Jensen also started civil proceedings against him.

Last week when the case was set for trial before Judge Lloyd the latter received a telegram the night before the trial day from Joseph E. Strickler, a lawyer, announcing a settlement. There was a hitch, however, in this arrangement, and this week Mr. Strickler had the case placed back again on the calendar for trial.

Tuesday afternoon the parties interested got together at the courthouse here and settled the case, Kish again agreeing to pay the policeman $500. The litigants left for home arm in arm.

DRUNKARDS' GUARDIANS FOR NEW BRUNSWICK.

New Brunswick, Jan. 6.—Excise Commissioner Charles Deshler presented a resolution at the meeting of the Excise Board Tuesday night, stating that the best interests of the city would be conserved by the appointment of a Board of Protectors, in accordance with the act for the prevention of drunkenness and requesting that the Excise Board urge Common Council to name such a board.

Mr. Deshler said he did this because of a number of pitiable appeals made by wives and parents of habitual drunkards asking that some action be taken to prevent them from getting liquor. Commissioners John E. Elmendorf and James Anderson also spoke of receiving like appeals, and in favor of the resolution, and it was adopted. The clerk will send the resolution to Common Council for action.

Very Likely.

The depot at Meridian, Tex. is about a mile from the business part of the town, says Lippincott's. One night a sleepy, weary traveling man said to the darky who was driving him to the hotel:

"Old man, why in the name of heaven did they put this depot so far from town?"

The darky scratched his head in thought and replied:

"Waal, boss, I's fo'ced to admit dat I hasn't give de matter s'ficient cognitation, put jes' jumped up fer a answer like dis. Is'pose dey done dat so as to have de depot as near as possible to de railroad."

WATCH FOR SCHOOL OF FISH

Norwegian Boys Detailed to Warn Farmers of the Approach of Their Finny Prey.

It is common enough to see a boy watching cattle to keep them from straying, and in days not so very long gone by it was no unusual thing for a boy to be set to keep the birds off the crops; but a watchboy whose duty it is to keep a lookout for a school of fish and who sits in a sentry box set upon stilts is not an everyday sight. This particular kind of watchboy is Norwegian, the scene of his labors being the shores of some fiord of his native land.

His little sentry box is made of wood and perched upon posts. Here the lad sits, gazing out across the arm of the sea, using his keen eyes for the benefit of the farmers who are depending on him to give the alarm when a school of fish shall appear. They work contentedly enough in their fields secure in their belief that their watchboy will let them know when it it time to reap a harvest from the sea instead of from the land.

When the signal is given they leave their work, throw their big nets over their shoulders and hurry off to the boats.

Sentinel boxes similar to those employed in Norway were in use among the fishermen on the shores of the Mediterranean, and it is supposed that the vikings brought back with them from some of their piratical raids the idea that has been put in practice ever since.—Youth's Companion.

PIGEON'S DEVOTION TO MATE

Remarkable Attention That Has Attracted Notice of Bird Lovers in Virginia.

A story of the devotion of a carrier pigeon for his mate is told by a party of amateur fishermen from the valley of Virginia. It is laid in the village of Overall, at the farm of Capt. Manley Triplett, whose place borders the Shenandoah river.

Several weeks ago a female carrier pigeon bearing the number S. A. 19469, with a broken wing, fluttered as best she could, with the assistance of her mate, on whose leg was attached the inscription D 5821, into the open window of Capt. Triplett's barn. There the male bird in his own peculiar fashion proceeded to make her as comfortable as possible. He then disappeared and was gone for four weeks, when he returned. Since his return he has tried in every way known to pigeon lore to help his mate fly again, but in vain. Now he seems to have settled down to a siege of the most commendable domesticity. Daily he lingers near his mate, feeding her and caring for her in various ways until he has won the admiration not only of Capt. Triplett and his family, but of the countryside for miles around. It is regarded as a remarkable case of devotion in the feathered tribe.

A "Leetle Diff'rence."

"Yes, sir, gentlemen; thar's a leetle diff'rence between farmin' out west an' back here in old Varmont," said Uncle Si Eggmann to the cronies around the stove at the cross-roads store, on his return from a visit to his brother in Dakota. "Now, out thar in the west they don't think they've reelly got a farm unless it totals about 3,000 or 4,000 acres; an' if they air raisin' stock they speak o' 5,000 head as bein' a 'leetle bunch o' cattle.' An' takes 'em 'bout half a day to hoe one row o' corn, the rows air so long, an' they harvest corn an' wheat enough on one farm to fill our town hall. Now, that's a leetle diff'rent from what it is here in New England, where we call 20 acres o' ground, a couple o' dozen hens, an' a rooster, six or eight keows, an' a rozberry patch, a farm? Yes, sir, gentlemen, thar's a turrible diff'rence between farmin' east an' farmin' west—a most turrible diff'rence!" —Puck.

It Worked Thus.

Mr. Bjones of East Cleveland explained it to us this way:

"I thought my wife might be afraid of tramps and porch-climbers and such, so I bought her a watch-dog. He was a fierce-looking bull, and I thought he'd about fill the bill.

"I got him in the morning, and I had him sent right out to the house. When I got home that night there was one of the toughest-looking hoboes you ever saw, sitting on the porch.

"'What in thunder are you doing here?' I asked.

"'Well, boss,' says he, 'I come lookin' fer a handout, and yer lady give me 50 cents to stick around and protect her from dat dog o' yours. He's li'ble to eat 'er up any minute!'"

Anecdotes Told of Wit.

When A. T. Stewart conceived the idea of setting up a coat of arms he went to W. R. Travers, the New York wit, for advice. Mr. Travers suggested an employer rampant, chasing a lazy salesman with a yard-stick and Mr. Stewart did not speak to him again for a month. This anecdote is probably as authentic as the other, which states that Mr. Stewart being extremely loquacious at a state banquet at Delmonico's, Mr. Travers silenced him by calling the length of the table: "Cash!"

It Did Sound Funny.

"That was an awful joke your wife sprung."

"I didn't hear it."

"Well, shortly after you were married she told my wife that she'd taken a flat, but might leave it at any time."

HIS WIFE LAUGHED

"There's no place like home," exploded Uncle Henry, after she was safely out of ear shot, "and, by gracious, I'm glad of it. See what I mean? 'Every fireside the cradle of liberty,' as the feller says. Then along comes your wife and rocks the cradle.

"No, sir, I'm a downy bird, I am, and take it from me, this home sweet home gig isn't going to cash any policy slip I ever saw. Not until they do something to give women a sense of humor.

"Now, get this right. They can appreciate a joke. You hear me. Some of the best laughers in the wide, wide world right now are wearing high-heeled shoes and imported hair.

"Yes, siree, they can appreciate a joke. If they can see it they can. That's it. There you have it, son. If they can see it! That's the trouble. They seldom see it.

"Listen here. Did you see her laugh as she went out? Eh? Well, sir, I just told her a joke, regular kind of a funny joke. Is she laughing at my joke, son? She is not. Then what the blazes is she laughing at? You don't know. I don't know, she don't know. Can you beat it? Answer: No, you cannot beat it.

"It's a good joke too. Heard it downtown. Seems one of the boys was up in Maine this summer and just as he was getting over to Rattlesnake creek he heard a terrible swimming going on there. He went down to the shore and there on the other side of Rattlesnake creek was a big turtle crawling away.

"He says the turtle had two rings on his tail and one button on the end, and his shell was mottled yellow and red. He says the two rings probably were for the turtle to go ahead, because that's what the turtle was doing. And when he saw the button on the end of the tail he knew he'd seen the turtle's finish.

"That's some story. Eh? But listen here. I got to thinking about that story and I up and asks him how he makes it out that a turtle could have rings and a button on his tail. Rattlesnakes are the only critters that have them. He said that was easy, because when he first saw the turtle on the other side of Rattlesnake creek he knew in an instant it was a cross.

"Do you get that? I guess that's bad. By gum, it cost me a dollar sixty to find out about that cross, but it was worth it. I took a cigar myself, because I was coming right home and I didn't want any argument. Here, smoke that when you get outside. Wife objects to the smell around the house.

"Well, sir, I says, says I, 'Home for mine, where in the sacred precincts of my own vine and fig tree,' I says, 'I'll hand that one over the plate to my soft-voiced spouse,' says I, 'and it will tie her up,' I says, 'into a shaking and complicated tangle of blithesome merriment,' says I. Likewise, such being the case, I freely opined that my paths would be in sunny places and sweet peace would brood over me, to the third and fourth generation thereof. Selah!

"So I came home, and, take it from me, I gave it out to her in plain words. No hidden subtleties, you understand, but full of corroborative detail and, believe me, son, with the bright light of truth and virtue flashing from my clear blue eyes.

"You never heard me when I was right in top form, maybe? Well, son, the way I told her that story was right. See what I mean? The turtle wouldn't have had any comeback if he had heard it himself.

"And did she laugh? Did she give that imitation of complicated and tangled merriment? Not a sort. Nothing of the kind. Nix. She looked me square in the face and she said: 'Well, what about it?' says she. 'Go ahead and tell the joke,' says she.

"Say, that got me mad. I wouldn't have minded if she had been kidding me, but she wasn't. I was sore all over and I unhitched my righteous indignation and began to hand things out all in a bunch. I combed things over pretty general one way and another until, I'll give you my word, I couldn't think of anything more to say that I dared to, women being unnecessarily touchy at times.

"'You're the limit,' I says, as a kind of windup. 'I don't believe you ever saw a joke in your life,' I says, 'and you wouldn't laugh if you did,' I says.

"'Henry,' she says just as serious, 'I don't know but one real funny joke and I've known that a long time,' she says, 'and every once in awhile I laugh myself sick over it,' she says. 'It's an awfully funny joke,' she says, 'and one is enough for any woman,' she says, 'that's respectable,' she says.

"'Well, for the love of mackerel, put me wise,' says I. 'No, Henry,' she says, 'you wouldn't like it at all. And besides,' she says, 'I don't want to hurt your feelings,' she says. And then, take it from me, she laid her head back and laughed like she'd have hysterics.

"Honest, can you beat it? As man to man and without reference to any present, previous, or contemplated condition of servitude, what do you know about that? That gets me, all right. There's a woman who only knows one joke and misses a chance to tell it. I don't know, son, sometimes I give it up. These women are a queer lot."

EVERYBODY MUST USE AND BUY FURNITURE

There is nothing new or particularly startling in that statement, but it is a matter of great surprise and wonderment why so many will buy poor furniture—something that will not and cannot wear, or even appear well for any length of time.

It is fortunate for our customers, yet, in a way, unfortunate for us, that we do sell good furniture. It lasts a long time. It will give satisfaction for the price we sell it. It carries with it the modern style and finish and it is put together (not thrown together) for use as well as adornment for the home.

There are those who want to refurnish their homes with the more beautiful and comfortable furniture of today—those, many of whom, perhaps, have not had the good, serviceable kind.

Again, there are those who want to buy the right make and correct style in single pieces for the living-room, dining room or den.

To those, we want to give every assurance that we have a varied and complete assortment of the most artistic single pieces (as well as suits) for the completion of the "setting" of a room—all of that same serviceable class.

We might go into a lengthy description of what is being exhibitied on our three large floors, but to be best appreciated, and the quality and price realized, the goods must be seen. We, therefore, extend a most cordial invitation to you to visit our show rooms and see just what we have.

Don't feel sensitive about coming, even if you are "only looking around and may buy later." We get a whole lot of pleasure showing our goods. You will get a whole lot of pleasure and satisfaction out of them when you buy.

"You get just what you pay for when you buy here."

A surprise party was given to Mrs. William Sparks at her residence, 37 Watchung avenue, last night. The evening was spent in dancing and games and several piano selections were rendered by Miss Nellie Dow. Refreshments were served at a late hour.

MORE INSANE IN JERSEY.

Dr. Britton D. Evans, the alienist and medical director of the Morris Plains State Hospital, says in his annual report that it would be unwise for the State to add to his institution, but that it would be wiser to build a separate institution in Trenton for the criminal insane. He declares it a duty to segregate the classes. The two State asylums for the insane, he says, are dangerously overcrowded.

An increase in insanity, although there is also an increase in the number of permanent cures, Dr. Evans says, will necessitate the building of more asylums.

The population of the Morris Plains Hospital is 2,060. Eighty per cent. of these are reported indigent.

Dr. Evans thinks the hospital nurses underpaid. He says they have the meanest kind of employment, dangerous in the extreme at any time. The doctor emphasizes the importance of making an energetic fight against tuberculosis, recommending the use of tents instead of closed buildings.

The alienist says that idleness harms the patient, and advocates the introduction into sylums of useful occupations, such as printing and broom and brush making.

PLAINFIELD MAY HAVE BALL TEAM AFTER ALL

After giving up hopes of putting a ball team on the field next season, owing to inability to secure suitable grounds, Manager Ernest Dorflinger, of the Plainfield Baseball Club, entertains the opinion that Crescent Oval will be available for the locals next season.

The situation will be cleared next Tuesday night, when the club will hold a meeting to discuss the grounds proposition. Mr. Dorflinger is not worrying about getting players to fill the gaps left open by Jack Martin and Jim Emery, who will play on minor league teams next season, as there is always a squad of promising material to be found here every spring.

While Dorflinger has made no plans to secure players, his optics are focused on a crack collegiate battery, should it be decided to put a team on the field.

PUBLIC SERVICE LOSES TO WESTFIELD WOODMEN

The Woodmen, of Westfield, placed two games to their credit in the Fraternal Tourney, last night, and the Public Service team were the victims.

The latter caught their opponents napping in the first game and aided largely by W. Causebrook's 226 the tail enders succeeded in breaking their string of defeats.

The Woodmen came back strong and with totals of 955 and 925 had no difficulty in taking the remaining games.

Louis Menzenbach did some high rolling, scoring 236 and 258, the latter being high score for the tourney.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS IN BASKETBALL GAME

The Plainfield High School girls' basketball team played a scrub team composed of alumni and high schools, yesterday afternoon, in the gymnasium. The first team won by a score of 5 to 1. Miss Crampton played the best game for the scrub, seconded by Miss Alpaugh. The Misses Wean and Woolley played a fast game for the high school. The lineup:

P. H. S.—Forwards, the Misses Wean, Newall; centre, Dorothy Merrill; guards, the Misses Woolley and Stites.

Scrubs—Forwards, the Misses Newall, Todd; centre, Louise Andrews; guards, the Misses Crampton and Alpaugh.

The first boys' team beat the second team by a score of 83 to 27. It was a complete walkover for the first team. Lidgate, Clark and Morris played the star game and Doane did some good foul shooting. This is the first time Captain Lidgate has played since he injured his foot. The lineup:

P. H. S.—Forwards, Clark, Lidgate; centre, Morris; guards, Overton, Doane and Woodhull.

P. H. S. 2ds—Forwards, Manley, Ricketts; centre, Smith, Kenneth Runyon; guards, Bristol, Woodhull, E. VanZandt and H. VanZandt.

Y.M.C.A. ATHLETES ARE HUSTLING NOWADAYS

A novel athletic contest has been arranged by Physical Director G. L. Listman, of the Y. M. C. A., for Friday night, January 28, in which local athletes will be pitted against the representatives of the Troy (N. Y.) Y. M. C. A. The athletes of the respective associations will compete in their home "gyms" and the results will be made known by telephone at the conclusion of the meet.

In the Boys' Basketball League games last night three contests were decided by the following scores, Yale 6, Pennsylvania 3, Harvard 4, Cornell 0, Princeton 19, Carlisle 6.

The fight for honors in the all-round athletic championship of the association will be renewed on the "gym" floor tonight. The competition is especially close, with Chauncey Murphey being the leader over John Fritts by a close margin.

Last night there was a card of excellent sport furnished in the Senior Boys' competition. In the standing-broad jump Edwin Price excelled with a mark of 15 feet, 8 inches; second, Henry Kinney, 15 feet, 5½ inches; third, F. O. Dunning, Jr., 13 feet, 2 inches. In the running high jump events Henry Kinney captured first honors with a leap of 4 feet, 4 inches; F. O. Dunning was second, and Roy Love third.

A big basketball attraction is carded for Saturday night when the Y. M. C. A. basketball five will clash with the Orange Y. M. C. A., three year champion team. The preliminary game will be played between the Y. M. C. A. second team and the Marathon A. C., of Westfield. The latter game was originally scheduled to be played in Westfield, but owing to the inability of the Marathons to secure a suitable hall, the game was transferred to this city.

Two games are on the tapis for tomorrow night. The Business Men's five will meet the N. P. H. S. five and the Boys' quintet will have as its opponents the second team of the borough school.

BASEBALL.

Bogert Conklin, the veteran Somerville manager, is on deck for next season. He announces that he will pilot a team which will be able to hold its own with any of the clubs in Central New Jersey. Somerville fans were out of the game last season, owing to failure to secure grounds. This difficulty has been overcome and Plainfield's ancient diamond enemy will be crowing again as usual.

A rumor has been going the rounds that Brit Martin, the idol of local fans has decided to retire. The smell of diamond dust is too keen for Brit's nostrils, and it's a good bet that he will be in harness again next season.

Wanted — Information of the whereabouts of Charles Dixon, Plainfield's erstwhile king rooter.

According to dope being handed out by Physical Director George L. Listman, the Y. M. C. A. will make a big splash in the baseball puddle next season. Although no definite plans have been announced Mr. Listman declares that the association will be represented by a crackerjack nine.

Cliff Randolph, who will fling curves and twisters for Binghamton again, is getting his wing in shape by doing the dumb bell stunt at his home.

New Brunswick fans are anticipating a redhot season. The management plans to have three Tri-State League teams for Sunday attractions every month, along with a major league club for the other Sunday.

George Johnson, Ben Mumford and John McLaughlin declare they have heard the buzz of the baseball bee despite the wintry blasts.

Christy Mathewson's advent into the literary world has led our friend Charley Denman, of Westfield, to engage in a hunt for material for a historical article on past battles between Plainfield and Westfield.

Jake Beckley is being labeled the "Methuslah of the diamond," but how about our old friend George Mallen? Prince George was forty-four last summer, but he was batting 'em out and pulling down the flies same as of yore.

Sporting Editor, The Daily Press:

Who is considered the king of ball players in the major leagues; in both batting and fielding? A. B. C.

Hans Wagner without a doubt.

Willie Deegan received his second wind during the snow flakes. While on a visit to town today he announced that his arm is good as ever and that he would be back in the game next season. Deegan is hankering for a tryout with an Eastern League team.

The scarcity of deals in the major league pastures so far this winter makes it appear that the pennant fight in the National League will be confined again to Chicago and Pittsburg, while Detroit looks as good as ever in the American circuit.

BASKETBALL.

The girls' basketball team of N. P. H. S. will play the Y. W. C. A. team at Debele's Hall, tonight at 8:15 o'clock, and on Saturday night the N. P. H. S. girls will play the girls' team from Bernardsville at Debele's Hall.

Elected Football Captain.

William Douglas, P. H. S., '07, has been elected captain of the football team of the Colorado School of Mines for the coming year.

Legislature Guest of Governor.

State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, is among the notables gathered at Lakewod today, when the entire Legislature for 1910 is the guest of Governor J. Franklin Fort at luncheon. The luncheon took place at the Laurel House, the management of which arranged to serve the dinner in the big ball room. The guests include twenty-one Senators and sixty Assemblymen also the heads of the various State departments.

JEFFERY WINS THE FIGHT

"Bungalow Man" Defeats H. W. Marshall for President of Trade Board.

THE BALLOTING IS CLOSE.

Whole Jeffery Ticket Goes Through—Routine Busines and Annual Reports.

In the most exciting election ever held by that body, William Jeffery was elected president of the Board of Trade last night, defeating H. W. Marshall. Jeffery and his friends swept everything before them, the only real contest being on the cheif office which went to "the bungalow man" by nine majority, he having received 50 votes to Marshall's forty-one.

Things started to liven up when Mr. Marshall, while in the chair, requested Secretary Herr to read a news article published in this paper yesterday afternoon containing a letter signed by Mr. Jeffery in which he said he had been informed that "the powers that be" did not want him for the place. After denying that he had been subject to any political influence as president, Mr. Marshall called on Mr. Jeffery for an explanation. The latter said that he considered it "uncharitable" for Mr. Marshall "to attack a member on the floor." During the argument between the two, Mr. Jeffery said that by the powers that be he referred "to Mr. Fisk and his friends" and he quoted an alleged statement of Mr. Fisk's to show that the Mayor was opposed to him for the presidency. The sallies between the two were much enjoyed by the members, who once or twice broke out into laughter. Mr. Marshall denied that he had any intention of attacking his opponent, and at the outset referred to the latter as making an attack on him behind his back.

Mr. Jeffery's name was placed before the house by J. Fred MacDonald, while Edmund Rushmore nominated Mr. Marshall. In a short speech, Mr. Rushmore withdrew as a candidate and then named Mr. Marshall. After the ballot was announced, former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell was unanimously elected first vice-president as was F. A. Duttenhofer second vice-president, there being no opposition to either. In the same way, Eugene M. Laing, the veteran treasurer, was unanimously re-elected to his office. H. C. Runyon was unopposed and was re-elected by an unanimous vote as counsel. A viva voca vote was also taken for executive committee after the Jeffrey ticket had been nominated. The new committeemen are Herman Schwed, chairman; J. Fred MacDonald, J. V. B. Vanderhoef and George M. Christian.

A. S. Herr was re-elected secretary, defeating J. H. Crane by a vote of 66 to 15.

Through Edmund Rushmore, the chairman, the banquet committee reported progress during the business session. He suggested that the price per plate be $5, and this was agreed to by an unanimous vote. A. E. Force, chairman of the dust nuisance problem committee, also reported progress.

The trolley committee, through its chairman, Mr. Jeffery, put in a similar report. He explained that he had talked with the Mayor about the matter and had been promised copies of all correspondence between the city and the P. S. C. regarding its broken promises. J. F. MacDonald and C. H. Frost had been added as members of the committee, he said, adding that this committee intended to get after the corporation and compel it to put decent cars on local lines and to maintain its schedule. If the present ordinances are not sufficient to cover the matter, Mr. Jeffery declared that the committee would use its enedavors to see that there were proper ordinances to make the P. S. C. perform its duty as the clamor is general.

The reports of Secretary Herr, Treasurer Laing and Collector Sweeney showed that the total membership is now 233; that the annual receipts for 1909 were $556 and that there is still unpaid dues amounting to $331. Thirty-five candidates for membership were added to the roll last night and the resignation of two members were accepted. It was decided that suit should be brought against several who had not paid for advertising in that now famous "Plainfield As She Really Is" booklet which appeared during the Charter Day celebration.

After Mr. Jeffery assumed the chair as president, he made a few brief remarks. It was announced that former Councilman L. Spangenberg had "hired a hall" to deliver a speech on Councilmanic history at Coward hall on January 11. Presi-

HEAR ARGUMENT FOR GASOLENE STORAGE

The councilmanic fire and building committee, of which Duncan W. Taylor is the chairman, arranged for a public hearing in the Council Chamber, last night, on the question of the storage of gasolene. The matter is the result of the application of the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company for permission to install a gasolene tank of 10,000 gallons' capacity on the company's property.

An investigation showed that the city has no ordinance of any kind to safe-guard the interests of property-owners in this matter and finally the committee decided to make a thorough and exhaustive investigation and learn the best possible conditions under which permission to install gasolene tanks can be given.

Mr. Taylor arranged to bring G. Edgar Allen here last night and give the councilmen and others his opinion regarding the handling of gasolene. He is an expert and is connected with the Hydraulic Oil Storage Company, of New York and Detroit. He also presented a model of the Snell patents, which he explained in a lucid manner to the entire satisfaction of the councilmen. Despite the fact that invitations were sent to all the owners of auto garages in the city and vicinity, Thomas Hanna, representing the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company, was the only one present from the trade.

Mr. Allen explained that he had recently installed a tank of 500 gallon capacity at East Orange and another at Englewood. He had conferred with Edward Keith, chief inspector of the Middle and Southern division for the board of underwriters, and had found him enthusiastic over the proposition as illustrated by his system.

It was explained by Mr. Allen that in his opinion all gasolene tanks of large capacity should be placed under ground at least two feet, and surrounded by concrete at least six or eight inches in thickness all around. He said that he had not found a single ordinance covering this point. His reasons for this were that there might be a natural or artificial water course in the ground and the gasolene might come in contact with it. He said that liquid gasolene is not dangerous, but the vapor from it is highly dangerous.

Mr. Allen said that according to the Government reports, last summer more than one hundred gasolene tanks above ground were destroyed through the contact of electricity with gasolene vapor. This cannot happen with the Snell system, Mr. Allen said.

The councilmen as well as Mayor Charles J. Fisk, who was present questioned Mr. Allen closely on various points, and former Councilman W. S. Tyler also brought out many salient points by his questioning. Chief T. O. Doane, who had inspected the model prior to the hearing, expressed the opinion that it fully met all objections in the storage of large quantities of gasolene.

The fire and building committee hope soon to have a suitable ordinance drafted, one that will cover the case fully, and which will provide for every possible danger. Judge William Newcorn, who is the counsel for the F. L. C. Martin Automobile Company, was present last night, but did not enter into the discussion.

Seniors Defeat Sophomores.

The seniors beat the sophomores in a fast game of basketball at the Plainfield High School, yesterday afternoon, the score being 53 to 28. Howard Runyon played a fine game for the winning team, while Kenneth Runyon held up his end with the sophomores. The lineup: Seniors—Forwards, Ricketts, Vail; centre, Runyon; guards, Miller, Loizeaux, Hamilton. Sophomores—Forwards, E. Woodhull, Uhler; centre K. Runyon; guards, Rubenstein, Zeraga, Fenno.

Dr. Pogson to Preach.

The Borough Council will hold its first regular meeting of the year tonight.

PLAINFIELDERS WIN OUT IN WILL CONTEST

Final settlement of the will of the late Stephen M. Wright, of Sea Cliff, L. I., who died in September, 1906, was made on Wednesday last. The will was contested by distant cousins of the testator, but the surrogate before whom the will was probated dismissed the suit of the contestants.

The legatees who will benefit by the will in sums upward of $50,000 each are H. J. Storrs, Electa Storrs Craft and Marie Louise Storrs, all of Kensington avenue.

Mr. Wright left an estate valued at about half a million dollars, and when the will was offered for probate the distant relatives who were not mentioned in the will began a contest which has lasted for the better part of three years.

FACTION SEEKS TO OUST PASTOR MOONEY

The democratic ways of the Rev. George W. Mooney, former pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, has resulted in the aristocratic faction of his congregation at South Orange, deciding to ask the Newark conference to appoint a successor for him when that body convenes next Spring.

While reticience is maintained as to the causes of dissatisfaction, it is said wealthier members of the congregation are not particularly pleased with the pastor, while the poorer members of the parish are his ardent friends.

That the friends of the clergyman intend to make a counter effort to retain him is also stated, and the prospects for a lively time in the parish are being discussed.

The Rev. Mr. Mooney's term as pastor will expire on April 1. He left here two years ago to assume the South Orange pastorate. During his stay in this city Mr. Mooney worked hard and conscientiously and was well liked by the Monroe Avenue congregation.

NEW LEAGUE IS FORMED

Anti-Food Trust League to Make Itself Felt Throughout the Country.

EXTOL ROOSEVELT'S POLICIES.

Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy Rehearsed—Some Suggestions.

Roosevelt and his policies and the cost of living, the formation of an Anti-Food Trust League and finishing with the Panchot-Ballingger controversy, Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, D. C., interested some seventy-five women at the Hartridge auditorium yesterday afternoon. While Colonel Roosevelt was praised for his attitude toward the trusts and his forcing of the application of the Sherman anti-trust law his critics were severely scored. The Hepburn Rate bill also received consideration at the hands of Miss Richards, who seemed to have at hand facts to prove that the people of this country are being buncoed and made to pay for something they do not get.

Roosevelt, Miss Richards claimed is a history maker and it was his virile methods which caused the whole country to wake up and take notice of the wrongs under which the people of the country are suffering. The Tobacco Trust was characterized as "highway robbers" and an interesting story of the absorbtion of a tobacco factory in Virginia with the subsequent ruin of the town in which it was situated and the downfall of the man who had established the business was told.

The formation of the Anti-Food Trust League, Miss Richards said, was an established fact and the methods to be pursued by the members has the virtue of originality. It is a simple way of overcoming a great and crying shame. In Washington, where the league was formed, it has been decided to use the boycott in a novel way. The members will go without meat for a week and if necessary for longer, so that the Beef Trust will feel the power of the people.

The fight between Secretary Ballinger and Mr. Pinchot, which has been taken up the newspapers and other periodicals, Miss Richards said, before it is ended the country will applaud the contention of Mr. Pinchot that our forests should be preserved as was originally intended by Mr. Roosevelt. The conservation of the forests, top soil, water and coal were things which were necessary for the welfare of the country. Alaska, with her 500,000,000 tons of coal of the finest anthracite quality is practically of no benefit to this part of the country because of the distance it has to be hauled to market. The price of this coal will be prohibitive, at least for the poor people. Therefore it is necessary that the coal producing lands nearby should be taken care of. Culm ought in a measure take the place of coal as it does in Germany. Miss Richards will give another talk on current history on February 3 at the same auditorium.

NEW LEGISLATURE DINED BY GOVERNOR J. F. FORT.

State Senators Ernest R. Ackerman and Joseph S. Frelinghuysen and W. G. Besler, of this city, were among the hundreds of guests who dined with Governor J. Franklin Fort at Lakewood, yesterday. The guests included the members of the one hundred and thirty-fourth annual Legislature and in addition the various heads of the State departments.

The guests travelled to Lakewood in a special train under the supervision of W. C. Hope and W. G. Besler, of the New Jersey Central.

Completing Church Organization.

The election of the consistory of the Netherwood Reformed church will take place on Friday night, January 21. The names of those elected to office will be announced on two Sabbaths and the officers will be ordained and installed at the service preparatory to communion, Friday evening, February 4, when new members will be received. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated for the first time in this church Sunday morning, February 6, at 10:30 o'clock.

Democratic Club Meeting.

There will be a special meeting of the Plainfield Democratic Club tomorrow night at the new Democratic club rooms in the Taylor building, corner North and Park avenues.

Baby Party Postponed.

The baby party announced to be held at the Holy Cross party house for tomorrow afternoon has been indefinitely postponed on account of the inclement weather.

THEY KEPT WEDDING SECRET FOUR MONTHS

Another belated wedding announcement was made today, when Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. Beeching, of Grandview avenue, announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Annette Palmer Beeching, to Charles Nathaniel Sebring, of Division street. The marriage took place in Elizabeth on Sunday, September 5, but the name of the officiating minister is withheld by the couple.

Mrs. Sebring is a member of the choir of the First M. E. church, while the groom holds a clerical position with the New Jersey Central at the company's offices in Jersey City. The couple will take up their residence in Jersey City.

MRS. ISRAEL D. TEN EYCK, AGED SIXTY-EIGHT, DEAD

In the death of Mrs. Israel D. Ten Eyck, which occurred yesterday, the First Baptist church loses one of its oldest members. She was sixty-eight years of age and became a member of the congregation when a young girl, being baptized in the stream of Greenbrook by the late Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes. Until ill health overtook her last July she was a regular attendant at the services. She was beloved by all who knew her and was noted for beautiful character. Death was due to pulmonary heart trouble.

The service will be held at the home of her nephew, Frank Putnam, on East Second street, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Owing to the absence from town of Rev. Dr. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, will officiate.

Mrs. Ten Eyck was the daughter of Samuel Connett and Sarah Terry, and was born at Short Hills on October 15, 1841. Soon after birth her parents removed to this city and with the exception of a brief space of time she spent at Asbury Park last summer in an effort to improve her health, Mrs. Ten Eyck always resided here.

On October 15, 1861, she was united in marriage to the husband who survives her. There were two children by the union, a daughter, Mrs. Iza D. F. Miller, of New York, and a son, Charles Howard Ten Eyck, who died about twenty years ago. A sister, Mrs. Eliza Putnam, of this city, and two brothers, Henry and Frazee Connett, of San Jose, Ill., also survive.

During the latter years of her life Mrs. Ten Eyck assisted her husband while the latter was superintendent of the Industrial Farm.

WALTER NELSON TO WED CLERGYMAN'S DAUGHTER

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Ruth Gardner, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. George H. Gardner, of New Market, to Walter Nelson, son of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Nelson, of the same place. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. Nelson is well known in local and collegiate athletic circles. He graduated from Rutgers College two years ago. While at college he won fame and glory as catcher on the 'varsity ball team. During his vacation periods he did backstop duty for the local Y. M. C. A. team.

Nelson's ability as a catcher at college attracted the attention of the veteran Jim O'Rourke, owner and manager of the Bridgeport club in the Connecticut League two years ago, who gave the New Market athlete a position on his team. Owing to business interests Nelson quit the professional game and contended himself by playing on independent teams. Last season he played at Bound Brook.

Miss Gardner is a favorite in New Market social circles in which she has been one of the leading spirits since her residence there. She is a teacher in the New Market public school and also actively engaged in society work connected with the First Baptist church, of which her father is pastor.

Call for New Market Pastor.

Rev. Henry N. Jordan, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, at New Market, has received a call to accept the pastorate of the Seventh-Day Baptist church at Leonardsville, N. Y. Mr. Jordan has the matter under consideration.

—Despite wintry's chilling blasts, Neuman Bros. are still offering the finest assortment of fruits and vegetables to be found in the market. The prices are reasonable considering quality.

UNION'S FREEHOLDERS APPOINTS COMMITTEES

The Union County Board of Freeholders held its first meeting of the year, after organization, at the Court House, Elizabeth, yesterday, when several matters of importance were considered and committees were announced for the year by Director Cady.

In the past, Justices of the Peace have been attesting correct constable's bills. Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur had this matter referred to the county attorney and prosecutor to ascertan whether this is right.

When Henry Winans built the Edgar road, he sub-let a portion of the contract to a contractor from Pennsylvania and after the latter was paid by Mr. Winans, he "skipped." Now, Mr. Winans wants to be reimbursed. The bill amounts to between $500 and $600. A conference has been held with Mr. Winans, the county attorney and the road committee and it looks as though Mr. Winans will have to stad the loss.

These committees for the year were appointed, the Plainfield members being well remembered:

Collector's bond, Crane, Martin and Adams; publication, Robinson, Haviland, Randolph; discharge of prisoners, Adams, Robinson, Swain; settle with collector, Wilbur, Garretson, Randolph; lunacy, Meisel, Doane and Crane; public grounds and buildings, Krause, Smith, Crane; auditing, Wilbur, Smith, Jones; jails, Perry, Doane, Martin; stationery, Darby, Garretson, Swain; miscellaneous accounts and agreements, Garretson, Darby, Perry; legal questions, Martin, Adams, Thompson; appropriations, Smith, Crane, Swain, Krause, Jones; county roads, Krause Wilbur, Meisel, Smith, Haviland; Elizabeth drawbridges, Jensen, Martin, Haviland; Rahway drawbridges, Gruener, Randolph, Thompson; special Elizabeth drawbridge, Haviland, Krause, Robinson, Jensen, Martin; legislation, Meisel, Krause, Wilbur; soldiers' headstones, Doane, Perry, Jensen, Adams, Randolph; sinking fund, Director Cady, Krause and Swain.

HENRY K. MILLER DIED YESTERDAY.

Henry Kempster Miller, son of the late Joseph and Esther K. Miller, died yesterday at his home on East Seventh street. The funeral services will be held on Sunday, January 9, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at 919 East Seventh street, and will be conducted by Rev. Charles E. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church.

Mr. Miller was a well known insurance man in New York city and for years was a member of the New York board of Fire Underwriters. He is survived by two sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Jane Carpenter resides in Webster City, Iowa. Mr. Miller had been ill for some time and was a great sufferer from rheumatism.

Must Make Sidewalks Safe.

Persons who have icy sidewalks in front of their homes are likely to receive a visit from the police some time today unless some preventive of slipping is placed upon the walks. East Front street remained this morning in the same condition as yesterday and pedestrians were obliged to take to the middle of the street in order to keep upright. Chief Kiely notified the residents by sending the patrolmen around this morning early that something must be done towards making the sidewalks safe.

Escaped By Jumping Fence.

Mrs. James Welch, of 544 West Second street, telephoned at 7 o'clock this morning to Police Headquarters that her husband had been beating her. Patrolman Flatley was dispatched to the house, but upon his arrival the gentle Mr. Welch had made an escape over the back fence. Mrs. Welch refused to come to headquarters and prefer charges against her husband.

Mrs. Doane's Funeral.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Mary E. Doane was conducted last night at the home of J. Hervey Doane, 425 East Seventh street. The service was in charge of James C. Adams and Robert Pretlow, ministers of the Friends' church, of New York. Interment was made in the Friends cemetery at Brooklyn this morning.

Central Lodge to Celebrate.

Central Lodge, No. 48, Ancient Order United Workmen, will celebrate its twentieth birthday anniversary on Thursday night, January 13, in the lodge rooms, 110 Park avenue. There will be interesting speeches; refreshments and everything has been planned to make the event well worth attending.

REV. DR. RICHARDS DEAD

Former Pastor of Crescent Ave. Church Dies Suddenly of Heart Trouble.

MINISTER HERE SIXTEEN YEARS

Member of Yale Corporation—Author of Religious Essays—Union Theological Seminary Trustee—Scholarly Man.

Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, who, for eighteen years was pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and since that time has been pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, died suddenly at his home in New York early this morning of heart trouble. The news of his death, which reached Plainfield later in the morning, came as a great shock to the many friends of Dr. Richards, who had known him for years. The sad report was received here by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, from the Presbyterian Board of Missions in New York.

Week of prayer services have been in progress at the Brick church, this week, and Dr. Richards was in charge of the meeting last night. He appeared to be in his usual good health and there were no signs of any trouble or distress. He retired feeling as well as usual, but early this morning he passed away suddenly and peacefully without any previous warning.

Dr. Richards was one of the foremost members of the Presbyterian church in this country and was recognized as a scholar of high attainments. He was a prominent figure at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, and served one term as moderator. He was also a leading spirit at the regular sessions of the Presbyterian Synod and in addition was an author of note. He was a member of the Yale Corporation, from which institution he was a graduate and also a trustee of Union Theological Seminary.

Dr. Richards became pastor of the Crescent Avenue church in 1884, coming from Bath, Maine, where he was pastor of a Congregational church. He succeeded Rev. Dr. Bliss here. His pastorate of sixteen years in this city was a noteworthy one and was marked by the continued growth and success of his church. During his residence here he was prominent in civic affairs and was a member of the Board of Education. His strong influence was felt in nearly every walk of life in this city and he was constantly sought for advice on various matters of a spiritual and secular nature.

Following the death in foreign lands of Rev. Dr. Maltbie Babcock, who was then pastor of the Brick church, New York, Dr. Richards was prominently mentioned as his successor. Prior to this he had been mentioned for the presidency of Yale University. It was on May 21, 1902, that definite information was received that Dr. Richards would receive a call to Brick church. The matters was in the hands of Rev. Dr. Henry VanDyke, who was then the acting pastor of the New York church. He stated on the above date that on May 27 he would announce the name of the successor of Dr. Babcock.

On the evening of May 27, the congregation of the Brick church, at a meeting over which Dr. VanDyke presided, extended a call to Dr. Richards at a salary of $12,000 a year. The call was unanimous and after due deliberation, Dr. Richards accepted. He left Plainfield in the fall of 1902, when he entered upon his new duties at Brick church. Since that time his pastorate has been marked by great success. Dr. Richards endeared himself to his large congregation and there was a pronounced unanimity between pastor and people.

During his ministry, Dr. Richards wrote several books which have had a large sale. They included, "The Ways of Wisdom," "For Whom Christ Died," "God's Choice of Men," "The Apostle's Creed in Modern Worship," and his last book was "The Lord's Prayer."

The New York University conferred the degree of doctor of divinity on Dr. Richards in 1892. He frequently delivered sermons at Yale University, where he was always a welcome visitor. Among his classmates at Yale were United States Senator Patton, of Michigan, and Supreme Court Justice Jenks, of New York.

Dr. Richards is survived by a wife, three daughters, the Misses Sarah, Anna and Marion, and two sons, George and Henry Richards. The last named is now a student at Yale University, while George Richards was graduated from there within the last few years.

The foreign missionary meeting to be addressed by Rev. Dr. Stanley White, on "South America," will be

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The new cloth factory at Glassboro expects to begin operations the middle of this month.

Holiday trade at the Burlington postoffice is said to have increased by $400 over last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Duffield, of Cedarville, will celebrate their golden wedding tonight.

The Glassboro Township Committee have elected Robert Mecall, chairman, and Josiah Shute, treasurer.

There is a pine wood famine in Millville, caused by the fineness of cutters for the most extensive dealers in that section.

Sergeantsville amateurs will present "Josiah's Courtship" and "The Husking Bee" in the town hall Saturday evening.

The Glassboro M. E. Sunday school have re-elected Superintendent Samuel Luffbrar, who has served more than forty-five years.

Wesley Fleming has been appointed special deputy State councilor for the Jr. O. U. A. M. lodges of Hunterdon, Warren and Union counties.

Pitman and Glassboro are still without electric lights, as the company has not yet succeeded in repairing the damage done by the recent storm.

Williamstown expects 1910 to be a banner year, as it is now enjoying unusual prosperity. The glass factories are busier and are employing more men than ever before.

Charles Holcombe, of Remsen, is suffering with diphtheria at Trenton, where he went to care for his daughter, who was stricken with the disease while visiting friends.

While Walter Phifer and a party of sportsmen were hunting near Buckshutem, they found the carcas of a large buck, which had doubtless been shot during the season.

McKinley Post, G. A. R., of the Soldiers' Home, Vineland, has elected Daniel Doughty, commander; S. Dawson, senior vice; Henry Court, junior vice, and Ira Bean, officer of the day.

Miss Julia Fitz Randolph McGee, daughter of Mrs. Flavel McGee, was married in Jersey City last evening to Francis Vreeland Dobbins at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock. The pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Charles Herr officiated.

Wanted in Atlantic City to answer charges of larceny of articles from hotels where he was employed as a waiter, Frank F. Davis, colored, was arrested in Camden yesterday and confessed a number of thefts. Several pawntickets were found in his possession.

Camden Branch No. 1, Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association has elected these officers: President, Albert Vickers; vice-president, William Sawyer, Newton Ashe; recording secretary, William Miller; financial secretary, William J. Rose; treasurer, William Elverson.

Naming three corespondents, Nathan Weiss, a former Camden saloon-keeper, yesterday began action for divorce in the Court of Chancery in Camden. They were married on August 15, 1897, and separated on July 12, 1906. After considerable difficulty Mrs. Weiss was located living with her parents in Bridgeton.

Falling twenty-five feet from a telegraph pole at Lawnside yesterday, A. A. Small, thirty-nine years old, a lineman, of 319 Mt. Vernon street, Camden, was supposed to have been seriously injured, but at Cooper Hospital it was found that no bones had been broken. The lineman landed on both feet.

A pair of live, plump opossums, captured by Sergeant James Cannon, formerly of the United States Army, while at Fort Delaware, and which were sent to his family at Beverly for Thanksgiving dinner, have been traveling through a number of Eastern States. The box was labeled Beverly, no State being mentioned. The box was forwarded to Beverly, Mass., thence to Beverly, W. Va., and finally reached its right destination here. However, one opossum had disappeared. Cannon refused to accept the box and will sue the railroad for the missing animal.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Plainfield Council, No. 293, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet Monday night, when several matters of importance will be considered.

The officers-elect of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., and the Women's Relief Corps will be installed jointly on Tuesday night at the Post headquarters in Reform Hall. A large number of visitors are expected.

The details for the organization of Senior O. U. A. M. here are about complete. It is expected that the charter list will be closed on Saturday night. Thus far twenty-nine have signed and several more have promised to do so in a few days. Charles Kiederling has the matter in charge.

Communion services will be held at Hope chapel on Sunday evening with reception of members.

The M. E. church union service will be held tonight at Grace church and Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson will preach the sermon.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The matter of issuing another liquor license for the borough will probably be determined by Judge Lyon in the Middlesex County Court today. There are three applicants for the license, C. Hazlen, of the borough; C. C. Oliver and S. C. Schaefer, out of town parties. The consensus of opinion is that two hotels are sufficient for the population of the borough and that the license will not be granted. It is understood that the G. O. P. bosses oppose the license and that while no big remonstrance has been filed, it is said that they gave a tip to the powers in the county seat that the license is not needed.

Jess Ayers will call a meeting of baseball fans in a couple of weeks to consider the advisability of organizing a ball team for next season. Extraordinary steps will be taken to provide means to put a strong nine on the field, one that will be able to hold its own with Plainfield's best. To accomplish it it will be necessary to secure out-of-town talent for some of the positions, and it takes money and the united support of fans to do this.

Mrs. Furman H. Gise entertained the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist church, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Osmunn, who were married at Plainfield recently, have taken up their residence in the borough.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Huff are entertaining Mrs. Frank Rounsville, of Washington, Warren county.

The Farther Lights Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Mahlon R. Dayton tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harkins are the happy parents of a young son who arrived on Tuesday.

Miss Elizabeth Herlick is spending the week visiting friends at Newark and Basking Ridge.

John Doty is nursing a severe attack of blood poisoning in his hand.

Miss Ruth Gardner, has returned from a holiday visit in Boston.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Yesterday was the first hard day of the winter for the local blacksmiths. The condition of the sidewalks and roads made traveling very uncertain for both man and beast.

Charles Frichs, the butcher, has about finished harvesting his crop of ice for his ice house on Mountain avenue. A good quality of ice about nine inches thick has been cut.

Court constables were busy yesterday serving subpoenas on witnesses, who are to be called today, when Hetrick's license comes up.

Miss Maggie Skelly, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. William Lee, of Front street, has returned to her home at Raritan.

The many friends of Constable Robert Walpole are pleased to see him around again after his long and tedious illness.

Owing to the storm yesterday only one session of school was held. The classes were dismissed for the day at 12 o'clock.

Miss Anna Wahl, of Mountain avenue, has returned from a visit with relatives in New York.

The children enjoyed the day yesterday skating about town on the sidewalks.

PERSONAL.

Miss Helen Jones, of Jersey City, has returned home after a visit with friends here.

Frank Higgins, of Brooklyn, has returned home after a visit with friends in this city.

Mrs. O. H. Smith, of Fairview avenue, is spending two months with relatives at Utica, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morely, Jr., of the West End, are parents of a girl born to them a few days ago.

Albert Reiber, of New York city, has returned home after spending a week with relatives in the borough.

Mrs. John O'Mara, of Rockview avenue, who has been detained at home by illness, has entirely recovered.

Frank P. Stone, of West Front street, was among the visitors at the automobile show in New York this week.

Charles B. Brown, formerly of this city, who has been visiting relatives here, has returned to Beverly, Mass.

C. W. T. Overton, of Rockview avenue, has returned to Rutgers College, after spending the holiday season at home.

Charles H. Hughes, of Long Branch, has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. P. I. Minton, of East Sixth street.

Miss Nell Dalson, of Utica, N. Y., has returned home after spending a month with her sister, Mrs. O. H. Smith, of Fairview avenue.

Miss Irene Smith, of New York city, has returned to the College of Mt. St. Mary, after spending the holiday season with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, formerly of this city.

Mrs. Murray Burtis, of Fairview avenue, has returned from Annapolis, after spending a few days with her son, William Burtis, a midshipman in the academy. He celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of his birthday while his mother was at Annapolis and she attended the mid-winter hop given by the midshipmen.

MAYOR GAYNOR SLICES THE NEWSPAPER LISTS.

New York, Jan. 7.—Mayor Gaynor has notified every department head under him that they must indulge in no newspaper interviews and issue no statements concerning the business of their departments except through him.

Another move by the new Mayor which will affect many New York newspapers is his announcement that the annual tax notice will this year be advertised in only one paper in each of the five boroughs. Last year this notice was advertised in seventy papers, many of them small weekly publications, and cost the city about $15,000. Mayor Gaynor expects to cut this item to less than $1,500.

F. H. Andrews will conduct the week of prayer services at Hope chapel tonight.

FAT REDUCTION IS NO SIN

The purpose of beauty is to refine the native uncouthness of human nature. We all bow to its power. It is the only autocracy that has no nihilist shadow. Alas! this means the fat woman must serve instead of rule, for beauty in woman is a composite of both line and feature.

Thousands of fat women are beautiful of face. But they lag behind in the race for preference—because a too ponderous outline dashes the favor their face has gained them.

Now, pretty fat women can reduce that fat (not the good pure-lined flesh) in a very simple way. No exercise—no dieting is necessary. Let them take one Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime for a month. The fat will simply fade. No wrinkles or pouches of skin will form, but the loss will be uniform. The fat will go as stealthily as it came; fade away. The health will improve, the eye grow more brilliant, the wit sprightlier. Marmola Tablets are a boon—and harmless (being made from the famous fashionable prescription, ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ ozs. Peppermint Water), and are likewise cheap, a large case of the druggist or the Marmola Co., 985 Farmer Building, Detroit, Mich., costing only several five cents.

A Gas Heater Is Just the Thing

When the temperature is low it is diffcult to make the furnace supply the desired heat for every room in the house.

Here is where a gas heater would come in nicely.

We do not recommend gas as an economical fuel for keeping a whole house warm twenty-four hours a day, but where a little extra heat is required for a short time gas is handy, cheap and efficient.

We sell gas heaters for from $1.50 to $6.50 each. They can be used in any room where there is a gas jet. And they will give good results for little money.

GOLF.

A foreign exchange publishes some interesting facts worth knowing to golfers: The longest hole in the world, so far as can definitely be ascertained, is the 700-yard hole at Evians-les-Bains, France. Four years ago there was a hole 890 yards in length on the old Hampden County Golf Club, at Chicopee Falls, but when the Oxford Club was joined to this club the hole was given up.

The largest club connected with golf is the Mid-Surrey Club, which now has a membership of 1,200 and a waiting list of 900 more.

An interclub match of one hundred players a side took place between Mortonhall and the Edinburgh Burgess Club in 1901. This is probably the record for the biggest team match.

Some years ago the championship of New Zealand was won by a Maori chief.

A match was once played where the better player gave his opponent a "start" of fifty yards at each hole.

In Scotland there used to be a proverb that if you called "fore" three times and then drove into a man and killed him the law would hold you guiltless.

The open championship of America has never been won by an American born.

The lowest score ever made over an eighteen hole round, so far as can be ascertained, is 59, made by Wilson, the professional, at Oban.

Claud Felstead, the brilliant young Victorian amateur, who won the Australian open championship, is a left-handed player.

J. H. Taylor has holed out from his tee shot on six occasions.

Old Tom Morris always used to putt with his forefinger down the shaft of his club.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

January 10 Baker & Castle will present their production of "In the Bishop's Carriage," in this city at the Plainfield theatre. The play is a dramatization of Miriam Michelson's novel of the same name, which, with its novelty, freshness and piquant charm, made a strong appeal to the reading public. Miss Michelson drew a clever picture of the underworld in its relation to society and Mr. Pollock has embodied all the salient points in his drama. He speaks plainly, forcibly and with authority. It is a study of criminology that has caused much discussion and comment. The plot is based upon the reformation of a thief—a young girl to whom a vicious environment in childhood has given a false idea of life. Wrongdoing seems quite the right thing to her. It is more easy and natural for her to be bad than good—dishonest than honest. Her regeneration comes through love—love for a high minded, upright man, in the best society, whose pity and influence show her the way to a higher life. The question naturally arises, "Can a confirmed thief really ever reform?" In the play, Mr. Latimer, the shrewd, gentle hearted criminal lawyer, asks of the cornered but defiant Nan the Nipper, "What made you a thief?" "Circumstances," she retorts. "The same thing that made you a gentleman." It is a line that strikes home. There is more than a grain of truth in it, an ugly, repulsive truth, and gives people interested in psychological problems food for thought. An elaborate production is promised; a carload of magnificent scenery being carried and a complete equipment of properties and electrical effects. The parts are in the hands of a carefully chosen company, headed by Stephanie Longfellow. Critics have honored this remarkable young woman by comparing her performance of Nance Olden to Mrs. Fiske's Leah Kleshna.

"The Flight of Princess Ida." What is it? is asked continuously by many persons in all walks of life in every city the company visits. It is not a melodrama but contains the sensationalism of one, it is not a farce comedy but contains all the essential features and laughs. It is a spectacular fantastic illusion presented with a company of competent artists, special scenery and electrical effects, and giving more real laughs to the minute than any performance in America. Mildred and Rouclare are the cleverest illusionists on the stage today and Marshall P. Wilder, the celebrated entertainer and highest paid artist, before the theatregoing public, as a special feature of a large company of superior actors, combine to make up a performance of attractive merit and enjoyment. To be presented on January 12 at the Plainfield theatre.

No Wonder

"If you don't mind," said one of the guests, struck by a bright idea, "I'll eat this drumstick in primitive fashion. Fingers were made before forks, you know."

It was then that the table groaned. —Chicago Tribune.

GOVERNOR FINISHES HIS ANNUAL MESSAGE

Governor Fort finished his second annual message to the Legislature yesterday after the hardest kind of a day's work. Arriving at his desk in the State House early, he at once sent out word that under no circumstances would he see anybody. This did not prevent many of the heads of State departments from seeking an audience, but the Governor stuck to his word and would see no one.

Among those who tried to see the Governor was Theodore Strong, of New Brunswick, a member of the State Board of Assessors. It is many months since "Dory" was seen in the Governor's anteroom, and there was much speculation on his visit. He shared the fate of the others, however, for the Governor refused to see him.

The Governor talked to the newspaper men long enough to register a strenuous protest against a story which appeared yesterday morning in some of the New York and New Jersey newspapers, in the form of an alleged telegram from Lakewood, with relation to the Governor's luncheon to the Legislature, coupling the Governor's visit with the Preventorium matter, and alleging that the luncheon to the members of the Legislature was to be given by the Laurel House, with the Governor as the chief guest.

"Every line in the publication was false and malicious," the Governor said, and he added that so far as he knew not a soul at Lakewood nor anywhere else had suggested entertaining him in any way; that the luncheon he was giving was in accordance with his usual custom, and neither the Laurel House nor any one else had anything to do with it, excepting himself.

The Secretary of State sent notices to the members of the Legislature today calling the meeting of the 134th session of the Legislature for next Tuesday at noon. Up to last year the lawmakers held their opening session at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, but this proved so unsatisfactory that the earlier time was substituted.

The Railroad Commission made public its amended report today. Outside of the recommendations for new legislation, which have already been noted, the report is mainly statistical.

According to the report, the total number killed during the year was 311 and 509 were injured. Among those killed were 98 employes, 43 passengers and 15 others, and 149 trespassers. In the preceding year 260 were killed and 511 injured. In collisions 13 were killed and 98 injured; 29 were killed and 60 injured at crossings; 4 were killed and 9 injured in derailments, 4 were killed and 9 injured at tunnels and bridges, 58 were killed and 63 injured by being struck by locomotives, 18 were killed and 7 injured getting off trains, 2 were killed and 26 injured while coupling cars, 168 were killed and 175 were injured from all other causes, including trespassing.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Johnson, of Webster place, entertained a party of friends last.

THE FORUM.

NOW FOR REAL WORK!

Editor, The Daily Press:

We citizens will rely upon William Jeffery as president of the Board of Trade to get us our rights.

We are entitled to decent trolley cars and trolley schedules not of the zig zag order.

We are entitled to have the Netherwood, Grant and Clinton avenue stations of the Jersey Central opened during the evenings and to have the parks at those stations properly lighted.

I will cheerfully do all I can to make Mr. Jeffery's administration a success.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES E. MARTINE.

Equal to Poe, Doyle and Gaboriau.

Much discussion has been caused in literary circles by the publication in the New York Sunday World of Anna Katharine Green's new novel, "The House of the Whispering Pines." Many reviewers have claimed that this American creator of detective fiction excels the best mystery work of Edgar Allan Poe, Conan Doyle, the creator of Sherlock Holmes, of Gaboriau. Others disagree. Be this as it may, Anna Katharine Green has perpetuated her fame by her wonderful detective stories. By far the greatest work of her life is the celebrated "Leavenworth Case," and on account of the great interest felt in this writer the New York Sunday World will publish this wonderful detective novel in five 20,000 word booklets, each free with Sunday World. The first one appears Sunday, January 9. Order a copy from your newsdealer.

BERGEN ON NEWSPAPERS

Noted Corporation Lawyer Gives His Opinion of the Public Press.

THEY DO NOD SOMETIMES.

But As a Whole He Considers That They Show An Admirable Degree of Accuracy.

Frank Bergen, general counsellor of Public Service, gave an entertaining talk before an Episcopal church Men's Club, Wednesday night, which was a continuation of what he had to say recently on Public Opinion.

Mr. Bergen said in part:

"Our politicians and editors in the tempest and whirlwind of their calling, sometimes find it difficult to sound and prove a current sentiment before endorsing it, but those who have more time to reflect are not so often mistaken. One of the wisest men in New Jersey said to me several years ago that if an editor had to wait until he knew what he was putting in his paper he could not get out a copy more than once a month; and another citizen of our State who stands high in public esteem, noticing a few days ago a kind word about the press in a report of my remarks in December, took me to task in a letter saying: 'I can hardly join in your apologies for newspapers, nor do I believe as much in their influence as I used to. Nearly all of them are entitled to the curse that falls on him who loveth and maketh a lie; they seek not the truth but the thing profitable to publish. My idea is that the proper line of reform is to perusade people to discredit newspaper statements and avoid their influence.'

"I bow respectfully to this criticism, but still adhere to my opinion that when we consider the conditions under which newspaper men ply their calling, and the haste in which they not only collect and publish news but comment upon it, they exhibit an admirable degree of accuracy. Now and then it is true the newspapers get off the track—even Homer nods sometimes—and when they do the people refuse to follow them. The late Carter Harrison was elected mayor of Chicago some years ago in a campaign in which every newspaper in the city was arrayed against him and the present mayor of New York was elected a few months ago by a large plurality in a campaign in which a very large part of the press advocated the election of other candidates, and I venture to think that the event will prove that the election of Gaynor was one of the most beneficial things that has happened in New York for a generation. Sometimes the people are wiser than the press.

"We have progressed so far in the art of government by public opinion that there ought to be a scientific study made of the nature and processes of the public mind. We have plenty of alienists who, if well paid, will examine an individual intellect and tell no end of falsehoods about it in a will case or a murder trial, but no one, so far as I know, ever made a philosophical study of the humors and distempers of the public mind, or explained to us how good sense is distilled from the frude nations and nonsense that sometimes fill the air. But if public sentiment is a sovereign force—as Lincoln said it was—stronger than statutes or constitutions or judicial decisions, there is nothing that should be studied with more profound attention than the opinion of the public mind.

"The opinion of our board of chosen freeholders that vox populi vox Dei est, surely is not true of every temporary passion that agitates the multitude. Lincoln knew better because he said that you can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but he was confident that in the long run somebody would discover and expose the deception, and that the final judgment of the people is sound. And Burke, the greatest philosopher among politicians, although not the greatest politician among philosophers, said: 'I am not one of those who think that the people are never in the wrong. They have been so, frequently and outrageously, both in other countries and in this. But I do say, that in all disputes between them and their rulers the presumption is at least upon a par in favor of the people.'"

Seventh-Day Baptist Services.

The Seventh-Day Baptist church services begin at 8 o'clock tonight with the regular prayer meeting. The pastor, Rev. Edwin Shaw, will preach at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, his theme being "The Voice of One Crying in the Wilderness." The Sabbath school will meet at 11:45 o'clock. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the Junior Endeavor Society will meet, Celia Cottrell being the leader. Pastor Shaw will make a short address. The Senior Endeavor Society will meet at 4 o'clock.

Will Hold Special Meetings.

W. W. Morrison, an evangelist of Pennsylvania, will conduct evangelistic service at the W. C. T. U. rooms every afternoon and evening, commencing this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The evening meetings will be held at 8 o'clock.

QUICKSAND.

How It Is Formed and Its Grewsome Characteristics.

To most persons the word "quicksand" gives a sensation of horror similar to that produced by the thought of a snake, and many sensational accounts have given to quicksand almost human attributes. No ordinary observer would be able to distinguish dry quicksand from any other sand, and the average person would be unable to restore it to its "quick" properties even if he tried. If water is mixed with the quicksand the mass does not become mobile, and if the water is drained off the sand will be found firmly packed.

Quicksand is comparatively very light, weighing about ninety-four pounds to the cubic foot, while other forms of sand run as high as 171 pounds. Quicksand when examined under the microscope will be found to have rounded corners, like river sand, as distinguished from "sharp" sand. It is quicksand that is used in hourglasses and egg glasses, partly because of its fineness and partly because it does not eventually cloud the glass by scratching, as would the sharp sand. It is to its lightness that quicksand owes its deadly qualities, and a demonstration of how it becomes "quick" may be given by placing a quantity in a bucket and adding water by pressure through a hole in the bottom, allowing the water to overflow very slowly when it has worked up through the sand. The upward current will be found to loosen the sand and to raise the surface very slightly, separating and lubricating the particles so that they are easily displaced.

The bucket now contains genuine quicksand. The sand, owing to the support it receives from the water, has its weight, or supporting power, reduced proportionately, weighing in the water but thirty-two and a half pounds as against ninety-four pounds when dry. Bulk for bulk, the mixture is nearly twice the weight of a man, but is too mobile to give support and too thick to swim in. In its natural state, presenting an apparently firm surface, resembling simply damp sand, it is the most deadly man trap conceivable.

Quicksand requires in all cases an upward current which is not quick or strong enough to break through in the form of a spring. Ordinarily water flowing over quicksand will not make it dangerous. It may be formed in tidal rivers and on the shores of tidal seas by the rising tide saturating a porous stratum of ground below high water mark, and when the tide falls a return current is established through the porous (sandy) ground with a sufficient velocity to loosen the sand and make it "quick."

A permanent quicksand is found where a slow current of fresh water finds its way to the surface of the sand bed either in the bottom of a stream or elsewhere. Quicksands that are encountered during the sinking of walls and foundations are due to the influx of water when the work gets below "spring level" or the level of the water in the ground at that particular spot. The sand, being deprived of the lateral support of the water in the excavation, is pushed in from behind by the water currents flowing from all sides.

One of the most peculiar and grewsome characteristics of quicksand is that it will soon engulf any object cast upon its surface, no matter how light that object may be, even a perfectly dry stick.—Harper's Weekly.

Eggs Worth Millions.

Two poached eggs on toast once formed the foundation of the great New York stock market. If the eggs were eaten securities advanced in price; if left untouched Wall street shivered and quotations crumbled. One morning the eggs proved worth a thousand times their weight in gold, for the news that they had been eaten with relish added 2 per cent to active stocks. Even 1 per cent on the $10,000,000,000 securities listed on the New York exchange would be equivalent to $100,000,000. By such trifles is Wall street swayed when seized by hysteria, when hypnotized by a personality, when lost to the sound reason that usually governs its actions.—Bert C. Forbes in Van Norden Magazine.

It Sounded Hopeful.

A young man who was not particularly entertaining was monopolizing the attention of a pretty debutante with a lot of uninteresting conversation.

"Now, my brother," he remarked in the course of a dissertation on his family, "is just the opposite of me in every respect. Do you know my brother?"

"No," the debutante replied demurely, "but I should like to."—Lippincott's.

The Only Way.

"Is there any method that will enable a man to understand a woman?" queried the innocent youth.

"The only way to understand a woman," replied the home grown philosopher, "is not to try. Under these circumstances she will reveal herself sooner or later."—Chicago News.

No Chance of That.

The beggar accepted gratefully a nickel from the professional humorist.

"Thank you, sir," he said, his voice vibrant with deep feeling. "Oh, thank you, sir, and may you live to be as old as your jokes."—Washington Post.

Of Course.

Reporter—Professor, what language do you suppose the people nearest the north pole speak? The Professor—What a question! Polish, of course.—Chicago Tribune.

PARK AVE. BAPTIST S.S. HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

The annual meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday-school was held last night in the Sunday-school, with Superintendent George E. Hall presiding. Reports of the past year's work were submitted by officers and committees, and showed the various departments of the school to be in excellent condition. During the year 1909 the receipts have been larger and the average attendance greater, than during any previous year in the history of the school; and the outlook for the new year is especially bright and encouraging.

Following the transaction of routine business, the meeting proceeded to the election of officers as follows: Superintendent, George E. Hall; associate superintendent, Miss Florence G. Hawkins; superintendent elementary department, Miss Elmira C. Runyon; secrtary, Martin B. Stutsman; assistant secretary, Henry F. Cuming; temperance secretary, Charles F. Dayton; treasurer general fund, Joseph M. Hawkins; treasurer benevolent fund, Willard M Maxim; librarian, E. Frank Vail; pianist, Miss Mary E. Clark; blackboard artist, Charles VanWinkle; orchestra leader, Arthur S. Mosher; superintendent Home Department, Mrs. D. M. Runyon.

The business session was followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served, and a pleasant time enjoyed by every one. A feature of the evening was the fine music furnished by the new Victor machine which Superintendent Hall has purchased for the school.

FORESTRY MEN TO EVADE STATE LAW

A meeting of the State Forestry Commission was held in the State House Trenton Wednesday, at which protests were made by five property owners against carrying out of the property provisions of the law of last winter under which the forests are to be safeguarded against fires from railroads.

The commission had five protests before it, but dismissed four of them and gave the other property owner one year more in which to do the work. There were 280 property owners assenting to the workings of the new law, they seeing that it would save their property in many cases from greater destruction.

Under the law of last winter there must be cleared of small undergrowth a space of 100 feet adjoining a railroad and paralleling it as far as the forest land goes. Experience has shown that many forest fires are started by locomotives, and by cutting the trees back it is believed that less fires will originate in that manner.

Beyond the 100 feet from which all small growth must be cut there must be plowed every year a furrow ten feet wide.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Jan. 9, 1910.

Topic.—Bringing others to Christ. Who should do it? How is it done?—John i, 35-41. Comment by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

Bringing others to Christ is the most important subject that can concern the mind of one who has himself found Christ. Having been found, we should become seekers. If a man who had been lost when he was a child should live in a community where a child was lost, we can readily understand how deeply interested in the search for the child he would be. Having once been lost, but found, we should be deeply interested in seeking souls that are still lost. Moreover, Christ's example inspires us to this work. He died to draw others unto Him that they might be saved. "I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." "The Son of Man came to seek and save the lost." Still further, Christ's supreme mission to His church is to bring the unsaved to Him. The Holy Spirit could convert all men without man's help, but God has graciously given us a part in this great work of leading souls to Christ.

There is no question, therefore, as to who should do this work. It may be answered in one word—Christians. But not all Christians can do it by personal work, as did Andrew and Philip. Some Christians have the tactfulness to lead others to Christ, but many others have not. It is well to emphasize personal work, but not too much. Many are thus made to feel a duty resting upon them to speak to others when they are totally unfit and do more harm than good. Where there is no ability there is no responsibility. We need today to emphasize the church as the supreme place where men are led to Christ. Pulpit preaching should be and is the supreme power under the blessing of the spirit of God for the conversion of sinners. If we think that the personal conversation of perhaps one absolutely unfitted for such a work is superior to the message of the pulpit we are vastly mistaken. Yet this is the tendency of today. Personal work is overemphasized, and many plunge in who should be the last people in the world to speak to any one else upon such a subject. If all such would lead others to the church and attend the church faithfully themselves better results would be obtained.

Under this topic Andrew and Philip are the usual illustrations selected. But all men are not Andrews and Philips. An Oxford Bible with a few passages marked in it does not make a soul winner. It is a great pity that Acts ii is not more frequently taken as an illustration of leading others to Christ. There Peter in one sermon led 3,000 to Christ. But today hand to hand work is emphasized. It is, therefore, readily understood why fewer converts are made directly through preaching. Men think that some one must see them and talk with them, and these some ones very often fail to accomplish the purpose desired. But it is still true that many Christians are competent to lead others to Christ. Yet more emphasis today should be placed upon the church and preaching as the supreme place and method of leading souls to Christ. If they are emphasized and Christians are faithfully at church and bring others with them, then the way is open for a kind word of invitation if the service and sermon have been impressive. One personal word then or a clasp of the hand may bring another to Christ and to a public confession of Him. Nothing can ever supplant the means of grace established in the house of God for the leading of others to Christ.

One thing all can do—pray. Prayer reaches the throne of grace, and here the most humble and timid, the most unfit and blundering, may have an effective part in saving souls if there be a passion for souls within them. Couple fervent prayer with a consistent Christian life and loyalty to the church of God and you will find in the long run that you will win more souls for Christ than many who flourish a flexible back Oxford Bible and think that they must approach every man they meet upon the subject of their soul's eternal welfare. Above all, love those whom you would lead to Christ. A true love for their souls will make your influence powerful, though you never speak a word, but when you must speak do it at the right time and place and in the sweet spirit of the Master, who never condemned the sinner whom He desired to save. You are to "lead" others to Christ, not "drive" them. Many may be led; none can be driven. Practice tact, patience, long suffering and faith, and may God bless you in bringing many souls to Christ.

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. iii, 1-7; iv, 1-7; Ps. lxxxvii; Dan. xii, 1-3; Prov. xi, 30; Matt. xxviii, 19, 20; Luke xv, 1-10; Acts ii, 36-41; iv, 31-33; Jas. v, 19, 20.

Spiritual Communion.

While we may not enter into physical communication with the loved ones in glory, there is a mystical communion of saints in which souls beyond the horizon and souls on earth may enter into fellowship with each other, a spiritual communion dependent upon the emotions of the soul, which will make us brave, patient and eager to be worthy of those who have gone on before.—Rev. Madison C. Peters, Baptist, New York.

Age of Unbelief.

In this day and age of the world many people do not believe in sound doctrine or salvation from sin, therefore it is a great temptation for the pastors to preach those things which they like to hear.—Rev. E. G. Cryer, Aurora, Ill.

DISAGREES WITH GOV. FORT.

Bayonne, Jan. 7.—President James Benny, of the Bayonne Board of Education, declared Wednesday that he did not agree altogether with the opinion held by Governor Fort, concerning the reading of the Bible in the public schools and the utility of the manual training course.

"I agree with the Governor that every child should be well grounded in what he terms the 'rudiments,' that is to say reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling and geography," said Mr. Benny, "but I do not concur in his views on manual training. In my judgment a large portion of the boys of the present generation are likely to engage in some mechanical pursuit. I believe a course in manual training is a decided advantage to a boy who may engage in any of the trades. I also believe that the girls should be taught to cook and sew. I have thought for some time it would be well if a larger portion of the school moneys was used in the training of the boys and girls along industrial lines."

Mr. Benny said that he deemed it impracticable in a community like Bayonne, "where the people are so greatly divided on religious questions," to carry out Governor Fort's theory of the study of the Bible.

"I think is is better that the church should continue to attend to the instruction of the young in the truths of the Bible," he said, "that will enable each denomination to emphasize its own interpretation of the Scriptures, and will avoid conflict of opinion."

Mail Pouch Stole Ride.

A mail pouch thrown off at Cranford this morning at 5:20 was found hanging to the pilot of a freight engine which passed through here at 5:50. The pouch was torn and apparently some of the mail had been lost along the road. Police headquarters was notified by the Cranford authorities to be on the lookout for the missing pouch which had been thrown off by the mail train. Postmaster Bird, of this city, was notified and took charge of the pouch, returning it to Cranford on the 7:20 train.

Something He Couldn't Define.

Every calling has its technical vocabulary, says Youth's Companion, and those who are familiar with it are often surprised and irritated at the difficulty other people have in understanding it. A writer in the New York World tells of an old horseman down in Maine who had run over a man, and was being sued for damages.

The court asked the defendant if he was driving fast. He answered, "I was going a pace." The court then said, "Now, kindly tell the gentlemen of the jury just how fast you were going."

"Well," said the defendant, "I reckon I was going a clip."

"Well, will you tell the jury how fast a clip is?"

"Well, it's going a dite."

"Now, will you tell the jury how fast a dite is?"

"Well, a dite's a dite. Anybody knows what a dite is."

The Wish.

"I want some more chicken," said a little girl at dinner.

"I think you have had as much as is good for you, dear," rejoined her mother. "You can't have any more now; but here is a wishbone that you may pull with me. Whoever gets the longest end will have her wish come true. Why, baby, you've got it. What do you wish?"

"Some more chicken!" said the child.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

In Punkville.

"This fellow Cook," began Uncle Goshall Hemlock.

"Oh, let up on the North Pole."

"I don't blame him about the North Pole part of it, but I do blame him for scattering around a lot of low temperature figures and putting all our local reminiscences on the bum."

Correction.

"It is most exhilerating to go scudding over the snow in your automobile," said the man who walks.

"Not scudding," said Mr. Chuggings, "skidding."—Exchange.

WHAT THE HEART CAN DO.

Lifts twenty-five pounds in sixty seconds.

Lifts 1,500 pounds in one hour.

Lifts eighteen tons in one day.

In seventy years will lift a weight amounting to a half million tons.

It contracts 100,000 times in twenty-four hours, 50,000,000 times in twelve months, and in a lifetime of seventy years 3,000,000,000 times.

The most powerful of all machines known—more powerful than a locomotive weight for weight.

Could lift itself from the earth straight out into space at the rate of 20,000 feet an hour.

Can be kept alive for days by immersing in a solution of salt.

Beats for hours sometimes after the head has been removed.

Not Appropriate.

Senator Beveridge was replying at a dinner in Washington to a defender of the sugar trust.

"When you say that," the Senator cried, "you say something ludicrously unexpected and malapropos.

"You remind me of a man at his brother's funeral. This man bent over the grave, and closely watched the lowering of the coffin down into the clean-cut rectangular chamber prepared for it. He heaved a sigh as the coffin came to a rest, and said to the undertaker heartily:

"It's the nearest fit I ever saw in my life. Come and have a drink on the head of it."—Washington Star.

Needed a Double Dose.

A fellow whose appearance warreled with soap and water some raled with soap and water some years ago applied for a position as porter with a large concern where help was badly needed. The manager looked him over doubtfully, finally he handed him a half crown, relates Tit-Bits.

"Go up town and take a bath," he told him. "Then come back, and maybe I'll be able to help you on."

The fellow started for the door.

"And, oh, by the way," the manager called after him, "if there is any change left take another bath."

The Chrysanthemum.

Last tribute of earth to the year's vesper glow;
A kiss of the summer flung out to the snow,
God's herald of winter; yet coming to bring
To the hearts of the faithful a promise of spring.

FILIPINO WOMEN.

Their Cares Begin Early, and They Win Husbands by Hard Work.

"Filipino women know how to win husbands," says an American woman who is living at Manila. "It is a common thing in the islands to see a girl young and brown and strong, crushing rice with a heavy wooden mallet, while around her sit a number of admiring swains, looking on, but never dreaming of offering to help. And the girl doesn't expect it. She pounds cheerfully away, and by and by her reward comes in a husband to work for.

"Life accustoms the Filipino woman to labor at a very early age. As a tiny girl she is rarely seen without an appendage in the shape of a baby brother or sister perched on her little brown hip. When she grows a few inches taller and a few degrees stronger she is pressed into service as a water carrier, bearing heavy jars of water poised gracefully on her head from the river to her home. Now, too, she works in the fields, and a vivid bit of color she makes in her short kilted scarlet skirt. When she becomes a woman—and she is a woman at fifteen or before—she may have a small shop to tend, and there is the rice to beat and much other work to do.

"Marriage brings no vacation. She is pretty sure to have many children to care for. She tends the fields, cooks and frequently has a stall in the market for several hours a day. But when the women are really old then their rest time comes. They sit quietly by looking on as life goes past them, but taking part no more. In spite of the hard labor they have had there is generally a very peaceful look in the brown, wrinkled faces of these old women."—New York Tribune.

A ROYAL BED.

The Magnificent One That Was Used by Queen Elizabeth.

An interesting description of the magnificence of a bedstead ordered for Queen Elizabeth's use is found in a "wardrobe warrant" dated 1581 and quoted in "Gleanings After Time." It was of walnut tree, richly carved painted and gilded. The celure, tester and valance were of cloth of silver, figured with velvet, lined with changeable taffeta and deeply fringed with Venice gold, silver and silk.

The curtains were of costly tapestry curiously and elaborately worked every seam and every border laid with gold and silver lace, caught up with long loops and buttons of bullion.

The headpiece was of crimson satin of Bruges, edged with a passaymayne of crimson silk and decorated with six ample plumes containing seven dozen ostrich feathers of various colors profusely decorated with gold spangles.

The counterpoint was of orange colored satin quilted with cutwork of cloths of gold and silver and of satins of every imaginable tint embroidered with Venice gold, silver spangles and beautifully colored silks fringed to correspond and lined with orange sarcenet.

This was a queen's bed, but almost equally gorgeous ones were common for several centuries. In the reign of Queen Anne a bedstead put up as a prize in a lottery was reported to have cost over £3,000.—London Family Herald.

Graft in the Household.

The tipping system has become acute now that graft is boldly recognized as "business," and the world has no shame for the majority of workers in the vineyard. A charming young matron exclaimed the other day that graft had even invaded her household. She was asked how that were possible and replied, "I have discovered that my most trusted and faithful maid has been approached by some one who shall be nameless to advise the cook, who is another treasure, to leave me." "But she did not?" "Yes, she did," said the young matron, laughing. "Yes, she did, and I don't blame her for the price. My nice Julia was paid $20 to sell me out, and the cook's wages are about double what I can pay." "A case of bribery." "Not at all—plain, unvarnished graft," was the philosophic response.—Boston Herald.

One of Field's Jokes.

Edward Everett Hale greatly enjoyed a joke which was perpetrated on him by Eugene Field. Field celebrated one of Dr. Hale's visits to Chicago by giving a luncheon in his honor and inviting a number of prominent persons to meet him. "Field was aware," said Dr. Hale, "that I was a temperance man, and therefore I was somewhat surprised to see that the table on which the luncheon was served was very abundantly supplied with bottles labeled 'Whisky,' 'Brandy' and 'Champagne.' But when these bottles came to be uncorked they were all found to contain nothing but water."

Effective.

A Chicago judge recently rebuked a person who was sitting in the courtroom with his feet placed upon the table by sending him, through a bailiff, a piece of paper on which he had written the following query: "What size boots do you wear?" The feet were at once withdrawn.

No Panic.

"We had a bad fire scare in church today."

"Good gracious! Was there a panic?"

"Not to notice. The minister preached on the infernal regions."—New York Journal.

Prodigal.

"That fellow seems to be extravagant."

"Hopelessly. He spends his own money just as if it were the government's."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Y. M. C. A. SPORTS.

In a hotly contested basketball game on the Y. M. C. A. courts last night the Senior Boys' five was victorious over the Stillman quintet by the score of 26 to 23.

The Y. M. C. A. "gym" leaders held their monthly meeting and "spread" last night. After a period of joyous feasting it was voted to attend a performance at the Hippodrome in New York on the night of February 23. Those present were: Horace E. Vail, Walter Sampson, John Fritts, A. Newmiller, Clifford Vail, Theodore Gavett, Charles Line and G. L. Listman.

W. Peacock showed the way in the Junior Department athletic championships last night by winning the standing hop, step and jump, and the running high jump. In the first named event Peacock's distance was 22 feet, 9¼ in.; second, G. Leighs, 21 feet; third, E. Goodman, 20 feet. In the running high jump Peacock's mark was 4 feet, 7 inches; tied for second, James McName and Ray Manley, at 4 feet. The individual standing in points of the first ten contestants follows: W. Peacock, 295 points; J. McName, 275; E. Goodman, 232; George Leighs, 231; H. Moulton, 210; L. Shaw, 209; V. Goldsmith, 192; B. Cole, 185; Ray Manley, 182; G. Kling, 167; C. Scribner, 167; C. Blair, 167; D. Ketcham, 167.

Chauncey Murphey cemented his grip on the all around championship last night by winning the running hop, step and jump and fence vault. Murphey also established a new record of 36 feet, 10¼ inches for the hop, step and jump, smashing the mark of 35 feet 11½ inches, recorded in 1908 by W. P. Banks. John Fritts was second with 32 feet 4 inches, and C. Vail third, 28 feet 9 inches.

In the fence vault C. Murphey was first, 5 feet 8¼ inches; second, J. Fritts, 5 feet 7¼ inches; third, C. Vail, 5 feet, 6¼ inches.

Murphey leads the competition with 302 points, followed by Fritts with 241, and Vail with 211.

The standing of the Boys' teams in the college athletic championship is as follows: Yale team, 1,056 points; Princeton, 795; Cornell, 787; Harvard, 724; Carlisle, 719; Penn., 655.

The Business Men's basketball team will meet the N. P. H. S. quintet at 8 o'clock tonight.

BASKETBALL.

The girls team of the N. P. H. S. defeated the Y. W. C. A. five by the score of 29 to 13 in Debele hall yesterday afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon in Debele Hall the boys and girls team of the borough school and Bernardsville school will compete for honors.

Kramer to Ride.

Frank Kramer, the National sprint cycle champion, is going to join the six-day riders. Kramer, who for ten years has been the king of cyclists, will make his maiden long distance effort in the Newark six-day race, which will be held in the First Regiment Armory February 7 to 12. Kramer's partner will be Willie Fenn, another sprint crack, who will make his debut in the six-day game also. Fenn, who was the "Boy Wonder" a few years ago, is one of the best all around riders the game has ever produced and he is known as the "handicap king."

Plans to Complete Railroad.

Upon the application of Pitney, Hardin & Skinner, counsel for Frederick V. Pitney, receiver of the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Vice Chancellor Emery has ordered that a hearing on the application made by the receiver for permission to complete the railroad into Morristown be continued to January 24, in Chancery Chambers, Newark. The receiver asks permission from the court to issue receivers certificates to the amount of $30,000, that shall be a prior lien on the property.

"POP" HARKINS CAN NOW ORGANIZE A FAMILY NINE

John J. Harkins, the new proprietor of the Nelson House, New Market, is about the happiest man in the State today. On Tuesday his wife presented him with a bouncing baby boy.

This is of more than ordinary importance inasmuch as it makes the eighth boy in the family. As it is well known, Mr. Harkins was formerly a pitcher for the Brooklyn National League team and also for the Clevelands, and his day ranked among the best of the curveology artists. Leaving the big show he coached the Princeton pitching staff and later at Rutgers. Mr. Harkins claims the distinction of being the first player to introduce curves in central New Jersey.

Naturally enough all of his family—eight boys—were born with the baseball instinct. A number of them have already earned for themselves a reputation on the baseball diamond, and the rest including the latest comer have given promise of living up to the family's reputation.

With Pop Harkins as captain, and player, a nine picked from the Harkins family alone, will be a possibility in the course of a few years.

Jimmy Harkins, who once covered the first sack for the New Brunswicks, of course, is slated for that position. John J. Harkins, Jr., is also a good first sacker but can play most any position on the team. William Harkins did the greater part of the twirling for the Catholic Club, of New Brunswick, last season.

"Pop" will be allowed to pick out any position he wants. He says that he can play some ball still, but unlike Bob Fitzsimmons he does not attempt to show up.

Local ball fans remember Harkins as the pitcher for the West Ends, of Somerville, in the old Crescent days

OPPOSED TO INCOME TAX.

New Jersey Legislature Expected to Vote Against Amendment.

There is a strong probability that if the amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for the imposition of an income tax comes before the Legislature, which meets on Tuesday, it will be overwhelmingly defeated. Nearly all of the Republican leaders in the State, including the two United States Senators, are said to be strongly opposed to the tax on the ground, they assert, that the greater part of the impost would have to be paid by the four States of New York, New Jersey, Ohio, and Massachusetts.

It is not known whether or not Governor Fort will touch on the income tax in his annual message on Tuesday.

GIRL FALLS DOWN SHAFT AND STRIKES ELEVATOR.

Paterson, Jan. 7.—Escaping apparently with a cut scalp and broken left ankle, after a fall of four stories down an elevator shaft at a local silk mill Wednesday, Margaret Davidson, fourteen years old, lies in the General Hospital. The physicians fear she is injured internally.

The girl was found unconscious on the elevator platform, which is not surrounded by a cage. How long she had lain there was not known, as she had not been missed until occasion occurred to use the elevator.

TRUSTS AND RAILROADS TAFT'S MESSAGE TOPICS.

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Taft sent a special message to Congress today in which he discussed and made recommendations regarding the interstate commerce law and the anti-trust law and Federal incorporation.

Gen. Campbell Wins Fight.

The Court of Errors and Appeals yesterday declared unconstitutional the Vredenburgh law fixing 64 years as the age for compulsory retirement of National Guard officers, and General Edward A. Campbell won his fight for reinstatement as commander of the First Brigade. With General Campbell fourteen other officers who retired through the operation of the law can be reinstated after quo warranto proceedings. Gen. Campbell says that he will not confer with his counsel, Robert H. McCarter, regarding his reinstatement.

Favors Park Co-Operation.

State Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen in his address at Governor Fort's luncheon at Lakewood, yesterday, recommended that this State appropriate $500,000 for the fund that is being raised for the establishment of a park along the Hudson river. Governor Fort warmly seconded the remarks of the Senator from Somerset and hinted that such a recommendation would be found in his message.

Miss Anna C. Todd, of Dunellen, secretary of Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., is in attendance at the "General and Mrs. Washington's Wedding Anniversary," as the guest of Mrs. Donald McLean, at Sherry's, New York city.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. Mr. Craig, of Leland avenue, will lead the prayer meeting at the Netherwood Reformed church tonight.

F. H. Andrews will lead the prayer meeting tonight at Hope chapel. This is the last meeting in the week of prayer services.

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the American Sabbath Trace Society will meet Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parlors of the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

The Ladies' Guild of the Netherwood Reformed church will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All women of the congregation are especially invited to this first meeting after church organization.

Franklin's Officers Installed.

State Vice Councilor William B Larue installed the officers-elect of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., last evening, after which there was a social time, during which the good and welfare committee took charge. There was a large attendance of members and the meeting was one of the best of recent times.

Agriculturists Meet.

E. P. Beebe, representative of the State Horticultural Society addressed the Board of Agriculture yesterday at Elizabeth. The occasion was the monthly meeting of the board and many facts of interest were presented to the members. Soil Fertility and the Dairy Cow will be the next two subjects brought to the attention of the society.

Operator O'Shea Killed.

CARS THAT HAVE MADE GOOD

Automobile buyers might be pardoned if they felt a little bit bewildered right now. There are so many new cars being announced and so many radical claims being made for them, that buyers are apt to be a little up in the air.

You can't make a mistake if you buy a car of established reputation. A car that has stamped upon it a big, successful reliable name. A car with a record. A car that the people have bought, in quantities.

You might make a mistake buying some other kind of a car. A new car may be a good car, but no one knows that it is until it has been thoroughly tried out.

You take no risk when you buy a Chalmers-Detroit car. Our cars have made good for years.

In two seasons of Motor contests Chalmers-Detroit stock cars have won 89 firsts, 32 seconds and 21 thirds. "The Motor Age "Record" gives the Chalmers-Detroits title of the Champion cars of the year.

Orders for more than one-half our entire allotment for 1910 have already been booked. We believe all remaining spring deliveries will be booked at the end of the Garden Show week.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS.

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, December 2, 1909, at 2:30 p. m. In the absence of Clerk Ryno, N. R. Leavitt was elected clerk pro tem.

Roll call showed the following members present: Director King and Freeholders Adams, Sady, Cladek, Crane, Darby, Doane, Garrison, Haviland, Jones, Krouse, Martin, Meisel, Perry, Robison, Smith, Stephan, Swain and Wilbur—19. Absent, Jensen—1.

On motion of Freeholder Cady it was ordered that the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting be dispensed with and the same be approved as per printed copies on members' desks.

Communications.

Whereas this Grand Jury is impressed with the desirability of some change in the provisions made for the punishment and correction of juvenile offenders, therefore it is

Resolved, That in the opinion of the members of this body, provision should be made by the proper authorities for the establishment of some suitable institution for the proper retention or punishment and correction of such juvenile offenders in Union county; and it is further

Resolved, That this matter be brought to the attention of the Board of Chosen Freeholders in said Union county with the request that they look into the subject and consider the advisability of moving therein.

Dated at Elizabeth, N. J., November 5, 1909.

VICTOR MRAVLAG,
Foreman.

On motion of Freeholder Smith this communication was received and placed on file and the Director authorized to appoint a committee of five. The Director appointed Freeholders Smith, Krouse, Cady, Wilbur and Crane.

December 2, 1909.

Hon. W. R. Codington, Esq., County Attorney, Courthouse, city.

Dear Sir—I represent Eunice Ward, who is living with her sister, Mrs. Mary McLain, at 185 North avenue, Cranford, N. J. Between the hours of 8 and 8:30 on the night of September 30, 1909, she was going up North avenue on the right hand side looking west; as she neared the river where the Board of Freeholders is repairing the bridge, she tripped and fell over some flagstones right near the easterly approach on that side of the way. At that time the centre of the bridge was the only part of the bridge open for traffic. It was entirely dark at the place where she was headed and there were no lights of any kind to guide her. She was severely injured and has been attended since by a physician in Cranford, whose name and address I will give you if you so desire. In looking the matter up I have no doubt the Board of Freeholders is responsible in case an action is brought. I have been requested by the parties to inform the Board of Freeholders through you concerning the matter, so that some adjustment of the matter may be had.

You will remember a few years ago I had a suit against the Freeholders and at that time you informed me that if I had any such matters in the future you preferred me to inform you and leave the board take it up. I write this without prejudice.

Respectfully yours,
J. A. KIERNAN.

On motion of Freeholder Adams received and referred to the County Attorney and the committee on this bridge.

Reports of Committees.

By the committee on jail inspection.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your committee on jail inspection would respectfully report that it has inspected the jail, also the books of the warden.

Total number of prisoners in jail Nov. 4, 70; number received during the month, 76; in custody December 1, 64; number of days' board, 1,973; cost of maintenance of jail for November: Provisions, drugs and sundries, $353.86; salaries, $275; total, $628.86. Cost per day per prisoner, .3187 cents.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH PERRY,
JOHN H. STEPHAN,
J. HARVEY DOANE,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Doane received and placed on file.

By committee on Soldiers' Monuments.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county:

Mr. Director and Gentleman—Your committee on Soldiers' Monuments having received the following applications for monuments to mark the graves of dead soldiers, who took part in American wars, respectfully recommend that the requests of the next of kin, by whom they were signed, be granted—the same having been investigated by the Supervisor and approved by him:

William H. Hughes, Sixth N. Y. Ind, Battery, Rahway cemetery, 1838-1906.

Elias C. Winans, K Ninth N. J. Vols.; Evergreen Cemetery, Elizabeth.

William H. Hosler, Surgeon 174th N. Y. Vols.; Presbyterian Cemetery, New Providence, 1830-1872.

William Kuhl, K, Seventh N. Y. Infantry; Hillside Cemetery, Plainfield, 1838-1906.

Benjamin C. Clark, B, Thirtieth N. J. Vols.; Baptist Cemetery, Scotch Plains, 1908.

John Nugent, C, First Connecticut Cav.; Presbyterian Cemetery, Union, 1849-1890.

Charles H. Gorham, B, Thirty-eighth N. J. Vols.; Rosedale Cemetery, Linden, 1836-1909.

J. HERVEY DOANE,
JOHN H. STEPHAN,
JOSEPH PERRY,
J. N. CADY,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Cady received and recommendation adopted without dissent.

By Committee on North Avenue Bridge, Cranford, N. J.

Elizabeth, Nov. 17, 1909.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders, Elizabeth, N. J.:

Gentlemen—Your committee on North Avenue Bridge, Cranford, N. J., would report as follows:

The work of building the new bridge was awarded by this board, upon receipt of bids, to William E. Warren, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., at the price of $7,792. At the time the work was so awarded it was thought unnecessary to remove the old abutment walls of the old bridge, as they appeared to be in good order and apparently could be utilized in the new work.

When the piers for the new bridge were built, these old abutment walls were broken into, of necessity, and they were then found to be in very poor order, having cement mortar only at the faces, and they were considered to be unfit and unsafe for the support of the new bridge.

Your committee has therefore received bids for the reconstruction of these two old abutment walls, of concrete, and the lowest bid is that of Mr. Warren, at $900. The work has been awarded to Mr. Warren at that figure, subject to approval of the board, and the committee has also as a part of the new agreement, given the present old bridge and the materials therein, to Mr. Warren.

Your committee would therefore recommend that an additional appropriation of $900 be made by the board, for the building of these new walls, as above set forth.

Respectfully submitted.
E. K. ADAMS,
CHARLES A. SMITH,
GEORGE B. CLADEK,
PETER H. MEISEL,
WILLIAM H. GARRISON,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Adams received and recommendation adopted without dissent.

By the Committee on Elizabeth Avenue Bridge over Rahway River, Rahway, N. J.

Elizabeth, December 2, 1909.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Gentlemen — Your committee would respectfully report that it has made an examination of this bridge, and find that the upstream walls of the structure are being pressed out away from the arches by frost or otherwise, and have in the cases of three of the four arches, gone out so far as to leave cracks between the arches proper and the walls, in some places two inches wide.

Your committee is of the opinion that it will not be necessary to rebuild these walls, but that the walls should be stayed by means of rods running from plates at the faces of the walls, into the arch walls and fastened to the latter at places ten feet or more from the faces of the wall.

Your committee would therefore recommend that this work be authorized, the cost of the same not to exceed the sum of $150.

GEORGE B. CLADEK,
CHARLES A. SMITH,
HENRY KROUSE,
Committee.

On motion of Freeholder Cladek received and recommendation adopted without dissent.

Committee on Surrogate's Account:

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Union:

Gentlemen—Your Committee on Surrogate's Accounts respectfully reports:

We have examined the books and vouchers of the Surrogate for the month of November, 1909, and find them correct, and the net receipts are eight hundred and ninety-nine dollars and seventy-four cents.

Dated December, 1909.

CHARLES A. SMITH,
WILLIAM H. GARRISON,
BRADFORD JONES,
Committee.

On motion received and placed on file.

By a Committee of the Whole.

To the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

The Committee of the Whole, to whom was referred the applications for the building and constructions of macadam roads over the following roads, namely, Raritan road, from the westerly side of Terrill road, in Fanwood Township, and extending through Lake avenue, Palisade avenue and Madison Hill road to Westfield avenue in the City of Rahway; also the road known as Springfield avenue and Turkey road, from the township line between the town of Westfield and the Township of Cranford, through the Borough of Mountainside and Township of Springfield to Westfield avenue in the town of Westfield; also the road known as Shunpike road, from the northwesterly side of Westfield avenue in the Township of Springfield to Morris avenue in the City of Summit; respectfully beg to report that they have inspected all of said roads, and being of the opinion that the improvement of said roads by the macadamizing of the same, under and by virtue of the provisions of the act known as "The State Road Act," passed 1905, is needful and necessary and would be conducive to great good to the public in general, and in particular to the traveling public in the respective locations.

We would therefore unanimously recommend the adoption of the hereto attached resolutions.

Dated November 18, 1909.

Respectfully submitted,
BENJAMIN KING,
Chairman.

Resolved, That Raritan road, beginning at the westerly side of Terrill road in the Township of Fanwood, and extending northeasterly in the Township of Fanwood to the easterly side of Lake avenue, so called, at Willow Grove; thence along Lake avenue, passing by Goodman's Station, southeasterly to the southerly side of Palisade avenue in the Township of Clark; thence along Palisade avenue northeasterly to the easterly side of Madison Hill road; thence along Madison Hill road in the Township of Clark, southeasterly to a turn in the road near the city line in the City of Rahway; thence still along Madison Hill road, partly in the Township of Clark and partly in the City of Rahway, northeasterly to the westerly line of Westfield avenue; and being at least thirty-three feet in width, and about four and three-quarter miles in length, and forming a connection with a permanently improved road, be improved by the construction of a macadamized roadway in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled "An act providing for the Permanent Improvement of Public Roads in this State," revision of 1905, and the supplements and amendments thereto.

And be it further Resolved, That the clerk of this board be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the State Commissioner of Public Roads for his approval, and that upon the approval of the same by the State Commissioner of Public Roads, the County Road Committee be, and is hereby authorized to cause a survey of said road, so to be improved, to be made, and plans, cross-sections and specifications of the work to be done on the same, to be prepared; and that the same be submitted to this board for its approval or rejection; and if approved by this board, the same then be submitted to the State Commissioner of Public Roads for his approval or rejection.

Resolved, That Springfield avenue, beginning at a point in Springfield avenue at the township line between the Township of Cranford and the town of Westfield, and extending northwesterly, northerly and northeasterly along Springfield avenue in the Town of Westfield, Borough of Mountainside and Township of Springfield, to the northeasterly side of Turkey road; thence northwesterly along Turkey road in the Township of Springfield, to Westfield avenue; and being at least thirty-three feet in width, and about two and a quarter miles in length, and forming a connection with a permanently improved road, be improved by the construction of a macadamized roadway in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled, "An act providing for the Permanent Improvements of Public Roads in this State," revision of 1905, and the supplements and amendments thereto.

And be it further Resolved, That the clerk of this board be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the State Commissioner of Public Roads for his approval, and that upon the approval of the same by the State Commissioner of Public Roads, the County Road Committee be and is hereby authorized to cause a survey of said road, so to be improved, to be made, and plans, cross-sections and specifications of the work to be done on the same to be prepared, and that the same be submitted to this board for its approval or rejection; and if approved by this board, the same then be submitted to the State Commissioner of Public Roads for his approval or rejection.

Resolved, That Shunpike road, beginning at the northwesterly side of Westfield avenue in the Township of Springfield, and extending northwesterly in the Township of Springfield and City of Summit to the southeasterly side of Morris avenue, and being at least thirty-three feet in width, and about one and three quarter miles in length, and forming a connection with a permanently improved road, be improved by the construction of a macadamized roadway in accordance with the provisions of an act entitled, "An act providing for the Permanent Improvement of Public Roads in this State," revision of 1905, and the supplements and amendments thereto.

And be it further resolved, That the clerk of this board be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to the State Commissioner of Public Roads for his approval, and that upon the approval of the same by the State Commissioner of Public Roads, the County Road Committee be and is hereby authorized to cause a survey of said road, so to be improved, to be made, and plans, cross-sections and specifications of the work to be done on the same, be prepared; and that the same be submitted to this board for its approval or rejection; and if approved by this board, the same be submitted to the State Commissioner of Public Roads for his approval or rejection.

On motion of Freeholder Cady received and recommendation adopted without dissent.

By the Committee on Bradford Avenue Bridge, Westfield, N. J.

The appropriation for the building of this bridge was $250. The lowest bid which was accepted was $49. At the time that the plans were drawn the curbing of the street had not been laid, and it was not known just how the gutter inlets should be built, so that this item was not included in the original plans. The gutter inlets have since been settled upon by reason of the final establishing of grades on the street and the decision of the owners to build concrete curbs, which work has been started elsewhere in the property.

Your committee therefore authorized the addition to the bridge of two gutter inlets, at an additional cost of $25.

Your committee would therefore recommend the increasing of the appropriation for this bridge by the sum of $24, to cover the additional cost of the gutter inlets.

Respectfully submitted,
JOSEPH PERRY,
AARON D. CRANE,
GEORGE B. CLADEK,
Committee.

NEW BUSINESS.

By Freeholder Adams.

Resolved, That the County Collector be directed to draw a duplicate check to Freeholder Perry for $30 and to Cornelius Reagan for $30.

On motion of Freeholder Krouse the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Stephan.

Resolved, That a committee of three with power to repair the planking on Meadow avenue bridge, Rahway, N. J., the cost not to exceed $120, as the same is in a dangerous condition.

On motion of Freeholder Robison the resolution was adopted without dissent, and the Director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Stephan, Martin and Haviland.

A STORY OF CANINE FIDELITY.

It is a touching story of canine fidelity which Enos A. Mills tells of his dog "Scotch" in "Wild Life on the Rockies," says Youth's Companion. Master and dog had been out on a four days' excursion on the bleak mountain tops, when a little above timber-line Mr. Mills stopped to take some photographs. To do this he had to take off his sheepskin mittens, which he placed securely in his coat pocket, but not securely, as it proved later. He goes on:

From time to time, as I climbed the summit of he continental divide, I stopped to take photographs, but on the summit the cold pierced my silk gloves, and I felt for my mittens, to find that one of them was lost.

I stopped, put an arm around Scotch, and told him I had lost a mitten, and that I wanted him to go down for it to save me trouble.

Instead of starting off willingly, as he had invariably done before in obedience to my commands, he stood still. I thought he had misunderstood me, so I patted him, and then pointing down the slope, said, "Go for the mitten, Scotch. I will wait here for you.

He started for it, but went unwillingly. He had always served me so cheerfully that I could not understand, and it was not until late the next afternoon that I realized that he had not understood me, but that he had loyally, and at the risk of his life, tried to obey me.

My cabin, eighteen miles away, was the nearest house, and the region was utterly wild. I waited a reasonable time for Scotch to return, but he did not come back. As it was late in the afternoon, and growing colder, I decided to go on toward my cabin, along a route that I felt sure he would follow, and I reasoned that he would overtake me.

When at midnight he had not come, I felt something was wrong. I slept two hours and decided to go to meet him. The thermometer showed fourteen below zero. I kept on going, and at 2 in the afternoon, twenty-four hours after I had sent Scotch back, I pasued on a crag and looked below. There in the snowy world of white he lay by the mitten in the snow. He had misunderstood me, and had gone back to guard the mitten instead of to get it.

After waiting for him to eat a luncheon, we started merrily toward home, where we arrived at 1 o'clock in the morning.

Had I not returned, I suppose Scotch would have died beside the mitten. In a region cold, cheerless, oppressive, without fod, and perhaps to die, he lay down by the mitten because he understood that I told him to. In the annals of dog heroism I know of no greater deed.

MOURN FOR DR. RICHARDS

Dr. Zelie Pays T[illegible]e to De[illegible]parted [illegible] Large[illegible]ed Meeting.

AT CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

Memorial Service to Be Held By His Former Congregation—Reference at Hope Chapel.

The sudden death of Rev. Dr. William Rogers Richards, formerly pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, which occurred at his home in New York city, yesterday, resulted in an unusually large attendance at the meeting held in the local church, last night, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. Rev. Dr. Stanley White, secretary of the foreign mission board, was engaged to speak and there was no change in the program. W. Lester Glenney was in charge of the meeting.

Prior to the talk on missions by Dr. White, a few remarks were made by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, pastor, relative to the death of Dr. Richards. He expressed the deep sorrow felt by all in the sad death of the latter and of the great loss to the Presbyterian church as well as the cause of religion. He said that the news came as a great shock to him, and he was loth to speak of it until he was absolutely sure it was true. He asked the prayers of all for Dr. Richards' family. In view of Dr. Richards' known interest in missions, Dr. Zelie said that it was decided to hold the meeting as planned.

Dr. White prefaced his talk by a few words of eulogy concerning Dr. Richards. He said that for more than twenty years he had been his companion in the work and when he was a member of this Synod he was brought in close touch with the departed minister. He referred affectionately to his untiring zeal and devotion to the cause of Christ and missions, and added that every member of the Presbyterian Board of Missions had experienced a distinct and severe loss.

Everyone present was deeply impressed with the words spoken and after Dr. White's talk there was a short season of prayer, during which many petitions were offered to the Heavenly Master in behalf of the bereaved family.

Dr. White brought a message to the church of the mission work in Korea and South America, more especially the latter country, from which Robert E. Speer recently returned.

The speaker referred to the increasing knowledge of the foreign countries where missionaries are at work, of the improved method used and the fact that missionaries are not now devoting so much time to tearing down other religions, but are using greater efforts in presenting the true religion of Christ.

Dr. White said that according to the reports brought back by Mr. Speer, together with other knowledge on the subject, India cannot be compared with South America for moral degradation. The country is steeped in the blackest sin and is bound down by superstition.

Interesting reference was made to the Republic of Panama, Guatemala,

M'INTYRE ANNOUNCES HIS CONCERT PROGRAM

In announcing the program for the last of his chamber music concerts at the High School auditorium Monday evening, Joseph McIntyre sprung two pleasant surprises today. Not only will the instrumental portion of the program contain a quartette for piano, violin, viola and cello, but the concluding number will be a trio for piano, violin and cello. Then again instead of giving the usual two groups of three songs each Miss Christine Miller, the contralto, will sing four numbers in each group. Recalling the ovation that was accorded this artist upon her previous appearance here it is safe to predict that Monday evening's audience will demand one or more encore numbers.

Those artists who will participate in the quartette are: Joseph McIntyre, piano; Arthur Lichstein, violin; Otto K. Shill, viola, and Vladimir Dubinsky, cello.

The program is as follows:

Beethoven's opus 16, quartette for piano, violin, viola and cello. (a), Grave Allegro ma non Troppo; (b), Andante Cantabile; (c), Allegro mia non Troppo. Song group, Miss Miller—(a), Botschaft, Brahms; (b), Die Abloesung, Hollaender; (c), In the Time of Roses, Reichardt; (d), Floods of Spring, Rachmaninoff. Violin solo, Mr. Lichstein, "Faust" Fantasie. Song group, Miss Miller—(a), A Summer Idyl, Coleridge Taylor; (b), My Love and I, McDowell; (c), The Danza, Chadwick; (d), Sunshine Song, Bliss. Saint-Saens' Serenade, piano, violin and cello.

AGITATION BEGINS FOR NEW Y.M.C.A. BUILDING

A larger home is needed for the local Y. M. C. A., according to the ideas of some of the prominent members of the association. Since the present building was erected sixteen years ago the association has flourished to such an extent as to create a necessity for more commodious quarters.

There has been a live sentiment in the association for the past two years to dispose of the present structure and erect a more modern building to compare favorably with Y. M. C. A. homes in the larger cities, but the ideas have failed to crystallize sufficiently to warrant a concerted movement in that direction.

Now it is probable that the matter will be broached at a near meeting of the board of trustees and until that body takes decisive steps nothing definite can be said.

The property, as it stands, including the land, is rated at between $75,000 and $100,000. The present structure cost about $50,000.

DUNELLEN PASTORS WIN

No New Liquor Licenses will Be Granted for That Borough Now.

JUDGE LYON SO DECLARES.

Clergyman and W. C. T. U. Offer Strong Remonstrance to Middlesex Court Against Application.

Charles Shafer wants a license to conduct a hotel in Dunellen, but after what happened in Judge Lyon's court at New Brunswick yesterday, his chances cannot be said to be particularly bright.

Senator George S. Silzer appeared for the applicant, and asked that consideration be laid over for a week. Rev. W. A. Knox, of the Dunellen Methodist church, and Rev. Ernest O. Brown, of the Dunellen Presbyterian church, protested against this action. They said they had expected that the matter would be considered yesterday, and had come over for the purpose of protesting.

Rev. Mr. Brown handed in a petition of protest from members of his congregation, and Rev. Mr. Knox presented a similar one from his church, one from the Dunellen W. C. T. U. and others from private individuals.

Mr. Knox told the court that the place is not needed, that it is at one end of the town where there are few houses, and where its only source of patronage would be from employes of a factory. There are two licensed places in Dunellen now, the minister said, and he thought these sufficient. To establish another, he said, would add only to the trouble and expense of maintaining order in the borough.

"The court has already stated its policy not to grant new applications for license," said Judge Lyon, "and I cannot think that this will be an exception. Even before these protests were filed I had practically made up my mind."

Senator Silzer asked time to answer the protest before the court announced its decision.

"The case will be laid over for one week," said Judge Lyon, "to give the applicant an opportunity to be heard. The opponents need not appear at that time. If after hearing what the applicant has to say I desire to hear the other side, the matter will be adjourned for another week to give them the opportunity.

The place for which Mr. Shafer wants a license is the one formerly kept as a wholesale house by William Wyckoff, near the Levering and Garrigues Iron Works. Wyckoff served a term of sixty days in jail for selling at retail without a license which sentence was imposed by Judge Booraem.

Rev. Mr. Knox told the court this morning that if necessary he could get a petition against the place signed by three qurters of the citizens of Dunellen. The court intimated that he needn't bother.

Starting the New Year Right.

DeWitt P. Brokaw, of 38 Sycamore avenue, lost a bunch of keys and advertised the loss in The Daily Press. The keys were found by W. J. Ulmer, of 131 Elmwood place, who, seeing the advertisement, returned the lost property to the owner.

CRUELTY CHARGES TRIED

Thomas Hand and Herbert Van Fleet Defendants in City Court This Morning.

MRS. VAN HOESEN PROSECUTES.

Judge Runyon Reserves Decision Until Next Saturday—Dog Was Chicken Thief.

The celebrated case of the N. J. S. P. C. A. against Thomas Hand and Herbert VanFleet was tried this morning before City Judge Runyon and after hearing witnesses on both sides of the question the judge reserved decision for a week. Mrs. Eva Van Hoesen, a member of the S. P. C. A. was the complainant against Hand and Van Fleet, and she was represented by W. A. Codington. Hand and Van Fleet were defended by Walter Hetfield, Sr.

According to the testimony given by the Kiely family, whose dogs were shot by Hand and Van Fleet, one of the dogs suffered with a great wound in the throat from Saturday, December 4, until Thursday, December 9, and it was on a charge of cruelty to this dog that Mrs. VanHoesen made the complaint. The animal was finally shot by Detective Sergeant John Flynn on the ninth of the month after a consultation between Mrs. VanHoesen, Veterinary Surgeon Carpenter and Sergeant Flynn.

Hand said that he had complained of these dogs for killing his chickens and on the morning of December 4 he found two of Kiely's dogs killing a fat hen in his chicken house. Knowing to whom the dogs belonged he went to Kiely's house and tried to see James Kiely, the owner of the dogs, but as he was not at home he notified Mr. Kiely's son of what had happened. The son, so Mr. Hand averred, told him to shoot the dogs. Hand thereupon sent for his hired man Van Fleet, who came, and afterwards sent for his gun and some shells and the two started for the Kiely place on South avenue to shoot the dogs.

In the melee one of the dogs was killed after being shot twice while the other one shot in the throat was able to crawl to Guttridge's barn, several hundred feet away, where it remained in hiding until it was found on Thursday. This part is where the charge of cruelty comes in. The men who shot the dogs should have assured themselves of the animal's death before leaving the premises. Mr. Hetfield pleaded for leniency for the two accused men and Mr. Codington said he would be satisfied if the judge would find they had been technically guilty of cruelty and impose a sentence in conformity with that finding. Judge Runyon will decide the case and render his verdict next Saturday.

"MYSTERY PLAY" GIVEN AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

Before an audience which completely filled the parish house of the Church of the Holy Cross last night the Junior Auxiliary of the parish assisted by Miss Louise Bristol, Mrs. George Warner, wife of the rector, and a dozen boys from the choir gave a most beautiful interpretation of an old English Mystery play and judging from the comments made at the end of the play it was the best performance ever given in this progressive church.

Mrs. Warner rendered several violin selections which were appreciated and Miss Bristol added charm to the music by her splendid singing. Miss Bristol was heard in duets with Allen Diman, an alto in the choir, and their blended voices was particularly pleasing. Will O'Brien presided at the piano with his usual skill and if applause had been permissible all these musicians would have received encores.

James Lindzey who had charge of the scenery made a success of his work and was ably assisted by William Little, who had the electrical effects completely under his command. The working of the electric lights had much to do with the success of the play.

A goodly sum was realized from the performance which will be devoted to the field of Domestic Missions.

The play had to do with the nativity of Christ and many of the scenes given showed that the Bible story had been faithfully followed. Marjory Heaton represented Mary and Grace Wakefield took the part of Joseph, and both were admirably acted. The presentation of gifts to the infant Saviour was remarkably well done. The whole play in fact was a pleasing thing to see.

WILL VOTE ON SEWERS

Borough Sewerage Commission Ready for Election for Necessary Bond Issue.

MAYOR MAKES APPOINTMENTS.

The Park Commission and Shade Tree Commission Are Named—Two New Call Men Are Announced.

The tracks are now cleared for the borough to have sewers and all additional legal steps are to be gone through at a speedy clip in preparation for the special election for the issuance of bonds. William J. Buttfield, chairman of the sewer commission, who was present at the session, informed Mayor Smalley and the Council last night, that there was an understanding that the North Plainfield township committee was willing to establish the disposal beds at the Zvolnacw farm, which is located at the extreme westerly boundary of the township. The Township Committee will formally grant the petition at a meeting to be held at Watchung next Thursday afternoon.

Petitions to the committee and to the township Board of Health as prepared by Sherrerd Depew, Esq., counsel for the commission, were unanimously approved, and the documents will be submitted to the township authorities on Thursday. The petitions are identical in wording to the ones submitted last year. Mr. Buttfield explained the preparation of the new ones were necessary, in order to comply with all of the conformities of the law, relative to the establishment of sewerage plants. According to the law such petitions must be acted on in the same year as presented. The 1909 petitions were presented too late in the year for action to the township authorities, consequently they became invalid on January 1.

In order to rush matters along the Council authorized the commission to prepare petitions to submit to property owners in the borough for their signatures as soon as the township committee and Board of Health acts on the petition, in which permits will be granted for locating the disposal beds in the township. Six of these petitions will be prepared and circulated.

Before the arrival of Mr. Buttfield the Council confirmed the reappointment of the commission made by Mayor Smalley. The personnel of the commission is William J. Buttfield, J. O. Osgood, E. S. Boyer, John P. Emmons, C. L. Nicholl and Sherrerd Depew, of Newark, as counsel.

In the reappointment of the park commission, George T. Rogers, H. A. Bonn and Robert Clark, Jr., Mayor Smalley again advocated the establishment of a park in the western section of the borough along Greenbrook. He also suggested that the borough purchase sites of land, which are now apparently worthless, and utilize them for public parks. He called attention to a tract of land along Stony Brook, near the home of the late Colonel Wilson, which he believed was an excellent spot for a small park.

Mayor Smalley also lauded the labors of the Shade Tree Commission and reappointed H. C. White and John Barrett to continue in that capacity.

Three new call men were added to the fire department, the appointments being George Morton, Claude Hann and William Hogan.

Permission was given the New York Telephone Company to erect two poles facing the properties situated at 150 and 185 Grove street.

In the miscellaneous business Councilman Stahl reported expenditures of $40 in the fire department for the month; claims amounting to $53.25 were ordered paid.

New Board Members.

At the meeting of the Board of Trade Thursday night, the following were elected to membership: John Manley, Taylor J. Irwin, J. C. Thorn, John J. Swan, N. H. Stringham, W. E. Benjamin, Nelson A. Miller, H. A. Woodruff, Jas. L. Arrowsmith, W. C. MacNaughton, Jas. A. Ayers, John I. Brower, C. W. Fogarty, Chas. H. Dutcher, A. L. C. Marsh, W. J. Hudson, M. B. Stutsman, C. H. Hand, Jacob Sklarew, J. V. E. Vanderhoef, Dacey Richmond, F. E. Smith, E. Schloss Co., Dr. B. F. Leonard, Chas. Smith, P. A. McVoy, O. P. Crane, A. F. Marsh, Elmer E. Runyon.

Hudson Touring Car at $1,150.

The Hudson Motor Car. Co. have just brought out a new touring car selling at $1,150. Mr. Thompson, the local representative, says this will be a big surprise at the Garden show, as this car unlike others selling below $1,500, will have beauty and refinements found only in high grade cars. ***

WIFE'S DAILY RATIONS WERE TWO SANDWICHES

Because she had not had enough to eat for the past week Mrs. Anna Dilts raised a disturbance in the room she and her husband occupy at 304 West Second street, last night, and the scrap between the two was so violent that police headquarters was notified and Patrolman Flatley instructed to gather in the warring couple.

When the officer arrived on the scene of the conflict he found the room in disorder and a map of Hoboken engraved on the face of Charles Dilts, the husband. Broken crockery decorated the floor and other evidences of a mighty struggle were abundant.

In court this morning Mrs. Dilts told Judge Runyon that her food had consisted of two egg sandwishes a day for the past week and even that was grudgingly given. She would be very well satisfied if her husband would provide at least one square meal a day, but he didn't seem to be willing to give her enough money to buy the grub.

Dilts tried to explain that he was anxious to get to housekeeping and as his wife was ill she did not care to eat much and anyway they had a good time drinking beer at a certain hotel previous to the row and both were slightly under the influence of drink.

Judge Runyon believed that the wife had cause to raise a rumpus so he fined her husband $5 and suspended sentence in her case. She will have had a good hot meal before tonight.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE DUE MONDAY NIGHT

Mayor Fisk will have some entirely new propositions to put before the taxpayers and will make a number of sound suggestions, which will be welcomed by the general public, in his annual message to be read at the Common Council meeting on Monday night. The message, it is reliably reported, covers nearly 100 typewritten pages and notwithstanding this the whole matter is condensed. Each department of the municipal government, in turn, is treated separately and some interesting facts and figures not generally known are given.

A general invitation is extended to all interested citizens to attend the Common Council meeting to hear this message. It will be well worth the while of any taxpayer to be present. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock sharp and there is plenty of room for all.

"THE QUEST OF QUESNAY" BY BOOTH TARKINGTON.

The opening chapters of "The Guest of Quesnay," by Booth Tarkington, appear in this issue. "The Guest of Quesnay" tells the story of a pure woman's love and sacrifice for a debased, misled, pleasure loving man; it tells in captivating vein of picturesque Paris, too—of the cosmopolitan life of the famous capital. Its character sketches of continental society as well as peasantry are unmistakable in their picturing, and its romance, its mystery and its refreshing comedy give the same qualities to the novel that placed the author's "Monsieur Beaucaire" among the masterpieces of contemporaneous fiction.

MISS ALTHEA VAIL DIES AT FORDHAM, N. Y.

Miss Althea F. Vail, daughter of the late Samuel and Sarah Vail, died at the Fordham Home for Incurables, 183d street and Third avenue, New York city, on Thursday. Miss Vail was a life long members of the First Baptist church and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Philip Cottrell, of 612 East Second street.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon, January 11, at 2:30, from Mrs. Cottrell's residence. Miss Vail was taken to the Fordham Home about two years ago, when it was ascertained that her disease was incurable.

Will Hold Special Services.

Special services will be held at the Salvation Army headquarters tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, conducted by Mrs. Jackson, wife of Adjutant Jackson, who have recently come here to take charge of the industrial work of the army. The service will be in the nature of a welcome to Adjutant and Mrs. Jackson.

Rev. Dr. Wilson to Preach.

Rev. Dr. Wilson, who was pastor of a Baptist church at Long Branch for seven years, and who recently resigned, will occupy the pulpit at the Park Avenue Baptist church, tomorrow morning and night as a candidate.

A FAREWELL "JAMBOREE"

This Saloonkeeper Dispensed Liquor at Cut Rates on His "Last Night."

AND GAVE IT AWAY TOO.

Celebration Ended With Great Hilarity In Which Proprietor Is Punched By Rum-Crazed Guests.

Fred Hetterick made his exit from the retail liquor business at Scotch Plains in a highly satisfied style to the drinking element of that village last night. Hettrick's license expired at midnight and his emporium is closed today, because of the opposition he encountered in his effort to secure a renewal of his license in the Union County Court.

Realizing that he had little chance of getting a renewal, Walter L. Hetfield, Hettrick's counsel, withdrew the application yesterday. This course will give Hettrick the privilege of filing another application, whereas if the application was refused the law would not permit him to apply for one year.

The closing ceremonies were noisy and exciting and many were the "woozey-woozey" heads in the village at daybreak this morning. Cut rates on all grades of stock prevailed and free drinks were thrown in by Hettrick every once in a while to keep things moving.

Fifteen cent whiskey was marked down, it is said to ten cents and the cheaper grades to five cents per glass. Beer was passed over the bar at the rate of two and three glasses for a nickel, it is reported.

At 11:50 o'clock, ten minutes before closing time, the real excitement of the occasion came. There was quite a quantity of the fiery fluid left, and Hettrick announced that all selling would stop and that the unconsummed stuff would be given away scot free.

This was too much for "Red Noze" Pete and "Mike the Bite" from Grassland Cave vicinity, who with some other members of the "jag brigade" made a rush for a full barrel. After the bunghole of the receptacle was tapped there was a wild scramble from all parts of the bar room. "Pat the Itch," a tramp character, "got too fresh" in his efforts to get his share of the spoils, and a fight resulted.

The climax came when Hettrick took a hand with a view of restoring peace. The result was that he was bounced about the bar room like a ship on an ocean wave by his rum-crazed guests, and in the riot he was severely beaten.

At this stage of the proceedings somebody put the lights out and the crowd dispersed. A few of the faithful, however, remained and divided the contents of the whiskey barrel.

Citizens of the village are highly elated over the outcome of the fight against Hettrick which was headed by the Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, pastor of the Baptist church.

MR. TRAVELL'S CRUSADE AGAINST THE CIGARETTE

Superintendent of School Ira W. Travell, of Morristown, formerly a member of the Plainfield High School faculty, is one of the chief leaders in a crusade against the sale of cigarettes to boys in that town.

The agitation against the sale of "coffin tacks" resulted in an order being issued by Chief of Police Halloway warning all storekeepers to desist in the practise.

Many boys who had been discovered smoking, and when questioned refused to furnish information to the crusaders, but since Chief Halloway's order the sales have been checked.

Organ Recital in Grace Church.

The organ recital to be given tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock by organist and choirmaster, S. Frederick Smith, of Grace Episcopal church, will comprise the following numbers: March of the Holy Grail, Wagner; Scherzo in G minor, Macfarlane; Slumber Song, Nevin, and Offertoire in D flat. Salome. The offertory anthem to be sung at the choral service at 4:30 will be Harris' "There Shall Come a Star."

Borough Franchise Taxes.

The December report of Tax Collector George Brown, of the borough, showed that North Plainfield received $1,272.28 for franchise taxes last year, divided as follows: Public Service Corporation, $742.47; Plainfield Water Company, $344.40; New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, $185.41.

NEW TRAFFIC REGULATIONS AT THE NORTH AVENUE STATION PUT IN FORCE TODAY

Mayor Charles J. Fisk met with the police committee of the Common Council and Chief of Police P. S. Kiely last night and adopted the new traffic regulations which are to be enforced at the North Avenue station. The regulations have been tried out during the past two nights and have been found excellent in their workings. Chief Kiely has been personally on the job and believes that the new arrangement will be of benefit to everybody concerned.

A diagram of the station and the approaches showing the points of approach and departure from the hack line is printed above so that none may be mistaken in the provisions, which are as follows:

Private vehicles waiting must stand in line at the west end of station with right side next curb, the first vehicle not beyond the west end main building. Public hacks will stand at east end, left side to curb, and first hack in line not beyond east end main building. A police pole will be placed at each of these points to plainly incidate the place, and a lighted green lantern will hang on the pole after dark.

Space on the curb between these points must be kept clear, and vehicles will only be allowed to stand while loading and unloading passengers. Hackmen must take first person applying and patrons are requested to take, as far as possible, first hack in line. No hack will be allowed to wait in hack line for any special person. These regulations are made for the good and convenience of all, and everyone is requested to comply and assist the officers in enforcing them.

By order of the Police Board.

P. S. KIELY, Chief of Police.

Special Notice—To shorten the hours of labor for our employes at this season of year, the store will open at 8:30 a. m. and close at 5:30 p. m., Saturdays excepted.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

An absolutely unique play, a beautiful production and a splendid cast are promised in Channing Pollock's dramatization of "In the Bishop's Carriage," which is to appear at the Plainfield theatre on January 12. Nance Olden, the leading character, is a beautiful little thief, a sort of female raffles, who falls into the hands of a clever young criminal lawyer. He is in his way a Sherlock Holmes, and quickly sees under the reckless nonchalance of "Nance the Nipper" a longing for better things. It arouses his pity. He strikes off the shackles of crime which chain her to the past and shows her the way to respectability and, as pity is akin to love, the curtain descends on the lawyer and the thief girl facing a happy future. This fascinating role is played by Stephanie Longfellow, one of the most gifted of your younger actresses, whose work as Princess Yetive in "Graustark," brought her into national repute. The play has been elaborately staged by Baker & Castle.

Marshall P. Wilder, among other celebrities, has his biography in "Who's Who In Amecira." It is seldom that a press agent has to refer to its pages for press material, but that is what happened to the press agent at Manila when he had to do the advance work for Wilder on his recent trip around the world. The Manila press agent knew of course that Wilder was coming direct from the court of the Mikado, but he did not know his awful past. In despair he went to "Who's Who." There he found a conservative and dignified biography of the little man's triumphant procession through the world of society (with a big S) and published it verbatum. The result was that Wilder was received as the world's celebrity (which he is) in Manila, and also came near receiving a salute from the fort on his arrival. Mr. Wilder will positively appear at every performance with Mildred and Rouclere, the illusionists, as a special added attraction. The date here is January 12.

N. Y. AMUSEMENTS.

A three-fold interest is attached to the appearance of the comedian Francis Wilson, in the comedy "The Bachelor's Baby" at the Criterion theatre next Monday night. This season Mr. Wilson comes to New York as author, stage director and chief actor in a three-act comedy that has appealed to those who have seen and heard it rather more for its genuine note of humanness—for a kindly, homely quality of humor than for any of that farcical comedy with which Francis Wilson has been so long associated. It is something for a comedian who has scrambled to the heights of fame and because of the eccentricity of his legs to develop naturally into a legitimate comedian of wit as well as humor by a persistent experiment in a better form of stage comedy. It is real progress to advance from the buffoonery of "Erminie" to the intelligent humor and likely reality of "The Bachelor's Baby."

Little Mary L. Clark, of Buffalo, N. Y., attended the matinee performance at the New York Hippodrome this afternoon, having made a special trip covering 500 miles in order to see the show. Little Miss Clark is the daughter of Thomas M. Clark, general manager of Norman E. Mark's publications, including the Buffalo Daily and Sunday Times, the National Monthly, etc. Little Mary Clark's visit to the Hippodrome was the fulfillment of a promise made to the child by her parents last 4th of July, on which day the little girl was badly burned while playing with fireworks, so that for months afterwards her life was despaired of. Mr. and Mrs. Clark returned to Buffalo after the matinee performance the day, fulfillment of the promise made to their little daughter costing $1[illegible] for the one day's visit to New York and the New York Hippodrome.

$200,000,000 IN A BIG NATURAL GAS PROJECT.

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 8.—A deal which involves approximately $200,000,000, and by which New York capital, said to be backed by the Standard Oil Company, will control the entire gas output of West Virginia, has practically been closed.

For some time the New York interests have controlled the gas situation throughout the northern and central parts of the State, and by the new deal they will gain control of the Southern fields also.

The deal involves the United Fuel Gas Company of Pittsburg, which only recently took over the extensive holdings of the United States Natural Gas Company in this State at the Columbia Gas Company, which supplies Cincinnati; the Interstate Gas Company, the Ohio Fuel Supply and others, all of which draw their supply from southern West Virginia. It is said to be the intention of the New York men to pipe gas to New York, Philadelphia and other seaboard cities.

GOLF.

Unless the present situation changes before the annual meeting of the United States Golf Association in New York, January 27, the amateur championship is likely to be awarded to the Country Club, of Brookline, the suburban Boston organization, which has tendered the use of its lately improved links. The contest is due geographically in the New England section in 1910.

The Chicago Golf Club, of Wheaton, Ill., where the same event was held this year, has offered its course for the national open championship.

No direct tender has been made for the women's championship, but four clubs have extended the use of their courses for any event—the Fox Hills Club, of Staten Island, N. Y.; the Essex County Club, of Manchester-by-the-Sea, Mass.; the Atlantic City (N. J.) Country Club, and the Philadelphia Cricket Club.

It is believed that the decision of the Metropolitan Golf Association to do what it can in the way of codifying local rules will start the thinkers to work in other sections. The Royal and Ancient Golf Club furnishes the following recommendations for local rules:

When necessary, local rules should be made for such obstructions as trees, hedges, fixed seats, fence gates, railways and walls; for such difficulties as hoofmarks and other damage done by animals, and for such local conditions as the existence of mud, which may be held to interfere with the proper playing of the game.

Many of the clubs have printed on the back of the score card the local rules, while at others it is necessary for the home golfer to instruct the visitor as to the rules as they journey round the course. A suggestion has been made that a small sign be attached to the tee box on every hole indicating the local rule governing such hole. These signs would doubtless be a blessing, not only to strangers, but to many home players as well, who will not take the time to acquaint themselves even with the rules peculiar to their course.

Word has been received that Willie Anderson, open champion of the Western Golf Association, has been engaged for the coming season by the Philadelphia Cricket Club. Last season Anderson had a green at St. Louis, but he gave this up because of a desire to return East. It was while at Apawamis that this redoubtable player won the national open three times in succession. He is again spending the winter at St. Augustine, being assisted by his brother Tom. The best eighteen-hole score made there this winter is 70, by Willie Anderson, who returned two 35's. Tom has made 71 going out in 34 and home in 37.

Wagner For First Base.

Hans Wagner will not be a "has-been" as soon as the dope has him slated for the baseball infirmary. For some time the fact that Wagner no longer is a spring chicken has been patent to President Dreyfuss and Manger Clarke. But where to find the fountain of perpetual youth that should keep strong and sinewy the greatest player of all? Whence the preservation of those qualities that had been so much lauded, and proved so valuable to the Pittsburg club? Finally, a happy idea struck the genial Barney—or perhaps the astute, non-garrulous Clarke. Anyway, it was born between these two, and either one of them may be proud to be known as the father of the plan. As revealed during one of Mr. Dreyfuss' recent visits to Cincinnati, the play simply is this: Use Wagner at first base. Doesn't sound like a big thing—but it is.

Exhibition and Basketball Game.

A gymnastic exhibition and basketball game will be held under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium classes on Monday night, January 31, at the Y. W. C. A. There will also be folk dances in costume.

Plain Field Notes and Queeries

By Druid

Good morrow! doubtful stranger, good New Year!
Janus-faced firstling of cold Janiveer!
What cheer wilt bring to me this time, I wonder?
Will February, mocking, snow me under
Till March shall smite me with his bitter blow?
April will find me still her Fool, I know.
Ah, if kind May will bring her blossomy boon,
And glow my heart into a radiant June!
Let July zephyrs waft their soothing balm,
And August's mellowing mood all frettings calm.
May sweet September's sunset solace spread
To gild October's gloom o'er summer fled;
Then, should November bring me wintry woes,
I'll hail December's Merry Christmas close.
(So we suppose, but, Lord! who knows?)

* * * *

One's main regret that Uncle Sam so complacently keeps on losing that trifle of $63,000,000 every year on his second-class mail business, is that he doesn't make the odd three millions of a Christmas gift to the sixty millions and let us all fetch our own mail. Then there's his yearly deficit of $28,000,000 on rural free delivery. It's a free country, of course, yet taxpayers somehow have to fork out a pretty penny pretty often to pay for the various sorts of freedom we enjoy. Uncle Sam should set his genius to work to devise plans by which these deficits would have to be paid solely by those who luxuriate on second class mail stuff, and not by those who like it the better the less they get of it. In these latter days it costs more and more to buy the liberty of living. But the cry is: "Don't compel us to pay for smuggling foreign made luxuries; we demand the freedom to spend our pin money in ways that don't benefit our working folk, brothers and sisters."

* * * *

Here comes the beautiful, beautiful snow in full feathery fall. So exquisitely soft, as it hardens your sole, so gentle in its fondling of us, so tonic and inspiring as it insinuates itself between collar and neck and evaporates in its progress down the tingling spine. How good housewifelike it spreads its sheet over the beds of grass and absentee flowers. How droll its whim to blanket earth's floor with its snowy sheet as a carpet, which becomes a stretcher when you spy your feet between your eyes and the sky. The humour of Merry old Father Christmas is delightful, when you tumble to it. Why do we call harmless October the "fall?" It's a shameful libel. But we do usually rise again and the leaves don't. Unless we are what they call "snow dunder."

* * * *

Among the cheapest and stalest newspaper "jokes" are those loaded on the back of our old bogey the sea serpent. The fancied "joke" is that because the creature has not been caught and clapped into a dime museum; there aint no sich a thing, not nohow. The poverty of this substitute for humour is as lamentable as the absence of faith in things unseen. Nothing so conspicuously brands the simpleton who sneers at the sea serpent as his provincial delusion that what is beyond his sight as a native of Waybackville, is therefore non-existent and inconceivable. Having in my time swallowed innumerable eels in stews and pies, fried and spitchcocked, I hold that I have given comfortable inside accommodation to perhaps a sea serpent a mile or two long, if he had not kindly offered himself in convenient instalments. If eels inhabit gentle rivers and giant eels the sea, if whales are a reality and not a delusion, if we dig up the bones and fossils of sixty-feet long amphibious creatures which we thoughtlessly say are extinct because we don't see them gallivanting off Coney Island, then none but a sheer fool can doubt the possible and probable existence of land animals and deep sea inhabitants as yet wise enough not to court acquaintance with mere two-legged midges who mistake themselves for godlings.

* * * *

Of course the aforesaid sceptic on sea snakes knows all about the "extinct" dinosaur, so I need not describe it. Within the last two or three months sundry natives of British Africa have told of seeing a strange animal or animals in certain districts. The following is quoted from the London correspondent of the "Sun." The creature is described as a huge monster, half elephant, half dragon, dwelling in the depths of the great swamps, and may be some kind of dinosaur seemingly akin to the Brontesaurus.

"On December 14, the dinosaur reasserted himself in the columns of the Bulawayo Chronicle. A correspondent of that paper declares that he has investigated the matter and has met two natives who affirm in the most positive manner that they have actually seen the dinosaur. Neither of these natives knew the other and both were shown separately a number of sketches, some wholly imaginary and others constructed from illustrations of prehistoric reptiles.

"Both natives immediately picked the same sketch as closely resembling the monster they had seen. Each, however, called the attention of the sketcher to the omission in his picture of what from their description would appear to be something in the nature of propulsory flippers.

"The creature is supposed to inhabit a lake between the rivers Lunga and Kafoe. Juding from the description given by the two natives it would seem to possess the head and tail of a crocodile, the horns of a rhinoceros, the neck of a python and the body of a hippopotamus, with the addition of propulsory flippers. Thus one specimen would in itself form a very fair mixed bag of big game."

MOURN FOR DR. RICHARDS

Brazil and other central points, showing the great need for more work in mission effort. The speaker referred to the moral condition of South America, which he said it would be impossible for him to explain before such an audience. In view of the conditions as found, Dr. White felt sure that the church has a great message to send to the people of South America. He gave a number of interesting facts which were obtained from Mr. Speer, showing the character of the priesthood in South America. The speaker said that he did not believe the Roman Catholic church in South America was representative of that church everywhere.

At the week of prayer service at Hope chapel, last night, F. H. Andrews, who was in charge, made personal reference to the death of Dr. Richards. He was a close friend of the departed minister and spoke of him in terms of great affection, telling of his unfailing interest not only in the Crescent Avenue church, where he was pastor for eighteen years, but in the work at the chapel. Other remarks of an informal nature were made concerning Dr. Richards.

Following the meeting at the Crescent Avenue church, last night, the session decided to hold a memorial service for Dr. Richards at the church on Sunday night, January 16. The plans are not definitely arranged, but due announcement will be made giving the names of the speakers and other information.

The New York Tribune under the title of "A Living Example," paid this tribute to Dr. Richards in this morning's issue:

"The death of the pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, yesterday, ended a life of much sweetness and beauty and a public career of more than ordinary usefulness to the community. There are probably other ministers in this city who are better known to the general public, but it may be doubted if there is one who has labored more earnestly or more efficiently to do the real work of the pastor of a numerous, needful and exacting congregation. The church which was his is one of the historic churches of New York, and it is one which has not declined with age but rather has continued to increase in numbers and influence, in the variety and scope of its activities, and therefore in the demands which it makes upon its pastor's time and strength. How well Dr. Richards served it, as spiritual exhorter and guide, as intellectual instructor, as administrator of practical affairs and in the tender and intimate personal relationships of sympathy and consolation, cannot be told but must be deeply realized by those who had the privilege of association with him.

"The example of his life affords what should be a convincing answer to those who are quaveringly inquiring how the churches are to be filled and how the people are to be interested in them. Here was a preacher who sought no adventitious aids to attract attention, yet who never lacked a great and deeply interested congregation. Here was a pastor who never indulged in exploits outside the limits of pastorale duty, yet who never was distressed by desertions from his parish. Here was a religious teacher who sought no new fantasies of faith and who discarded none of the vital and robust doctrines of his belief, and yet who never had occasion to lament the decline of faith or the failure of Christianity to lay hold upon the hearts and lives of men and women. His was a living example of the way in which to make the churches prosperous and Christianity a triumphant force in the world; and it will remain a living and potent example in his death as it was in his life.

DR. RICHARDS.

Living among us many happy years,
He preached in life and word "Good will to men."
We knew his sweetness and his greatness—then,
As thousands know and see them now, through tears.
Our sorrow is as their's,—and yet one fears
To ask "Why not the three score years and ten'
For him?" He never queried "Why?" nor "When?"
'Where is thy sting?" is all the cry one hears.

Ours is the precious memory of those days,
When boy he seemed as well as priest and man.
His ready smile, his blue eyes, piercing, sad,
His voice, that loved the tuneful song to raise;
We do not these forget, nor ever can.
He dwelt among us long: let us be glad! M. C. P.

NURSE CRUSHED BY ELEVATOR.

Caught Between Car Floor and Ceiling—Body Fell Twenty Feet.

Miss May Coombe, twenty-one years old, a student nurse in the Mercer Hospital's training school, was caught between the floor of the elevator and a ceiling and crushed yesterday at Trenton. She died shortly after the accident without having regained consciousness.

The accident was caused by Miss Coombe having turned the operating wheel of the elevator too far in her effort to raise the lift a little after she had stopped it.

Nurses about the hospital heard a cry of agony from the unfortunate woman. They rushed to the elevator shaft just in time to see the unconscious form being carried upward. At the second floor her body was released, and it fell to the base of the shaft, a distance of twenty feet.

Andrew Vanderbeek, of the borough, who has been detained at home with a severe attack of lumbago, is able to be out again.

RAHWAY MAN'S DEATH WAS CAUSED BY BLOW

Rahway, Jan. 8.—Former Mayor C. B. Holmes held his first official coroner's inquest Thursday. It was on the case of Sylvester J. Kelley, who died within two hours after being received into the Alexian Brothers' Hospital, at Elizabeth, three weeks ago. Conflicting stories have been in circulation since his death, stating, among other things, that he was seriously injured six weeks previously, while at work in the Royal manufacturing plant, this city, and another report stating that he died from an overdose of medicine.

It was learned at the trial Thursday that an examination by the authorities at the hospital, and by County Physician Westcott, showed the man's skull had been fractured and a tumor had formed on the brain.

The jury Thursday was composed of R. D. Uhler, Walter C. Ayers, John Van Beuren, William Bunhard and W. A. Clark. Charles Addison Swift, prosecutor, officiated. The witnesses called were Dr. Otto Wagner, Dr. Lynch, of the Alexian Hospital; Dr. G. E. Gallaway, Mrs. Robert Keyes, nurse; Maurice Inman, Stanley Eiserman, Samuel Hummiston, W. J. Schoenfield and John Marsh. The jury adjourned to inspect the works where the accident occurred.

The substance of the verdict rendered after inspection by the jury was that death resulted from a blow received on the head from a revolving ball on the indicator at the boiler, the result of an accidental collision with the same, September 25. The result may have been hastened by an overdose of medicine taken by himself to cure his headache.

EDISON SEES GREAT DAY BUT IT'S LONG WAY OFF.

Thomas A. Edison has taken a peep into the future, and prophesies that the world will be a much better one, particularly for the poor man, 200 years from now. In an interview, published here, he says:

"In 2110, by the cheapening of commodities, the ordinary laborer will live as well as a man does now with $200,000 annual income. Automatic machinery and scientific agriculture will bring about this result. There will be no manual labor in the factories of the future. The men employed will all be superintendents, watching the machinery, to see that it works right.

"The work-day will be eight hours or less. It will be work with the brain, done in wholesome, pleasant surroundings. Less and less man will be used as an engine or as a horse.

"The clothes of the future, by the way, will be so cheap that every young woman will be able to follow the fashions promptly, and there will be plenty of fashions.

"The aeroplane of the future will, I think, have to be on the helicopter principle. A successful air machine must be able to defy the winds. If the Wright brothers' aeroplane had one-twentieth of its surface the wind would not affect it. The helicopter principle is the only way to rise above atmospheric conditions. By increasing the velocity of propeller revolutions the size of the machine can be diminished, and thereby we vanquish the hostility of the wind. A helicopter could have foot-size planes distributed on a 100 to 150-foot circle and controlled from the centre by wires.

"Society will have to stop this whiskey business, which is like throwing sand in the bearings of a steam engine.

"Among the many problems which await solution in the future, one of the most important is to get the full value out of fuel. The wastefulness of our present methods of combustion is tremendous."

Not Curious.

"No," said the statesman, "I should not care to go to the North Pole, even if it could be done in comfort."

"But think of what a strange place it is. Whichever way you turn you are looking south—

"That's just it. I have had trouble enough with a solid south."—Washington Evening Star.

Luck.

"Does you believe it's lucky to see de new moon over yoh right shoulder?"

"Sho I does," replied Mr. Erastus Pinkney. "Dese here stormy days you's luckey to see any kind of a moon, anyway."

MR. FOWLER GIVES HIS FINANCE VIEWS

In the form of facts and figures, Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, representative in Congress from the Fifth District of this State, makes known in The Atlantic Monthly for January his ideas for "Essential Financial and Banking Reforms." The public has already in a measure been made familiar with Congressman Fowler's ideas while he was chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee of the House. But in The Atlantic Monthly article he presents his ideas in even more concise and effective form. He considers his whole subject under "governmental finance," "banking," "currency," "reserves," "unification of our banks," "savings." The United States Treasury should "cease exercising all banking functions;" it should be "relieved from the burden of maintaining $346,000,000 of United States notes on a parity with gold by the retirement of these United States notes." Two hundred million dollars, uncovered by gold, should be converted into gold certificates. The $600,000,000 silver certificates should be turned into one and two dollar certificates and silver dollars coined into subsidiary coin, and further purchase of silver for small coin lessened. National bank notes, now amounting to "more than $700,000,000, should be redeemed, not by the government at the Treasury, but by the banks themselves over their own counters." The government should not be engaged in "the collateral loan business." The government should "accept the checks and drafts of national banks," its creatures, in "payment of all obligations due it." The government "should not draw a check upon itself, but upon its banking agent."

In maintaining a currency to meet the demand of contracting and expending business there should be provision for a reserve system and a currency which independently of each other contract and expand, and yet reciprocate to meet demands. "From an economic point of view," says Mr. Fowler, "our currency system has been no currency system at all." The measure of bank credit should be gold and of the bank reserve also, and "gold alone" in order to prevent inflation by the use of forms of credit. The forty-seven States furnishing as many kinds of banking laws should have uniform laws. It is also pointed out that a simplified, harmonious system should be evolved not only for the sake of economy and protection to commerce, but to prevent the use of the people's savings indiscriminatingly for speculative purposes. Finally, "geographically, politically, economically and practically the establishment of a central bank in the United States today is unthinkable; unless the sole purpose of starting such an institution is to serve some special interest to the incalculable and never-ending injury and cost of the American people."

MAN RUN OVER AND KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE.

Horse Threw Rider and Rear Wheel Passed Over His Chest.

Robert Lieber, twenty-seven years old, of Rockaway, was run over by an automobile owned by the Morris County Traction Company at Rockaway, yesterday morning, and died in Morristown Memorial Hospital late yesterday afternoon. Lieber was riding a horse when he met the automobile coming toward Morristown. The horse was skittish, and the chauffeur of the machine, Robert Buchana, of Dover, turned out into the gutter, but the horse threw Lieber under the machine, and one of the rear wheels passed over his chest.

In the car was General Manager Henry H. Archer, of the traction company, and he sent the machine after physicians. Dr. Flagg, of Rockaway, ordered Lieber's removal to the hospital, and he was brought there in the automobile. The physicians found that the man was suffering from a ruptured windpipe, and could do nothing to save his life. Coroner Francis H. Glazebrook secured an ante-mortem statement from Lieber in which he exonerated Buchanan from all blame, and the coroner deems an inquest unnecessary. Lieber leaves a wife.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD GIRL SHOT.

Man Whose Pistol Was Found Near Her Held As Witness.

Michael Conte, a mason builder, of No. 39 Cone street, Orange, is locked up in the Orange police station as a witness to a peculiar shooting which occurred yesterday morning in his boarding house, and in which Katherine, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donato Gabrielle, was shot through the right lung. The pistol from which the bullet came belonged to Conte, and he was the only one near when the shooting occurred. He disappeared soon after the affair, but gave himself up yesterday afternoon when he learned that the police were looking for him.

The child was wounded a few minutes after 7 o'clock yesterday morning, when the family was just rising for the day. Conte, the injured child and its sister and another boarder were the only ones dressed at the time. Conte was outside his room, about to wipe his hands after washing them, he said, when he and the rest of the family were startled by a shot. Running to his room, where he heard the shot, Conte saw the child on the floor, screaming with pain. His own pistol, which he had kept in a trunk, was on the floor by her side, with one chamber discharged.

MONEY IN CIRCULATION.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Thirty-four dollars and eighty-three cents is what every man, woman and child in the United States ought to have if the $3,122,154,538 which is in circulation were equally divided among them. That is the statement made by the Treasury Department on the basis of an estimated population of 89,644,000. The total amount of money in circulation is about $30,000,000 more than a year ago at this time.

Of the total amount of national bank notes outstanding, viz., $710,354,253, that secured by bonds amounts to $683,401,523, the remainder being secured by lawful money. The total amount of national bank notes outstanding is about $33,000,000 more than a year ago.

CRITICISM OF HOME DECLARED UNJUST.

Trenton, Jan. 8.—That the managers of the State Home for Girls in this city were subjected to unjust criticism during the recent investigation of the institution is the belief expressed in the annual report of the home which has been submitted to Governor Fort. The report declares that these criticisms emanated "from one or two hysterical members of the investigating committee before the investigation had been fully completed."

Particular exception is taken by the managers to the comments made relative to inflicting corporal punishment, which, although unpleasant, is regarded as necessary at times. The managers say that if the State will provide a proper house of detention for separating temporarily the vicious girls and those who keep the institution in an uproar there would be no occasion for complaint. It is stated that instances of corporal punishment did not, in fact, average more than one case a month. Such punishment is now administered by the superintendent with the assistance of the women officers and is permitted by express resolution of the board. The report shows that it is not a pleasure to the superintendent to resort to this means of preserving discipline over a vicious and unruly girl.

The managers renew their request for the enactment of a law providing for the removal of certain types of defectives who are now regarded as a menace to the welfare of the home. They would like a law permitting insane girls to be taken to the State Hospital, feeble-minded girls to the Home for Feeble-Minded, tuberculosis patients to Glen Gardner and those requiring surgical treatment to proper hospitals. Unless special provision can be made for the really vicious inmates the managers think State prison would be the better place for them.

WOMAN STATION AGENT HELD UP BY A NEGRO.

Hackensack, Jan. 8.—Seventy-five dollars in money and $20 worth of stamps were the proceeds of a hold-up on Central avenue, near Prospect street, Thursday night, the loser being Miss Helen Clark, agent at the Prospect Avenue Station of the Susquehanna Railroad.

Miss Clark had closed the station for the night, taking the day's receipts and the supply of postage stamps in the place. It had been her custom to take a trolley car for home, but she missed one and rather than wait half an hour for another decided to walk home. She had gone about 150 feet when she heard steps behind her, but paid no attention to the incident. Suddenly a negro grasped her from behind and attempted to seize her satchel.

The woman struggled and in the fight she fell to the ground. The highwayman then grabbed the satchel and made off.

Miss Clark hurried to the police station and reported the hold-up to the police.

Fire Damages Feed Warehouse.

Perth Amboy, Jan. 8.—Fire which originated in the second floor of the feed warehouse of Joseph Rachlin, on New street, did $4,000 damage Thursday night. At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the firemen were called out by a second alarm because the flames had broken out again. Rachlin and several employes were at work on the first floor of the building, when they smelled smoke, and an investigation showed several bales of hay on fire on the floor above. The men attempted to put out the fire and found that bales of hay in several parts of the room were ablaze. There is no clue to the origin of the fire.

Young Man Confesses to Robbery.

Paterson, Jan. 8.—Benjamin Haar, a young man living at 31 North First street, when taken before Chief Bimson late Thursday afternoon, admitted to systematically robbing his employers, H. & J. Coven, butter and eggs merchants, of 5 Main street. The Covens were aware that they were being robbed for several months past, but were unable to find the thief. At 5 o'clock last night Joseph Coven noticed Haar hand a package to a small boy. Coven took the package and insisted on knowing its contents. He pressed Haar, and finally the package was opened. It contained butter valued at $4.

Went to Look for Work; Missing.

Washington, N. J., Jan. 8.—Raymond Opdyke, eighteen years, son of John Opdyke, a Jackson Valley farmer, has been absent from his home since Monday morning. When he left home it was with the intention of going to the Washington High School, where he is enrolled as a student. Instead he boarded the 9 o'clock trolley for Phillipsburg, saying he was going to Allentown, Pa., to look for work. His parents have not heard from him since. When he left home he wore a brown suit, cap, sweater and overcoat.

Soil Lectures Before Pupils.

Elizabeth, Jan. 8.—It is planned to have the pupils and teachers of the public schools attend a lecture on "Soil Fertility," to be given before the Board of Agriculture on January 27. In February there will be another lecture on "The Dairy Cow" and still another on "Peach and Fruit Raising."

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens —A Plainfield Citizen Shows You How.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens.

Burdens of a bad back are unnecessary.

Get rid of them.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure bad backs.

Cure lame, weak and aching backs.

Cure every form of kidney ills.

Lots of local endorsement to prove this.

Mrs. John Driscoll, 753 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "The public statement I gave several years ago concerning my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills was correct and stills holds good. I suffered from a dull pain across my back which clung to me incessantly. Hard work increased my misery and at times I also had headaches and dizzy spells. I tried plasters and remedies of various kinds but without relief. Dona's Kidney Pills, which I finally procured at Randolp'h Pharmacy relieved me and for that reason I heartily recommend them."

JUDGE THOUGHT MARTIN STILL IS ASSEMBLYMAN.

Morristown, Jan. 8.—Judge Alfred Elmer Mills is abreast of the times, but one important political event in the history of New Jersey has escaped him. It is that former Assemblyman William P. Martin, of Newark, is not a member of the present Legislature.

Mr. Martin appeared before Judge Mills yesterday morning in the Orphans' Court to have a day fixed for the hearing on a caveat filed against the probate of the will of Cornelius P. Simpson. Mr. Martin represented the caveators and Prosecutor Rathbun the proponents. After wishing everybody a happy New Year, the court included, Mr. Martin made his application for a day to be fixed for the hearing.

The first Tuesday in March was suggested. Mr. Martin nodded assent, as did Mr. Rathbun.

"No, that won't do," said the judge, "Mr. Martin, I believe, is a member of the Legislature."

Mr. Martin smiled, as did others in the courtroom, and answered, "No, I am not."

NEW CLEVELAND PICTURE.

New York, Jan. 8.—A new picture of Grover Cleveland, painted by John W. Alexander, and representing the late President as he was the later years of his life at Princeton, is to hang on the walls of the New York Chamber of Commerce alongside the notable paintings of Alexander Hamilton and other distinguished Americans of a former day.

Mr. Cleveland was long a member of the Chamber of Commerce and delivered the oration at the dedication of its present bulding.

Brewery Company Wins Suit.

New Brunswick, Jan. 8.—The Frank Brewery Company recovered a verdict of $1,200 and interest of $283 on a bond and mortgage given in 1906 by Leo Schwartz of Perth Amboy, at the trial of the suit before Judge Lloyd Wednesday. The defense endeavored to show that the brewery company owned the property on which the mortgage was given and that Schwartz was simply the company's agent. The court overruled this defense inasmuch as it had not been set up in the pleadings. The Second People's Building and Loan Association, of this city, held a first mortgage on the saloon and foreclosed. Sufficient was realized at the sale to pay this mortgage.

Morgan Heights Wants Annexation.

South Amboy, Jan. 8.—Joseph Crawford, of Newark, secretary for the Morgan Heights Land Association, appeared before the Board of Trade at their meeting Tuesday night in advocacy of a proposition to annex Morgan Heights to this city. Morgan Heights is a tract in Savreville Township, near Morgan Station. The Board of Trade viewed the suggestion with favor and a committee was named to bring the matter to the attention of the Mayor and Council. Legislation will be required to accomplish the annexation.

Strike for a Union Shop.

South River, Jan. 8.—Union employes of the Lyle Clay Works here are on a strike to compel a union shop. Union and non-union men are employed at the plant without discrimination. Three hundred more employes quit, refusing to work with non-union men. This led to the shutdown of the plant. The office force is taking stock during the shutdown.

Peddie Alumni Banquet.

The Peddie Institute Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet and reunion at the Hotel Empire in New York, Friday night, January 28. A number of Plainfield members will attend. Officers for the coming year will be elected at a meeting to be held in connection with the banquet.

Newton Man Seeks Divorce.

Newton, Jan. 8.—Oscar F. Kern, of this place, has applied to the Court of Chancery for a divorce from his wife, Mrs. Ursula R. Kern, on statutory grounds. Mrs. Kern is now said to be a resident of Bangor, Me.

THE GUEST OF QUESNAY

By Booth Tarkington

Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Company
Copyright, 1907 1908, by the Ridgway Company

"The Guest of Quesnay" tells the story of a pure woman's love and sacrifice for a debased, misled, pleasure loving man; it tells in captivating vein of picturesque Paris, too—of the cosmopolitan life of the famous capital. Its character sketches of continental society as well as peasantry are unmistakable in their picturing, and its romance, its mystery and its refreshing comedy give the same qualities to the novel that placed the author's "Monsieur Beaucaire" among the masterpieces of contemporaneous fiction.

CHAPTER I.

THERE are old Parisians who will tell you pompously that the boulevards, like the political cafes, have ceased to exist, but this means only that the boulevards no longer gossip of Louis Napoleon, the return of the Bourbons or of General Boulanger, for these highways are always too busily stirring with present movements not to be forgetful of their yesterdays. In the shade of the buildings and awnings the loungers, the lookers-on in Paris, the audience of the boulevard, sit at little tables, sipping coffee from long glasses, drinking absinth or bright colored sirups and gazing over the heads of throngs afoot at others borne along through the sunshine of the street in carriages, in cabs, in glittering automobiles or high on the tops of omnibuses.

From all the continents the multitudes come to join in that procession—Americans tagged with race cards and intending hilarious disturbances, puzzled Americans worn with guidebook plodding, Chinese princes in silk, queer Antillean dandies of swarthy origin and fortune, ruddy English thinking of nothing, pallid English with upper teeth bared and eyes hungrily searching for signboards of tea rooms, over-Europeanized Japanese unpleasantly immaculate, burnoosed sheiks from the desert and red fezzed Semitic peddlers, Italian nobles in English tweeds, Sudanese negroes swaggering in frock coats, stiff Spaniards, squat Turks, travelers, idlers, exiles, fugitives, sportsmen. All the tribes and kinds of men are tributary here to the Parisian stream, which on a fair day in spring already overflows the banks with its own much mingled waters—soberly clad burgesses, bearded, amiable and in no fatal hurry; well kept men of the world swirling by in miraculous limousines, legless cripples flopping on hands and leather pads, thin whiskered students in velveteen, walrus mustached veterans in broadcloths, keen faced old prelates, shabby young priests, cavalrymen in casque and cuirass, workingmen tussed horse and harnessed to carts, sidewalk jesters, itinerant venders of questionable wares, shady loafers dressed to resemble gold showering America, motor cyclists in leather, hairy musicians, blue gendarmes, baggy red zouaves, purple faced, glazed hatted, scarlet waistcoated, cigarette smoking cabmen, calling one another "onions," "camels" and names even more terrible. Women are prevalent over all the concourse—fair women, dark women, pretty women, gilded women, haughty women, indifferent women, friendly women, merry women, fine women in fine clothes, rich women in fine clothes, poor women in fine clothes, worldly old women reclining befurred in electric landaulets, wordy old women holdenishly trundling carts full of flowers, wonderful automobile women, quick glimpsed, in multiple veils of white and brown and sea green; women in rags and tags and women draped, coifed and befrilled in the delirium of maddened poet-milliners and the hasheesh dreams of ladies' tailors.

So if you sit at the little tables often enough—that is, if you become an amateur boulevardier—you begin to recognize the transient stars of the pageant, those to whom the boulevard allows a dubious and fugitive role of celebrity and whom it greets with a slight flutter, the turning of heads, a murmur of comment and the incredulous boulevard smile, which seems to say: "You see—madame and monsieur passing there. Evidently they think we still believe in them."

This flutter heralded and followed the passing of a white touring car with the procession one afternoon just before the Grand Prix, though it needed no boulevard celebrity to make the man who lolled in the tonneau conspicuous. Simply for that notoriety was superfluous; so were the remarkable size and power of his car; so was the elaborate touring costume of flannels and pongee he wore; so was even the enameled presence of the dancer who sat beside him. His face would have done it without accessories.

My old friend George Ward and I had met for our aperitif at the Terrace Larue, by the Madeleine, when the white automobile came snaking its way craftily through the traffic. Turning in to pass a victoria on the wrong side, it was forced down to a snail's pace near the curb and not far from our table, where it paused, checked by a blockade at the next corner. I heard Ward utter a half suppressed guttural of what I took to be amazement, and I did not wonder.

The face of the man in the tonneau detached him to the spectator's gaze and singled him out of the concourse with an effect almost ludicrous in its incongruity. The hair was dark, lustrous and thick, the forehead broad and finely modeled and certain other ruinous vestiges of youth and good looks remained, but whatever the features might once have shown of honor, worth or kindly semblance had disappeared beyond all tracing in a blurred distortion. The lids of one eye were discolored and swollen almost together. Other traces of a recent battering were not lacking, nor was cosmetic evidence of a heroic struggle on the part of some valet of infinite pains to efface them. The nose lost outline in the discolorations of the puffed cheeks. The chin, tufted with a small imperial, trembled beneath a sagging gray lip.

The figure was fat, but loose and sprawling, seemingly without the will to hold itself together. In truth, the man appeared to be almost in a semi-stupor, and, contrasted with this powdered Silenus, even the woman beside him gained something of human dignity. At least, she was thoroughly alive, bold, predatory and, in spite of the gross embonpoint that threatened her, still savagely graceful. A purple veil dotted with gold floated about her hat, from which green dyed ostrich plumes cascaded down across a cheek enameled dead white. Her hair was plastered in blue-black waves, parted low on the forehead. Her lips were splashed a startling carmine, the eyelids painted blue, and from between lashes gummed into little spikes of blacking she favored her companion with a glance of carelessly simulated tenderness—a look all too vividly suggesting the ghastly calculations of a cook wheedling a chicken nearer the kitchen door.

"Who is it?" I asked, staring at the man in the automobile and not turning toward Ward.

"That is Mariana—'la bella Mariana la Murciana.'" George answered—"one of those women who come to Paris from the tropics to form themselves on the legend of the one great famous and infamous Spanish dancer who died a long while ago. Mariana did very well for a time. I've heard that the revolutionary societies intend striking medals in her honor. She's done worse things to royalty than all the anarchists in Europe! She danced at the Folie Rouge last week."

"That is Mariana—'la bella Mariana la Murciana.'"

"Thank you, George," I said gratefully. "I hope you'll point out the Louvre and the Eiffel tower to me some day. I didn't mean Mariana."

"What did you mean?"

What I had meant was so obvious that I turned to my friend in surprise.

"I meant the man with her," I said.

"Oh!" He laughed sourly. "That carrion?"

"You seem to be an acquaintance."

"Everybody on the boulevard knows who he is," said Ward curtly, paused and laughed again with very little mirth. "So do you," he continued, "and as for my acquaintance with him—yes, I had once the distinction of being his rival in a small way, a way so small, in fact, that it ended in his becoming a connection of mine by marriage. He's Larrabee Harman."

That was a name somewhat familiar to readers of American newspapers even before its bearer was fairly out of college. But frolic degenerated into brawl and debauch. What had been scrapes for the boy became scandals for the man, and he gathered a more and more unsavory reputation until its like was not to be found outside a penitentiary. The crux of his career in his own country was reached during a midnight quarrel in Chicago, when he shot a negro gambler. Harman's wife left him, and the papers recorded her application for a divorce. She was George Ward's second cousin, the daughter of a Baltimore clergyman; a belle in a season and town of belles and a delightful headstrong creature from all accounts. She had made a runaway match of it with Harman three years before, their affair having been earnestly opposed by all her relatives, especially by poor George, who came over to Paris just after the wedding in a miserable frame of mind.

Harman next began a trip round the world with an orgy which continued from San Francisco to Bangkok, where, in the company of some congenial fellow travelers, he interfered in a native ceremonial with the result that one of his companions was drowned. In Rome he was rescued with difficulty from a street mob that unreasonably refused to accept intoxication as an excuse for his riding down a child on his way to the hunt. Later we had been hearing from Monte Carlo of his disastrous plunges at roulette.

I still take three home newspapers, trying to follow the people I knew and the things that happen, and the ubiquity of so worthless a creature as Larrabee Harman in the columns I dredged for real news had long been a point of irritation to this present exile. Not only that. He had usurped space in the continental papers, and of late my favorite Parisian journal had served him to me with my morning coffee, only hinting his name, but offering him with that gracious satire characteristic of the Gallic journalist writing of anything American. And so this grotesque wreck of a man was well known to the boulevard—one of its sights. That was to be perceived by the flutter he caused, by the turning of heads in his direction and the low laughter of the people at the little tables. Three or four in the rear ranks had risen to their feet.

Some one behind us chuckled aloud, "They say Mariana beats him."

"Evidently!"

The dancer was aware of the flutter and called Harman's attention to it with a touch upon his arm and a laugh and a nod of her violent plumage.

At that he seemed to rouse himself somewhat. His head rolled heavily over upon his shoulder, the lids lifted a little from the red shot eyes, showing a strange pride when his gaze fell upon the many staring faces.

Ward pulled my sleeve.

"Come," he said, "let us go over to the Luxembourg gardens where the air is cleaner."

Ward is a portrait painter, and in the matter of vogue there seem to be no pinnacles left for him to surmount.

He has painted most of the very rich women of fashion who have come to Paris of late years, and he has become so prosperous, has such a polite celebrity and his opinions upon art are so conclusively quoted that the friendship of some of us who started with him has been dangerously strained.

His sister, Miss Elizabeth, looks after him now. She came with him when he returned to Paris after his disappointment in the unfortunate Harman affair, and she took charge of all his business as well as his social arrangements (she has been accused of a theory that the two things may be happily combined), making him lease a house in an expensively modish quarter near the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne. Miss Elizabeth is an instinctively fashionable woman, practical withal, and to her mind success should be not only respectable, but "smart."

It was George's habit to come often to see me. He always really liked the sort of society his sister had brought about him, but now and then there were intervals when it wore on him a little, I think. Sometimes he came for me in his automobile, and we would make a mild excursion to breakfast in the country, and that is what happened one morning about three weeks after the day when we had sought pure air in the Luxembourg gardens.

We drove out through the Bois and by Suresnes, striking into a roundabout road to Versailles beyond St. Cloud. It was June, a dustless and balmy noon, the air thinly gilded by a faint haze, and I know few things pleasanter than that road on a fair day of the early summer and no sweeter way to course it than in an open car.

"After all," said George, with a placid wave of the hand, "I sometimes wish that the landscape had called me. You outdoor men have all the health and pleasure of living in the open, and as for the work—oh, you fellows think you work, but you don't know what it means."

He indicated the white road running before us between open fields to a curve, where it descended to pass beneath an old stone culvert. Beyond stood a thick grove with a clear sky flickering among the branches. An old peasant woman was pushing a heavy cart round the curve, a scarlet handkerchief knotted about her head.

"You think it's easy?" I asked.

"Easy! Two hours ought to do it as well as it could be done—at least the way you fellows do it!"

He was interrupted by an outrageous uproar, the grisly scream of a siren and the cannonade of a powerful exhaust, as a great white touring car swung round us from behind at a speed that sickened me to see and, snorting thunder, passed us.

"Seventy miles an hour!" gasped George. "Those are the— Oh, Lord! There they go!"

CHAPTER II.

SWINGING out to pass us and then sweeping in upon the reverse curve to clear the narrow arch of the culvert were too much for the white car. In the middle of the road, ten feet from the culvert, the old woman struggled frantically to get her cart out of the way. The howl of the siren frightened her perhaps, for she went to the wrong side. Then the shriek of the machine drowned the human scream as the automobile struck.

The great machine left the road for the fields on the right, reared, fell, leaped against the stone side of the culvert, apparently trying to climb it, stood straight on end, whirled backward in a half somersault, crashed over on its side, flashed with flame and explosion and lay hidden under a cloud of dust and smoke.

The peasant's cart, tossed into a clump of weeds, rested on its side. A pair of smashed goggles crunched beneath my foot as I sprang out of Ward's car, and a big brass lamp had fallen in the middle of the road, crumpled like waste paper. Beside it lay a gold rouge box.

The old woman had somehow saved herself, or perhaps her saint had helped her, for she was sitting in the grass by the roadside wailing hysterically and quite unhurt. The body of a man lay in a heap beneath the stone archway, and from his clothes I guessed that he had been the driver of the white car. I say "had been" because there were reasons for needing no second glance to comprehend that the man was dead.

Ward meanwhile was dragging a woman out of the wreck, and after a moment I went to help him carry her into the fresh air. She pushed our hands angrily aside and completed the untanglement herself, revealing the scratched and smeared face of Mariana, the dancer.

"Oh, the pain!" she cried. "That imbecile! If he has let me break my leg! A pretty dancer I should be! I hope he is killed!"

Another automobile had already come up, and the occupants were hastily alighting. Ward shouted to the foremost to go for a doctor.

"I am a doctor," the man answered, advancing and kneeling quickly by the dancer. "And you—you may be of help yonder."

We turned toward the ruined car, where Ward's driver was shouting for us.

"What is it?" called Ward as we ran toward him.

"Monsieur," he replied, "there is some one under the tonneau here!"

From beneath the overturned tonneau projected the lower part of a man's leg clad in a brown puttee and a russet shoe. Ward's driver had brought his tools, had jacked up the car as high as possible, but was still unable to release the imprisoned body.

After considerable effort we rescued the imprisoned body, which stirred in pain.

SOME STATE NEWS BRIEFS

The annual meeting of the South Jersey Farmers' Exchange will be held at Woodstown this afternoon.

Appropriations to the amount of $182,064.90 have been made for Ocean City's running expenses for the year.

James Newell, for many years one of the soloists in the choir of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Trenton, will make his debut next week in vaudeville in a local house.

After serving as foreman of the Salem Gas Light Works for forty years, Samuel Rutherford has resigned, and as a remembrance the company has presented him with a check for $100.

The Gloucester Council last night decided to bunch eight outstanding demand notes into one of $75,000, which represents various loans. This debt may be funded by a bond issue later.

According to the records of Chief Engineer Ryan at the Salem water plant, 244,725,715 gallons of water were pumped during the past year. Each month shows an increase over last year.

As chairman of the committee of citizens making arrangements for the annual meeting of the State Charities and Corrections conference in Camden on February 13, 14 and 15, Mayor Ellis Thursday named committees to map out the detailed work.

Owing to the popularity of the horse show held on the Million-Dollar Pier, Atlantic City, last Easter, the officers have decided to enlarge the seating capacity, from 3,000 to 4,000, and have added another day, making the session cover four days instead of three.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, employed at the hotel of William Matthews, in Pennington, were Thursday afternoon arraigned before Justice of the Peace Manfred Naar, on a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Mrs. Mayme Dickinson, also of Pennington. The Smiths, on the strength of the evidence submitted by the complainant and her witnesses, were held under $100 bail each for the grand jury.

Steps are being taken by owners of ocean-front land at Ocean City to have the riparian line extended 1,000 feet east from the boardwalk. The exterior line established by the Riparian Commission some time since is now almost on the shore, this being due to the accretion of sand by the action of the sea currents, and land owners feel that, under the present conditions, they will not get all the riparian rights to which they should be entitled for the money required of them.

AGITATION GROWS TO MOVE COUNTY SEAT.

Phillipsburg, Jan. 8.—The agitation in favor of having the county seat of Warren transferred to a more convenient location promises to increase within a few days, and it is the opinion of many leading citizens of the county that a majority of the residents favor Phillipsburg as the proper place. Belvidere, the present county seat, it is pointed out, is entirely without facilities to hold the county buildings and business.

The condition of the old jail, courthouse and other county offices is such that costly alterations must be made, or new buildings erected in the near future, which gives further reason why in the opinion of many residents here, a better location should be decided upon at this time. Washington is the only rival Phillipsburg has on this question, and Washington's only claim to the county seat is that it is centrally located. That is generally admitted, but that claim, it is contended, is discounted by the facilities offered at Phillipsburg.

Five big railroad companies and a trolley line extending out through two-thirds of the width of the county are among the inducements to move the county seat here.

The Board of Trade, which was incorporated in Phillipsburg a few months ago, will discuss preliminary plans for the transfer of the county seat at its next meeting on Thursday, January 20.

SHOW CLOSED, REFUSED RENT.

Elizabeth, Jan. 8.—In the Elizabeth District Court yesterday an interesting suit was tried in which the Mayor, the health inspector and city clerk all figure.

The Mayor some time ago closed up a moving picture show at 855 Elizabeth avenue, here, on the ground that it was immoral, also that the sanitary conditions were bad, and the place as a whole was a public nuisance.

The proprietor of the show refused to pay rent, on the ground that he was not responsible for anything, owing to the fact that his business was interfered with and he was put to much expense by the summary action of the Mayor. The owner of the building then brought a suit for $30 damages against the picture show man. The Mayor and other city officials were subpoened as witnesses. The trial lasted most of the day.

Robert Cuzen, of New York city, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cuzen, of West Front street, has returned home.

HIS WIFE OBJECTED

On September 17, 1909, C. G. W., of St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, applied to The Prudential for a $500 policy. It was issued, but, his wife objecting, he did not take it. He received a slight injury which developed into blood-poisoning, and he died in a few days. His wife, through her own fault, is deprived of the money that should be hers.

LITERARY

The January number of the Burr McIntosh Monthly, the first in its new form, is on all news stands. It contains the usual range of fine pictures in considerable variety and reproduced in the manner for which this magazine is famous. The special color plates are unusually attractive, being reproductions of two of the works of Sorolla, the Spanish artist, who made such an impression last spring with his exhibition of pictures in New York, Buffalo and Boston.

With the dawn of the new year, the magazine world puts its best foot forward, and proceeds to fulfil promises made in enticing forecasts or good things to come. One of the most interesting of these 1910 publications is the January Lippincott's, which doesn't at all suffer by comparison with its attention-attracting Christmas issue. The complete novel is "The Heaven of the Unexpected," by Lucy Meacham Thruston.

"The Crime of a Central Bank," Hon. Charles N. Fowler, in the January Atlantic. Geographically, politically, economically and practically the establishment of a Central Bank in the United States today is unthinkable, unless the sole purpose of starting such an institution is to serve some special interest to the incalculable and never-ending injury and cost of the American people.

The American Magazine by its astonishing articles on "Barbarous Mexico" has awakened throughout the country an intense indignation. In its January issue, the editors bring forward further and absolutely convincing proofs of the truth of their statements and they reaffirm that slavery is existing at the present moment in Mexico, that that country is rife with barbarous political persecution, that there is imprisonment for free speaking and that personal and political liberty is being suppressed.

It's the fit that counts in underwear today, since Paris still clings to the slim silhouette. Fullness and billowy frills seem gradually disappearing, and combination underwear is more in demand than ever. One of the most practical garments now in fashion is the combination corset-cover and knickerbockers. It does away entirely with all superfluous material and makes but one thickness at the waistline instead of two.—Grace Margaret Gould in Woman's Home Companion for January.

The salient article of the January Century is easily Walter Camp's chatty discussion of "Personality in Football," in which he asks and answers the pertinent question, "Are our boys trained to set up a false standard of hero-worship?" and shows at length what contributions to the real progress of the game have been made by such players and coaches as Lee McClung, Arthur Poe, John De Witt, George Chadwick, Tipton of West Point, Daly of Harvard, "and a host of others." It is a valuable and lively presentation of one of the absorbing questions of the day; and besides the photographs shown there are reproductions in tint of three stirring drawings by Leyendecker.

Everybody's January number opens with a poem "America," by Herbert Kaufman, of the type that our British cousins are used to calling "brag." Of course, when they make this accusation against us, they forget their own song, "Rule Britannia." And anyway, all prejudice aside, even those aforesaid cousins could hardly refuse to admit that if we must brag, it were well that we bragged in the lordly rhythm of this new "America."

The January number of "Success Magazine" opens with a big political feature entitled "The End of Cannonism," by J. C. Welliver. "Business Control of the Press, the Parties and the Government" is the second of a series of articles by Charles Edward Russell under the general title, "The Power Behind the Republic." How the negro faces the problem of marriage is shown by Harris Dickson in "The Negro's Idea of Marriage." "Fighting Faces of Our Senators," by Sloane Gordon is illustrated with interesting caricatures by Vet Anderson.

Scribner's Magazine for January is the first number of its 24th year—a year during which it will reach the largest audience ever held by a magazine of any similar class. During most of the coming year Theodore Roosevelt's great series on his African trip will be continued, and will include his elephant hunt, his journey 'round Lake Victoria Nyanza and into Uganda, culminating with his journey down the Nile to Khartoum, where he expects to arrive on March 15th, and thence to Cairo over the usual route.

If you are a fisherman you will be amused by James J. Carroll's story "An Understudy to Tantalus" which appears in The Red Book Magazine for January.

A passing glance at the January cover of the National Magazine shows the New Year's impress. The avuncular genius of America obeys the injunction regarding the correct treatment of coming and departing guests, and with one hand Uncle Sam welcomes the cherubic young New Year, while with the other he gently ushers out the Old Year, with a Godspeed. The frontispiece of the January issue is a rare picture, never before published, showing the roadbed for the first railway construction in the United States.

—The annual meeting of the Plainfield Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis will be held at Grace church parish house on Thursday night.

RED MEN DEFEATED BY THE PONIES' TEAM

The Red Men lost their first game in the Fraternal Tourney, last night, at Campbell's alleys, when the Ponies made away with the second game.

In the first and third games the Red Men disposed of their opponents with very little difficulty.

Nash's 235 was high for the series.

ADELPHI ACADEMY TOO MUCH FOR P.H.S.

The P. H. S. basketball team went down to defeat before the Adelphi Academy at Brooklyn last night, with score of 63 to 19. The local boys were completely outplayed throughout the game. In the second half they picked up a little, but it was too late then. Halstead and Frenkmen played the star game of the opponents, while Overton and Clark played very good games for P. H. S. Morris held his end of forward up strong.

The lineup: P. H. S.—Forwards, Morris, Woodhull, Clark; centre, Lidgate; guards, Overton, Doane. Adelphi—Forwards, G. Halstead, Samm, Ray; centre, H. Halstead; guards, F. Frenkmen and E. Frenkmen. Time of halves, 15 and 20 minutes; referee, Fisher; umpire Bristol. Goals, Morris, 2; Clarke, 2; Lidgate, 3; Overton, 2; Doane, 1 foul goal; Samm, 2; Ray, 3; H. Halstead, 10; F. Frenkmen, 3; E. Frenkmen, 12.

The P. H. S. basketball team will play the Bayonne High School five on Wednesday, January 12, at the local High School gym.

NEW Y.M.C.A. ATHLETIC FIELD TO COST $10,000

Physical Director Listman is having rosy dreams of the projected Y. M. C. A. athletic field. It is the aim of the association to have the field ready for the 1910 football season, and it may be possible that the field may be put in condition for baseball purposes although the association holds a three years' lease on Crescent Oval, which adjoins their own tract.

The grounds will be up-to-date in every way and will cost $10,000. The park will be inclosed by a fence and a commodious grand stand erected. Dressing rooms and shower baths will also be installed for the convenience of athletes.

In addition to a fast ball diamond a track will also be built for field events.

BASKETBALL.

Devotes of basketball sport are sure to witness an exciting contest at the Y. M. C. A. tonight when the locals will clash with the Orange Y. M. C. A.. The Y. M. C. A. second team will play the Marathons, of Westfield.

Because of a misunderstanding regarding the time for starting the game, the contest scheduled for last night between the Business Men and N. P. H. S. basketball teams did not take place. The Boys Y. M. C. A. and N. P. H. S. second five played, however, the former winning by the score of 30 to 9.

Basketball players of the William N. Runyon Bible class of Hope chapel have organized a team. The players are Jack Martin, Adam Schott, Norman Barnes, Clifford Randolph, Russell Randolph, and Al Snyder. Russell Randolph is manager.

After the Trolley Company.

Mayor Fisk has arranged for a conference between the councilmanic public affairs committee and the Board of Trade's special committee on Tuesday night to consider the general lamentable condition of the trolley service and trolley cars. The "pie crust promises" of the P. S. C. to put on decent cars here and to maintain a schedule will be fully gone into and some definite line of concerted action will be agreed upon.

White Plague Donation.

The Plainfield Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis acknowledges the receipt of $30, a contribution from the Housewives Social Club.

STATE'S REVENUE FROM ITS INTEREST

An increase of over 100 per cent. in the amount of money received by State Treasurer Voorhees, as interest on State moneys, will be shown in the annual report of State Comptroller West to the Legislature. This demonstrates the wisdom with which Treasurer Voorhees has handled the State's funds. The interest is paid on deposits in various banks in New Jersey.

The fiscal year ended October 31 last, and at that time $84,000 had been received in interest from State deposits. For the previous year from similar sources the State received $47,490.19.

In 1907-08 the expenses of the comptroller's office totaled $20,295.55, and those of the treasurer $17,799.91, while $4,332.37 added expense was entailed in the two offices as the result of the new system of compelling all institutions to draw their appropriated funds on requisitions showing exact expenditures. Thus the total departments was $42,377.87, showing a net profit of $5,112.32 over the cost of administering State finances.

The comptroller's office cost about $1,000 less to administer in 1908-09 than the year previous, making the outlay $19,000 in round figures. The treasurer's office cost slightly more than a year ago, for here the total cost was approximately $18,000, while there is an added expense of about $5,000 for handling the new system of accounting for money spent by institutions. These sums deducted from the income of $84,000 received from the deposits show that there is a net profit of $42,000 on account of interest.

It is not likely that the record made last year will be equaled the ensuing year. The State has had large sums of money on deposit and has reecived the interest pending the distribution of the funds. The revenue derived from interest on State funds covers the cost of maintaining the State comptroller's and State treasurer's offices, with a balance of about $40,000 besides for the use of the treasury.

Surprised George Hartfelder.

A surprise party was tendered to George Hartfelder, of 36 Whitewood avenue, last night. Games were played and there was instrumental music by Miss Lillian Hartfelder; also dancing and at midnight refreshments were served. Those present were the Misses Jennie and Mary Viana, Hattie Emmons, Harriett Gardner, Nora Bergen, Bertha Boylan, and Benjamin Ammerman, William Emmons, John Richards, Clarence Patrick, Roy Scott, Murville and Nathan Boylan and George Hartfelder.

Somerset Society Gets Fine.

Acting on the advice of Colonel Edwards, president of the State S. P. C. A., Recorder Dolliver, of the borough, has turned the $30 fine collected in the Geer cruelty to animal case, over to the Somerset County Society. Mrs. Eva Van Hoesen, the Union county agent, who prosecuted the case, will render a bill to the Somerset Society for expenses involved in the case.

Dr. Dager to Speak Here.

Rev. Dr. Forest E. Dager, who taught the Sunday school lesson at the First Baptist church last Tuesday night, will again teach the lesson and give practical hints and suggestions for Sunday school superintendents and teachers on Tuesday night at the same place. Dr. Dager is well known here and many doubtless will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him.

Men's Club Election.

The Men's Club, of Warren chapel, at its annual meeting last night elected the following officers: President, George Hoagland; first vice president, Alexander Dresselt; second vice president, Theodore Martin; corresponding secretary, Charles D. Wheeler; financial secretary and treasurer, William Bacon.

Y. W. C. A. Glee Club.

The Glee Club of the Young Women's Christian Association will start rehearsing this month for their next concert. S. Frederick Smith, organist of Grace Episcopal church, has been engaged as conductor. The program for the next concert will be announced later.

Nelson Johnson, of 209 East Front street, who has been laid up with a severe attack of the grip is convalescing.

Mrs. Charles F. Dayton, of East Sixth street, has returned from Millville, where she attended the funeral of her brother-in-law.

Evangelistic services are held at the W. C. T. U. rooms every evening at 7:45 under the direction of Rev. W. W. Morrison, of Pittsburg.

The contribution of money from the Park Avenue Baptist church to The Day Nursery at Christmas time, amounted to $35.27. This was omitted in enumerating the various donations to The Nursery.

CARS THAT HAVE MADE GOOD

Automobile buyers might be pardoned if they felt a little bit bewildered right now. There are so many new cars being announced and so many radical claims being made for them, that buyers are apt to be a little up in the air.

You can't make a mistake if you buy a car of established reputation. A car that has stamped upon it a big, successful reliable name. A car with a record. A car that the people have bought, in quantities.

You might make a mistake buying some other kind of a car. A new car may be a good car, but no one knows that it is until it has been thoroughly tried out.

You take no risk when you buy a Chalmers-Detroit car. Our cars have made good for years.

In two seasons of Motor contests Chalmers-Detroit stock cars have won 89 firsts, 32 seconds and 21 thirds. "The Motor Age "Record" gives the Chalmers-Detroits title of the Champion cars of the year.

Orders for more than one-half our entire allotment for 1910 have already been booked. We believe all remaining spring deliveries will be booked at the end of the Garden Show week.

THIS IS FOR YOUNG MEN

There are no doubt many young men recently married or otherwise that are anxious to own their own home, but have never been able to see their way clear to invest.

The Union Building & Loan Association

offers exceptional opportunities to such persons. By careful financiering the officers of this Association have paved a way for the would-be home owner to become master of the house in which he lives.

The cost of a loan through this Association is less than a straight mortgage plan. The reason for it is brought about by paying the dues and interest monthly instead of placing them in a stocking until that receptacle holds the amount of the mortgage.

A new series will be opened on Monday night. Come in and talk the matter over. If you do not want to buy or build a home, but are looking for a good safe investment for your savings, subscribe for some shares. Ten shares will cost you $5.00 per month and will be worth $1,000 in eleven years.

THREE YOUNG VANDALS

Trio Admitted They Were Intoxicated When They Did Damage.

EACH GIVES $50 CASH BAIL.

When Arraigned In City Court Prisoners Confess—To Be Sentenced Next Monday.

One of the most violent outbreaks of vandalism ever brought to the notice of the police in this city was that committed early Sunday morning by three young men who amused themselves tearing out merchants and doctors signs and otherwise mushere upon confession of their guilt arrested by Patrolman Charles Flynn and lodged in police headquarters, where upon confession of their guilt they were released upon depositing a cash bail of $50 each. They gave their names as William Hahn, of 303 East Second street; Theodore Merklinger, of 895 Sixteenth street, Newark, and the other Frank Tetlow, of South Bound Brook.

The offenses committed by the trio included the cutting and ripping of awnings at A. E. Giddes' shoe store; Shirley and Johnson's, The Paris women's shop, Weinberger's clothing store, George J. Finger's gents furnishing store, and tearing out the metal sign of Dr. David G. Atwood, of 308 West Front street.

All three young men admitted being under the influence of drink, which they had obtained at a party on the night before in Charles Glazner's, it is said. They were making efforts this morning to have the merchants whose property had been damaged to estimate the loss so that they could make it good. The money deposited at police headquarters will be disbursed according to the amount it costs to repair the damage and on next Monday morning Judge William Runyon will give the case further consideration.

This is not the first time that similar acts of vandalism have been committed in this city. On previous occasions screen doors have been cut from their frames, ancient eggs thrown and broken against front doors and tobacco juice spattered against show windows. These young men are not accused of the former acts, but they will be given an opportunity to clear up some of the things on their next appearance in court. Merklinger claims to be a college graduate, while the others are clerks employed in this city.

THROWN FROM SLEIGH; SEARCH FOR A HORSE.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Medbury, of Denmark road, while sleigh riding on West Front street, near Grant avenue, yesterday morning, met with an accident when they were thrown out of the sleigh. They were driving William Callahan's horse, "Prince," when the animal shied at a trolley car.

The runners of the sleigh got in the trolley tracks and before Mr. Medbury could get the horse under control, the sleigh went over, throwing his wife and himself in the roadway. The horse ran away. Hr. and Mrs. Medbery returned home and notified Mr. Callahan, from whom they procured the horse and sleigh.

In the meantime, someone told William Dealman, of West Front street, that his horse had run away. His son, Walter, had gone out earlier in the morning for a ride. The elder Dealman was directed toward Bound Brook. He took a trolley car to the car barns then walked to Bound Brook and half way to Chimney Rock in search of the horse. After all his trouble he learned that the horse belonged to Mr. Callahan.

After Mr. Callahan was notified of the accident, he started with another horse and sleigh for Bound Brook after the runaway horse. On the way out he met John J. Hines, a friend, and asked him to go along. Just beyond Lincoln, the horse, which was being driven by Mr. Hines for a few minutes, got in the trolley tracks and that sleigh was upset and the animal went into a telephone pole. Quick action prevented another runaway. Later Mr. Callahan got his other horse in a livery stable at Bound Brook.

Hen Dug Out of Snowbank.

Flanders, Jan. 10.—William E. Coursen, of Succasunna, who has a small poultry yard, noticed on Thursday that one of his white Leghorn hens, which he had missed since the snow storm nearly a fortnight before, was preening her feathers in the back yard at his home. Wonderment at her appearance led him to look about to see from whence she had come and he discovered a hole in the snow, which the warmer weather and rain had softened and made possible her escape. She was none the worse for her imprisonment

SPANISH WAR WOUND FATAL TO M'GAULEY

Hugh McGauley, aged 48 years, died this morning at Muhlenberg Hospital from pneumonia with which he had been ill for more than a month. His death is believed to be indirectly due to an injury he received while serving in the Spanish-American War, when because of an injury he lost a rib. He never fully recovered. He served during the war as a member of the 201st N. Y. Vols., and was a member of Camp Bagley, Spanish-American War Veterans, of this city.

Mr. McGauley was born in Ireland and had resided in this city for twenty years. He resided on West Front street, near Madison avenue. He was employed in the electric light department of the Public Service Corporation for several years. Three brothers, Patrick, Luke and Barney, survive. Notice of funeral will be given later.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PRIZE A SILVER LOVING CUP

Superintendent J. M. Whiton, of the Congregational Sunday school, introduced an innovation yesterday at the regular session of the school, which is well calculated to stimulate the attendance and increase the membership. At least, those are the objects which Mr. Whiton hopes to accomplish. Honor Day in the school was something new and the development of its meaning was a surprise to every pupil there.

No one knew just what the term "honor day" meant until explained by the superintendent. The regular session was shortened somewhat in order to give Mr. Whiton ample time to divulge the momentous secret. He did the explaining by inviting four of the pupils to come up to the platform and receive books for a special reward in faithfully fulfilling their pledges to the Sunday school funds. These were Florence Neilson, Edna and Clark Mundy and Carter Goodrich. For punctual attendance Nettie Steiner and Lester Allen received silver pins while Harold Mundy received honorable mention.

For best average in attendance an American Flag is given and the class which has been most successful in this competition has been that taught by Miss Stella Winkler. This class has been awarded the flag several times in succession.

The surprise of the day came, however, when a silver loving cup was presented to the school by Mr. Whiton. This cup will eventually go to some individual, but it will have to be won by one class at least three times before the pupil in that class can have it for a personal trophy. The idea here is to present to the class having the best average in punctuality and attendance at the end of the year the cup with the name of the class engraved upon it. If this class wins the cup three times whether in succession or not, then it becomes the property of that class. Then the pupil of the winning class having the best general average is to become the owner of the cup.

Of course there are conditions attached to the holding of the cup which will involve some work on the part of the boys and girls, but the trophy is worth working for. A committee comprised of Miss Mary E. Jackson, Mrs. D. F. Updike and James McClymont will have charge of the cup and will make the award each year. There was a very large attendance yesterday and every pupil of the school was interested.

After the awarding of the prizes M. W. Harris addressed the school taking for his topic "Real Honor."

Department Officers Coming.

Past Commander Atkins, of Elizabeth, will install the officers-elect of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., tomorrow night. Department Commander Connolly, of Newark, and staff, will be present. Mrs. S. Elizabeth Wilkes, of Trenton, will install the officers of the Women's Relief Corps at the same time. Department President Mrs. Sparmaker, of Trenton, and staff, will attend.

Will Lecture on Holy Land.

L. V. F. Randolph will give an illustrated lecture at the First Baptist church, Sunday night, on the subject of "Baal-Bek trip in Palestine via. Jerusalem and Damascus," it being an illustrated lecture of his tour through the Holy Land.

BURMESE YOUNG WOMAN TELLS OF OPPORTUNITIES

About one hundred young women gathered in the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian Association yesterday afternoon to listen to Miss Yaba, a Burmese young woman who is completing her studies in this country preparatory to taking up association work in Burmah. Miss Yaba was attired in Oriental costume, adding the picturesque to the earnest in her remarks of the need of Christianization in America.

Miss Yaba emphasized the need of Christian work in this country and contrasted the opportunities offered here as compared with those of her country. There is so much difference that it stands out prominently. Here the young American woman has opportunities all around her to do the Master's work while in Burmah, as in other countries of the far East, the opportunities have to be sought and when found are made the most of.

Miss Yaba's father as a boy received his earlier education in the public schools of this city and, she said, "I have the feeling of a strong bond of friendship for this place." Miss Dreuse sang several solos in keeping with the service and subject. There will be a meeting on Thursday evening at which Miss Isabel Arnold, of the Seminary, will speak to the members.

CHIEF MEYER MAY NOT BE ELIGIBLE TO SERVE

Can a non-resident of the town be elected to a township office? This is a question that is raising ructions among the members of the Fanwood township fire department, and the question has been put up to the Township Committee and by them referred to Counsel W. L. Hetfield, Jr., for an opinion.

The trouble started over the election of Charles Meyer as chief of the department at the election held Tuesday night. Meyer, who was the B. & E. Co. candidate, defeated William Reynolds, Excelsior's candidate, by two votes in one of the hottest elections the department has ever held, Meyer being elected by a majority of two votes. After the smoke of the battle had cleared away, some of the members of Excelsior Company raised the question of Meyer's eligibility for that office on account of his being a resident of Somerset county and North Plainfield township, his house being just across the county line.

The question was put up to the Township Committee by Excelsior members and they reserved decision until they could get a legal decision on the question.

In case Meyer cannot serve it will be necessary to hold another election and if this should happen there will be some excitement as the B. & E. Co. members feel sore over the eleventh hour kick as they call it. Meyer has been a member of the department for eleven years, and has a large following of friends among the firemen.

JOHN HERRMANN, OF BOUND BROOK, PASSES AWAY.

John Herrmann, of Bound Brook, father of John and Emma Herrmann, of Somerset street, died in Bound Brook, on Friday in his seventy-fourth year. The funeral was held this afternoon at Bound Brook at 3 o'clock. Mr. Herrmann was one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Bound Brook and will be mourned by many.

Mr. Herrmann is survived by four sisters, Mrs. Peter Vroom, of Pluckemin; Mrs. Philip Ecker, of Somerville; Mrs. Isaac Titus, of Dunellen, and Miss Mary Herrmann, of Elizabeth; also two brothers, Martin Herrmann, of Bound Brook, and Charles Hermann, of Elizabeth, besides his son and daughter, of Somerset street.

Hudson Touring Car at $1,150

Was a big surprise at the opening of the Garden Automobile Show Saturday evening. It was generally admitted that this was the classiest and best car selling below $1,500. Andrew C. Thompson, the local representative, has already booked orders for fourteen out of twenty-five available Hudson cars for 1910, and advises placing orders without delay, as he expects to be practically sold out at the end of this week. ***

Mr. and Mrs. Edsall Ill.

Seely Edsall, formerly of Sandford avenue, has been seriously ill since November 1. He does not seem to improve and there is little hope of his recovery. Mrs. Edsall has been detained at her home since the middle of October with rheumatism. Mr. and Mrs. Edsall are now living at Bloomfield.

KAPP COMMITTS SUICIDE

Former Plainfielder Ended His Own Life Without Known Reason.

A PROSPEROUS MANUFACTURER

Supposition That He Become Temporarily Insane—Some Years Ago He Had a Plant Here.

Edward Kapp, a former skirt and underwear manufacturer of this city, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head, on Saturday in a lavatory connected with the offices of Albert Sittner, 101 Fifth avenue, New York city. Mr. Sittner was the distributing agent for the product of the Kapp factory.

No cause can be assigned for the act, but it is believed by his business associates that Mr. Kapp became suddenly insane and ended his life while under the spell.

Mr. Kapp was for several years engaged in the manufacture of silk skirts in this city and occupied the old rink building on Watchung avenue near Fourth street. At the time of his removal in 1905, he was in partnership with Louis Herzig, and the firm name was Herzig and Kapp. The original business was the making of silk skirts for which the firm became famous.

With the advent of one Nat Levy the productions of the firm were added to and a fine line of women's underwear was manufactured. This new venture failed to prosper and the firm went into bankruptcy and finally removed to New York city, where a new and prosperous business was established, and is still in existence under the firm name of Nat Levy & Co.

When in this city Mr. Kapp and his family lived at the corner of Watchung avenue and Grandview. The news of Mr. Kapp's untimely end was received with many expressions of regret by the many friends he had made in Plainfield. He left here about September 1, 1905.

FORT FISHER HERO SUCCUMBS SUDDENLY

Many Plainfielders who recall the appearance here on February 12 last of Brevet Maj.-General Newton Martin Curtis, when he made an address at the Lincoln Day celebration at the First Baptist church, will learn with regret of his sudden death in New York city Saturday afternoon, from apoplexy. He was stricken in Irving place shortly after noon and died in the street before aid could reach him. His body was taken to his home in Irving place and today was sent to Ogdensburg, N. Y., for burial.

Gen. Curtis, who was known as "the hero of Fort Fisher," had an enviable reputation and record as a soldier, scholar and author. His height, six feet six inches, served as an introduction to Abraham Lincoln in 1856, when young Curtis, then a school teacher in Illinois, entered a railroad station where Lincoln was waiting. The latter, then as a lawyer, proposed to measure his heighth with Mr. Curtis after introducing himself. Mr. Curtis proved the taller, whereupon Lincoln exclaimed: "He's ten feet taller than a rod, straight as an arrow, thin as a shingle and without a knothole." The two were firm friends thereafter.

When Gen. Curtis spoke here about a year ago, he told the above story, which many will remember. He was a member of many clubs; also the New York Commandery, Military Order Loyal Legion, where he was a familiar figure at every meeting.

Rev. Dr. Pogson Preaches Here.

Rev. Dr. M. H. Pogson, financial secretary of the Baptist Missionary Society, occupied the pulpit at the First Baptist church yesterday, morning and night. In the morning he presented the needs of the society in an interesting way, showing what has already been accomplished in the past. Last night, Dr. Pogson preached a ten minute sermon so that he might catch a certain train for home. The choir sang several anthems and altogether the services were inspiring.

Death of Former Resident.

Daniel Galbraith, a former resident of this city, died at South Norwalk, Conn., on Saturday. He was about 65 years of age and removed to the Nutmeg State two years ago. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Teskey Galbraith, of South Norwalk, and a son, Joseph Galbraith, of Glenside Park. The remains will be brought to this city tomorrow and interment made in St. Mary's cemetery.

POSTMASTER EXPLAINS DELIVERY COMPLAINTS

Postmaster E. H. Bird a few days ago received an anonymous communication relative to the alleged poor mail delivery service along West Fourth street, where the writer complains that the residents have been receiving but one delivery a day. It was also stated that the people living on Spooner avenue have been getting three deliveries a day, and adds that people living along the rural free delivery route get as much as one delivery a day.

In conversation with a reporter for The Daily Press today, Mr. Bird explained that unusual weather conditions, heavy snow, ice, together with a heavy mail had compelled him to furnish but one delivery a day in some sections, but the regular schedule is now in force again. He said that it was impossible to deliver the mail on time or to get in the regular deliveries in all parts of the city during the holidays and since while the traveling was so bad.

Mr. Bird added that the people on Spooner avenue do not get three deliveries a day nor have they ever had as many as that. He simply asks the indulgence of the people while weather conditions are so bad. Quoting from a report of the Postmaster-General, Mr. Bird showed that the same conditions have existed in all parts of the country since the holidays.

NEW SPECIE OF BIRDS ON A VISIT TO CITY

The arrival of a flock of birds at fire headquarters on New Year's day, the species of which is entirely new to this vicinity, according to Chief Doane, present a problem for local ornithologists to solve.

There are about a dozen of the feathered tribe in the flock. In size they are larger than a robin with a dark gray plumage and a white bill.

The birds have become very friendly with the firemen, who have been nursing their appetits by scattering crackers and crumbs on the snow-covered ground. The birds also feed on the berries on the English ivy vines on the westerly side of the fire house.

Some of the birds are so tame and trusting that they approach the sills of the open windows of Chief Doane's office and eat the crumbs provided by the firemen.

Chief Doane, who is familiar in a large degree with the birds who visit this climate, declares he is at a loss to furnish the names of the visitors, and he suggested to a Daily Press reporter that local students of the bird world visit fire headquarters for the purpose of identifying the species.

FORESTRY COMMISSIONER TO GIVE ILLUSTRATED TALK.

James S. Whipple, of New York, commissioner of forests, fish and game, will deliver an address at the Hartridge School auditorium tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock. Forest views with the stereopticon will be presented.

Mr. Whipple is an able and fluent speaker and his address will be new and instructive. The State of New York has made great progress in forestry and reforestration during the administration of the present commissioner; his lectures and up to date methods have enlisted the interest of the people so that this branch of the public service has been financially well supported by the State.

Tree gardens have been located, and during the year 1909 more than one million trees were sold to private land owners. A fire organization to protect the forest lands was perfected last year with excellent results.

Invitations have been issued by Orville T. Waring, Alexander Gilbert, George P. Mellick, L. V. F. Randolph, Charles I. McCutchen and Charles C. Burke.

The "Chalmers" Exhibit at the Garden Auto. Show

Was generally conceded to be the finest there. Saturday night's reception was one of the greatest tributes ever paid to an automobile. Andrew C. Thompson, the local representative, has already booked orders for 24 out of 35 available Chalmers cars for 1910. Mr. Thompson will make his headquarters this week at the Chamlers exhibit. ***

Will Speak at Y. W. C. A.

Miss Isabel Arnold, of the Seminary, will address the Thursday evening meeting at the Young Women's Christian Association. Her subject will be "Books." All members of the association are invited to be present.

—Daily Press want ads. pay.

NEW POSTOFFICE FUND RECEIVES $15,000 BOOST

The chances of this city getting its $100,000 postoffice building are brightening. A report from Washington states that Acting Secretary Charles D. Norton, of the treasury department, has recommended to Congress that an additional appropriation of $15,000 be made to the original appropraion.

Secretary Norton's recommendation has been referred to the Committee on Appropriations. United States Senator John Kean, who has been pushing the matter, is confident that it will be endorsed and with a little more waiting local citizens will have their new postoffice.

The additional appropriation brings the amount up to $85,000 or within $15,000 of $100,000, the total sum required for the new structure.

"FORGIVE AND FORGET" SAYS REV. MR. MUSSON

"Forgiving and Forgetting" was the topic of an interesting sermon delivered by Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor at the Temple Baptist church, last night. "Forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors," were the words upon which the discourse was based. In part Mr. Musson said:

"In reading this prayer which we call 'The Lord's Prayer,' because Jesus give it to his disciples as a model, or a pattern of how they should pray, you will notice that the petition of the text for forgiveness follows the petition for daily bread.

"We see here a prayer for forgiveness, a condition of forgiveness and there is here a standard of forgiveness. First, Jesus teaches us to pray, 'Father forgive us our debts.' Luke puts it thus, 'Father forgive us our sins.' So the sins means indebtedness to God. It means that we have failed to meet our obligations.

"We should offer this prayer for three reasons, first, because we are debtors; secondly, we should pray this pray because no one can forgive a debt but the creditor to whom the debt is due; thirdly, that Jesus taught us to pray this prayer because God is willing to forgive.

"The selfish man tells you that everybody is selfish, while the generous person delights to speak of the noble generosity he finds in others. Forgive us our debts, as we forgive others. How solemn is this prayer. Our forgiveness of our fellowmen is absolutely essential to our receiving forgiveness from God. Nothing else will take its place.

"One of the signs or evidences that we have been forgiven is that we possess and display the spirit of forgiveness. We want God to forgive us fully. I mean by that we want God to forgive our every sin. Not only our small sins, but our great sins. Have we not provoked him in many ways? And yet has He ever refused to forgive? No! He says, 'Though your sins be as scarlet, I will make them like snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.'

"Suppose God were to say to you, 'I will forgive every other sin that you have committed, but there is one sin of which you have been guilty, that I cannot overlook.' What a sad plight you would be in. One sin would shut you out of heaven forever. God says, 'I will blot them out of the book of my remembrance. I will not remember thy sin.'

"We must forgive and forget the sins of others against us. What do the Scriptures mean, then, when they say that God will not remember our sins? It means this, that He will treat us just as though we had never sinned. And that is just how we must forgive, or our professed forgiveness will be only a mockery and a sham. There are two ways in which we can cultivate the forgiving spirit. First, by keeping in mind our great need of continually receiving forgiveness from God, and secondly, never to speak of an offense when you say you have forgiven the offender. Let it pass."

New Year's Sermon.

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, preached a New Year's sermon at the morning service, yesterday, in which he reviewed the past year's work in the church and Sunday school and predicted even better things for the coming year with the earnest co-operation of pastor and people.

Legislature Tomorrow.

The 134th Legislature will convene at the State House at Trenton tomorrow at noon.

—Stevens-Duryea touring car, top, speedometer, prestolite tank, Autochime horn, trunk rack, extra tires, etc., unusual fine shape; $650 to quick buyer. Thompson's garage. ***

PLAYGROUND FOR P.H.S.

And Perhaps for Others—Mr. Parker Submits Plans to the Pupils This Morning.

FINE CINDER RUNNING TRACK.

Baseball, Football and Other Sports to Be Conducted—Cost About $20,000.

Andrew McClean Parker announced to the High School this morning the purchase of a tract of land running parallel to Crescent Oval which he will fit up as an athletic field for the school. This is something which has long been needed by the school and will be appreciated to its full value by the students, and Mr. Parker received the assurances of the students' approval by a hearty cheer after the announcement was made.

All the latest improvements, including a grandstand, will be added to the field, besides a running track built in the most approved fashion with a two-hundred and twenty yards' straight away track. Under the grandstand dressing rooms and shower baths and all the conveniences for the athletes will be found. The grounds will be loaned for the use of the local Y. M. C. A. when not in use of the High School boys.

Mr. Parker is a graduate of the local high school and in his presentation speech said that he had long known of the need of the field for outdoor sports and since his retirement from his profession of civil engineer had had in mind this project for the benefit of the school.

He was chief engineer on the new Manhattan Bridge and only retired recently. Mr. Parker will deliver a lecture before the Men's Club of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church tomorrow night, taking for his subject, "The Manhattan Bridge."

In is understood that this field will be for the use of the public as a playground and is one which has long been under consideration by Mayor Fisk and Mr. Parker, but no confirmation of the proposed consolidation with the Y. M. C. A. could be obtained this afternoon. It is understood that the new athletic field will cost $20,000.

Two Coasting Accidents.

Coasting on Spencer's Hill, near Scotch Plains, was never better than during the past couple of weeks, the care old residenters of that section. While the young folk have been having a big time two accidents marred the sport on Saturday. James Corrona and George Kuehn, both of Scotch Plains, had their hands severely cut by falling off their bobsleds and scraping them on the snow.

Dr. J. A. Funk to Speak.

Dr. J. A. Funk, one of the medical missionaries of the Presbyterian church, in Persia, will speak at the meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tomorrow afternoon, in the large parlor at 3:30 o'clock.

Miss Conover Broke Arm.

Miss Emma Conover, of New York, and who is stopping with relatives at 16 Jackson avenue, is confined to the house with a broken arm which was sustained last Friday as a result of a fall in the house. She was attended by Dr. A. H. Dunlon.

Mrs. Henrietta Pernell.

Mrs. Henrietta Pernell, widow of the late John Pernell, of Chestnut street, Dunellen, died on Saturday in her fifty-sixth year. The funeral will be held from her late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30.

Jacob Voehl Very Ill.

Our January Clearance Sale Grows Greater as it Goes On

Tomorrow We Bring Forward More Sale Offerings

The one dominating purpose now is to clear racks of ready-to-wear garments and counters, shelves and stock rooms of Winter Goods. Clearance and price-cutting here go hand in hand. To move out goods we mark down prices. And as they must go quickly we cut costs deeply. The clearance shall be speedy and complete.

Values veer to heretofore unreached heights as prices reach heretofore unrecorded low levels. Daily is demonstrated in new offerings the clear fact that this event is our greatest value-giving effort.

The Best Pianos and The Right Prices

In our warerooms will be found a magnificent choice of several grades and makes of pianos.

No matter what you want in a piano, from the best to the inexpensive used upright (for the beginner) you will find it in our warerooms.

HERE YOU WILL FIND HALLET & DAVIS PIANOS

For 71 years to pronounce a piano as musically perfect, the highest attainment in piano construction, it has been merely necessary to say

"It is a Hallet & Davis"
139 Gold Medals since 1839

The price of the Hallet & Davis is not so well known as the quality. Few intending buyers realize that these magnificent pianos are sold at very moderate prices.

Buyers here have the advantage of our one price selling plan—the lowest possible price on the best pianos. Our convenient payment plan makes it possible for any one to own a good piano.

DR. ROBERTS' REPLY TO ASSEMBLY DISPUTE

Philadelphia, Jan. 10.—Rev. Dr. William H. Roberts, stated clerk of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church, emphatically denied the charge that he held more than one salaried position under the Presbyterian church. The dispute in which Dr. Roberts is involved arose out of a circular letter sent by the Presbytery of Blairsville to all other presbyteries in the United States urging them to co-operate in a movement to have the offices of stated clerk and treasurer of the General Assembly separated. The reasons given for this proposal were that Dr. Roberts, besides holding the position of stated clerk and treasurer, also held positions on thirty-one important boards and committees, and that he had paid out $112,239 as treasurer on his own warrants. In reply to this letter the Advisory Committee of the stated clerk of the General Assembly sent out letters denying the charges. They maintained that the only salaried position held by Dr. Roberts was that of stated clerk and treasurer, and that he had never paid out any moneys on his own warrants, but had merely signed the checks after bills to be paid had been audited and approved. Dr. Roberts said:

"This is my twenty-sixth year as stated clerk and treasurer of the General Assembly, and my accounts have been absolutely straight every year. Now it is said that it is necessary to have a change in the General Assembly. In May, 1909, it was voted not to separate the offices of stated clerk and treasurer, but some of the members of the minority of the assembly took up the matter through the Presbytery of Blairsville, and are seeking a reversal of that decision. As to the merits of the question I have not entered at any time. Any statements to that effect are false. What the Advisory Committee has done and may do is another matter. The committeemen are men highly honored in Philadelphia and will no doubt speak for themselves. Of the alleged fifty-six offices that I hold not one of them is a salaried office except that of stated clerk. The majority of the other positions are ex-officio positions arising from larger positions with which they are connected. For instance, I am secretary of the World's Alliance of the Presbyterian and Reformed churches, and the alliance has a number of committees to which I have an ex-officio relation. The Presbytery of Blairsville counts each of these a separate appointment, when in reality they are an extension of my duty as secretary in order to provide for the unity of the work of the committees. The same is true with my ex-officio positions in the Presbyterian General Assembly and of the Federal Council of the church of America.

"It was stated in a newspaper that the majority of Presbyterians in the United States are against me. There are 293 of these Presbyteries in the United States, and the majority of them have not yet even considered the matter, and quite a number of them have voted against the Pittsburg proposition."

THE FORUM.

Night School Needed.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Allow me to call the attention of the Board of Education to the need of maintaining evening classes for foreigners in this city. This fact can not be overlooked. If we want good citizens we must educate them. There are many who can not afford private teaching and would gladly take advantage of night schools if maintained. Hoping that you will bring this before the public I beg to remain very respectfully yours,

HENRY ROSENBAUM.

Plainfield, Jan. 8, 1910.

ARTHUR F. JENNINGS DIED THIS MORNING.

Arthur F. Jennings, who has suffered from a complication of diseases for about a year, died this morning at his home on Rockview avenue. He was the son of Frederick C. Jennings and was unmarried. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 and will be conducted by the Plymouth Brethren.

Mr. Jennings was for a number of years in the employ of the Loizeaux Lumber Company and enjoyed a large friendship. He was a graduate of Rutgers College and was fond of literary pursuits.

Mrs. TenEyck's Funeral.

A large gathering of friends and relatives attended the funeral service of the late Mrs. Israel D. TenEyck, which was conducted at the home of her nephew, Frank Putnam, on East Second street. The service was in charge of the Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, and interment made at Evergreen cemetery, the bearers being Frank Putnam, Frazee Putnam, Jeremiah TenEyck and J. E. Laird, nephews, W. S. Jimmerson and Charles Peterson.

At Proctor's.

Lorimer Johnstone & Co., in his new playet, "After the Ball," will entertain the patrons of Proctor's theatre this week. The company has given the play over 3,000 times and with great success. It has an excellent plot and is full of comedy. The Seaburys have a novelty in roller skating and juggling. J. W. Holland & Co., present a black face sketch entitled "Chalkers;" Charles Clarence is an up-to-date monologue artist and the best films d'art complete the bill.

Will Visit the South.

Miss Josephine Kissam, of Duer street, accompanied by her brother, William Kissam, of Long Island, left today for Evergreen, North Carolina, where they will spend the remainder of the winter at the home of her brother, B. T. Kissam. Before returning Miss Kissam and her brother expect to visit various places of interest in Florida.

Mrs. Charles S. Day, wife of Postmaster Day, of New Market, is seriously ill as a result of complications following the extraction of tooth three weeks ago.

Last week the interior of Mrs. Day's mouth swelled to such an extent as to render eating impossible. Yesterday her condition was so bad that Dr. J. Henry Buchanon was summoned to assist at a consultation in the case with other physicians.

Miss Christine Miller to Sing.

Miss Christine Miller, who will appear at the McIntyre Chamber Music concert tonight, will give a morning song recital, Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., 75 Belvidere avenue, for the benefit of the Plainfield Society for the Relief and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The recital will be given at 11 o'clock and tickets can be obtained at the Women's Exchange on Watchung avenue.

McIntyre Concert Tonight.

The last of this season's series of McIntyre chamber music concerts takes place tonight at the High School auditorium. The date of this concert owing to its confliction with that of the Philharmonic orchestra, of New York, was changed from the seventeenth to the tenth, as has been announced several times before. Carriages should be ordered for ten o'clock.

Thomas Morcom's Funeral.

The funeral service of the late Thomas Morcom was conducted at his late home on Plainfield avenue, Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, as the officiating clergyman. Interment was made at the Evergreen cemetery, of which the deceased was a caretaker for several years.

Congregational Men's Club.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church, will meet at the residence of P. H. Suffern, 955 Kensington avenue, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, and will listen to an address by James E. Martine, whose subject will be "Municipal Ownership." All the men of the congregation are invited.

Will Hold Annual Meeting.

Rev. J. W. Musson, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, will give the second of his series of talks, Wednesday night, his theme being, "What Baptists Believe About God and About Man." At 9 o'clock, the annual church meeting will be held for the reception of reports and election of two trustees.

Will Observe Anniversary.

J. H. Wright, of West Front street, will observe the seventy-fourth anniversary of his birthday tomorrow in a quiet way. He has a large circle of friends who will doubtless avail themselves of the opportunity to congratulate him tomorrow.

NEW YEAR'S THOUGHTS OF REV. MR. GOODRICH

The New Year's sermon preached last night by Rev. Charles L. Goodrich at the Congregational church was full of good advice for the coming year as well as a retrospective look into the year just closed.

Mr. Goodrich said in part: "Another year has gone never to return; each year is shorter than the last and swifter in its flight. Many writers have endeavored to describe the momentous flight of time and the teaching of all is that each year should teach wisdom.

"What have you taken out of the year just closed? What have you gleaned in all the past years? All the good things you have won from your toil are as nothing compared with the spirit which is in every man. Has that spirit increased in you? Have the years brought you to the spiritual reality? If so they have brought you more than you have lost.

"All you can take out with you at the close of the last year or your life is this spirit. How has it grown in you? The spirit of man is the meeting place with God. The fact that God and man are both spirits should alone inspire men and women to make the acquaintance intimate and get the spiritual realities out of life. The inspirations of God are all about us. If we will we may get the warm, powerful impulse of God Himself. Let us recognize all the good impulses of our hearts, no matter what the call may be for the saving and the glory of our souls.

"None of us has attained to the beautiful heights of spirituality which are possible with a complete surrender to Him, whom I pray may be with us all during the coming days of this new year.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The annual meeting of the Baraca class of the Temple Baptist church will be held tomorrow night, with the election of officers.

The Men's club of the Congregational church will be the guests of Philip S. Suffern, of 955 Kensington avenue, tomorrow night.

Rev. Dr. Forest Dager will speak before the members and friends of the Plainfield Sunday School Association at the First Baptist church, tomorrow night. All interested are invited.

Anna Marguerite and Edith LaRue Roseberry, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Roseberry, were baptized at Hope chapel, yesterday morning by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard.

The Sunshine Mission Band, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the church parlors. The subject will be "The Children of Japan at Work and Play," and Dorothy Lyon will be the leader.

Rev. Mr. Halliday, of Park avenue, will supply the pulpit at Hope chapel next Sunday morning. There will be no evening service as the congregation will unite with the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church in a memorial service to the late Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards.

MUST KEEP SOBER OR JAIL TERM FOR THEIRS.

Newton, Jan. 10.—Judge Hunt put two young men under suspended sentences after they had taken a pledge to abstain from the use of liquors, with the understainding that they would be apprehended if they fell from grace, and be made to serve out their terms.

Daniel Simmons, who confessed to stealing a chicken from his brother-in-law, Alonzo Stevens, of Trinity street, Christmas evere, was sentenced to three months in the county jail. Later sentence was suspended by the court on his promise to obtain work, reporting his behavior to Probation Officer Lewis Van Blarcom.

George Quackenbush, who pleaded guilty to furnishing the prisoners in the county jail with whisky during December of last year, was the first to take the pledge. The judge told him that if he should go to drinking again he would not only break his promise to the court, but his promise to God.

Dallas Van Dyne, a young man of Stanhope, who pleaded guilty to robbing a peddler at Stanhope last fall, was compelled to take the same pledge. If he violates it he will spend not less than a year in the Rahway Reformatory.

Moses Johnson, the negro giant, who pleaded guilty to carrying a forty-four-caliber revolver at Andover early in the winter, was sentenced to two years in State prison. Johnson said his residence was at Philadelphia. Judge Hunt said that the practise of carrying concealed weapons in this county had assumed alarming proportions. This was bad, because many quarrels and accidents had taken place because the weapons were handy. "I mean to try and break up the practise," he said. "I have no doubt that some innocent persons will suffer with the guilty, because the court will be unable to distinguish those needing punishment.

Norma Noonan, of Dover, indicted at the September term for larceny, entered a plea of not guilty.

WRONG RECIPIENT OF HONOR

Swedish Monarch Was Naturally Indignant at Ignorance Displayed by His Advisers.

When King Gustavus III. was in Paris, he was visited by a deputation of the Sorbonne. That learned body congratulated the king on the happy fortune which had given him so great a man as Scheele, the discoverer of magnesium, as his subject and fellow-countryman. The king, who took small interest in the progress of science, felt somewhat ashamed that he should be so ignorant as never even to have heard of the renowned chemist. He dispatched a courier at once to Sweden with the laconic order: "Scheele is to be immediately raised to the dignity and title of a count." "His majesty must be obeyed," said the prime minister, as he read the order; "but who in the world is Scheele?" A secretary was told to make inquiries. He came back to the premier with very full information. "Scheele is a good sort of fellow," said he, "a lieutenant in the artillery, a capital shot, and a first-rate hand at billiards." The next day the lieutenant became a count, and the illustrious scholar and scientist remained a simple burgher. The error was not discovered until the king returned home. His majesty was indignant. "You must be all fools," he exclaimed, "not to know who Scheele is!"

SQUARE HOLE EASILY BORED

Simple Explanation Disproves General Idea That Achievement Is an Impossibility.

It would seem, on first thought, an impossibility to bore a square hole. In reality nothing is simpler. The basis of the operation is the fact that as a circle rolls on a straight line, the center describes a parallel straight line. For instance, the hub of a carriage wheel moves along at a constant distance from the ground. Hence if we cause a cutter situated at the center of a cylindrical shank to roll on a straight guide the cutter will trace out a straight line. If the guide be broken into four sides of a square the shank will roll on these four sides, one after the other, and the cutter will ream out an equal square.

At the same time the motion of the tool is a rotary one, very similar to boring a round hole. The only trouble is that as the shank changes from one side of the square guide to the adjacent one there is a slight irregularity in the motion, so that the corners of the square hole are not sharp, but slightly rounded. This rounding may be reduced to a minimum and it is not a serious objection in any case.

Cat That Loves His Bath.

"Talk about the Englishman and his bath! He isn't a marker on the cat I saw," said a man who had called the night before on the owners of the cat. "Mark Antony is the son of Julia Pry, who was given her name because she used to pry open the folding doors with her paw. But this Mark Antony would take a dozen baths a day if any one would fill up the tub for him. When he was a kitten he used to be put in the bath tub, where he was deemed safe, as he lived in a flat. The water dripped from the faucet and gave Mark something to amuse himself with. He evidently grew up to love the water, and now when any one comes in the door Mark Antony is there, and would lead even the utmost stranger bathroomward, that he might fill up the tub enough for him to splash in it."

The Unexpected.

He had wedded a popular actress, much to the dismay of his friends. He was fond of the practical things of life. His friends were sure the professional lady would prove anything but a helpmeet for him.

"It was their first breakfast in the pretty suite in the little flat. The coffee was delicious, and the steak of the exact rareness he preferred, and he had never eaten such rolls. He held one of the latter aloft.

"Why, where do you buy them, my love?" he asked.

She flung him a bewitching smile.

"I created those rolls," she dramatically answered.

"You!" he cried.

"Yes," she replied; "I was cooking in a restaurant when I went on the stage."

The Cost of Living.

She was having a little bite after the theater with the impecunious man who had gone with her on her pass.

"What sort of Welsh rabbit will you have?" asked the waiter, "plain, with an egg in it, or—"

"I'll have one with an egg in it," said she.

The impecunious man, who had turned quite white, came back to his natural color.

"Thank the Lord you stopped him at the one with an egg in it," said he. "That's only five cents more than the plain, they run up to a dollar apiece, these fancy Welsh rabbits. Didn't you know that?"

Egyptian Embalming.

The modern embalmer is still ignorant of the secret that was so well known to the men of ancient Egypt. The process followed by the Egyptian embalmers is known only in part, the main part being still a mystery. As to the cost of becoming a mummy, Herodotus and Diodorus tell of three modes of embalming prevalent in Egypt, the first very costly, answering to about $2,000 of our money; the second, $60; the third within the reach of all.

COASTER SLIDES UNDER TEAM; SKULL IS BROKEN.

Summit, Jan. 10.—Suffering from a fractured skull as the result of a coasting accident, William Conley, twelve-year-old son of William Conley, of Hughes place, lies in Overlook Hospital in a critical condition. Peter Johnson, thirteen years old, of Pearl street, who was on the sled with Conley, sustained severe scalp wounds and bruises.

This morning an operation was performed on Conley by Dr. William H. Lawrence, Jr., head of the hospital staff. The boys were coasting down Morris avenue hill and making a descent ran into a team of horses attached to a lumber wagon as the team was being driven under the Rahway Valley Railroad bridge. One of the horses' feet struck Conley on the head and the skull was broken.

Miss Ethel Perrine, of West Third street, is recovering from a recent illness.

Mrs. Charles Hughes, of Prescott place, is recovering from an attack of tonsilitis.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Channing Pollick's dramatization of "In the Bishop's Carriage," from the novel of Miriam Michelson, which will be presented at the Plainfield theatre tonight, is destined to be more than a ripple in this season's dramatic events. "In the Bishop's Carriage" seem adequately the purpose of providing entertainment for those who like strong natural plays, with plenty of heart interest and the phantom of a psycholigical problem. The play opens just after Nance Olden has robbed Edward Ramsey, the tipsey broker, at the Broad Street Station, and made her escape in Bishop Van Wagenen's carriage. The good bishop in his solicitude for the girl whose brain he believes to be affected, and who has won his kindly heart by pretending to mistake him for her father, takes her to the home of his friend, Mrs. Ramsey. Nance goes willingly enough, little expecting that she is being taken to the home of the man she has just robbed, or that she will find there her friend, Tom Dorgan, playing the role of waiter and keeping his eye open for any little stray article of value that may be left lying about. The only one of the party at Ramsey's who sees through Nance and Tom's little game is Latimer, an up-to-date man of the world, with plenty of money and much leisure, which he devotes chiefly to the study of criminology. Interested as he is in the subject, he is peculiarly attracted to Nance. He compels Nance and Tom Dorgan to give up their thefts, thereby gaining the hatred of the man; but he also permits them to depart unmolested, and gains the gratitude of the girl. In the next act Nance exhibits her gratitude by admitting Dorgan to Latimer's apartments, whither she has come to be reformed, but Latimer catches them in the act of looting his rooms and turns the man over to the police. He punishes Nance by putting her on the stage. The third act shows Nance rich and happy, a popular vaudeville idol, dressed in rich laces and jewels, but still true to Dorgan, who is in prison. She spurns Latimer's love and he departs, but returns, however, just in time to find Dorgan has escaped and trying to force Nance to run away. There is then a stiff argument in which Dorgan voices a disclosure of Nance's immorality and Latimer retaliates by striking him, giving him—it is revealed in the next act—a black eye. In the final act Dorgan admits that he lied about his relations with Nance and all is cleared up for the marriage ceremony.

Marshall P. Wilder is an entirely unique person in public life. His magnetic personality, his inimitable talent, his genius for creating smiles and laughs, his unerring insight into the heart, the emotions, the sympathetic side of life, his wonderful drolleries and story telling faculty, his magic, his tricks, his characteristic monologue studies which are unequalled by anyone alive, have placed him in an absolutely unique position as an entertainer. His appearance this season in conjunction with those sterling artists Mildred and Rouclere will be heralded with delight by our theatregoers and a capacity house will no doubt greet them on their appearance here on January 12 at the Plainfield theatre.

Perhaps He Doesn't.

"Pa?"

"Yes."

"Why do they say, 'he swears like a trooper,' or 'he swears like a pirate?' Why don't they use something more up-to-date?"

"What, for instance?"

"Why don't they say, 'he swears like an automobile fixer.'"—Boston Herald.

The Test.

"I have always been able to paddle my own canoe."

"But can you take your automobile to pieces?"—Pittsburg Post.

Her Little Bluff.

"Ethel," said Lionel Bertram Jones as he dropped his slice of bread in the plate with a noise that set the canary in the gilt cage overhead chirping merrily—"Ethel, I have something to say to you."

They had been married only four weeks, and the time had not arrived when she did all the saying.

"Do you remember the day on which I proposed to you?"

"Yes," she replied. "I will never forget it."

"Do you remember," he went on as he abstractedly drilled a hole in the loaf with the point of a carving knife, "how when I rang the bell you came to the door with your fingers sticky with dough and said you thought it was your little brother who wanted to get in?"

"Yes."

"Oh, Ethel! How could you? How could you?"

"How could I what?" she responded as a guilty look crept into her face.

"How could you make me the victim of such a swindle?"

It Was Mistaken Charity.

The athletic girl had been out in the woods taking pictures, and at evening she started for the car, wearily lugging the camera and tripod. The cars were thronged with workmen returning to their homes, and she had to wait some time before there came one with even standing room inside. She pushed her way across the platform and just inside the doorway. The legs of the tripod rested on the floor at her side, and she was trying to brace herself against the door when a woman who had been sitting in the corner suddenly rose from her seat and gently but firmly pushed the young woman into it, with the remark, "Now you sit right there, you poor thing!"

The girl remained seated passively and looked puzzled for a moment. Then a dull flush covered her face. "How awful!" she thought. "That woman saw the tripod legs and thought they were crutches. She thinks I'm lame." Then she shrank back in the seat and tried not to show her face.—Exchange.

The Nerve of a Boy.

"Speaking of the nerve displayed by small boys," said a man who had a trip through the southwest, "reminds me of an incident that occurred in the Santa Ana mountains, in southern California. An eleven-year-old boy, a member of a family making their way to the coast, left the camp early one morning to stalk deer. He found tracks and had followed them until he was five or six miles from camp. In reaching up on a rock he disturbed a huge rattlesnake that was sunning himself, and the snake without warning struck, wounding the boy on the middle finger of his right hand. Knowing that unless prompt action was taken the wound would prove fatal, the youth placed the finger over the muzzle of the gun and pulled the trigger. Making a ligature above the wound to stop the flow of blood, he killed the snake and walked back to camp, where he fainted. The finger was blown off close to his hand, but he recovered."—Exchange.

Not Appreciated.

Apropos of the "delusion deep rooted in the minds of innumerable voters that a man can only be 'putting up for parliament' in order to better himself one way or another" and that no sacrifice has to be made by the candidate there is the speech that was made by Sir Richard Temple, who had returned poste haste from his duties in India, arriving after his own contest had begun. Sir Richard used words to the following effect, "I have traveled 8,000 miles and surrendered £5,000 a year for the privilege of representing this great constituency," but the proper sense of his generosity and public spirit was entirely marred by a remark from a loud voice in the crowd, "Oh, what a — fool you must be!"—Ian Malcolm in Cornhill Magazine.

Money and Politics.

In his reminiscences of Grover Cleveland George F. Parker tells a story of the prodigal expenditures in politics. A rich man who had been nibbling at the Democratic nomination for governor of New York asked William C. Whitney's advice. This is the advice: "Of course you ought to run. Make your preliminary canvass, and when you have put in $200,000 you will have become so much interested in it that you will feel like going ahead and spending some money."

Impossible.

Dr. Chargem—Your friend needs vigorous treatment. I never saw a man in such a state of mental depression. Can't you convince him that the future holds some brightness for him? Sympathetic Friend—That is unfortunately impossible. He has drawn his salary for three weeks ahead and spent the money.—Exchange.

Police and Press.

It was Senator Evarts who paid this compliment to the police of New York at an annual dinner of the force: "As compared with the press you exhibit a striking contrast. You know a great many things about our citizens that you don't tell, and the press tells a great many things about our citizens that it doesn't know."

Torture.

A cowboy stopped a stage full of passengers and made them all wait while he read a poem of thirty-two verses dedicated to his Mary Jane. There are some things as bad as shooting.—Argonaut.

The best excuses are never given.—French Proverb

The Guest of Quesnay

By Booth Tarkington.

Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Co.; copyright, 1907, 1908 by the Ridgway Co.

I found that I was looking almost straight down into the upturned face of Larrabee Harman, and I cannot better express what this man had come to be and what the degradation of his life had written upon him than by saying that the dreadful thing I looked upon now was no more horrible a sight than the face I had seen, fresh from the valet and smiling in ugly pride at the starers, as he passed the terrace of Larue on the day before the Grand Prix.

We helped to carry him to the doctor's car and to lift the dancer into Ward's and to get both of them out again at the hospital at Versailles, where they were taken.

"Did it seem to you," said George finally, "that a man so frightfully injured could have any chance of getting well?"

"No," I answered. "I thought he was dying as we carried him into the hospital."

"So did I. The top of his head seemed all crushed in. Whew!" After a pause he added thoughtfully, "It will be a great thing for Louise."

Louise was the name of his second cousin, the girl who had done battle with all her family and then run away from them to be Larrabee Harman's wife. Remembering the stir that her application for divorce had made, I did not understand how Harman's death could benefit her, unless George had some reason to believe that he had made a will in her favor. However, the remark had been made more to himself than to me, and I did not respond.

The morning papers flared once more with the name of Larrabee Harman, and we read that he was lingering. And the dancer had been right. One of her legs was badly broken. She would never dance again.

A great many people keep their friends in mind by writing to them, but more do not, and Ward and I belong to the majority. After my departure from Paris I had but one missive from him, a short note written at the request of his sister, asking me to be on the lookout for Italian earrings to add to her collection of old jewels. So from time to time I sent her what I could find about Capri or in Naples, and she responded with neat little letters of acknowledgment.

Two years I stayed on Capri, eating the lotus which grows on that happy island and painting very little. But even on Capri people sometimes hear the call of Paris, so there came at last a fine day when I, knowing that the horse chestnuts were in bloom along the Champs Elysees, threw my rope soled shoes to a beggar, packed a rusty trunk and was off for the banks of the Seine.

At the end of a fortnight I went over into Normandy and deposited that rusty trunk of mine in a corner of the summer pavilion in the courtyard of Mme. Brossard's inn, Les Trois Pigeons, in a woodland neighborhood that is there. Here I had painted through a prolific summer of my youth, and I was glad to find, as I had hoped, nothing changed, for the place was dear to me. Mme. Brossard (dark, thin, demure as of yore, a fine looking woman with a fine manner and much the flavor of old Norman portraits) gave me a pleasant welcome, remembering me readily, but without surprise, while Amedee, the antique servitor, cackled over me and was as proud of my advent as if I had been a new egg and he had laid me. The simile is grotesque, but Amedee is the most benlike waiter in France.

He is a white haired, fat old fellow, always well shaved, as neat as a billiard ball. In the daytime, when he is partly porter, he wears a black tie, a gray waistcoat broadly striped with scarlet, and from waist to feet a white apron like a skirt and so competently encircling that his trousers are of mere conventionality and no real necessity, but after 6 o'clock (becoming altogether a maitre d'hotel) he is clad as any other formal gentleman.

Amedee's suggestions as to my repast were deferential, but insistent. His manner was that of a prime minister who goes through the form of convincing the sovereign. He greeted each of his own decisions with a very loud "Bien!" as if startled by the brilliancy of my selections, and, the menu being concluded, exploded a whole volley of "Biens" and set off violently to instruct old Gaston, the cook.

The inn itself is gray with age, the roof sagging pleasantly here and there, and an old wooden gallery runs the length of each wing, the guest chambers of the upper story opening upon it like the deck rooms of a steamer, with boxes of tulips and hyacinths along the gallery railings and window ledges for the gayest of border lines.

In the course of time and well within the bright twilight Amedee spread the crisp white cloth and served me at a table on my pavilion porch. He feigned anxiety lest I should find certain dishes (those which he knew were most delectable) not to my taste, but was obviously so distended with fatty [illegible] that it became a temptation to denounce at least some trifling sauce or garnishment. Nevertheless so much mendacity proved beyond me, and I spared him and my own conscience. The salad prepared and the water bubbling in the coffee machine, he favored me with a discourse on the decline in glory of Les Trois Pigeons.

"Monsieur, it is the automobiles they have done it. Formerly, as when monsieur was here, the painters came from Paris. What busy times and what drolleries! Ah, it was gay in those days! Monsieur remembers well. Ha, ha! But now, I think, the automobiles have frightened away the painters.

"I should have said that we should be happier if we had many like monsieur," went on Amedee. "But it is early in the season to despair. Then, too, our best suit is already engaged."

"By whom?"

"Two men of science who arrive next week. One is a great man. Mme. Brossard is pleased that he is coming to Les Trois Pigeons, but I tell her it is only natural. He comes now for the first time because he likes the quiet."

"Who is the great man, Amedee?"

"Ah! A distinguished professor of science, truly. He is a member of the institute. Monsieur must have heard of that great Professor Keredec?"

"The name is known. Who is the other?"

"A friend of his. I do not know. All the upper floor of the east wing they have taken—the grand suit—those two and their valet de chambre. That is truly the way in modern times—the philosophers are rich men."

"Yes," I sighed. "Only the painters are poor nowadays."

"Ha, ha, monsieur!" Amedee laughed cunningly. "It was always easy to see that monsieur amuses himself only with his painting."

"Thank you, Amedee," I responded. "I have amused other people with it, too, I fear."

"Monsieur remembers the Chateau de Quesnay, at the crest of the hill on the road north of Dives?"

"I remember."

"It is occupied this season by some rich Americans."

"How do you know they are rich?"

"Dieu de Dieu!" The old fellow appealed to heaven. "But they are Americans!"

"And therefore millionaires. Perfectly, Amedee."

sat beside him. His face would have done it without accessories.

My old friend George Ward and I had met for our aperitif at the Terrace Larue, by the Madeleine, when the white automobile came snaking its way craftily through the traffic. Turning in to pass a victoria on the wrong side, it was forced down to a snail's pace near the curb and not far from our table, where it paused, checked by a blockade at the next corner. I heard Ward utter a half suppressed guttural of what I took to be amazement, and I did not wonder.

The face of the man in the tonneau detached him to the spectator's gaze and singled him out of the concourse with an effect almost ludicrous in its incongruity. The hair was dark, lustrous and thick, the forehead broad and finely modeled and certain other ruinous vestiges of youth and good looks remained, but whatever the features might once have shown of honor, worth or kindly semblance had disappeared beyond all tracing in a blurred distortion. The lids of one eye were discolored and swollen almost together. Other traces of a recent battering were not lacking, nor was cosmetic evidence of a heroic struggle on the part of some valet of infinite pains to efface them. The nose lost outline in the discolorations of the puffed cheeks. The chin, tufted with a small imperial, trembled beneath a sagging gray lip.

The figure was fat, but loose and sprawling, seemingly without the will to hold itself together. In truth, the man appeared to be almost in a semi-stupor, and, contrasted with this powdered Silenus, even the woman beside him gained something of human dignity. At least, she was thoroughly alive, bold, predatory and, in spite of the gross embonpoint that threatened her, still savagely graceful. A purple veil dotted with gold floated about her hat, from which green dyed ostrich plumes cascaded down across a cheek enameled dead white. Her hair was plastered in blue-black waves, parted low on the forehead. Her lips were splashed a startling carmine, the eyelids painted blue, and from between lashes gummed into little spikes of blacking she favored her companion with a glance of carelessly simulated tenderness—a look all too vividly suggesting the ghastly calculations of a cook wheedling a chicken nearer the kitchen door.

"Who is it?" I asked, staring at the man in the automobile and not turning toward Ward.

BED AND OUTFIT—A SAVING OF $8.25.

It is a great convenience to many to be able to buy a bed, mattress, spring and pillows, all rightly matched in a single purchase, and so we make up these combination outfits, and in this case we will make a January sale price that will save every buryer exactly $8.25—surely a great consideration to folks inclined to be the least bit economical.

Enamel Bedstead, corner upright posts are 1 5-6 inch; the filling rods are half-inch and the top rod is of brass 1¼ inch; has brass flat vases on the head and foot; tea ball castings; made in all sizes. It is enameled white, nice and smooth; in fact, the best bed in our entire stock for the money.

Mattress, made of good grade cotton felt; carded in layers, 45 lbs. in weight, 4 feet 6 inches in size, one part; covered in plain blue and white stripe ticking, or several patterns of fancy stripe. All the edges are felled and nicely tufted, made up as good as possibly could be, new and fresh every day.

Spring has framework of iron tubing with patent corner malleable castings. All parts are neatly bronzed; has a woven wire fabric top, with heavy steel wires running along sides and additional coils of heavy fabric running through body of spring; ends are attached with spiral coil springs; the ends of the wire fabric are closed so that vermin cannot get in, and there are no ragged ends to tear the bedding. It is constructed with a reinforced trussed end bar which gives strength and resiliency. A sanitary spring.

One Pair of Pillows, filled with feathers, 3½ lb. weight each and size 22x28. The ticking is of the best quality A. C. A. blue and white stripe.

$18.00 OSTERMOOR MATTRESS $12.50.

We are going to offer the celebrated Ostermoor Mattress, known the world over as one of the most remarkable mattresses ever produced; built of cotton, which is subjected to such process as evolves an entirely different fabric, just as cloth is produced from wool, in sheets or layers 2½ inches each in thickness, wonderfully soft and elastic, impervious to moisture, proof against vermin, permanently elastic; will never mat, pack, lump or bunch like hair; evenly tufted; all carefully stitched; matched cover with fancy mercerized art twill tickings in desirable new designs; 4 feet 6 inches wide; standard length; made in one part weighing 45 pounds; also 3, 3 feet 6 inches and 4 feet wide; mattresses that regularly sell at $18.00—a regulated price; these to go because the coverings are slightly soiled (so slightly that it will be hard for you to detect it) at only ..... $12.50

ENAMELED BEDS.

1 1-16 in. continuous tube, with filling rods in head and foot; castings nice and smooth; all parts neatly white enamaled; equipped with good quality, closely woven wire fabric spring; 3-foot size; suitable for children's or spare rooms; regular price $6; special, complete with spring, sale price ..... $4.50

COT BEDS.

These have frames of angle irons and tubular castings; head and foot board folds; has double woven wire springs; supported by steel bands, helical springs, wire cables running along the edges; all parts neatly bronzed, fine for boarding-house keepers' or cottage use, and for servants' or children's room; equipped with mattress filled with soft cotton; covered with a good quality of ticking, pillow edge, a rst-class outfit of which we sell hundreds at the regular price, which is $3.50 for the cot and $1.75 for the mattress; we offer the combination for one week ..... $4

The cot may be bought separately at $2.50; the mattress at $1.50, if you wish.

A Nasty Dig.

"As nasty a dig as I ever administered in my newspaper career in Virginia City," said Mark Twain, "was directed against a man named Ferguson.

"Ferguson, at Christmas time, invited me to see the presents he had given his wife. They were magnificent gifts. The man, of course, expected a write-up."

"Well, he wasn't disappointed. The next day, in a prominent place on the first page of the Enterprise I inserted this paragraph:

"'John H. Ferguson's Christmas gifts to his wife are being much admired. They include a diamond stomacher and many other beautiful specimens of cut glass.'"—Washington Star.

"RED MEN" LEADING IN BOWLING CONTEST

The Red Men are still leading in the Fraternal Tourney with eleven games won and one lost. The Raritan team is holding down second place, with the advantage of one game each way over the Knights of Columbus, who are in fourth position.

The standing is as follows:

| | W. | L. | Ave. | H.S. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Red Men | 11 | 1 | 877.7 | 950 |
| Raritan | 7 | 2 | 887 | 967 |
| K. of C. | 6 | 3 | 886.3 | 983 |

| Ponies | 5 | 7 | 838.4 | 916 |
| Elks | 2 | 7 | 838.5 | 930 |
| Public Service | 1 | 11 | 796.6 | 839 |

The schedule for this week is: Wednesday, Raritan vs. Woodmen; Thursday, Elks vs. Ponies; Friday, Red Men vs. Knights of Columbus.

The game scheduled between Newark and Plainfield lodges in the former city tomorrow night, has been postponed owing to the annual meeting of the Newark lodge. The game will be rolled on a date to be fixed later.

BASKETBALL.

N. P. H. S.'s colors were carried to victory in two basketball contests Saturday in Debele's Hall against Bernardsville. The boys' team were victorious in their game by a score of 63 to 13. The lineup was: Conroy and Stine, forwards; C. Smith, center, and Dunning, Becker and Taylor, guards.

The girls' team scored an easy victory by the score of 83 to 1. The lineup was: B. Conroy and N. Steiner, forwards; H. Humble and H. Winn, center; H. George and C. Smith, guards.

The borough team has two games for this week. On Wednesday the boroughites will play Cranford and meet Leal's in an interscholastic game on Friday.

Kerro Knox, of Rockview avenue, has been in Kansas City, Mo., since the beginning of the year and will remain a few months on business.

LAWYER MISSED TRAIN; BERGEN WOULDN'T WAIT

Elizabeth, Jan. 10.—The contest between Democratic and Republican incumbents of Middlesex County offices which was to have been arranged Saturday before Supreme Court Justice Bergen, failed to develop. Justice Bergen was on hand, but Alan H. Strong, of New Brunswick, who was to appear for the Republican claimants in the controversy, failed to appear on time. He telephoned to Justice Bergen he missed his train and would be on the one reaching Elizabeth at 11 o'clock, but the justice refused to wait and, with his stenographer, left for Somerville, where the matter probably will come up next Saturday.

County Solicitor Coan served notice on former County Solicitor Alan H. Strong of a rule to show cause why the five writs of certiorari carrying up for review the appointment of officers by the Democratic Board of Freeholders should not be set aside. The writ was returnable before Justice Bergen here Saturday.

Justice Bergen Saturday revoked a license granted by Elizabeth's old Board of Excise before its term expired for a saloon on Maple avenue. The license was originally granted to a man named Piccolo, but because of a remonstrance the board took the license away and awarded it to a rival saloon-keeper. Then the property owners in the vicinity came strongly to the front again with another remonstrance against the new proprietor. As the old Board of Excise has passed out of existence, it had no longer any jurisdiction in the matter, and in consequence the case was taken before Justice Bergen. Former Prosecutor William R. Wilson represented the saloon man, while Samuel Koestler appeared for the objecting property owners.

LITERARY FORGERIES

Versatility and Cleverness of a Shrewd Scotch Lad.

FOOLED THE CONNOISSEURS.

He Poured Forth His Extraordinary Documents In Profusion to Supply the Demand and Was Finally Exposed by a Simple Little Slip.

From the days of Isidor Mercater, who forged letters of the bishops of Rome with such skill and success that they were treasured for centuries in the Roman archives, to the days of Ireland, the notorious forger of Shakespearean plays and letters, and Chatterton, the clever and ill fated boy who died miserably in his attic, there have never been wanting unprincipled men who could forge ancient manuscripts so cleverly that leading experts have been deceived.

But for versatility and cleverness none of these forgers of past centuries could approach the cleverness of a young Scotchman who years ago produced a long succession of forged manuscripts which completely baffled the connoisseurs of the world. The true and full story of these remarkable forgeries is almost unknown and is so extraordinary that it may well be told.

It was in Edinburgh that this incomparable forger practiced his arts, and it was by an accident that he was tempted to embark on a career which, after a spell of great success, involved him in disaster. One day the principal of an Edinburgh firm of lawyers told one of his clerks to clear out several boxes full of old documents, the accumulation of many years. Among them were several documents and autographs the value of which the clerk was quick to recognize, and he had no difficulty in finding purchasers for them. As the supply was limited and the demand constantly increasing it occurred to him to supplement the genuine documents with others of his own manufacture, and as he developed a remarkable skill in forging and had already won the confidence of a large number of collectors he found it easy to dispose of as many forgeries as he could produce at very profitable prices.

Many of them were sold to collectors in different parts of the world, others were disposed of by auction, and the remainder were pawned and sold as unredeemed pledges. These forgeries covered a very wide range and included autographs and letters by Cromwell, Mary, queen of Scots; James VI., Prince Charlie, John Knox, Rob Roy, Burns, Scott, Thackeray, Carlyle, Salisbury, Gladstone, Lord Nelson and many other men of note as well as vast quantities of Jacobite correspondence.

So cleverly were the forgeries executed that the largest purchaser of Scott's letters was a gentleman who as a boy had carried most of the great author's manuscripts from Abbotsford to his Edinburgh publishers and was as familiar with Scott's handwriting as his own, and the head of the firm that published Lord Byron's works purchased forty-seven letters purporting to be Lord Byron's for the sum of £125 5s. 6d. A very large collection of these manuscripts was purchased for a sum of over £4,000 and presented to the Lenox library, New York, where they were for some time regarded with reverence as the chief treasure of the library, and another collection was presented to the city of Edinburgh.

Although these forgeries were poured on the market in such profusion, no suspicion seems to have been aroused. They were accepted without question by the experts and found ready purchasers at large prices. Whether the forger's success made him careless or whether it was due to one of those remarkable oversights to which the most skillful criminals seem liable and which bring their career to a close, the forger was at last exposed through a mistake of which such a clever man should scarcely have been capable.

Among the many forgeries he produced a poem signed by Robert Burns. It was called "The Poor Man's Prayer" and opened with this stanza:

Amiest the more important toils of state,
The counsels laboring in the patriotic soil,
Though Europe from thy voice expect her fate,
And thy keen glance extend from pole to pole

This poem, which consisted of nineteen verses, might well have escaped detection with the rest but for the fact that a gentleman to whom the poem was shown discovered the identical verses in the London Magazine of 1766 in a poem addressed to the Earl of Chatham by one Simon Hodge, laborer.

Thus it appeared that if the verses were actually written by Burns the poet must have opened them under the pseudonym of Simon Hodge at the very immature age of a poet of seven years. Suspicion once aroused, doubt was at once cast on the hundreds of other documents which had emanated from the same source. The Lenox collection was submitted to the experts of the British museum and pronounced "a worthless lot of forgeries," and collectors all the world over awoke to the painful discovery that their treasures of old manscripts were scarcely worth the paper they were written on. The forger's career was brought to a sudden termination. He was brought up for trial and sentenced to a term of imprisonment, thus closing a career of forgery which for daring, cleverness and success has perhaps never been equaled.—New York Press.

Great trees give more shade than fruit.—German Proverb.

WHAT IS A WHITE MAN?

A Puzzling Problem For the Racial Investigator.

The chief of the naturalization bureau at Washington is of the opinion that the "average man in the street" understands distinctly what a "white" man is. Apparently some persons can master a subject without studying it at all, while others who have looked into it deeply are not so dogmatically certain as the "average man in the street."

For example, the encyclopedias tell us that mankind was divided by Blumenbach into five races—namely, Caucasian, Mongolian, Ethiopian, American (Indian) and Malay. The words "Caucasian" and "white" are used synonymously. This classification was first published in 1781 and must have been known to our national legislators when in 1802 they passed the first naturalization law.

The Caucasian race includes Arabs, who are certainly no "whiter" than the Turks, yet Turks, the official says, cannot be naturalized because they are not "white."

We are also told by the naturalization bureau that the Hindoo is not "white" within the meaning of the statute. But the encyclopedia says that it is a great error to separate the Hindoo from the Caucasian race. The Hindoo, it thinks, is much nearer the "white" race than the Arab.

To puzzle the racial investigator still further, while everything is so clear to the "average man in the street," we are told by the encyclopedias that the original Caucasians—that is, the inhabitants of the Caucasus—are no longer regarded as Caucasians. They have been thrown out of the "white" camp and forced to go over to the Mongol.

Nor is the enigma any nearer solution when we are told by the naturalization bureau that Asiatics cannot be naturalized, but that Siberians can, although Siberians may be anything from Russians to Mongolians or Mongol-Turco-Tartars.—Boston Globe.

AN ARCTIC TRAGEDY.

The Body That Was Seen Floating In the Icy Water.

On Aug. 30 we arrived at Rudolf island, the most northern of the Franz Josef group and simply a mass of ice and high glaciers, where we had planned to spend the winter. While cruising near Northbrooke island I saw one day from the "crow's nest" a singular dark body just awash on the surface of the water. As we came nearer and nearer I was possessed by a rather unusual desire to know what this dark mass was. Putting up my glasses, I gave the order for "dead slow," and we passed the object closely on the starboard side. I saw clearly that it was the body of a man clothed in a great skin coat, with the usual hood, and with mittens on the hands. The face was not discernible, but it dawned on me suddenly that this might be the remains of the Swedish balloonist Andree, who had been lost in the arctic about two years before, or perhaps one of the men who had been lost in the Abruzzi expedition.

I was about to stop the steamship and procure the body when it occurred to me that to take a corpse on board would destroy the good spirit and courage of the members of the polar party, for there is a general superstition among sailors that a ship is doomed when a dead body is on board. The first officer and myself were the only ones who witnessed this ghastly spectacle, and neither mentioned the fact, fearing that the discovery would cast a shadow over the entire party. We have both always believed that this was the body of Andree, and I have often regretted that it had not been in my power to give him decent burial.—Captain Edwin Coffin of the Ziegler Polar Expedition in National Magazine.

The Family Tree Grew Backward.

A Kansas City man married, and his mother-in-law came to live with him. About a year later a friend met him and asked:

"Has there been any increase in your family since we last met?"

"Well, yes. There's one more of us."

"Well! Glad to hear it. Boy or girl?"

"Neither. It's my wife's mother's mother, who has come to live with us."

The first man was silent a moment; then he said, "It looks to me, old man, as if your posterity had got headed in the wrong direction."—Kansas City Times.

The Rhyming Speller.

A correspondent mentions the difficulty experienced by budding authors in spelling words in which diphthongs "ei" and "ie" appear. An easy manner to recall the order of precedence of the vowels is contained in an ancient rhyme:

"I" before "e"
Except after "c"
Or when sounded like "a"
In "neighbor" and "weigh."

CARS THAT HAVE MADE GOOD

Automobile buyers might be pardoned if they felt a little bit bewildered right now. There are so many new cars being announced and so many radical claims being made for them, that buyers are apt to be a little up in the air.

You can't make a mistake if you buy a car of established reputation. A car that has stamped upon it a big, successful reliable name. A car with a record. A car that the people have bought, in quantities.

You might make a mistake buying some other kind of a car. A new car may be a good car, but no one knows that it is until it has been thoroughly tried out.

You take no risk when you buy a Chalmers-Detroit car. Our cars have made good for years.

In two seasons of Motor Contests Chalmers-Detroit stock cars have won 89 firsts, 32 seconds and 21 thirds. "The Motor Age" "Record" gives the Chalmers-Detroits title of the Champion cars of the year.

Orders for more than two-thirds of our entire allotment for 1910 have already been booked. We believe all remaining spring deliveries will be booked at the end of the Garden Show week.

offers exceptional opportunities to such persons. By careful financiering the officers of this Association have paved a way for the would-be home owner to become master of the house in which he lives.

The cost of a loan through this Association is less than a straight mortgage plan. The reason for it is brought about by paying the dues and interest monthly instead of placing them in a stocking until that receptacle holds the amount of the mortgage.

A new series will be opened on Monday night. Come in and talk the matter over. If you do not want to buy or build a home, but are looking for a good safe investment for your savings, subscribe for some shares. Ten shares will cost you $5.00 per month and will be worth $1,000 in eleven years.

LEGISLATURE MEETS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Officers are Chosen and Governor's Message is Read to the Lawmakers.

Marked by all the formalities required by constitutional law, and accompanied by innumerable phases of political and social life, the 134th session of the New Jersey Legislature was convened at Trenton at high noon today. In the Senate fifteen of the twenty-one seats were occupied by Republicans, and in the House of the Assembly there are forty-one Republicans and nineteen Democrats, thus giving a Republican majority on joint ballot of thirty-one. For the first time in several years the so-called "new idea" Republicans are without representation, the majority side being solidly "regular."

The opening day in the Senate was distinguished by the fact that there were no floral offering displayed in the chamber. Floral offerings were received from admiring constituents by nearly all of the Senators, but the plants and posies were relegated to the committee room, where they did not interfere with the official steps of those for whom they were intended as a compliment. In the House, however, the floral exhibition was as elaborate as in former years.

The Senate was called to order by Mr. Ackerman, of Union, who has been chosen by the Republicans as majority leader. As has been the unvaried custom the honor of acting as president pro tem was accorded to one of the minority members, Mr. Leavitt, of Mercer, naming Senator Cornish, of Warren, the oldest member in point of service, for that place. Mr. Cornish was escorted to the chair by a committee of which Senator Gaunt, of Gloucester, was chairman.

After Mr Ackerman had nominated Howard F. Tyler, of Cumberland, as temporary secretary, which was agreed to, the former presented the credentials of the newly elected members.

The Senate proceeded to the election of a president. Mr. Ackerman nominated Mr. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset, for the Republicans, and Mr. Fielder, of Hudson, nominated Mr. Silzer for the Democrats. Mr. Frelinghuysen received fifteen votes and Mr. Silzer six, the former thus becoming not only the presiding officer of the Senate, but also by virtue of this post ranking as the second officer of the State government next to the Governor. Messrs. Hand, Brown and Price escorted Mr. Frelinghuysen to the chair, where as president he expressed appreciation of the honor which had been conferred upon him.

Rev. J. H. DeHart, pastor of the Third Reformed Dutch church, of Raritan, then offered prayer. He is the pastor of the church of which Mr. Frelinghuysen is a member.

Mr. Tyler was then re-elected secretary of the Senate for the seventh time, following which the president appointed Messrs. Wakelee, Bradley and Osborn a committee to call upon the Governor and notify him that the Senate was ready to proceed to business and also to receive any communication that he desired to make. A similar duty with reference to the House was performed by Secretary Tyler. The gubernatorial notification committee repaired to the executive chamber and were received by Governor Fort, following which Leslie R. Fort, secretary to the Governor, appeared in the Senate and presented the Governor's message, which will be found in another column.

After the message had been received the Senate proceeded to election of minor offices as follows: Assistant secretary, William C. Murphy, of Camden; journal clerk, John W. Clift, of Union; sergeant-at-arms, Guadoloup A. Holl, of Mercer; supervisor of bills, Edward A. Sexsmith, of Monmouth.

Before the Senate adjourned to next Monday night President Frelinghuysen announced the appointments to committees.

Hemmed in on all sides by a wealth of beautiful floral pieces, the sixty members of the House of Assembly were all in their seats at the Assemly chamber in the State House at Trenton at noon, and were called to order for the law making session by James Parker, of Paterson, the veteran clerk of the popular branch of the Legislature.

Reverend Dr. Henry Ward, of Closter, a retired Dutch Reformed

BURY BELOVED PASTOR

Obsequies of Rev. Dr. Richards, a True Man of God, Largely Attended.

MANY NOTABLE MOURNERS.

Yale Corporation and Other Distinguished Bodies Represented —Learned Divines Officiate.

Funeral services for the Rev. Dr. William Rogers Richards, late pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, this city, and the Brick Presbyterian church, New York, were held from the latter church yesterday forenoon. There were many mourners, including more than one hundred members and friends of the Crescent Avenue church, who occupied seats reserved for them at the church edifice.

There were also present members of the New York Presbytery and representatives of the Yale Corporation and Union Theological Seminary, ministers of other churches and personal friends of the dead pastor.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Robert Davis, assistant pastor; Rev. Shepherd Knapp, of Worcester, Mass., formerly assistant pastor; Rev. Dr. Henry vanDyke, of Princeton University, and former pastor, and Rev. Dr. George Alexander, moderator of the New York Presbytery.

In the pulpit also were the Rev. George S. Webster, of the Church of the Covenant, and the Rev. James M. Farr, pastor of Christ church, New York city. The pallbearers were the elders, deacons and trustees of Brick church. Yale Corporation was represented by distinguished alumni. At the conclusion of the services nearly all present filed by the casket. The burial will take place at the boyhood home of Dr. Richards at Bridgeport, Conn., at the convenience of the family.

On Sunday, Dr. Henry vanDyke occupied Dr. Richards' pulpit at Brick church, preaching the sermon that the late pastor had prepared for that day. At the conclusion of the sermon, Dr. vanDyke made a touching reference to the life and character of Dr. Richards, referring to his work at Brick church. Dr. vanDyke will continue to serve the church as acting pastor until a successor to Dr. Richards is chosen.

NORRIS WANTED HIS WIFE; SHE DOES NOT WANT HIM

Maybe Grafton P. Morris, a printer sometimes of Pennsylvania and again hailing from Connecticut, will leave his wife alone to pursue the even tenor of her way as a practical nurse and then again he may not, but in the latter event he will become the guest of the county for a period of sixty days.

This morning at 7 police headquarters was notified that Mr. Norris was creating a disturbance at the residence of Mrs. Knight, 1270 Park avenue. Patrolman Birmingham was despatched to the scene of the trouble and corralled Mr. Norris, who was shouting at the top of his voice that he wanted to see his wife and that ——— quick.

As it was not the first time that Mrs. Knight had been disturbed in a similar manner, she decided to have the disturber removed, hence her call for help. In the city court this morning Norris could give no reasonable excuse for his actions and Judge William Runyon imposed a sentence of sixty days, suspending execution of it if Norris would let his wife live in peace. Mr. Norris claimed to have supported the recreant husband for several months and believed that she had a perfect right to decide where she should live. The Judge coincided with her and warned Norris.

WEINBERGER CLOTHING HOUSE CHANGES HANDS.

Mrs. Max Weinberger, of Prospect place, has purchased the clothing business formerly owned by her late husband and more recently by Jacob Weinberger on West Front street, and will take possession on February 1. She owns the building where the business is now located and after February 1 will occupy the entire building.

Mrs. Weinberger is planning to remodel the store and later will announce the name of the new manager shortly.

RARE MUSICAL TREAT

Beethoven's Opus 16 in Four Parts Admirably Treated by McIntyre's Artists.

MISS MILLER SCORES TRIUMPH.

Saint-Saens' Serenade Finished a Most Delightful Program of Inspiring Music.

As the fashionable and representative audience which filled every seat in the High School auditorium, last night, settled back in its chairs to scan the program of the fourth and concluding concert of the McIntyre Chamber Music Evenings, it was greeted with a pleasant surprise, for there was announced another concert which, for the personnel of the visiting artists, far eclipses anything Mr. Joseph McIntyre has ever attempted here. This is to be an Old Favorite Song concert and is scheduled for the evening of January 27.

The concert last night was a fitting climax to a successful season—the most successful, in fact, since Mr. McIntyre inaugurated these delightful evenings here. The program was replete with gems, instrumental and vocal, and the visiting artists and their most appreciative audience were soon in perfect accord, as the vociferous applause which followed each number attested. The quartet, an innovation in this series, played delightfully and its interpretation of Beethoven's exquisite Opus 16 proved an inspiration, for it but keyed the devotees of good music up to the highest pitch and prepared them for the many good things to follow. This quartet was composed of Mr. McIntyre, piano, and he never played better; Arthur Lichstein( violin; Otto K. Schill, viola, and Vladimir Dubinsky, 'cello. Later Mr. Lichstein was heard in "Faust's" Fantasie and an ovation was accorded him. As an artist he has few superiors and Plainfield is deeply indebted to Mr. McIntyre's persistence in engaging him for this concert, as it will be recalled he was to have appeared here earlier in the season but was compelled to cancel the engagement at the last moment.

Of course, chief interest centered in Miss Christine Miller, whose exquisite contralto voice was never heard to better advantage. She was particularly fortunate in the happy selection of her songs, for each quickly brought the audience to its feet with storms of applause. This was not Miss Miller's first appearance here and fortunately it will not be her last, as she has been re-engaged for the Old Favorite Song concert.

The concluding instrumental number was a trio for piano, violin and 'cello, a serenade by that most gifted composer, Saint-Saens. It, too, was warmly received and in this number the trio did, perhaps, its best work of the season. The program follows: Beethoven's Opus 16, quartet, piano, violin, viola and 'cello, (a) Grave-Allegro ma non troppo; (b) Andante Cantabile; (c) Allegro ma non troppo; song group, Miss Miller, (a) Botschaft, Brahms; (b) Die Ablaesung, Hollander; (c) In the Time of Roses, Reichardt; (d) Floods of Spring, Rachmaninoff. Violin solo, Mr. Lichstein, "Faust" Fantasie. Song group, Miss Miller, (a) A Summer Idyl, Coleridge-Taylor; (b) My Love and I, McDowell; (c) The Danza, Chadwick; (d) Sunshine Song, Bliss. Saint-Saens' Serenade, piano, violin and 'cello.

Those songsters who have been engaged for the "Old Favorite" song concert include Miss Miller, contralto; Dr. Carl Dufft, basso; John Young, tenor, and Edith Chapman Goold, soprano. There will be solos, duets, trios and quartets and altogether it will be a delightful evening of song, with the very best artists that can be procured to interpret them.

S. S. SWACKHAMER ADDRESSES MEN'S CLUB ON LOCAL OPTION.

S. S. Swackhamer addressed the members of the Men's Club of the First Baptist church, last night, in an informal manner. Local option eventually proved the basis of an earnest talk by the speaker and he attempted to prove that local option is the only safe and sane plan for handling the liquor problem.

B. J. Phelps, president of the club, called the meeting to order and then presented J. Henry Crane, who introduced the speaker of the evening. After Mr. Swackhamer's talk, there was a social time and refreshments were served.

THEY MARRIED SECRETLY

Miss Mildred Wildey and Richard Waring Give Society a Surprise.

CEREMONY AT ELIZABETH.

Rev. Dr. Glazebrook Tied the Knot For a Popular Young Couple —Now On Honeymoon.

Society folk were greatly surprised today to learn of the marriage of Miss Mildred Wildey, daughter of Charles F. Wildey, proprietor of the Herald Square and Cosmopolitan Hotels in New York, and Richard Waring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville T. Waring, of Park avenue. The young couple went away quietly and were married yesterday at Christ church rectory, Elizabeth, by Rev. Dr. Otis P. Glazebrook, the rector. Later Mr. Waring's parents and the bride's father were notified of the marriage through telegrams.

Mr. and Mrs. Waring are now enjoying a honeymoon, the destination being unknown. The bride is famous as a tennis player, having taken part with her sisters in some of the most important tournaments in this country; also at the Plainfield Country Club. She has also been prominent in the younger social set.

Mr. Waring is also well-known here. He is a member of the Watchung Hunt club, and has taken part in the various meets of that organization. He is also a member of the Plainfield Country Club and other social organizations. It has been known for some time that Mr. Waring was attentive to Miss Wildey, and in fact, their many friends expected to learn of an announcement of the date for the wedding. On the other hand they gave all a surprise. The couple, it is understood, will reside at Petersburg, Va.

BOROUGHITES PLAN FOR A CIVIC BODY

For the purpose of booming business and property interests of North Plainfield efforts are being put forth by prominent borough citizens to crystallize a sentiment which will result in the formation of a civic organization to be conducted on the same lines as the Board of Trade.

Among those who have endorsed the idea are Councilmen L. B. Woolston and William L. Smalley, Jr. Both of these officials entertain the opinion that such an organization would be a direct benefit to the municipality as well as a big assistance to the Borough Council when that body is handling public questions of importance.

In talking of the scheme to a Daily Press reporter today Mr. Woolston declared that such an organization would be sure to produce good results. He suggested that monthly meetings be held in the Council chambers, by the projected organization, and an open discussion conducted on all public questions that interest boroughites from time to time.

With reference to the membership it was also suggested that all residents be eligible for enrollment, including New York business men as well as local merchants.

The impetus for the movement was furnished by former Mayor Samuel Townsend in his valedictory address to the Borough Council two weeks ago, when he declared that if the people of the borough wanted any improvements it was up to the people of that municipality to go ahead and not place dependance on outside sources for improvements.

And Ed Moore Still Lives.

Somerset street, in the borough, is generall a peaceful thoroughfare during the morning hours. Today, however, there was quite a stir over the reported drowning of Edward Moore, a former resident of Smalleytown, in Tier's pond while at work cutting ice. Quite a large number of citizens braced their dinner appetites by hastening to the pond, only to discover that it was only a rumor.

Borough Fire Elections.

North Plainfield firemen elected delegates to the Firemen's Relief Association last night as follows: Company No. 1, Captain William Daley, Lieutenant William Gaub, Frank Shuck; company No. 2, Howard Woolston, Clinton Conover, Walter Chandler.

Spanish War Veterans to Meet.

All the members of Camp Bagley, Spanish American War Veterans are requested to meet tonight in the rooms of the camp in the City National Bank building at 8 o'clock to make arrangements to attend the funeral of Comrade McGauley.

The officers, which will probably be the same as last year, are as follows: President, William A. Clark; vice-president, Morris C. VanArsdale; cashier, Frederic Coriell. The officers will be chosen at a meeting to be held in a day or two.

WEST END'S BIG NIGHT PROGRAM IS ARRANGED.

The event of the season in the west end of the town will be the entertainment given tomorrow night by the Men's club of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The entertainment will take place at the parish house and includes a splendid program of music.

An opening quartet will be sung by Messrs. Daubert, Hallard, Apgar and Lewis which will be followed by a declamation by Joel Pennington. Judge William N. Runyon will follow in a series of songs and some special music. Another on the program is Albert Walsh, a famous New York baritone. Others who will contribute to the evening's amusement are Charles Lewis and Jack Hallard.

Move to Close Tilden Estate.

Supreme Court Justice Amend, of New York, yesterday, appointed Hamilton Odell referee to take and state the accounts of L. V. F. Randolph, John Bigelow and George W. Smith, executors of the will of Samuel J. Tilden. The appointment was made on the application of the executors. The accounting is for the past ten years, which is expected to close the estate. The executors are to account as to a contingent fund of $50,000 and as to $135,000 set apart to pay the inheritance tax.

Mr. Wilder Here Tomorrow.

Marshall P. Wilder with Mildred and Rouclere and thear merry company of artists, will appear at the Plainfield theatre tomorrow night.

PASSED FORGED CHECKS

Clever Stranger Forged Clergymen's Signature to Get Money.

MERCHANTS ACCEPTED PAPER.

The Names of Rev. E. V. Stevenson and Rev. B. M. Bogan Were Used—No Clue to Swindler.

The signatures of two Plainfield pastors were forged to two checks on Saturday night and unfortunately they were both cashed. They were drawn on the City National Bank, and purported to be signed by Rev. B. M. Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church and Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church.

C. J. Field, a Park avenue newsdealer cashed one for $9 signed "B. M. Bogan," and James H. Blair, a haberdasher of Park avenue, cashed one for $10 signed "E. Vicars Stevenson." At the bank this morning it was said that no other checks originating from the same source had been presented.

It is not so long since a check or two bearing the forged signature of a real estate dealer of this city were cashed by some too confiding merchants and it is evident from the description obtained from Mr. Blair that the same man is operating over an old, but profitable field. One merchant said this morning that it was almost impossible to tell when checks are good and when they are not. According to his experience checks are given to employees after banking hours and there is no recourse, if the merchant wants to do business but to cash the checks and hand over any change which may be coming to the holder of the check.

In this particular case if the signatures had been carefully scrutinized it would have become apparent that the name of Father Bogan was spelled wrong and the fraud would have been detected at once. But this did not apparently excite the curiosity of the man who cashed the spurious paper. Both signatures bear the marks of paper previously passed in this city.

Strangely enough the improvised signature of the rector of St. Mary's read "B. M. Morgan" instead of B. M. Bogan, and still more strange neither of the clergymen have accounts in the bank upon which the checks were drawn.

MANY HONORS FOR SENATOR ACKERMAN

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

Trenton, Jan. 11.—As was expected by reason of his appointment as leader of the majority in the Senate President Frelinghuysen appointed Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of Union county, as chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the upper house, which is one of the most important committees in the Legislature. Not only was Senator Ackerman honored by this appointment, but he was also selected as the first member of the finance committee of the Senate. He is the second member of the committee on corporations, of which Senator Wakelee, of Bergen county, is the chairman.

Senator Ackerman was also appointed the first member of the joint committee on Federal Relations. He is also on the committee for the tuberculosis sanitorium at Glen Gardner.

MISS LONGFELLOW SCORES IN "IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE."

Those who were fortunate enough to have been present at the performance of "In the Bishop's Carriage" at the Plainfield Theatre last night, went away with a feeling of satisfied longing for something which touched the heart strings. With all its comedy the pathos of a regenerated nature did not fail to impress itself on the big audience which greeted "Nance Olden," Miss Stephaine Longfellow. Aside from a certain stiffness and vocal deficiency shown by Hary L. Minturn, who impersonated "William Latimer," the play was most admirable.

Charles Darrah, as "Tom Dorgan" shared the honors with Miss Longfellow, and both were compelled to respond to curtain calls. Fred Arthur, as a newspaper reporter caught the audience in his little part with the touch of human nature he injected into the role. Altogether the play was well acted.

Sewing Women to Meet.

There will be an all-day sewing meeting conducted by the Women's Home Missionary Society of Hope chapel tomorrow, beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning.

CITY FATHERS HEAR THE MAYOR'S MESSAGE

Many Suggestions and Recommendations Contained in Most Elaborate Report Ever Presented.

In the most pretentious annual message ever delivered to the Common Council, Mayor Charles J. Fisk as a meeting of that body last night advanced many novel and original ideas for municipal government, in addition to suggesting many reforms and improvements for the taxpayer's benefit and to giving a thorough report of his administration for the past year. Chief among the theories he advanced during a talk that consumed almost two hours, was one which would change the plan of government and which would make a municipal executive responsible for the conduct of public business.

The Mayor criticized the laws governing municipalities and argued that they be fewer and more sane, declaring himself also for "home rule." At the same time, however, he urged that the accounts of all municipalities, at their own expense, be adulted by the State. Civil service was also espoused as was excise reform and a number of other things.

An Idea of Government.

"If a mayor is to be held responsible for the running and regulating of all city departments and for expenditures of money," said Mr. Fisk, "he must be given absolute and sole power to appoint the heads of departments and to remove the same if they do not do their full duty. He should be given full power and full authority and every department should be in charge of a single headed commissioner of the mayor's choosing, appointed for the same term as the mayor and accountable to the mayor. The mayor should direct how, when and where money should be spent; he should attend to all the executive work and the Common Council, purely legislative, pass the ordinances and make the appropriations. This is the only way a mayor can be held responsible to the people and I am of the opinion that such an arrangement would bring about better results in the government of a city."

Statutes Need Revision.

In discussing at great length the present stautes governing municipalities, Mayor Fisk said:

"The laws of the State governing cities are cumbersome and unwieldy, many times contradictory and should be repealed and a general law passed with a debt limit and a limit to the tax rate but giving home rule and power to the municipality to manage its own affairs." He declared that "we are suffering under too much law and are hampered in the government of our internal affairs. What is needed is less legislation, fewer laws and more business common sense."

Auditing Accounts.

Along this line, among his suggestions was this:

"The State should create, in connection with the Comptroller's office, a State Auditing Department with power to enforce in all municipalities an uniform and correct system of accounting and reports." He advised that all municipal accounts be audited by such department at the expense of the municipality.

After Tax Dodgers.

Discussing in detail what he considered the weaknesses of laws governing the assessment and collection of taxes, he declared that "there are many persons, particularly those of larger means, who evade the assessor, refuse to make a statement and although in a dozen other business of personal matters of taxes absolutely fair, honest and upright, when it comes to the question of taxes absolutely swear to barefaced falsehoods, making it almost impossible for the assessor to arrive at any just conclusion; therefore the honest, conscientious taxpayer suffers in comparison and must bear more than his or her fair share of the burden." Continuing he said that "if the larger property owner is to be relieved of his or her fair proportion of personal property, the mechanic or laborer should be entirely exempt."

"In the case of a workingman, whose family are dependent upon him for support, it hardly seems human to levy on all his property and sell him out of house and home, or arrest and commit him to jail until he can afford to pay." He said that he would enforce the law to the limit against the unscrupulous rich tax dodgers. The exhibition of a poll

Fourth Annual January Clearance Sale

Following our usual custom we inaugurate this yearly sale to close out all surplus stocks of Fall and Winter goods. Our policy is not to carry over from one season to another, any class of merchandise but the most staple lines. In order to make this the most successful sale ever held by us, the cost is not considered. It will be a clearance sale in which every department in the store is represented. Come and participate in this GREAT BARGAIN SALE—it occurs but once a year.

BOARD OF HEALTH MAKES ITS REPORT

Prefacing the twenty-first annual report of the Board of Health, which was presented at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night, the president, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, submitted a brief statement. He called attention to the improvement in the quality of milk and ice cream supplied to the city, due to systematic and rigid inspections of the board.

It is further stated that one thousand properties have been visited in the house-to-house inspection, resulting in general improvement, and correction of defects in plumbing. It is urged that during the coming year some means be devised to do away with the present unsanitary methods of garbage collection and disposal.

A summary of the treasurer's report shows disbursements of $11,468.09 and the receipts the same. The Common Council appropriated $2,734.84 for the care of six cases of small-pox and this was all disbursed.

Health Board Work.

The general report of the board is made by Acting Health Officer John O'Brien, and from it the following salient points are taken:

Dairy inspections have been more carefully followed up and milk analysis more complete than ever before. A general improvement in the standard of dairies. Great deal accomplished in inspection of ice cream supply, with general improvement. Isolation ward at Muhlenberg Hospital has been great help in caring for contagious disease cases. Nearly 1,000 properties inspected in the house-to-house plan and sanitary conditions improved.

Recommendations: That some means be adopted for controlling the collection and disposal of ashes and garbage that more room be secured for laboratory work. It is planned to continue work of inspection of ice cream supply, accomplish some work on pus and sediment in milk, improve system of dairy inspection and milk analysis and test various disinfectants.

Vital Statistics.

Vital statistics: Marriages, 204; births, 428; still-births, 15; deaths, 289. Estimated population for past year was 21,000 and total number of deaths, 289, gives a rate per thousand of 13.76, the lowest for a period of thirteen years. Of these deaths more than half were persons over forty years of age.

There were 370 cases of communicable disease, with 34 deaths; 18 of which were taken to the hospital from out of town—11 scarlet fever and 7 typhoid fever; one of the latter died. At no time was contagious disease epidemic. There were 57 cases of tuberculosis and 29 deaths. There were six cases of small-pox, two white and four colored. The six cases cost the city $2,734.84.

Sanitary Inspections.

In the house-to-house inspections 149 nuisances were found on 133 properties; the remaining 621 properties were found to be in good condition. During the year, 225 complaints of nuisances were received, and of this number 198 have been abated. There were several prosecutions for violation of the city ordinances. There were filed during the year 245 plumbing plans and 1,012 inspections were made.

The principal points brought out by inspections of ice cream plants showed that many improvements were made and that the production and subsequent care of milk and cream used for this purpose, should come under the same regulations as those governing milk. The analysis of cream used in making ice cream showed averages of 16.9 per cent. fats and 2,119,441 bacteria per cubic centimeter.

The Milk Supply.

Supervision of milk supply has, as usual, been one of the most important duties of the department. System of dairy inspection and milk analysis has been greatly improved. Sample of milk for every retailer is analyzed once each month. Copies of rules and regulations printed on cloth are placed in every dairy. Present time it is estimated that about 8,000 quarts of milk is used daily in the city; 28 retail by means of wagon; 15 retail only small amount and 32 retail milk from stores. There were 627 inspections of dairies, bottling places, cream ries and stores selling milk. Of the 357 samples analyzed, 345 or 96 per cent, were below 100,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter.

In the opinion of the health officer, adulteration of milk is a thing of the past here. During the year, not one sample was watered or contained preservative, although seventeen of the 357 samples were below the standard of the State of New Jersey. The number of scores below 60 per cent, was larger than in the previous year, due to many changes in the source of supply. The average score for 1909 was somewhat lower than that for 1908, but the conditions in the new dairies are improving and a better record is looked for the coming year.

The Ice Supply.

During the winter of 1908-09, the weather was so mild that no ice was cut from Watchung Lake, the usual local source of supply. All ice sold here the past year was artificial, and was supplied from three sources: The Crystal Ice Company, The Plainfield Ice and Supply Company and the plant of the Milburn Electric Light Company at Milburn.

Mr. O'Brien says that in reviewing the work of the past year, he feels that although much has been accomplished, there is yet a great deal to be done. In proportion to the growth of the city, new complications arise and new lines of work become necessary, and in order to meet these, various changes have to be instituted and more progressive methods employed.

He states further that the experience has shown that a revision of the sanitary code is imperative, and this, among other things, will be an important task to be accomplished this year.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER IS SEVENTY YEARS OLD.

Trenton, Jan. 11.—Frederick A. Buren, until six months ago treasurer of the William Penn Hook-and-ladder Company of Stockton, near Camden, was placed under arrest here Saturday charged with the embezzlement of $1,500 of the company's funds. He was arrested here at the request of the Camden authorities, who have been tracing him for some time, and who finally learned that he was living here and working as an insurance collector.

Buren took his arrest very coolly and made no protest when told that he would have to be locked up until the Camden police came for him. Later he declared that the whole affair was due to a misunderstanding which could readily be straightened out when he got back home.

He was taken to Camden Sunday night by a detective. Buren is seventy years old and was formerly a freeholder from Stockton Township. He was engaged in the lumber business and failed. The warrant against him was sworn out by William O. Carter, president of the Stockton Volunteer Fire Association.

The quarterly meeting of the trustees of the First Baptist church will be held Thursday night.

Miss May E. Serrell will lead the mid-week prayer meeting at the First Baptist church, tomorrow night. The topic will be "Ready and Willing."

An all-day sewing meeting will be held tomorrow at the home of Mrs. L. J. Denton on West Sixth street under the auspices of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

tax receipt as a requisite to the right to vote was also championed by him.

For Better Salaries.

Touching on local affairs, Mr. Fisk recommended that the work of street cleaning and ashes and garbage removal be let out to ten or twelve contractors in as many given sections of the city. He reiterated his demand for a larger police force, calling attention to the fact that some parts of the city are now unprotected and to the fact that his special message on this subject "was absolutely ignored" by the city fathers. More pay for the men in this and in the fire department were favored as well as more and modern apparatus for the latter department. More pay for the building inspector's department was also favored.

Organized Charity Workers.

"Considering the character of our people, with the large percentage of families in easy circumstances and the advantages they enjoy in this city," declared the Mayor, "there is no reason why Plainfield should not set the pace for every other city in the country in the real welfare of its citizens." In this connection and after enumerating the large number of local charities voluntarily supported he asks: "Is it not time to take account of our philanthropies and make up a general charity budget so that the people of Plainfield may know just what the total cost of such work is, and what part of it they should bear and get together for the common good. I propose to call a meeting shortly of representatives of all these activities to consider the matter."

Inasmuch as he was president of the State Excise Commisssion, the mayor's remarks on liquor licenses was given marked attention. After he had declared himself against any new licenses and that liquor license fees should never be considered as a means of revenue, but only as a means toward regulation, he reported the illegal selling crusade in this fashion:

After Excise Violators.

"During the past year the city was very much troubled by dealers from outside the city sending or bringing in liquor and selling from wagons. This matter was closely followed up with the result that there were many cases taken before the grand jury and in every case indictments returned. All those on trial were convicted, with one exception when the jury disagreed. The county collected about $1,200 in fines. One case has been taken to the United States courts on the question of the rights of a dealer outside the State to sell or take orders in the State under the Inter-State Commerce Act. The result of this case is looked forward to with a great deal of interest as the decision will probably settle definitely a long disputed question.

Drug Stores Escaped.

"At the same term of court, several cases of the illegal selling of liquor in drug stores were presented to the grand jury. As far as the evidence was concerned, these all appeared to be good prima facie cases. The grand jury, however, on consideration, evidently must have considered otherwise, as they did not return any indictments. These investigations cost the city nearly $1,500. I am convinced the practise still continues to a certain extent and I shall take the matter up with the new license committee and see what can be done. The laws are so technical on the question of evidence, it seems almost impossible to fulfill the requirements of the court and secure a conviction without going to what would seem an unjustifiable expense."

Water and Sewerage.

Although the commission on municipal ownership of the water supply and control made an adverse report after long investigation and big expense, Mayor Fisk declared that the question must be settled and he asked: "Shall the city buy or condemn the present works and property or is it best to renew the contract with the water company for another term of years." He also discussed the scheme to join with North Plainfield in constructing and operating a joint sewage disposal plant, the expense of which to the city would be $121,500. The city's present plant cost in the neighborhood of $300,000, and the change is considered because of the demand to have the disposal beds outside the city limits and because the plant is becoming too small for the demands on it.

Mayor Fisk advocated that the public school auditorium be used for free lectures and musical entertainments. He came out strongly in favor of an appointive board of education and for manual training in the public schools. The playground movement was also endorsed and a recommendation was made that a branch of the public library be placed in the Marsh building, in the business section.

For Civil Service.

Mayor Fisk came out flat-footed for an adoption of the civil service laws when he said:

"I am of the opinion that all appointees of the city, except the heads of departments, who are appointed or elected as provided by the statutes should be strictly under civil service rules and I seriously recommend taking the required steps as provided by the present statutes to bring this about in Plainfield at the earliest possible date."

Co-operation between the city authorities and the various civic bodies including the Board of Trade and the Merchants' Association was strongly advocated by the mayor.

Scores Public Service.

Public utilities was gone into at great length by the mayor in his speech, marked attention being given the P. S. C., Mayor Fisk saying in part:

"The officers of the P. S. C. from the president, Mr. Thomas N. McCarter, right down the line to the boy that tends the telephone in the local office are the most genial, polite, good fellows and as fine a lot as you could find in this State or any other State. But for all that, the corporation is not giving the city the service it is entitled to. The road beds on some of the local lines are in bad repair and the cars used on the local lines are in bad repair and the cars used on the local lines are old, worn out, discarded cars from other lines, repaired and repaired again, covered with a coat of new paint to make them look pretty, but like any old carriage or automobile or machinery that has served its usefulness, are candidates for the junk heap. The only satisfaction we have been able to get so far is reports of inspection. He demands that the company's franchise here be enforced."

Gratifying Endorsement.

In prefacing his remarks Mayor Fisk said:

"As the personnel of the incoming Common Council is the same as the body of the past year, and that a majority of the members were elected at the last city election to succeed themselves, is in itself a very gratifying endorsement of the way the affairs of the city have been managed. At the same time it makes it most important that each and every member of the governing body of this administration should realize the trust imposed in him by his fellow citizens and in accepting the trust do all within his power to prove to his constituents that their confidence has been well placed."

The Mayor outlined the form of government and explained the character of the various offices. He also explained in detail the laws which regulate the affairs of these officers and which restrict the powers of the municipal administration. How necessary funds are raised by State law for the conduct of various departments was outlined.

Opposes Bond Issues.

Continuing, Mr. Fisk said:

"In my judgment, no bonds should be issued during the present year for any public purpose, except in case of unforeseen emergency making it imperative. With respect to the further macadamizing of public streets, we should return to the method formerly exclusively in use, which required those interested in seeking the macadamizing of a street to pay into the city treasury in advance of the adoption of the ordinance such an amount as would ordinarily be assessed on property benefitted, and then have the work done at public expense, after first applying the voluntary contributions of the property owners.

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

"This method saves the necessity of issuing any bonds, the very considerable expense of appointing commissioners, advertising, hearings in court, and fees of court officers and commissioners. It avoids liability of contest over assessments, and the possibility of failure to collect assessments when made and confirmed."

The total bonded indebtedness of the city at present, he said, is $594,000, but the net debt is $582,600.52. The floating debt at present is $23,000.

The tax question was gone into very thoroughly by the Mayor, who proposed changes in the laws and methods for the solution of the problem. Clerical assistance for the tax collector was recommended.

Finances Sound.

"The city has never been in a better and stronger financial position than it is at the present time. The treasurer's report shows that the general fund has a cash balance of $53,780.36 in addition to $18,121.92 in the contingent fund, and uncollected taxes for the past year $53,831.76, over ninety per cent of which will undoubtedly be collected, giving a practical working balance of over $100,000. All bills and claims have been paid or provided for."

After show how taxes had been raised and had been spent for the last ten years, the Mayor pointed out the causes of increased expenses in various departments.

Fire and Police.

Street improvements and repairs were recommended.

An eight hour schedule and the establishment of a pension fund for the police were recommended. Better water pressure he said was needed for the fire department as was also better apparatus, some of which he suggested. More hydrants and call boxes were also favored.

Mayor Fisk attempted to show the rapid growth of the city by the statistics of the building inspector's office. Measures for the relief of the poor and sick were also suggestions.

What has been done in the way of school work formed a feature of the message, the keynote of which was a recommendation for an appointive board of education.

A Branch Library.

In dwelling on the Library and its needs, Mr. Fisk announced that the board had saved $4,208.27. He also referred to the fact that a codification of all ordinances is now nearly completed.

License Restrictions.

"In excise matters the number of licenses in proportion to population should be limited by State law, there should be a uniform closing hour throughout the State when all saloons must be closed, the local authorities having power to fix an earlier hour. The minimum license fee fixed by State, the local authorities having power to make it higher if they deem wise. The licenses granted by a local board elected by the people with full power to refuse or grant. All other regulations should be left entirely to the municipality subject to the vote of the people.

The Refuse Nuisance.

"Some arrangement must be made to help the householder to get rid of all garbage and rubbish and other waste matter in some systematic way. If this cannot be done at public expense, it must be done by licensing a responsible contractor, allowing the contractor to charge the householder a reasonable price to be fixed by ordinance and compelling the contractor to make his collections regularly and thoroughly. For this purpose the city could be divided d into sections and each section given out to the highest bidder, who would give a bond guaranteeing good service in accordance with rules laid down by the Board of Health. The city could provide a place where all garbage and decaying matter could be buried and all rubbish burned, the ashes could be used for filling in low ground, thus getting rid of a number of mosquito and disease breeding holes. Flies and mosquitoes carry disease germs, particularly typhoid and malaria.

Garbage Cans.

"The householder should be educated and made to have all garbage cans or boxes covered, and all manure and decayed garden and vegetable matter should be kept in a pit well screened from flies until such time as it can be removed and it should be removed not less than twice a week. For rubbish, papers, old boxes and such stuff, I would suggest the city furnish the householder and storekeeper with large bags or sacks in which to keep all accumulations and once or twice a week, as may be required, send around a wagon and gather them up.

Office For Assessors.

"In order that there may be no misunderstanding in regard to assessments in the future, I suggest that the Common Council provide the Board of Assessors with a proper office and arrangements be made to have one of the members act as secretary and be in this office certain regular hours every day from May 20 to August 20, to meet taxpayers and take their statements, and that such member be allowed an additional compensation for his time. Also that arrangements be made for a revaluation of all buildings in the city and an appropriation should be made to permit the assessors to engage competent building experts for the purpose."

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION

clergyman and father of Assemblyman Harry P. Ward, who was afterwards honored with the speakership, offered prayer.

On roll call by Clerk Parker the members presented their certificates of election. Majority leader Edge, of Atlantic, then made the initial motion to the effect that the reading of the certificates be dispensed with, following it up with a motion that Mr. Kenny, one of the Democratic members from Hudson county, administer the oath of office to Mr. Pierce, of Union, so that the leader might in turn swear in the other 59 members of the House in groups of ten.

The ratification by the 41 Republican members of the majority caucus selection of Mr. Ward for Speaker was initiated by Joseph H. Scharff, of Bergen, who in a brief speech presented his name. Representing the minority side of 19 members Mr. Baker, of Hudson, presented the name of Joseph Tumulty, of Hudson, as a rival candidate for Speakership honors. On roll call Mr. Ward received 41 votes and Mr. Tumulty 19. Messrs. Tumulty, of Hudson; Nichols, of Cumberland; and Vredenburgh, of Monmouth, were appointed to escort Mr. Ward to the Speaker's chair. A sentimental side light to these formalities was witnessed in the radient and happy face of a young woman who sat in the gallery and watched the proceedings with more than passing interest. This young woman was the wife of Speaker Ward, a bride of but a few weeks ago.

After delivering a brief speech of acceptance, Speaker Ward called for the election of a clerk. Mr. Parker was chosen for the thirteenth time for that position. Other officials in the House were elected as follows: Assistant clerk, Upton S. Jefferies, of Camden; journal clerk, George H. Johnston, of Union; assistant journal clerk, Harry J. Gratton, of Mercer; supervisor of bills, Harry W. Beryman, of Essex; sergeant-at-arms, John R. Flavell, of Essex; bill clerk, Richard J. Chaplin, of Morris.

Speaker Ward announced the appointment of Caleb V. Whitbeck, editor of the Hackensack Eevening Record, as his private secretary. William M. Tietz, of Rutherford, was named as assistant private secretary to the speaker.

Messrs. Smalley, of Somerset; Pierce, of Union; and Kenny, of Hudson, were appointed to advise the Governor that the House was ready for business and willing to receive communications form him. As in the Senate, the Governor's message was then presented by Secretary Fort.

Robert G. Senowsky and James Brickley, both of Elizabeth, were appointed doorkeepers in the house, this being the only minority patronage apportioned to Union county by the steering committee.

In the Senate, William Kline, of this city, is a door keeper and Joseph Cahill, of Elizabeth, is file clerk.

It is probable that James E. Warner, editor of the Cranford Citizen, will be selected by Assemblyman Pierce as clerk of the Committee on Revision of Laws, a place held last year by Lloyd Thompson, of Westfield, who sits as one of Union's assemblymen.

Sons of Jacob Install Officers.

The Independent Sons of Jacob, Bna Israel Lodge, held its installation of officers and a banquet Sunday night in the Y. M. H. A. hall. These officers were installed: President, Kalman Rothberg; vice president, Adolph Brandt; financial secretary, Henry Rosenbaum; recording secretary, Louis Steinman; treasurer, Edward Nadel; inner guard, M. Rosenbaum; trustees, Samuel Rothberg and Morris Israel. The installing officers were Joseph A. Sangbord, chairman of the State order, and Isaac Wilderman, chairman of the endowment fund.

Local Birds Win Prizes.

The Kellerstrass Farm exhibit of white orpingtons at the Baltimore poultry show last week made a great winning by getting first, third and fourth on cocks; first, third and fifth on hens; first, second and fifth on cockerels, and first and fifth on pullets and first and second on hens. There were 130 white orpingtons on exhibition. The local birds were in charge of George J. May, late of South Plainfield.

"The Church's One Foundation," will be the subject of the prayer meeting at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, tomorrow night.

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR

Urges Establishment of Public Utilities Commission.

MANY ACTS RECOMMENDED.

Revision of Liquor Laws and Establishment of Corporation, Motor Vehicle and Collateral Inheritance Tax Departments — Modifications of Direct Primary and Election Statutes—Employers' Liability Act — State Farm Favored—Location of Buildings For Prevention or Cure of Tuberculosis Should Be Subject to Permission of State Board of Health — Financial Condition of State Satisfactory.

Trenton, Jan. 11.—In his second annual message to the legislature Governor John Franklin Fort said:

Financial Condition.

The general conditions in the state are, on every hand, satisfactory and the people contented and prosperous. At the last session of the legislature the financial condition of the state gave much concern, but the legislation enacted and the economies practiced at that session have proved beneficial.

The free balance on the 31st of October last was $964,353.51. The revenues coming into the treasury of our state are largely received at fixed periods, and in the interim between these periods it is necessary that the treasury should be in condition to meet all demands.

The fact that there was a free balance in the treasury at the end of the last fiscal year should not be held to justify the legislature at this session in indulging in large expenditure in any direction.

Reasonable appropriations for the state institutions and for a few additional buildings should be made, but aside from these there is no demand for any extraordinary expenditure.

The total of actual and estimated resources for the year 1910 is $6,116,223.51.

The disbursements to be made during the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1910, are estimated by the comptroller as follows:

To meet the appropriations made by the legislature of 1909 for the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1910, as shown in chapter 272, laws of 1909, $4,245,017.32. The summary of estimated receipts and disbursements for fiscal year ending Oct. 31, 1910, is as follows:

|---|---|
| Total estimate of receipts | $6,116,223 51 |
| Total estimate of disbursements | 4,245,017 32 |
| Leaving an estimated free balance Oct. 31, 1910, of | $1,871,206 19 |

Of course from this free balance will have to be paid all the appropriations which the present legislature shall make in the supplemental appropriation bill. If the supplemental appropriations shall not exceed in the total $800,000 the state will have a free balance on Oct. 31, 1910, of over $1,000,000. The actual cash balance should never be less than this to insure safety against all contingencies.

State Institutions.

Generally speaking, the penal and charitable institutions of our state are well managed and maintained at a high order of excellence. It needs to be remembered that the managers of all these institutions, except the inspectors of the state prison, are serving without compensation.

In this system of voluntary service I do not believe. The state has no right to the enforced service of its citizens without at least a partial recompense therefor.

The board of each institution should be required to meet at least monthly. The president should visit the institution at least weekly. I recommend that each of the boards of the several institutions of the state be reorganized and fixed at not exceeding six members, that regular meetings of the board be required to be held monthly and that all laws now providing for the payment of the expenses of the managers be repealed and a definite sum, say $15, be paid to each member for each regular monthly meeting and that a like sum be paid for special meetings called by the president of the board in case of necessity, not, however, to exceed three for any one year; that the members of the boards be hereafter appointed for terms of six years, the first appointment being for one, two, three, four, five and six years respectively, and thereafter to fill vacancies or for a full term of six years. This would limit the possible expenses of the managers of each institution to $1,400 and would be the wisest possible expenditure of such a sum. This reduction of the boards would insure a quorum at every meeting, which frequently is not now obtained, and would concentrate responsibility.

Penal Institution Suggestions.

I recommend the enactment of a law authorizing the board of inspectors, on the recommendation of the keeper of the state prison, with the approval of the governor, to transfer from the state prison to the Rahway reformatory such inmates of the state prison as are first offenders and who are under the age of twenty years, as they may deem it to be of advantage to the inmate to so transfer.

I also recommend that the law increasing the age of girls who may be sent to the State Home For Girls from seventeen to nineteen years be repealed and the maximum age be again placed at seventeen. It is shown by experience that girls over seventeen years of age should not be sent to the home. If a woman's reformatory be created they can be sent there. Girls under seventeen years of age in the state prison (if any such there be), should also be transferred to the State Home For Girls in the same manner as here recommended as to transfer of boys to the reformatory.

At present the law permits the sending of persons to the state prison for any period not less than six months. This is wrong and should be changed. The state prison should not take any offender whose term of sentence is less than one year. Prisoners sentenced for less than one year should be sent to the county jail.

I further recommend that on all sentences to county jails the prisoner be entitled to be credited with one day in every six for good behavior, and that the boards of chosen freeholders of the respective counties be empowered to make the necessary rules for the discharge of such prisoners by the warden or keeper of the jail when in his judgment the behavior of the prisoner warrants the same.

I also recommend that the age which offenders may be sent to the Rahway reformatory be reduced from thirty to twenty-five years. Experience shows that persons over twenty-five years of age should not be sent in association with boys under twenty years of age.

Purchase of Supplies.

The present method of separate purchase of staple supplies for the several state institutions is wrong. I recommend the creation of a state board for this purpose, the board to consist of the commissioner of charities and corrections and the official of each of the institutions who now makes the purchases for it.

Recommendations For Institutions.

The following recommendations are made for the needed betterment of the several institutions of the state:

First.—A house of detention for convict insane should be erected on the grounds of the State hospital at Trenton. Such an institution should be placed under the control of the board of managers and officers of the State hospital at Trenton.

Second.—A woman's reformatory should be erected on the property of the state at Jamesburg and placed under the management of the board now controlling the Boys' home.

The state prison is overcrowded, and this will afford needed relief. There are forty-four women now confined in the state prison and from thirty to forty in the Girls' home, who should be transferred to the woman's reformatory.

The reformatory should be constructed for the detention of 150 and in such a way that a wing could be added for fifty more in case of future needs. This would probably answer for the next twenty-five years.

The Girls' home management ask for an appropriation of $30,000 at this time to provide a disciplinary building at the home if the older girls now there and being sent there are to remain.

New Departments.

In my inaugural and my first message the creation of three new departments was recommended—namely: A department of corporations, a department of motor vehicles and a department of collateral inheritance taxes.

I still adhere to the view that the interests of the state, greater efficiency and a larger revenue would result from such action.

The revenue from motor vehicles last year was $245,196.55. The expenses of the management in the office of the secretary of state were $36,566.30. Greater and closer supervision should if possible exist over motor vehicle operation than at present. There is no proper supervision of agencies. Their financial methods are not carefully guarded, nor are they in any way examined or audited. A commissioner, with a reasonable force of assistants, should be created and the agencies inspected and all matters of license kept under careful surveillance.

The collateral inheritance tax law, passed at the last session, is a technical act and requires skill and constant attention to details to secure the full benefit to the state which should be derived from it. The total revenue from this source the last fiscal year exceeded $569,000, which was an increase of over $322,000 over the previous year. The revenue of this department could be largely increased if proper vigilance were observed.

Public Utilities Commission.

At the present time there is absolutely no control in any authoritative way over the public serving corporations of this state. If they give good service, well; if poor, the people are without remedy. If they charge for gas or electric light or for telephone or express matter excessively there is no place to which appeal for relief may be made.

There is a statute which prevents the sale of bonds at a less price than 80 per cent of their par, but it in no way prevents the capitalization of futures or of combinations in the same line of business. The law should be clear and stringent against any attempt at the merger of public utility companies or the issuance of bonds or stock by such companies except upon the approval of some state board.

The burdens which the people of the state now bear are the outcome of consolidations and mergers which have frightfully overcapitalized these public utility enterprises.

If the public serving corporations of the counties of Essex, Hudson and Passaic and other parts of the state had not been overcapitalized in excess of any reasonable theory of the outlay necessary to construct them it would have been possible, even allowing for a large profit to the stockholders, to have long ago had cheaper gas and a great reduction in the cost of electricity. The consumer has no place to go for relief against any exaction, inequalities or neglect, and long suffering public must submit and allow all this to continue unless a commission with ample power to protect and relieve the people is created.

The Republican party in the state platform on which the present governor was elected declared, "We pledge ourselves to enact a law providing for a commission with ample jurisdiction and powers to enable it to regulate public utility corporations effectively and authoritatively." There is no ambiguity in this language. The platform of the Democratic party was equally clear.

There is absolutely no excuse for not keeping this pledge, except that the corporations to be regulated oppose it.

Whatever bill is enacted should provide for the consolidation of the present railroad commission with the new commission created by it, and thus the question of expense, which has been raised not by the people, but by the interested ones, would not avail as an objection. Forty thousand dollars would cover the cost of this commission, and justice between the people and the public serving corporations would be assured. This is a small cost for a consummation so greatly to be desired.

The Primary Election Law.

The direct primary laws that exist in our state are, in my opinion, popular with the people and when tested further will be found to meet universal approval. Some modifications are needed. Provision should be made for an enrollment of party voters and for the prevention of any voter of one party from voting in the primary of another. Chapter 281 of the laws of 1907, relative to the expression of a choice for United States senator by the voters of the respective parties, will be operative this year for the first time at the primary election. Under this law the people of the state, through their respective party primary elections, will have opportunity to give expression as to whom they favor to represent the state in the United States senate. I strongly favor strengthening the present primary laws and their extension to the nomination of member of congress and the governor.

The Blanket Ballot.

I can see no reason for refusing to allow the voter the right to vote a "straight ticket" by simply placing a cross in a circle at the head of a party column on the ticket.

The essential thing is a form of ballot upon which shall be found all the candidates of all the parties, so that each voter may have before him every candidate for office on a single piece of paper. These ballots should be furnished and distributed to the voters by the state. The clerk of the county should print the official ballot as at present, and the election officers who the last revision of the registry is completed should be required to send to each voter at his place of residence as shown on the registry one copy of the official ballot. The clerk should also furnish to the election officers the requisite number of ballots for use on election day at the polling place.

No need should remain for the use of money by candidates or parties on election day, or before, in the matter of getting the ballots into the hands of the voters.

The necessary stamped envelopes for distributing the ballot should be supplied by the county to the election boards, and reasonable compensation should be paid the election officers for doing the work.

Money at Elections.

The use of money at election, whether primary or general, should in some way be curtailed. Every necessary expense should be borne by the state.

It might be made permissible to permit each party to employ at each polling district a challenger, a clerk to keep check upon the vote and a messenger or two to send for negligent voters. The amount that could be thus expended should be fixed by law and it should be made a misdemeanor to expend in any way either money for any other ticket handers or other persons about the polls. The greatest source of indirect bribery is that now prevalent of putting men on the payroll committee, so called. It is a mere pretext for corruption.

The present criminal laws against bribery at elections are clear and stringent, but are not enforced. The reason is that all the parties engage in the improper, not to say the illegal use of money at elections, and grand jurors will not indict. Prison penalties are apparently of no avail to check this class of crime.

I believe if the present laws for the imprisonment of persons convicted of bribery at elections were repealed, and upon a conviction for bribery the court should adjudge and determine that the defendant be deprived of the right of suffrage, it would do more to put an end to election corruption than any other kind of punishment possible.

Election Officers.

In selecting officers the greatest care should be taken. They should possess certain qualifications as prerequisites to their appointment, among others these:

First.—They should be physically healthy.

Second.—They should understand the simple rules of division and addition.

Third.—They should be able to write fairly rapidly and well.

Fourth.—They should be good readers.

Fifth.—Their eyesight should be good.

Sixth.—Their moral standing and personal character should be unquestioned.

Seventh.—They should possess a fair knowledge of the election laws.

They should also have a fixed tenure for, say, five years, or, what would be still better, they should hold office during good behavior.

No person should be appointed as an election officer until he has passed an examination in at least the respects above indicated, and opportunity should be given to any person to go into the examination. Each applicant should declare when he appears for examination to what party he belongs and present with his application for examination his indorsements as to moral character.

Only residence in the county should be required for eligibility to become election officers in any district in a county.

The examination for election officers might be put in the hands of a common pleas judge of the respective counties of the state.

Voting Machines.

There is an almost universal demand for the discontinuance of the voting machine. The law permitting its use should be repealed, and the machines owned by the state should be sold.

If the law for voting machines is to remain it should be so amended that a machine could not be placed in any district except upon a petition signed by a majority of the voters of such district who voted at the last election before the presentation of the petition for the placing of the machine.

License and Excise.

Prohibition is not practical. It does not prohibit and will not until a stronger and better public sentiment shall obtain. The sentiment for local option in the election just passed showed much growth in some communities. That sentiment, however, is probably not of sufficient force to secure legislation for a submission of the question of license or no license to the people. Yet it is evident that the public demand for the enforcement of existing laws and for the enactment of others looking to a better regulation of the sale of intoxicating liquors is quite universal.

The license fees in most places in this state are not high enough.

The following suggestions made in my last annual message for the amendment of the excise laws are here repeated—namely:

First.—The minimum license fee should be fixed on the basis of the population of the local municipalities, provided that in no case should it be less in any municipality than that at which licenses are now granted in such municipality, and each application for a license should be advertised once for at least ten days before action is taken thereon that objection may be made thereto and heard.

Second.—The number of licensed places allowed should be limited to not exceeding one for at least each 500 people, provided that no greater number of licenses should be granted in any place, where the present percentage is greater than this, than the present licensed places bear to the population.

Third.—A simple and definite form of procedure to revoke a license for the violation of the law with a provision that a license shall be ipso facto revoked on conviction of any crime or on a plea of guilty or non vult.

Fourth.—No license should be granted to any person not a native or naturalized citizen of the United States.

Fifth.—No license should be granted to a person who has been convicted of any crime which would disfranchise him under our state constitution.

Sixth.—All right to transfer a license from one place to another should be prohibited.

Seventh.—All licensed places should be closed from 12 o'clock midnight until 6 a. m.

Law Enforcement—Power of Removal.

In one of the counties of this state the laws as to excise matters are openly and notoriously violated and a direct refusal to enforce them asserted.

That such conditions exist is shocking to the conscience and patriotism of all right thinking citizens. Yet under existing law there is apparently no remedy. The state seems powerless. Local officials are free from removal by the governor or courts, even for an open declaration that they will not enforce the law. Nor is there any power of impeachment of a local municipal official.

The sacredness of the Sabbath, the purity of the ballot, the virtue of woman, the protection of life itself, all seem inconsequential when weighed in the scale against the illicit sale of liquors.

The legislature must assume responsibility for the further continuance of the conditions here described. It can prevent it by a simple statute conferring the power of removal upon either the governor or the courts.

Employers' Liability Act.

Laws should be enacted abolishing the fellow servant rule of the common law and making the master liable for all injury to his employees which does not result from the contributory negligence of the injured workman himself.

Injury through defective machinery at which a workman is placed at work should also fall upon the master without regard to the fact that the workman was aware of the defect, or that the risk was obvious.

I also recommend the authorization of the appointment of a commission to consider the provisions of the British and German employers' liability acts, to report to the next legislature with a draft of an act fixing a definite sum for specific accidents to employees, which shall be deemed an express or implied par. of every contract of employment.

Inland Waterway.

The route of the proposed inland waterway has been approved by the governor under the statute and when completed, as contemplated, will furnish a channel six feet deep at low water from Bay Head, in Ocean county, to Cape May City, in Cape May county.

It is estimated that there are now 18,000 crafts of various kinds, the owners of which are awaiting with anxiety the completion of this waterway.

County Boards of Taxation.

The people of the state favor the abolition of the county boards of taxation. Their existence is without excuse and always has been. Their object and purpose was solely to secure an increase of taxable values so that the average tax rate upon railway property might be reduced. They have accomplished this purpose with a resultant loss to the public school funds for distribution by the state of not less than $500,000 per year for each year since their creation.

One of the excuses given for the enormous increase in property values in the state has been the maximum tax rate act of 1906, which, it is claimed, has required the increase of assessable values in order that under it municipalities might get enough revenue to run their local governments.

I recommend the repeal of both the act creating county boards of taxation and the maximum tax rate act of 1906.

If the county boards of taxation are not abolished, then the legislature should place the expense of their maintenance upon the counties. We pay out over $90,000 per year for them.

A Governor's Residence.

The legislature has authorized the statehouse commission to rent a house in the city of Trenton for the occupancy of the governor and appropriated $2,500 for that purpose. My thanks are due to the legislature for its courteous and friendly action, but whatever is done in this line must apply to the next governor and not the present governor. That the governor of New Jersey should be provided with a house in Trenton my experience has clearly demonstrated.

Our Agricultural Interests.

In 1900 the value of the field crops and milk in our state was but $24,000,000, while in 1909 they exceeded $59,000,000, an increase of over 100 per cent.

What the farmer of today needs most is education along modern lines. If we had a state farm, conducted on the most approved modern lines and raising the profitable crops; that could be visited and its methods studied for practical instruction, good results would follow. Skilled farmers estimate that a farm of this kind of moderate size would produce a revenue that would yield a profit to the state of several thousand dollars per year over its cost, besides being of incalculable value by way of instruction to the farmers of the state. Reasonable appropriations to aid agricultural developments should be made.

Waters of the State.

By chapter 238 of the laws of 1905 it was made unlawful for any person or corporation to transport fresh water of this state into any other state for use therein, and power was given by proceedings in the court of chancery to enjoin any such attempted action.

The Hudson County Water company, a corporation created by our laws, notwithstanding this statute, attempted to lay pipes for the purpose of transporting the waters mentioned in the statue from this state to the borough of Richmond, in the state of New York.

At the relation of the attorney general a decree of the court of chancery was made restraining said company, and the same was affirmed in the court of errors and appeals. The decision of this latter court was taken by writ of error to the supreme court of the United States and affirmed.

No subject is of greater moment to our people than the conservation of our potable waters. No individual or corporation should be permitted to transport out of the state any water within our territory; certainly not without the permission of the water supply commission or some other state board.

We should not permit the sale of this necessity of life in any case where it could in any way interfere with the full and free water supply required for our own people.

I not only recommend that the act of 1905 be extended to subterranean waters, or a new act passed covering such waters, but I suggest that a statute be enacted making it a misdemeanor for any individual or corporation to attempt to divert any of the potable waters of the state for any purpose to any point out of the state.

I further recommend that a statute be passed empowering the court of chancery to enjoin for any entry upon the lands of the state where such lands are under the jurisdiction of the riparian commission as provided in sections 25 and 38 of the riparian act.

Tuberculosis.

By joint resolution No. 4 of the laws of 1909 the legislature created a commission and appropriated $1,500 to promote the work of education in fighting tuberculosis.

The management of the state institution at Glen Gardner asks for a sufficient sum to erect three shacks that will house about twenty patients each, and the state hospitals at Morris Plains and Trenton and the Village For Epileptics and the Home For Feeble Minded Women each ask for a small appropriation. All these requests should be granted.

The locations of any buildings for the prevention or cure of tuberculosis should be subject to the approval of the state board of health, and no building for this purpose, whether public or private, should be permitted to be established or maintained in this state until the permission of that board be first obtained.

State Militia.

The report of the adjutant general shows the condition of the state militia to be very satisfactory.

The First battalion, naval reserve, has the United States steamship Portsmouth as its training ship. This is a sailing vessel of the old type and is not a satisfactory ship for the battalion. Provision should be made at the present session of the legislature for a sufficient appropriation to assure the securing of a proper steam power vessel for the battalion, and application should be made to the secretary of the navy to assign a suitable ship of this class for the use of this battalion.

State Highways.

The highway commission has made a report, which will be presented to you, and they recommend the creation of a system of highways to be maintained at state expense and to run from county seat to county seat and connect with an ocean boulevard along the Atlantic ocean. This system of highways will have a length of 853 miles and if carried out will establish in our state a system of public roads which will not be equaled in any state.

The highways of New Jersey are now noted for their excellence, and this plan will increase their notoriety and draw to our state many thousands of persons and thus result in great advantage to all our tradespeople. Aside from this, the benefit to the agricultural sections of the state will be beyond estimation. The annual cost of maintaining such a system of highways after they are once thoroughly constructed is estimated by the road commissioner at $275,000.

Some of the roads within the route proposed by the highway commission are not yet improved. As to this, they recommend that they be improved under the state road act, but that the percentage which the state shall contribute toward the unimproved part of the route shall be one half of the total cost.

The automobile fees which during the last fiscal year under the present law amounted to $245,196.5[illegible] can be utilized for maintenance. With this system of highways our automobile fees should be increased about one-third above that which is now paid, and the recommendation of the highway commission on this subject is heartily approved by the executive.

In addition to this 850 miles of highway, the state should take over and maintain that which was the old turnpike road between Jersey City and Newark. A good highway between Jersey City and Newark is needed and would be of great advantage to the state.

Railroad Revaluation.

By joint resolution No. 3 the legislature at its last session authorized the appointment of a commission to revalue the railroad property of the state. They have presented a preliminary report which will be before the legislature.

The work was found to be very exacting and to require great care and large expense. The appropriation made at the last session for this purpose was $20,000, which has been expended, and the work carried on to the extent of the appropriation.

No subject before this legislature is of more importance than the authorization of the continuance of this work. It will cost a large sum of money, probably $100,000 in addition to that already spent, but if the results achieved are what it is believed they will be this expenditure will be wise, and if it settles the controversies over railroad taxation in this state, whether the revenue be increased or not, the money will have been well expended.

The cost of the revaluation of the railroads in other states has not been less in any case than $150,000.

The state's greatest source of revenue is from railway taxation, and the help that comes to our free school system from it, which amounts to over $2,500,000 a year, should be a sufficient incentive to securing a just and equitable valuation for taxation.

An immediate appropriation for the continuance of this work should be made even prior to the enactment of the supplemental appropriation bill, and that bill should include a sufficient amount to carry the work until Oct. 31, 1910, and a reasonable appropriation should be included in the annual appropriation bill for the year ending Oct. 31, 1911, that the completion of the work may be assured.

Palisades Park.

The development of the natural park and promotion of its attractiveness for our people should receive the support of the legislature. An extension of this park system in the state of New York has lately been assured by the splendid gift of 10,000 acres of land and $1,000,000 in cash by Mrs. Harriman, widow of the late E. H. Harriman, and a number of large subscriptions by public spirited citizens of New York. The fund raised by these gifts exceeds $2,500,000, and the state of New York is expected to authorize an expenditure of a like amount. The governor of that state has so recommended.

This fund is to be expended to open the Hendrick Hudson drive along the whole distance of the Palisades park on the Hudson river, thirteen miles of which, as we have seen, lies in New Jersey. Our state will be asked to make a reasonable appropriation, payable at easy intervals, and the legislature should respond by generous action in this matter.

Grand Army of the Republic.

The national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic held at Salt Lake City the past year voted that the next annual encampment should be held at Atlantic City, in this state. This will be the first time that the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic has ever been held in our state. The people of the state and all of their officials should lend to this occasion every support possible.

Y. W. C. A. OBSERVES CLASS ANNIVERSARY

The Monday Night Bible classes of the Young Woman's Christian Association observed its first anniversary by a banquet and celebration inthe rooms of the association last night. There were sixty members present and an enjoyable time was had by all. Among the guests were Miss Charlotte Adams, of the Y. W. C. A. International Committee, of New York.

Miss Adams, during the evening gave an interesting talk. In the course of her remarks she said:

"The Bible is more closely related to human life than any other book. There are four measurements in life, length, breadth, height, depth. Some people are living one quarter lives; it is possible for all to live whole lives.

"The biographies of the Bible never discourage us, but lift us to heights attained in no other way than by the study of the Gospels. The Psalms show us life's depths to which in time, we all descend. The history gives us its length and breadth, showing us the march of God through events. The Bible has an atmosphere of health and vitality, through which human life grows."

The committee in charge of the banquet was the Misses Elsie Goddard, Edna Brown, Miss Freeland, Miss Coddington. The committee was ably assisted by the Misses Dorothy Randall, Helen George, Nettie Steiner, Minnie Line, Bessie Conroy and Ruth Weinberger.

Will Raise Up Local Chiefs.

District Deputy Great Sachem Robert J. Winans, of district 47, Improved Order Red Men, is making his official visit to the various tribes in this district for the purpose of raising the chiefs for the ensuing term. Tomorrow night he will raise up the chiefs of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, and he will visit Wetumpkah Tribe, No. 229, both of this city. On January 26 he will visit Raritan Tribe, No. 174, of Raritan.

Takes New Railroad Position.

Councilman Francis L. Montgomery, of this city, has resigned his position with the Minneapolis and St. Louis Railroad Company, to accept service with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad, with offices at 401 Broadway, New York city.

BELATED ANNOUNCEMENT OF MARRIRGE CEREMONY

Announcement is made today of the marriage of Miss Minnie Peterson, of Evergreen avenue, and Louis Miller, of Race street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elory Bowers, curate of Grace church, at his home on East Seventh street, Wednesday, December 15. The couple was attended by Miss Jennie Ord and Charles Bowers, of this city. After March 1 Mr. and Mrs. Miller will begin housekeeping.

The bride, whose parents are both dead, is a native of Denmark, and has been a resident of this city several years. Mr. Miller is employed by Roth & Co., at their market on East Front street.

MAYOR ANNOUNCES HIS OFFICE HOURS

Supplementing his message to the Common Council, last night, Mayor Fisk announced that he had arranged a definite schedule for the coming year, whereby he hopes to be in a closer touch with the heads of city departments as well as citizens generally.

Mr. Fisk stated that he would be in his office every Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock to meet with the heads of departments to receive reports, compare notes and take such action as required.

He will also be in his office every Friday evening from 8 to 10 o'clock to receive citizens, committees from various societies or others wishing to see him on public business. By citizens, Mr. Fisk means women as well as men.

Mr. Fisk further stated that during council meetings and all special meetings he will be in his office and will also try and arrange to attend any councilmanic committee meeting when requested to do so, where he can be of assistance; also the meeting of any municipal board.

As a usual thing, the Mayor will be in his office every afternoon from 5 to 6:30. Special appointments can be made by mail or telephone. The office is open every day from 9 o'clock in the morning, with some one present. William R. Townsend, tax collector, is also the Mayor's secretary, and can always get into communication with Mr. Fisk if necessary.

ROUTINE BUSINESS OF COMMON COUNCIL

Aside from the reading of the message of Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, which consumed about one hour and a quarter, the Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night, did little business. In the regular order of business, Mayor Fisk sent in the appointments of several special policemen, which were confirmed as follows:

Thomas J. McInerney, John J. King, Harry M. Stockton, Jeremiah Cash, Tucker Johnson, J. P. Stevens and W. H. Forristel. These call-men were appointed for the fire department and confirmed: Charles W. Townley, H. E. Hand, John McDonough, Robert T. Skinner and Jeremiah Griffin.

The resignation of John C. F. Payne, as a patrolman, after five years' service, was received and accepted to take effect on January 15.

The annual reports of the Board of Health and City Treasurer W. F. Arnold were received and filed, and a communication from the Board of Health stating that it had been determined that $7,500 will be needed for the coming year. This was referred to the finance committee.

A resolution offered by Mr. Buxton and adopted, authorized the finance committee to have 250 copies of the Mayor's message printed, and upon motion of Mr. Buxton the by-laws of the Council were made the rules of that body for the coming year.

President Tolles appointed Charles C. Randolph and Herbert Buxton as members of the Board of School Estimate to represent the Council during the year, and a resolution offered by Mr. Mygatt and adopted, confirmed the appointments.

All of the members of the Council, except Frank Randolph, were present at last night's meeting, but inasmuch as this was the third meeting of the body this month there was not a great deal of business to transact, the committees not having become fully acquainted with a number of matters to be disposed of later.

First Visit In Forty Years.

AbramN. Rogers, of Bridgewater, Iowa, was the guest of honor a few days ago at a family reunion held at the home of relatives in Elizabeth, it being the occasion of his first visit in forty years. He is a native of Scotch Plains, but when ten years of age his parents removed to Illinois. His last visit east was in 1870.

Mrs. Fairy Allis Returns.

Mrs. Fairy Allis, of this city, who was injured sometime ago while visiting relatives at Sangerfield, N. Y., has returned home, accompanied by her nephew, William St. John, of that place. She was being driven to Waterville to take a train and after alighting from the cutter and while standing on the station platform a gust of wind blew her to the ground with such force and violence as to break a bone in her left arm.

TROLLEY SERVICE TALK

Mayor Tells Trade Board Committee of His Efforts to Get Decent Cars.

READS THE CORRESPONDENCE.

Mr. Fisk Confirms Report that Col. Hine Broke Faith With Him On Trolley Improvement Agreement.

President-elect William Jeffery, J. Fred MacDonald and Charles H. Frost, from the Board of Trade, met in conference with Mayor Charles J. Fisk, President R. I. Tolles and Councilmen Charles C Randolph and William L. Gloak, in the Mayor's office, last night, for the purpose of discussing matters relative to local trolley conditions.

It was recently announced by Mr. Jeffery that he planned to make a thorough investigation into trolley conditions here, and he desired all possible information from Mayor Fisk as to what had been done in the past. Last night Mr. Fisk afforded Mr. Jeffery and his committee every bit of information at hand, and dictated a statement covering the case fully, which was given to Mr. Jeffery.

At the conclusion of the reading of all communications passing between the Mayor and the Public Service Corporation officials, in which the former showed how he had tried to remedy poor conditions, suggested to Mr. Jeffery that he, as the new head of the Board of Trade, take the matter up with the Public Service Corporation. He said that the company's officials were so accustomed to dealing with municipal authorities that it got to be an old story, while if Mr. Jeffery, representing more than two hundred members of the Board of Trade, should go to the company, it would be more apt to listen to complaints.

The suggestion seemed to be received with favor by the new head of the Board of Trade, although Mr. McDonald said he did not know whether the board wants to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the city or not.

In the communications read by the Mayor, it was shown that at frequent intervals he had called the company to task for alleged infractions of the ordinance under which the trolley system is operated here. It was further made plain that the company's attention had been called to old and dirty cars, flat wheels, often giving the number of the car. The correspondence showed that the company's officials had taken cognizance of the complaints and made in peptions.

One important thing developed at the conference and that was that Col. Hine did promise Mayor Fisk and others that in return for the privilege of double tracking the line in Watchung avenue and East Front street, the city should have new cars on the following January or thereabouts, and that Col. Hine had broken faith. It was conclusively shown that judging by the action of the company it does not intend to do anything more than absolutely necessary for Plainfield.

Mr. Fisk further explained that under the ordinance the city could compel the company to adopt the underground trolley system of motive power, removing all poles and overhead wires, and he thought it would be a good idea to take steps to do this, if the company fails to live up to the letter and spirit of the ordinance.

The Mayor stated further that of his own knowledge the cars now being operated on the local lines were used by the North Jersey Street Railway Company, long before the Public Service Corporation was thought of. They have simply been repainted and repaired and made to do service here. It was agreed that local cars at this season of the year are not kept clean, neither are they properly heated, while the general equipment is in poor condition and needing attention.

Mr. Fisk said that he had informed Col. Hine that Plainfield does not want a large type of car such as is operated on the main line, neither does it care whether the cars are of the single or double end type, so long as the equipment is first-class.

The Board of Trade representatives listened attentively to all that Mr. Fisk had to say and promised to inform the city officials of any results obtained. The board committees will meet today and decide on a plan of action.

Another matter discussed briefly last night was that in reference to better lighting of Front street. This was brought out by Mr. Jeffery simply for the purpose of getting information as to what had been done. The conference was a harmonious one throughout and it seemed to be the opinion of those present that much good will be accomplished in consequence.

WAR VETERANS INSTALL

Department Commander Officiates at Winfield Scott Post Function.

THE RELIEF CORPS ALSO.

Many High Officers of the G. A. R. Take Part — Some Speeches Are Made.

The officers-elect of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A., and the Women's Relief Corps, auxiliary to the Post, were installed jointly at G. A. R. headquarters in Reform Hall, last night, and the occasion was of special significance because of the presence of Department Commander James Connolly, of Newark, and several members of his staff, as well as Department President Mrs. Anna M. Spramaker, of Trenton, and others of her staff.

The Post officers were installed first by Past Department Commander Alfred Atkins, of Roselle, and all the work was done without the ritual, making it very impressive. Owing to the fact that H. Craig Smith, the commander-elect is quarantined at home because of the illness of a member of his family, he could not be present and a proxy was used. He will be installed later. The officers installed last night were as follows:

Senior vice-commander, Charles B. Stephens; junior vice-commander, William Green; surgeon, Joseph Unangst; quartermaster, John R. Naylor; officer of the day, Stephen R. Struthers; officer of the guard, Edward Vanderweg; chaplain, Nathan Pennington; adjutant, Dr. J. F. Berg; sergeant-major, Isaac Houston; quartermaster-sergeant, William Townley.

Then the officers-elect of the Corps were installed by Past Department President Mrs. Susie Elizabeth Wilkes, of Trenton. Department President Mrs. Anna M. Sparmaker, of Trenton, acted as conductor, while Captain William C. Smith, Past Department Commander John Lawrence, of New Brunswick and Chief of Staff David Keefe, of Newark, assisted in installing the color bearers. The work of the installing officers was highly complimented. The officers installed were as follows:

President, Mrs. Emma K. Frazee; senior vice-president, Mrs. Hattie Gibbons; junior vice-president, Mrs. Eva Summers; chaplain, Mrs. Sarah Mattox; treasurer, Miss May T. Smith; conductor, Mrs. Mary Meiers; guard, Mrs. Elizabeth Naylor; color bearers, Mrs. Jennie D. Bergman, Miss Margaret Summers, Miss Evelyn Manley, Mrs. John Kitchell; assistant conductor, Mrs. Stephen R. Struthers; assistant guard, Mrs. Maria Terry; secretary, Miss Try Mattox; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Frederick Wenzel; press reporter, Miss Jennie D. Smith; delegates to national convention, Miss Try Mattox and Mrs. Mary Meiers; alternates, Mrs. Anna Smith and Mrs. Eva Summers.

In addition to Department Commander James Connolly, of Newark, other staff officers present were department chaplain, L. T. Abbott, of Asbury Park; assistant quartermaster-general, Walter Tully, of Jersey City; chief of staff, David Keefe, of Newark; judge advocate, James English, Jr., of Paterson; Past Department Commanders Lawrence, of New Brunswick, and William Windle, of Cranford.

After the installation there were a number of good speeches by the visiting officers and Captain William C. Smith, who is also a past department commander. Then the Women's Relief Corps provided plenty of good things to eat and a social time was enjoyed. The visiting department officers were loud in their praise of the excellent work of both the Post and Corps.

An Opportunity For Young Men.

The Union Building and Loan Association, of this city, in another column of The Daily Press, offers exceptional opportunities to young men who are anxious to own a home. The cost of a loan through this association is less than a straight mortgage plan. A new series will be opened on Monday night at 146 Park avenue, and the officers of the association would be pleased to talk the matter over with any interested person.

Union Street Defeats Holy Cross.

The Union street hockey team, made up of P. H. S. and Holy Cross players, defeated the strong Netherwood Hockey Club, Monday, at the brick yard, by the score of 7 to 3. Phillips, Conover and Tollotson were the forwards for the Union streets. There will be a return game at Ohl's pond Saturday afternoon.

—Drs. Leonard, dentists, have removed their offices from 104 East Front to 17 Craig place, near Somerset street.  12 31 1m eod

LECTURE ON FORESTRY

State Commissioner Whipple Gives an Instructive Talk at Additorium.

HE PRAISES GIFFORD PINCHOT.

President Roosevelt Also Lauded For Originating the Forestry Movement.

The inception of forest conservation, the results achieved, what conservation means to the welfare of the American nation and how to help the conservation movement were made plain in a lecture delivered by James S. Whipple, State commissioner of forests, game and fish for New York State, last night, at the Hartridge Auditorium. A large audience greeted Mr. Whipple, who held the attention of his hearers for almost two hours.

Commissioner Whipple paid a tribue to Gifford Pinchot, in which he said: "There is no man in our country today who has done more for the people of this country, for the fight against special privilege. The policies he initiated are the policies that must control if we are to be what this nation ought to be in the future."

Mr. Whipple also praised former President Roosevelt for what he had done in the interest of conservation. Quoting Mr. Roosevelt, he declared, "The conservation of our natural resources is the buring question of the time."

The Commissioner commended the hunting license law, which was framed to prevent ignorant foreigners from destroying the bird life of the state.

The Ashokan dam in the Catskills, costing $162,000,000, came in for some criticisms, because the engineers in charge don't think trees are necessary for the success of that great reservoir, while 36 to 40 inches rainfall take place there each year, the evaporation is ten times greater without forests. The greatest natural reservoir, he said, is the forest.

Mrs. E. H. Harriman's gift of 10,000 acres of land to New York State for a Park Preserve, came in for words of commendation. The speaker suggested that New Jersey establish a similar preserve on their side of the Hudson. The Commissioner is in favor of land being exempt from taxation, when given to tree planting.

The latter half of the lecture was illustrated by the views of forests, producing pictures of New York State, the Palisades, Adirondacks, the Catskills, Germany, France and Switzerland.

Charles W. McCutchen introduced Mr. Whipple and paid a glowing tribute to the eminent forester from New York State.

REV. MR. STEVENSON ENTERTAINS CLERICUS

Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, rector of Grace church, entertained The Plainfield Clericus at his home yesterday afternoon, at luncheon, after which he presented a paper prepared by himself on the topic, "The Peace Movement in Missions." It was an able paper and covered the topic in a concise and interesting way.

The members of the clericus present included Rev. E. Vicars Stevensonfi Rev. Elery G. Bowers, Rev. George A. Warner, Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery, Rev. Dr. W. H. Neilsen, Rev. Morgan Ashley, of this city; Revs. Rush and Cross, of Westfield; Revs. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, H. H. Oberly, J. R. Atkinson and Mr. Little, of Elizabeth; Rev. Mr. Phelps, of Bound Brook; Rev. Mr. Sylvester, of Somerville; Rev. Mr. Conover and Rev. Mr. Siegel, of Bernardsville.

Fight for Counsel Still On.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders failed to select a counsel to the board at their meeting in Somerville yesterday. When the board organized a tie vote for the position resulted between John Frech, who has held the job for twenty years and Hugh Gaston. In expectation that the matter would be settled yesterday both candidates had a full complement of their friends at the meeting and considerable wire pulling ensued between the rival factions.

Mr. Spangenberg's "Rot."

Exactly twenty-four people listened to Leonard Spangenberg deliver a "lecture" on "Municipal Affairs" last night in Coward's hall, which he hired. He was not taken seriously by any of those present so far as could be ascertained. Many of his allusions to former office holders drew laughter instead of serious consideration from his audience.

GOT SOUND SPANKING BY ORDER OF COURT

Cornelius Webley, one of the "incorrigible class," will ere this have felt the weight of his father's displeasure for his recent actions in the public schools. Webley has been before Judge Runyon before for misconduct and his release by the Judge this morning was obtained only with the understanding that he be soundly whipped.

Detective Sergeant Flynn was delegated to see that the edict of the court was carried out and unless all signs fail master Cornelius is now repentant.

SCHOOL BOY DRUNK; POLICE INVESTIGATING

Harry Lewis, a twelve year old public school-boy, became intoxicated yesterday afternoon, requiring the services of City Physician Lufburow to straighten him out. When brought to police headquarters Harry was frothing at the mouth and had every appearance of alcoholic poisoning. Dr. Lufburrow administered emetics and soon had the boy out of danger.

When arraigned this morning the boy was apparently still suffering from his indulgence, but Judge William Runyon managed to get enough information for him to place the fault where it belongs. A rigid investigation will be made as to the source of the supply of liquor and those who are responsible for the child's condition will probably get their just deserts.

HETFIELD JR. CHAIRMAN OF CITY G.O.P. COMMITTEE

The City Republican Executive committee held its first meeting of the year, last night, for organization, and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., assistant prosecutor, was chosen chairman to succeed Winfield S. Angleman. George W. V. Moy was elected vice-chairman, while William R. Townsend was retained in office as secretary and treasurer.

The change in the head of the committee was not altogether unexpected, for it had been understood that Mr. Angleman would decline to serve another year. Mr. Hetfield has been active not only in city, but county affairs as well, and always keeps in touch with the political situation. Mr. Moy is one of the ablest men in the "New Idea" movement. Chairman Hetfield will announce his committees at the next meeting of the committee.

YOUNG HIGHWAYMAN CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Through "dumb luck," Charles B. Wicht, manager of the Clarkhurst Dairy office, 122 North avenue, nabbed a twelve-year-old boy last night, who a few moments before had taken two dollars from the cash register in the store. Since making the capture, Mr. Wicht believes he has solved the mystery of several petty robberies of cash which has been going on since the holidays, in which about forty dollars disappeared from the register in small amounts.

It was a lucky "catch." Mr. Wicht and A. T. Jordan, the distributing agent of the dairy, had closed up the office as usual at six o'clock. Later in the evening Mr. Wicht had occasion to use the telephone. He went to the office and while ringing for the call heard a noise under the counter. Looking down he discovered the boy crouched in a corner.

It is not likely that the case will be prosecuted. Mr. Wicht took the boy home and hold his parents of the thefts which have been going on. The boy confessed. He made his entrance to the office from the rear of the store.

Only a Sick Collie.

Chief George Weiss was summoned to Fairview avenue yesterday morning to shoot a mad dog. When he arrived on the scene he discovered that an untagged collie was recovering from a fit. The canine is now at the borough lockup awaiting its owner.

At Heavenly Rest Church Tonight.

Tonight at the Church of the Heavenly Rest there will be an entertainment of unusual merit in which members of the Men's club will participate. Songs, topical and otherwise, will be features and a famous baritone from New York will sing some of the old songs.

BUSINESS AT POSTOFFICE

Postmaster Bird Reports That Year's Receipts Were $73,776.93.

WAS AN INCREASE OF $5,900.30

950,000 One Cent and 1,795,000 Two Cent Stamps Sold—12,552 Special Deliveries—Box Rentals $442.45.

Postmaster Elias H. Bird's annual report of the year ending December 31 shows that it was the greatest in the history of the local postoffice. The many figures show that the net increase over the business of 1908 was $5,900.30. The total business for 1909 amounted to $73,776.93, which represents a vast amount of work in the local postoffice.

All of the departments show an increase over the preceding year. Postmaster Bird has been ably supported in his management of the postoffice by an efficient corps of men, and when the volume of business is considered, it is surprising that so few mistakes have been made. The total number of stamps of all denominations sold during the past year follows:

One cent stamps, 950,000; two cent, 1,795,000; three cent, 11,000; four cent, 29,500; five cent, 33,500; six cent, 13,000; eight cent, 10,500; ten cent, 18,000; ten cent special delivery stamps, 9,500; thirteen cent, 2,800; fifteen cent, 1,900; fifty cent, 180; $1, 3; $5, 8; $2, 36; overdue, 11,200, making a total of 2,886,123.

There were 10,750 stamp books sold and 330,375 postal cards, while there were 559,475 envelopes sold. There was received for special request envelopes, $6,457.42. There were 12,552 special delivery letters delivered, which multiplied by eight cents, the amount paid to special messengers shows a total of $1,004.16. The amount received from box rentals was $442.45. The amount paid for second-class mat er by publishers was $609.53.

While the stamp and other departments show a large increase, the same is true in the money order department. During 1909 there were 18,496 domestic money orders issued and 3,358 foreign money orders issued. The local department delivered 11,132 domestic money orders and 207 foreign money orders. Up to November the business in this department aggregated over $170,000, a pretty good sum for an office of the Plainfield class. This, Mr. Bird says, represents a natural steady growth in postal business and is not of the mushroom variety.

CHARITY BALL NETTED TWO THOUSAND DOLLARS

The charity ball committee has reported at a meeting of the Muhlenberg Hospital governors that it was not ready to make a detailed statement as yet, as all accounts had not been settled, but that it could be stated that there would be a net profit of approximately $2,000 for the institution. The governors passed a resolution extending their thanks to the various committees and all others who helped to make the charity ball so great a success.

A special committee was appointed to consider the advisability of having the hospital ambulance kept at the police station quarters in the future instead of at the livery stable. There are ample accommodations at the police station, and it is believed that this will make the service more effective.

The report of the medical board for December showed 27 patients remaining in the hospital on December 1, and 53 more patients admitted during the month of December, making a total of 80 patients treated. Thirty-eight were discharged cured, nine were discharged improved, and three were discharged unimproved. Six patients died. In the contagious ward there were seven patients, and five were discharged cured, leaving two remaining in the contagious ward on January 1. In the dispensary there were 65 patients treated and a total of 169 daily visits to the dispensary. There were 646 general hospital days.

In the tuberculosis pavilion, which is managed and operated by Muhlenberg Hospital, there have been eight patients admitted, all of whom are remaining and doing well.

Election Was Illegal.

The North Plainfield Firemen's Relief Association elected officers last night as scheduled, but discovery was made today that the election was not in compliance with the law. As a result of the misunderstanding another election will be necessary.

GERMANS HAVE BIG TIME

Gesang and Turn Verein's Annual Meeting an Enjoyable Affair.

TWO ENTERTAINMENTS TOCOME

Stephen Schlief Chosen President, Gets a Rosewood Gavel and a Big Bouquet.

Presentations and other manifestations of the good old German brand of sociability marked the installation of the newly elected officers of the Gesang and Turn Verein in the society's hall on Somerset street last night.

Two coming entertainments of interest are the annual masquerade ball on Monday night, February 21, and the carnival for members and their families on Sunday night, February 13. The ball committee organized with Fred Becker, chairman; Herman Klinsman, Jr., secretary, and George Schlereth as treasurer; the other members are John Alster, John Shroop, Jacob Fass and Harry Dreier.

The carnival committee is composed of August Wolff, Fred Becker and A. Paroubek. In addition to the two named events the singing section is planning a concert to be given in March or April.

These officers were installed: President, Stephen Schlief; vice president, Joseph Brandt; recording secretary, M. Menzenbach; financial secretary, August Wolff; treasurer, Fred Becker; finance committee, William Bamberger, George Zepp and A. Felber; color-bearer, Lawrence Fahn; assistant color-bearers, Herman Klinsman, Jr., Charles Kreutzfeldt; marshals, Charles Meyer, Sr., Herman Klinsman. M. Rosen was appointed janitor for the ensuing year.

One of the pleasing features of the session was the presentation of a rosewood gavel and a huge bouquet of flowers to President Schlief Fred Becker, who is physical director of the turning classes, composed of boys and members, received a loving cup as a Christmas gift as a mark of appreciation from his pupils. Prof. Eichorn, of Elizabeth, leader of the singing section, was not forgotten by the members of that branch of the society, and he was the recipient of a ten dollar gold piece.

ANDREW M'LEAN PARKER ON 'MANHATTAN BRIDGE'

An interesting and instructive talk on the erection of bridges was given to the members of the Men's Club, of the Crescent Avenue church, last night by Andrew McLean Parker, of this city, who was one of the contracting engineers in the construction of the new Manhattan Bridge over the East River.

Mr. Parker's address was devoid of all technical terms and easy to comprehend. The speaker interspersed his remarks with highly interesting incidents which featured the construction of the wonderful connecting links between New York and Brooklyn.

The highest grade of steel that could be procured in the market was used in the construction of the new Manhattan bridge, declared the speaker. He described the building of the anchorage, the placing of the cables in position, and the erection of the temporary and finally the permanent roadways. The work was executed at such a rapid clip that twenty carloads of structural steel was used a day.

TEMPLE BARACA CLASS HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Baraca Class for the election of officers was held at the Temple Baptist church, last night. During the evening the officers-elect of the Philathea class were installed, and later the two classes held a social time and refreshments were served. The Baraca Class elected these officers:

President, Richard Elliott; vice president, Edward Baker, Sr.; recording secretary, Harry Bouton; assistant secretary, Joseph Baker; teacher, Rev. J. W. Musson; assistant teacher, Frank Stewart; financial secretary, Charles Griffin; press reporter, John Nischwitz; organist, David C. Patterson; treasurer, Harry Jaeger; librarian, Gilbert H. VanNest.

SCOTT TERRY LOST CASE

His Assertion That Check is Forgery Disproven in District Court.

"ALIBI" A DISMAL FAILURE.

Terry Finally Admitted He Might Be Mistaken and Judgment Goes Against Him.

The suit of Joseph Gallagher, formerly the proprietor of a roadhouse in Rahway avenue, Elizabeth, against Winfield Scott Terry, of Plainfield, trial of which was continued yesterday in the District Court in Elizabeth, was ended late in the afternoon, when Judge Whittemore gave judgment for $142.50 to the plaintiff. Gallagher sued for $125, which he claimed to have loaned Terry, September 20, 1907.

There was considerable interest in the suit, as the parties involved are also the principals in the Hetfield will case which is still in litigation in the Union County Orphans Court. Gallagher was named as the heir of Corra Hetfield, an old man who died while living at the Rahway avenue hotel. Terry, as a relative of Hetfield, joined with other heirs at law and contested the will.

The suit of Gallagher against Terry was begun last week when testimony was taken for one whole day. Terry at that time attempted to prove an "alibi," claiming that on the day Gallagher said he loaned him the money he was in Clover Hill purchasing horses. He fixed the date by claiming that he had at that time requested his sister to loan him $300. Terry also alleged that he had never seen the check that Gallagher said he gave him and pronounced the endorsement on a check offered as evidence by the plaintiff not his own. Terry also denied that he had borrowed the money.

Yesterday Terry went on the stand and testified that he might have been mistaken about the day he was at Clover Hill. The plaintiff introduced David M. Runyon, the cashioer of the First National Bank, of this city, who testified that Terry had been to the bank on the day in question and had submitted a check signed by Gallagher.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN MEN'S ENTERTAINMENT.

An excellent program has been arranged for the recital to be given at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Men's club. Miss Jessie Utter will be the accompanist. The artists will be Miss Edith Cecelia Rubel, violinist; Miss Jessamine Burd, contralto, and Miss Leah A. Coleman, dramatic reader. The program will be as follows:

"Fluer de Lis," Venth; "Hagar," Anon; "Mon coeur s ouvre a ta voix," form Samson et Delila, Saint-Saens; "Gypsy Airs," a descriptive of the wandering life of a gypsy violinist separated from his comrades; (b), his loging for home and friends; (c), he meets his companions and is happy again; gypsy dance; "Lungi dal caro bene," Secchi. "Dot liddle boy of mine," Anon; (a), "Amund-lied," Schumann; (b), "The Swan," Saint-Saens; (c), "2d Mazourka," Wieniawski.

J. W. WILSON ARRESTED FOR FAILING TO RETURN A RIG.

James W. Wilson, 22 years old, a book and subscription agent for Collier's Weekly, hired a rig for two hours from the Knickerbocker Stables, in New York, Saturday afternoon, to take Miss Grace McKibbin, also of New York, for a drive. When he returned he drove to a livery stable and Sunday morning he sent a negro for the rig, intending to give Miss McKibbin another drive.

When he called at the young woman's home, detectives arrested him on complaint of Emil Seelig, proprietor of the Knickerbocker stables. Wilson, the police say, was arrested in this city, a while ago, for the theft of two bicycles. There is no record of such a case here.

Municipal Ownership Talk.

James E. Martine, at a meeting of the Men's club at the home of Philip H. Suffern, on Kensington avenue, last night advocated his pet doctrine of "Municipal Ownership" to an interested gathering. Mr. Martine in his talk told of the advantages of cities owning their water plants, electric light plants, etc.

Frank Smith Buys Cadmus Property.

Frank H. Smith, has purchased the Cadmus property at Watchung and North avenues, consisting of a three-story brick building having a frontage of thirty-two feet on North avenue and eighty-seven feet on Watchung avenue. The deal was made by Walter C. McNaughton.

AMONG OUR NEIGHBORS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

Borough youngsters and the "grownups" as well, are getting a lot of pleasure coasting on the Washington Rock road leading into Washington avenue. The sleighing surface is excellent and is likely to continue while the cold snap keeps up.

Operations which were started on Winfield Hetfield's new brick building have been retarded owing to the snow and cold weather. The contractors expect to have the building completed and ready for occupancy by April 1.

Tax Collector Isaac Stites is making preparations to go after the delinquents. He will probably suggest to Mayor Sanford the advisability of appointing a deputy at the February meeting of the Council.

Recorder Campbell will be reappointed borough magistrate by Mayor Sandford at the February meeting of the Borough Council.

Miss Elizabeth Herlick had Miss Grace Predmore, of New York, as her guest several days last week.

Mrs. C. L. Parsons returned yesterday from Bridgeton, where she has been visiting friends.

The Levering and Garrigues Iron Works has resumed operations after the annual inventory.

The Washington Social Club is planning to hold a dance the latter part of the month.

Percy Vail and family have returned from a visit to relatives in Philadelphia.

J. M. W. Gangloff and family, have removed from Grove street to Front street.

Mrs. Lydia Jacobs has recovered from an attack of illness the result of a cold.

Miss Edna Coriell has been entertaining friends from out of town.

Miss Iva Dayton is nursing an aggravating cold.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The local hockey club will play the hockey team of the Plainfield High School freshmen on next Saturday afternoon here. The locals will line up as follows: Charles Randolph, center; Harry Soffield, cover; Lloyd Harris, point; John May, cover point; John Miller, right wing; Andrew McDonough, left wing, and E. Nelson, goal.

Milton Boss, who has been ill for the past week with an attack of grip, resumed work Monday.

Firman Arrowsmith, of Aldene, removed Monday to Church street.

Frank Thomas is spending a short time with friends in Easton, Pa.

John Miller is suffering from a severe cold.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The fourth of the series of winter dances being held by the Bachelors' Club was held last night in the hall. These dances seem to fill a long felt want among the young people as they have proven to be most successful, each one being even more enjoyable than the previous one. Last night's dance was no exception as fully 100 young people were out and enjoyed every two-step and waltz dispensed by Suhr's popular orchestra, the floor being crowded from 9 o'clock until shortly after one, when "Home Sweet Home" was played just in time for the out of town guests to catch the last car. The club expects to hold two more of the series before Lent begins.

But few of the young people in town walk without a limp or who cannot show some bruise or cut, as a battle mark from coasting on Spencer Hill. Hardly a day passes but what some new victim is added to the list, but as no serious accidents or loss of life has as yet resulted from the sport, it still goes on.

The People's Ice Co. started cutting ice on the Back Pond yesterday. A large force of men are at work and a good quality of ice thirteen inches thick is being harvested.

George A. Clark, who has been seriously ill at his home on Westfield avenue, is recovering nicely, being able to be out for a short time now every day.

Michael Gilloti, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gilloti, of Forest avenue, has returned to his home at Orange.

Edward L. Hand is erecting two new houses on Forest avenue. The buildings will be ready for occupancy in the early spring.

The Township Committee meet in the town rooms tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The trustees of the First Baptist church will hold their quarterly meeting at the church tomorrow night.

The Boys' club of Hope chapel will meet at the chapel Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

The ways and means committee of Hope chapel are in charge of the weekly services at the chapel, this week, in the absence of the pastor.

Miss May E. Serrell, of Arlington avenue, will lead the prayer meeting at the First Baptist church, tonight. The topic will be "Ready and Willing."

Rev. Mr. Halliday, of Park avenue, will preach at Hope chapel Sunday morning, in the absence of the pastor, who is in the south conducting special services.

The Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church is holding an all-day sewing meeting today at the home of Miss Pauline Denton, on West Sixth street.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, has not yet completed the details for the memorial service to be held at the church Sunday night for Dr. Richards. The program will be announced in a day or two.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a regular sewing meeting at the church Friday afternoon. Work will be started on boxes for two families under the care of the Board of Ministerial Relief. Contributions of money and clothing are earnestly requested.

SKATER IS DOOMED DESPITE HUMAN CHAIN.

Burlington, Jan. 12.—One youthful skater was drowned, another critically injured by a fall and a man and his three-year-old child pulled from mid-river by the hair after they had broken through the ice in a series of accidents in this vicinity within the last few days.

The drowned lad is Carl Peterson, of Roebling. Skating with a party of young friends Monday night, Peterson broke through the ice while the skaters were trying to reach Burlington. Heroic efforts were made to save him, but just as his companions had formed a human chain to drag him to solid ice, the boy's hands slipped from the edge of the pack and he was drawn under the ice by the rapid current. Efforts to recover the body have been fruitless.

Walking across the frozen river to Bristol last night and pulling a young child wrapped in furs and fastened to a sled, Albert Headrick stepped into an airhole over forty feet of water. Headrick seized the chid and yelled lustily for help, while he wedged the sled between two ice cakes and held on for his life.

Stanley Page led a party of skaters to Headrick's rescue. By forming a human chain under Page's direction the leader was able to seize Headrick's hair and able to drag him and his child to firm ice. They were hurried to Burlington and both are recovering.

Falling headfirst and striking his head on rough ice on Assicunck Creek, Roy Gotta, a young skater, was rendered unconscious and is confined to his bed, physicians fearing a fractured skull.

ICEBOAT IMP WINS CHAMPIONSHIP HONORS.

Red Bank, Jan. 12.—The Imp, of the North Shrewsbury Iceboat Club, won the third class championship pennant of North America on the river yesterday morning. The other entries were the Tyro, also of Red Bank, and the Isabel and Drub of Branchport.

The Imp is owned and was sailed by Charles Burd. The Tyro is owned by Henry Grant and Garry Morford and was sailed by Morford. Effedler, of Long Branch, owns the Isabel and she was sailed by Captain Elisha Price, of Pleasure Bay.

New Market Congregation Hear Glowing Reports of the Year's Work

ROLL CALL OF OLD MEMBERS.

The Ladies' Aid Society Plans to Purchase Pipe Organ This Year—Two Trustees Are Elected.

Members of the First Baptist church at New Market held their annual congregational rally Monday afternoon and evening. Reports which were presented from all of the departments of church work were gratifying and showed that the church is making headway.

In the afternoon the annual roll call of the members was conducted. There was a large attendance at this service, the members present responding to their names by reading a verse of scripture or giving testimony. Members who were unable to be present sent in scriptural verses which were read.

During an intermission between the roll call and the evening service supper was served in the lecture room under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Those in charge were Mrs. Ziba Osmun, Mrs. George Bunting, Mrs. William Nelson and Mrs. William Giles.

Presiding at the night session was DeWitt Giles, president of board of trustees. Lewis D. Walker, treasurer of the church, reported a balance of $11.23. The receipts during the year was $1,903.99 and the expenditures $1,892.76.

The report of John I. Nelson, secretary of the Sunday-school, showed a growth in that department. The total enrollment is 191 with an average attendance of 94. Frank Smalley, treasurer of the school, reported that the regular collections totaled $198.06 and the missionary offerings was $73.17.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was also active in work connected with the church. During the year the total receipts were $882.60 and the expenditures $850.77, leaving a balance in its treasury of $31.83.

Miss Gertrude Bunting, secretary and treasurer of the Junior C. E. Society, reported a balance of $12.30.

The report of the work accomplished by the Ladies' Aid Society was especially gratifying. During the year the receipts were $309.67 and the balance on hand is $72.71. The activities of the society were displayed in interesting reports submitted by Mrs. Sarah Smalley, secretary, and Miss May Tappen, treasurer. The society contributed a substantial sum to the parsonage fund and this year its chief effort will be to raise funds for the purchase and installation of a pipe organ for the church.

Miss Maud Rupel, secretary of the Cheerful Workers, reported that the society had purchased a piano last year. The total receipts were $64.36 and the expenditures $50.71.

The Farther Lights Society increased in membership according to reports of Mrs. Mahlon Dayton, secretary, and Miss Ida McCullough, treasurer. The balance in its treasury is $11.61.

The Ladies' Missionary Society during the year contributed $26.00 for home missions and $30.75 for work in foreign lands.

George Trimmer and Frank Smalley were elected members of the board of trustees. William Fitz Randolph was clerk of the meeting.

Rev. W. R. RICHARDS.

The Lord hath sent His messenger
..Removing from us one
Who in our midst the Bread of Life
He gave to those who come.

While with sincere and earnest tho'ts
The Lord's charge he fed here
We recall well the word he preached
With bold and dauntless fear.

Called to his last and great reward
While in the prime of life,
The Lord by His messenger Death,
Summoned him from earth's strife.

We bow in humble submission
Our Father to thy will,
Knowing that nothing can befall
In the darkness so still.

While for the loved one left behind
In this hour of sorrow
We would commend them to thy love
Both now and tomorrow.

Be thou with them as they shall lay
His remains to their rest,
In the sweet assurance that they Shall arise with the just.

Help us to lay this matter on
Our hearts for careful thought,
We cannot tell how soon or when
We may by thee be sought.

Jan. 8, 1910. E. R. H.

Dr. J. A. Funk, a medical missionary in Persia, spoke before the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, bringing the latest news from that country. Mrs. John Gray Foster was in charge of the meeting.

CLEVER COMEDY SKETCH AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE

J. W. Holland & Co., in presenting their clever comedy sketch, "Checkers" at Proctor's theatre, this week, possess a trained dog who has performed some wonderful feats in life saving, which places him in a class by himself. "Red," as he is named, is a full-blooded English bull terrier, and bears a fine pedigree, his father being the famous "Brandy," a many-time prize winner at the bench shows. In DesMoines last summer during a street parade of the Iowa National Guard, "Red," probably saved a score of lives by his timely action in stopping a runaway horse. In the midst of a large crowd of men, women and children the animal started to run away. "Red" caught the hitching strap and by his bull dog tenacity stopped the horse before anyone was hurt. "Red" also saved a boy from drowning at Munic. He is still with the company and all should see this handsome creature.

MRS. SARAH LINBARGER PASSES AWAY TODAY.

Mrs. Sarah R. Linbarger, of 293 Somerset street, North Plainfield, died this morning at a little after 10 o'clock after a two months' illness. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made. Mrs. Linbarger is survived by three sons, D. L., Norman and Walter C., all of whom are residents of the borough.

Mrs. Linbarger had been a resident of Plainfield for the past thirty years and was born at Washington Valley. Her uncle, David Coon, was a captain of a company which served throughout the War of Independence and left an enviable record for bravery and distinction. Mrs. Linbarger was the daughter of David and Mary Coon, of Washington Valley, and was a sister of George W. Mundy, of the borough She was not affiliated with any church, but was known for her beautiful Christian character, and was exceptionally active even an hour before she died. Notice of the funeral will be published tomorrow.

Shower for Miss Murray.

Miss Mildred Berry, of 39 Sycamore avenue, gave a kitchen shower yesterday afternoon for Miss Ethel Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Jr., of West Fourth street. The gifts comprised practically all aluminum ware and made a fine assortment. Those present were the Misses Mary and Kate Barlow, Marguerite Campbell, Mollis Slocum, Kathryn Titus, Alice Titus, Mildred Berry, May Murray, Ethel Murray, Marion Overton and Mrs. John Theobauld, Mrs. E. H. Hobbie and Mrs. W. R. Faber. During the afternoon refreshments were served.

Regaining His Eyesight.

Recent letters received by friends of Thomas M. Muir, who is sojourning with relatives near Woodstock, Canada, indicate that he is recovering his eyesight. Mr. Muir is now able to tell time. At night he is also able to distinguish the city electric light in Woodstock, which is nearly three miles distant from the farm of his uncle's family, with whom he is stopping. Mr. Muir ascribes the dry air as being directly responsible for the improvement to his condition. He may return to Plainfield about February 1.

Iroquois Dining Room.

The formal opening of the new restaurant connected with the Iroquois Hotel will take place on Thursday night. A marked feature of the opening night will be the entertainment of G. A. R. veterans of this city by local Spanish American war veterans. Proprietor Jerome Leary is engaged in remodeling the dining room and making other improvements in the hosterly, it being his intention to make the new restaurant one of the best eating houses in the State.

Escaped From Hospital.

Louise Dunn, alias Thompson, who escaped from the Elizabeth General Hospital, yesterday, was apprehended here last night and sent back to the hospital in charge of Officer McCue. The Dunn woman will have to serve out a term of ninety days in the county jail for vagrancy.

Meetings Are Well Attended.

Rev. W. W. Morrison, of Pittsburg, who is conducting evangelistic services at the W. C. T. U. every evening at 7:45 o'clock, is meeting with much success. He is an earnest and attractive speaker and the meetings are largely attended. There is special music every evening.

ADVERTISE IN THE DAILY PRESS

Rev. Dr. Wm. R. Richards

By A. V. D. Honeyman

The exceedingly beautiful private life of Dr. Richards, and his strong, dominant personality in the upbuilding of this community while he lived and walked among us, cannot be brought out too strongly in any review of his career that is likely to appear in the public press. While others knew him during the past seven years of his life, as a resident of New York city, better than the writer, I feel constrained to lay one little wreath of appreciation upon his open grave. I say "open," because it will never be a closed grave to those who at any time were permitted to come near to him as parishioner or friend, and who were thereby constrained, willingly or unwittingly, to yield up to him the genuine if silent, affection of the heart. That highly intellectual face has disappeared, but the magnificent soul behind it lives on.

The general characteristics of Dr. Richards as he appeared to others we well know; his self-poised, dignified bearing, his sound learning, his remarkedly well-chiselled and classic face when lighting up in conversation, his interest in all things for the common good, etc. I prefer now to write of certain other traits, however, and of his pulpit ability.

His was a singularly buoyant and lovable nature to such as entered into its inner portals. Not everybody could become his confidant, because his outward disposition was that of great reserve, born of that rare and gentle flower of character which we call "modesty." You had to know him before he would open up to you the richness and rarity of his charming regality. He never obtruded either his personality or his opinions upon others. He could listen to that which did not meet his views without reply; or, if occasion required, he could strongly enough oppose opinions which differed from his own, but in the latter case it was always with such quietude of manner that there was a potential influence behind it, which was well-nigh irresistible. I never knew a man, whether preacher or otherwise, so unobtrusive in his methods of dealing with others, who could accomplish so much even by way of rebuke, and certainly always by way of intentional moral uplift. For this reason hundreds of persons in Plainfield and in New York city, within and without his congregations, who did not pretend to real intimacy with him, have long kept in their hearts a peculiar reverence for this preacher and his work. They have admired his public stand for the right things; they have felt the restraint of his private influence and been benefited by it, even when the man himself was unseen. Of few ministers it can be said that after seven years of entire separation from his flock—barring a few return visits, generally of condolence, which on the whole were too few to satisfy his old parishioners—the bonds which united them to him have strengthened and deepened until at last, when he has been called home to his reward, it could be truly said that there is grief in every family and sadness at every hearthstone where his presence, when he was among us, was ever known.

That his personal character was unusually pure and lofty goes without saying. In this respect none knew him or knew of him but to praise him. There are not so many, however, who have understood the geniality and bonhomie of his frank and childlike nature. His personal friends were conversant with, and understood and appreciated this side to his character, and to them the remembrance of it is as a benediction. He could rejoice with those who rejoiced, as well as speak with the tenderness of a father to those who mourned, but he best loved to rejoice. Life to him was serious, but it was also enrapturing, for it was to be everlasting.

When in the Holy Land, companioning in sweet fellowship with a number of persons who, to all appearances, became dear to him as he became to them, treading together spots that were sacred because of the erstwhile presence of the gentle Nazarene, whom he so adored, the characteristics to which I have alluded, of buoyancy and cheerfulness, were so interblended with the spirit of helpfulness and tenderness of feeling, that all the large company who were thrown daily in his society learned to love the man as before some few of us had learned to appreciate the preacher.

One cannot travel for three months in close association with other men and not learn both the defects and virtues in their characters. Dr. Richard's ministerial associates on that wonderfully interesting tour, including the late well-known Dean Rodman, and the late saintly Dr. Hutton, of New Brunswick, both of whom have passed away so recently, were just the kind of companions to draw him out of himself and induce a forgetfulness of all home work or worry. There were others along, both parishioners and strangers, to many of whom he became warmly attached, and who daily experienced the pleasures of close and intimate relationship to him. Not the preacher or teacher, but the manly man then appeared. The apparent reserve

ASKS DIVORCE FROM RURAL MAIL CARRIER

Newton, Jan. 12.—Vice-Chancellor James E. Howell, of Newark, who is hearing the suit brought by Mrs. Anna D. Longcor, of Main street, against her husband, Virgil C. Longcor, of Andover Borough, a rural mail carrier, to compel the latter to support herself and two children, adjourned the case Saturday after the morning session. The adjournment came while the complainant was under cross examination conducted by her husband's counsel, Lewis J. Martin.

As told Saturday, the Longcors were married on March 18, 1898, after the complainant, then Miss Anna Drexler, of Brooklyn, had been a summer guest of her husband's mother, Mrs. Sarah Longcor, for several seasons.

Mrs. Longcor testified that they immediately went to housekeeping in a house at Andover, she paying the rent and all the household expenses. She said that their troubles began almost at once, and that her husband was "mentally cruel to her." Two years afterward, at her husband's suggestion, they went to live on a farm he had purchased near Sparta prior to their marriage, on which she held a mortgage.

Affairs became so serious between them after that that she finally went away on June 25, 1905, again on July 2, returning during the following fall. During that time she had supported herself by making embroidery at Sparta. During 1904 she had decided to leave her home, and ordered George Patfield, a local drayman, to come to the farmhouse for her furniture. The goods were partly loaded when Longcor came back and had the men unload them. Mrs. Longcor said that she "kept giving her husband money" to keep peace in the family, and when she had any and refused to give it to him, he pouted and would not speak until she handed it over.

She alleged that sometimes for as long as six months he would not bring home any meat, and the family had to subsist on bread and potatoes alone during those periods. She figured up that she could support herself and two children for $45 a month, and for ten dollars more could clothe them. Longcor is the rural mail carrier at Andover, and that sum is about all he earns from the government. Three children were born to them, one daughter remaining with the father when she left for the last time. She claimed that the trouble resulting in her leaving her husband for all time came over a note she had indorsed for him, and which she would not sign when the time came for renewal. She sent a letter of reconciliation, but got no reply, and made a personal visit to her former home and the door was shut in her face. She said that all Longcor married her for was her money.

Mrs. Longcor is now supporting herself and family by conducting an art room. Her case is being presented by former Assemblyman Levi H. Morris.

UNION ASSEMBYMEN SHARE IN THE PLUMS

(From a Staff Correspondent)

Trenton, January 12.—In the assignment of members to House committees, Speaker Ward favored Assemblyman Pierce with the chairmanship of the Committee on Revision of Laws, the same post held by the latter last year. Mr. Pierce is also the second man of the Appropriations Committee, which is one of the most important in the House. On the joint committees he is a member of the Home for Feeble Minded Women.

Mr. Schwartz, of Union county, is made chairman of the committee on New Jersey Reformatory, and the Bill Files Committee. He is second man on Corporations and also second man on Banks and Insurance, both of which are very important committees. He is also third man on the Stationery Committee.

Mr. Thompson, of Union, is first man on the House joint committee on the Sanitorium for Tuberculosis Diseases at Glen Gardner; and second man on the Committee on Towns and Townships.

Y. M. C. A. SPORTS.

Basketball results in the Sunday School Athletic League Monday night were as follows: First Presbyterian 29, Grace Episcopal 15; Congregational 19, Trinity Reformed 13; Hope Chapel 34, Crescent Avenue 27.

In a Business Mens' Basketball League contest at the Y. M. C. A. Monday afternoon the Whites defeated the Grays by the score of 36 to 13.

The Suburban basketball quintet of Orange will be the opponents of the local Y. M. C. A. aggregation on Saturday night.

Manager Listman is highly elated over the victory over the Orange State champions on Saturday night. He predicts that the locals will even matters up with the Williamsbridge five when the latter team makes its re-appearance here on the night of February 5. In the last encounter the Williamsbridge experts won by a ten-point margin.

Walter Cahoone has been elevated to the captaincy of the Y. M. C. A five to succeed Amos Rumsey, who left this city to take up his residence in Woonsocket. Rumsey played left guard for the locals for three seasons and was rated as one of the speediest basketball players turned out on the local court.

Up to date the Y. M. C. A.'s have been a splendid showing considering the high class of teams which they have opposed. The record is eight victories and three defeats.

Physical Director G. L. Listman is attending a conference of State Y. M. C. A. physical directors at Newark today.

Arrangements are completed for the Plainfield Y. M. C. A.-Troy Y. M. C. A. "telephone competition" for Friday night, January 28. There will be five events, as follows: Running broad jump, standing broad jump, three standing broad jumps, shot put and a quarter mile potato race.

The first and second teams will meet for practise on the gym floor tonight.

N. P. H. S. and Leals will clash in an Interscholastic Basketball League contest on Friday night.

HAD MONEY TIED TO HIS LEG.

Paterson, Jan. 12.—Nicholas and Edward Den Blyker, brothers, arrested in Passaic Saturday, charged with grand larceny, have been committed to the county jail. When searched nearly $1,200 was found tied with a cord about the lower part of Nicholas Den Blyker's right leg.

It is believed that the men were preparing to leave town and had drawn the money from the bank for such a purpose. Nicholas was assistant manager of a five and ten cent store at Passaic. His brother, Edward, it is alleged, was employed in the store. The pair entered into an agreement whereby Edward was awarded the work of removing boxes, etc., from the store. Another clerk while shifting the boxes accidentally broke a cover and disclosed to view a quantity of goods from the store. He reported the matter to the proper authorities and the result was the arrest of the Den Blykers.

The Guest of Quesnay

By Booth Tarkington.

Copyright, 1908, by the McClure Co. copyright, 1907, 1908 by the Ridgway Co.

"That is Mariana—'la bella Mariana la Mursiana.'" George answered—"one of those women who come to Paris from the tropics to form themselves on the legend of the one great famous and infamous Spanish dancer who died a long while ago. Mariana did very well for a time. I've heard that the revolutionary societies intend striking medals in her honor. She's done worse things to royalty than all the anarchists in Europe! She danced at the Folie Rouge last week."

"That is Mariana—'la bella Mariana la Mursiana.'"

"Thank you, George," I said gratefully. "I hope you'll point out the Louvre and the Eiffel tower to me some day. I didn't mean Mariana."

"What did you mean?"

What I had meant was so obvious that I turned to my friend in surprise.

"I meant the man with her," I said.

"Oh!" He laughed sourly. "That carrion?"

"You seem to be an acquaintance."

"Everybody on the boulevard knows who he is," said Ward curtly, paused and laughed again with very little mirth. "So do you," he continued, "and as for my acquaintance with him—yes, I had once the distinction of being his rival in a small way, a way so small, in fact, that it ended in his becoming a connection of mine by marriage. He's Larrabee Harmon."

That was a name somewhat familiar to readers of American newspapers even before its bearer was fairly out of college. But frolic degenerated into

"Perfectly, monsieur. Perhaps monsieur knows them."

"Yes, I know them."

"Truly?" He affected dejection. "And poor Mme. Brossard thought monsieur had returned to our old hotel because he liked it and remembered our wine of Beaune and the good beds and old Gaston's cooking!"

"Do not weep, Amedee," I said. "I have come to paint, not because I know the people who have taken Quesnay." And I added, "I may not see them at all."

Miss Elizabeth had mentioned in one of her notes that Ward had leased Quesnay, but I had not sought quarters at Les Trois Pigeons because it stood within walking distance of the chateau. In my industrious frame of mind that circumstance seemed almost a drawback. Miss Elizabeth, ever hospitable to those whom she noticed at all, would be doubly so in the country, and I wanted all my time to myself since my time was not conceivably of value to any one else. I thought it wise to leave any encounter with the lady to chance. George himself had just sailed on a business trip to America, and until his return I should put in all my time at painting and nothing else, though I liked his sister, as I have said, and thought of her often.

Amedee laughed incredulously. "But monsieur will call at the chateau in the morning," the complacent varlet prophesied. "Monsieur is not at all an old man—no, not yet. Even if he were—aha—no one could possess the friendship of that wonderful Mme. d'Armand and remain away from the chateau."

"Mme. d'Armand!" I said. "That is not the name. You mean Mlle. Ward."

"No, no!" His fat cheeks bulged with a smile. "Mlle. Ward"—he pronounced it "Ware"—"is magnificent. Every one must fly to obey when she opens her mouth. It needs only a glance to perceive that Mlle. Ward is a great lady, but Mme. d'Armand—aha!" He rolled his round eyes to an effect of unspeakable admiration. "But monsieur knows very well for himself."

"We were speaking of the present chatelaine of Quesnay, Mlle. Ward. I have never heard of Mme. d'Armand."

"Monsieur is serious?"

"Truly!" I answered, making bold to quote his shibboleth.

"Then monsieur has truly much to live for. Truly!" he chuckled openly.

He had cleared the table.

"Amedee," I said, "who is Mme. d'Armand?"

"A guest of Mlle. Ward at Quesnay; in fact, she is in charge of the chateau, since Mlle. Ward is, for the time, away."

"Is she a Frenchwoman?"

"It seems not. In fact, she is an American, though she dresses with so much of taste. Ah, Mme. Brossard admits it, and Mme. Brossard knows the art of dressing."

"Then monsieur has truly much to live for. Truly!"

"Mme. d'Armand's name is French," I observed.

"Yes; that is true," said Amedee thoughtfully. "No one can deny it; it is a French name." He rested the tray upon a stump near by and scratched his head. "I do not understand how that can be," he continued slowly. "Jean Ferret, who is chief gardener at the chateau, is an acquaintance of mine, and Jean Ferret has told me that she is an American."

"I believe," said I, "that if I struggled a few days over this puzzle I might come to the conclusion that Mme. d'Armand is an American lady who has married a Frenchman."

The old man uttered an exclamation of triumph.

"Ha! Without doubt! Truly she must be an American lady who has married a Frenchman. Monsieur has already solved the puzzle. Truly, truly!" And he betook himself across the darkness to emerge in the light of the open door of the kitchen with the word still rumbling in his throat.

I rose from the chair on my little porch to go to bed, but I was reminded of something and called to him.

"Monsieur?" his voice came briskly.

"How often do you see your friend, Jean Ferret, the gardener of Quesnay?"

"Frequently, monsieur. Tomorrow morning I could easily carry a message if"—

"That is precisely what I do not wish. And you may as well not mention me at all when you meet him."

"It is understood—perfectly."

"If it is well understood there will be a beautiful present for a good maitre d'hotel some day."

"Thank you, monsieur."

IN TOUCH WITH FRIENDS and RELATIVES

A GRANDMOTHER may not be as spry as she used to be, but she is in close touch with her world for all that.

The telephone enables her to make as many calls as she pleases, and in all sorts of weather.

It is such benefits as these that make the home telephone, once installed, indispensable to the family.

Grandmother's telephone visits do not stop with her own town. The Long Distance Service of the Bell Telephone takes her to other towns, and allows relatives and friends to chat with her although hundreds of miles away.

A New Back for an Old One—How it is Done in Plainfield.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Plainfield citizen.

Albert Naylor, 519 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several years ago I was afflicted with a dull ache in the small of my back and sharp pains darted through me when I stooped or lifted. I was told that Doan's Kidney Pills were a sure cure for such troubles and procuring a supply at Randolph's Pharmacy, I began their use. Two boxes of this remedy fixed me up in good shape and I have often recommended it since to other persons suffering as I did."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

PARK CLUB'S TEAM DEFEATS ELIZABETH

The Park club five took three games from the Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. on the local courts, last night, in the Central Bowling League tournament, all by good sized scores. They won the first game by a score of 944 to 833, the second by a score of 881 to 859 and the third by a score of 931 to 873. The Parks were in fine condition for bowling, as is shown by the good scores put up.

In the first game, Lyman rolled a double century, while Ball put up a 204. In the second game, Barlow rolled a 202 and in the third game he put up a 203. The other scores were uniformly good.

Bleicher was high man for Elizabeth, rolling a 198 in the first game, and while the scores of the visitors were generally quite good, they were unable to overcome with the good work of the Parks. The scores:

Harold Firstbrook Celebrates.

Harold Firstbrook, of Grant avenue, was twelve years old Monday, and in celebration of the event he entertained a number of his friends at a birthday party last night. About a dozen guests were present.

REV. DR. W. R. RICHARDS

manifested in his parish life at home gave way to the open joy and exhilaration of the camp life, the horseback riding, the unusual walks, and the strange sights and sounds of the intensely colored and kaleidoscopic Orient.

When at home in repose his countenance had been sometimes wearied in its look, as if his shoulders carried a great weight, a look which alas! has been deepening since he later took up the burdens of a strenuous pastorate in the city of New York. But all this left him under the sunny skies of Italy and Greece, and especially amid the flower-crowned hills of Galilee. He was then a boy in exuberance, a child in his simple tastes, but above all a full-rounded, well-equipped, open-eyed, happy traveler, doing the very thing which he most longed to do in the way of travel. He was looking with his own eyes upon the very ground over which the saints of old had passed, and where the great sermons of his Lord and Master had been preached to his handful of disciples. Saddened he must have ben at some of the spectacles by the wayside, especially at the impoverishment and gross fanaticism of the men and women who now form the population of Palestine. But he rose above all depression, and was so serenely self-contained and at times so jubilant that he made fatigues seem as delights and hardships as pastimes. There were moments when he proved himself to be a master among men, as when he stilled the turbulence of two Mohammedan drivers who quarrelled on the road from Jericho, and by a quiet exhibition of muscular force and dignified disapproval compelled them to throw aside the stones in their hands with which each sought to take the other's life. But he could be the jolliest of the party in joking around the camp-fire at evening time; he could sing with his melodious bass voice, in the truest spirit of tenderness, the beautiful "Galilee, sweet Galilee!" on the banks of that holy lake; he could walk in the rain around the city walls of Jerusalem and hum melodies as he passed on; he could give that smile so constantly characteristic of him, which fairly transfigured his countenance, as easily when conversing with the aged monk in the Garden of Gethsemane as when he climbed the Pyramids and assured us he was refreshed by it, when others were complaining of dislocated joints; and he could feast with Arabs at an evening wedding festival (as related by him in the last sermon he prepared, which Dr. van-Dyke read from the Brick church pulpit two days ago). In all circumstances, good, bad or indifferent, such as come to all travelers, he proved himself to be in a remarkable degree a model fellow-traveler and friend. Those were hallowed days, indeed, and nothing comes up now in memory concerning those days with greater vividness and even personal helpfulness than the splendid and royal and joyous Christian character of Dr. Richards.

As a preacher, Dr. Richard's style and logic were forceful in proportion as one heard him week after week. He was not an orator and he was the reverse of sensational. His language though carefully studied, was always plain and direct; in the use of simple words he had the characteristics of the style of Theodore Roosevelt. He had no liking for the complex or abstruse in stating his propositions. There is no easier religious reading than his numerous printed sermons; a child can understand them. The beauty of his style, to my mind, lay in this simplicity of diction, and in the cumulative arguments, with which, as a rule, his sermons (especially his carefully written out morning sermons) were bound to convince the hearer. As he advanced in his subject step by step, the argument grew, as from the acorn to the oak. No point was dropped out by the way, but each one stood side by side until the final one clinched the whole. He had evidently carefully studied Scripture dialectics (in the best sense of the term) and knew how first to convince the reason and then to stir into life dormant emotions. By the very ingenuity of his felicitously put reasoning he constrained attention and compelled adhesion to his own clear cut views. He would have made a grand lawyer, but he well knew that he was practising before a higher court than that of a single earthly judge. His court was that of many human consciences, and above, on the appellate bench, was a Judge whose law was final and perfect.

If any one of his admirable collections of published sermons exhibits his methods of reasoning better than another, it is his "God's Choice of Men." In that series will be found "The Second Mile," which finely illustrates the constraining influence of his methods of statement. There are many similar sermons that were notable ones when delivered, and are likely to be influential as long as they are remembered, or whenever they are read anew, and the wonder of them is their extreme simplicity, and yet their potency. The fact was, however, that not alone the sentences, nor the ingenious reasoning surcharged his pulpit utterances with their hidden power, but the grand character of the man himself who stood behind the pulpit! He put all of himself into his message, and this was finely beaten-out gold.

I doubt if any plainer, healthier, or more robust guide to human conduct in all the ordinary relations of life can be found, outside of the Bible itself, than is contained in Dr. Richard's several published volumes of sermons.

Perhaps the most commented upon characteristic of Dr. Richards' sermons was that one never knew when he began his discourse how or about what it was going to end. Not that he did not stick to his text, because he did this to a degree far above that of the average preacher, but one could not tell whether the ultimate goal was to be a quiet appeal to the unconverted, or the holding up of a high Scriptural plane of living for the guidance of church members, or the striking of a blow at some sore in the body politic, or an indorsement of some measure of reform, or the presentation of a benevolent cause for the outturning of the contents of the pocketbooks of his congregation. In the latter case he invariably won over the scruples of those whose natures were not too liberal toward missions or other religious objects needing money; in fact without any direct appeals for benevolent contributions he was the most successful collector for such causes whom I have ever heard preach. In the former cases his congregations always left his church with the feeling that they had heard the pure and unadulterated Gospel presented in an original and timely form, and with a spur to it distinctly intended to reform and ennoble character and sweeten the graces of the Christian life.

What Dr. Richards was in the councils of his ministerial brethren and in the boards of the church others better know. What he was at the few clubs whose meetings he delighted to attend, and at family gatherings, where the playfulness of his mind and a quick repartee were always in evidence when in place, is a matter which will not soon be forgotten. But in the pulpit he will be most sorely missed, for there his torch put forth a light pure, tranquil and strong, too strong to be extinguished by his death. Here, just as in the street and home, he was always and exactly himself. Without ostentation of learning, he had deeply drunk of the wells of knowledge. Without practice of unnatural oratory, whose effect would have been meretricious, he always spoke to the point and quit when he had finished. Without show of pride, he was justly sensitive to a good name, prizing it above all other riches. Craving not fame, he has secured it in the affectionate tribute of regard which all who knew him now gladly render. Unostentatious in his life, his was a knightly soul, and it departed from us almost as the spirit of Elisha, by translation. Or as Enoch, who in a moment "was not, for God took him!"

FOR INTER-CITY LEAGUE

The Plainfield Baseball Club to Become a Member of Association.

HELD ITS ANNUAL ELECTION.

Brit Martin Again President and Captain—Casting About For a New Diamond.

Plainfield youths who hold ambitions of becoming baseball stars will be accorded the opportunity of advancing in the sport, as well as becoming members of the Plainfield Baseball Club team for 1910, by Manager Ernest Dorflinger next spring. Mr. Dorflinger, who is also a scout for several minor league clubs, has determined to open an outdoor school for trying out local players of promise, before the opening of next season.

Players who display the necessary speed will be given a fair chance to make the local nine, which will compare in strength, to the New Brunswick and Somerville nines. Mr. Dorflinger's intentions are to give local boys the first call in the make-up of the Plainfield nine and if he is unable to complete the team with Plainfield talent, he will fill the positions with out of town players.

The club at its annual meeting last night re-elected all of its former officers, as follows: President and captain, Brit Martin; vice president, Norman Barnes; secretary, Adam Shott; assistant secretary, James Steele; treasurer and manager, Ernest Dorflinger.

It was decided to put a team on the field whether the Crescent Oval is available or not. Several new sites are under consideration and some definite information on the ground question is expected to be forthcoming in the next few weeks.

An inter-city series which should promote big interest among the fans will be arranged between Plainfield, New Brunswick and Somerville, and Dorflinger is confident of organizing a combination that will be able to carry off the championship honors.

EXCISE RECOMMENDATION

Lawmakers Receive Mr. Fisk's Suggestions for Needed Legislation.

PROHIBITION NOT FAVORED.

Stringent Regulation Solution of Problem and Some Advice Is Given as Requested.

Members of the commission appointed by Governor Fort to investigate the subject of excise in the State have not infrequently been consulted by members of the Legislature regarding their views upon the subject of excise legislation. Responding to such requests Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, who was chairman of the commission, and Peter Backes, of Trenton, a member and counsel, have prepared a letter, the substance of which has been sent to members of the present Legislature who have sought information from them.

Both Mayor Fisk and Mr. Backes inclined to the view expressed by Governor Fort in his message to the Legislature on Tuesday that prohibition is an unlikely condition in this State, but insist that a proper regulation of the liquor traffic is essential to the State's best interests. The latter in part says:

"At the outset, it is well to bear in mind that the policy of this State in relation to this traffic has always been one of regulation rather than prohibition. Thus we find as early as 1797, a statute regulating inns and taverns. This statute was revised in 1846 and is now, together with supplements and amendments, the fundamental law upon this subject.

"We next find that the Legislature, in 1872, enacted a law which regulates the sale of malt liquors, and then next in order we find the act which has become known as the Werts act, in 1888. This act was, in its day, a high license measure, and, for the first time this statute fixed a minimum license fee, based on population to be charged for a license. This act also included a local option feature which was declared unconstitutional.

"Next in order, we find the Legislature amending the Werts act in 1906, the amendment becoming known to fame as the Bishop's Law. This amendment fixed a higher minimum license fee, prohibited back rooms, provided for the exposure of the bar rooms, forbade the selling to minors, and, in case of revocation, prohibited the granting of a new license to the person or in the place for a period of one year.

"In addition to the foregoing acts, it became the practice of the Legislature to grant special charaters giving the municipailities the right to grant licenses for inns and taverns, and after the adoption of the constitutional prohibition, against such charters, the practice became common to incorporate such privileges in general municipal corporation acts. They all provided, however, that the licenses should be granted in accordance with the act regulating the granting of licenses to inns and taverns.

"And within recent years the Legislature has, by general statute, taken from the municipal governing body this right, and has placed it in local excise boards. Such boards were either elected, as in Elizabeth, Camden and Trenton, or were appointed by the mayor, as in Jersey City and Newark, or were appointed by the judge of the court of common pleas, which is the practice in third class cities. But the adoption of these acts was optional with the municipality, and we thus find that in Paterson and Atlantic City the licenses are still granted by the Common Council, and the foregoing statutes recognized the right of each municipality to regulate its own internal affairs, there being no limit to the number of licenses which could be granted, and, since the enactment of the Werts act, was only limited by the fixing of a minimum license fee.

"This power which was by the Legislature vested in the local board or governing body, became a subject of great abuse. Especially was this true in the larger cities, where licenses were gratned to favorite political workers, to agents and representatives of breweries, without limitation as to the number, and on the payment of the minimum license fee fixed by law, without giving any heed whatever to the existence of a demand or the necessity for a licensed place, or whether the same would be conducive to the public good or not.

"In recent years frequent attempts to obtain legislation to abolish the traffic in intoxicating liquors have been made, and it is urged that every community should have the right to determine for itself whether intox-

COMMITTEE MEETINGS OF COMMON COUNCIL

The Councilmanic license committee held a meeting last night as did the laws and ordinances committee as to matters pertaining to their departments, at the mayor's office, last night. Tomorrow night the police committee will hold a meeting at the mayor's office. The playgrounds' commission will meet at the same place on Saturday night.

On Friday afternoon Mayor Fisk will meet the heads of all municipal departments to receive their suggestions and to review as well as to forecast the work. These conferences will be held on each succeeding Friday afternoons during the year.

At an early date the fire committee will hold a meeting to consider the mayor's suggestions, as contained in his recent message, for the good of that department.

MORNING SONG RECITAL FOR WHITE PLAGUE FUND

The morning song recital given at the home of Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., of Belvidere avenue, yesterday, for the benefit of the Plainfield Society for the Relief and Prevention of Tuberculosis, was a charming affair. The recital was given by Miss Christine Miller, contralto, who has been heard here on several occasions and more recently at the McIntyre Chamber Music concert on Monday night. Mr. McIntyre in addition to being the accompanist yesterday, also favored the audience with a group of piano selections.

The audience was so enthusiastic over the singing of Miss Miller and the playing of Mr. McIntyre that the artists were obliged to give several encores.

Perhaps, the most interesting part of Miss Miller's program was her singing of a group of true Indian songs, as well as a group of Gypsy, German and Scotch songs. It is seldom that one is accorded the ovation given by Miss Miller and the applause was frequent and enthusiastic.

Mr. McIntyre gave a group of Russian compositions and his interpretation, as well as execution, was perfect. For encores he gave several popular numbers. Mr. McIntyre gave his services for the recital, and a substantial sum will be realized as profit for the tuberculosis society and its commendable work here. After the recital Mrs. Wharton gave a luncheon to a limited number of friends.

HEAVENLY REST'S MEN PROVIDE ENTERTAINMENT

The parish house of the Church of the Heavenly Rest was filled to its utmost capacity last night when the Men's Club entertained over two hundred of its friends, and when incidentally something over seventy-five dollars were added to the club's treasury. It was the largest gathering ever seen in the growing parish and it was most enthusiastic in its applause of the entertainers.

Harry Lundy was an added star in the firmament of artists and with his comic songs and local jokes kept the audience in roars of laughter Judge William N. Runyon, who is never at a loss for a song, helped out in the program and sang the "Old Maid" so well that he was rewarded with numerous encores.

Because of the absence of one of the members of the male quartet the numbers allotted to them were cancelled, but the entire entertainment was a success despite the handicap. The club has arranged for some interesting speakers for the balance of the season, among whom will be Mayor Charles J. Fisk.

Juniors to Give Euchre Parties.

The members of Franklin and Somerset Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., have arranged to hold a series of progressive euchre parties. They will be continued until April 1. The first party will be held tonight under the auspices of Franklin Council. A week from tonight one will be held under the auspices of Somerset Council. The committee of arrangements comprise Louis Hall and Hary Nolte, of Franklin Council, and Joseph England and George Romond, of Somerset Council.

Mrs. Randolph Dead.

Mrs. Catharine Randolph, died this afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, from a complication of diseases. She is survived by a son, Howard, and a daughter, Mrs. W. B. R. Mason, of Bound. Brook. Notice of the funeral will be published tomorrow.

MERE MAN OSTRACIZED

But the Dunellen G. E. Club Failed to Feaze Walter Nelson's Appetite.

WHO PLAYED "HORRID" JOKE?

That is the Question Which is Puzzling the Minds of the Women Folk of New Market and Dunellen.

Such a thing as a man, married or single, or even a prospective benedict, entering within the portals of the G. E. Club of Dunellen and New Market, was up until last night considered as one of the big impossibilities of this life. Such a task was considered about as difficult as the old Biblical story relative to a camel being able to pass through the eye of the needle.

But—when the history of the G. E. Club is filed away into the archives of time, the name of Walter Nelson, of New Market, whose engagement to Miss Ruth Gardner, one of the leading spirits in the organization, was recently announced, will be inscribed as the first man to be admitted to a session of the club.

By what means Mr. Nelson received an invitation to attend the meeting of the club at the home of Miss Cora Dayton last night is not known, but he received the necessary document, and reported in time for the regular feast which is always a leading feature of the semi-monthly meet.

It is needless to state that there were gasps galore among the members when Mr. Nelson arrived. There were several excited "What will we do" conferences, but when a member imbued with twentieth century ideas, suggested that he be permitted to share the repast—in silence—the ancient ban on men, which had been in existence during the forty-seven years of existence of the club, was dispensed with.

When the dinner bell sounded eleven members took their seats and Mr. Nelson was given the seat of honor at the head of the table.

"Horrors upon horrors," murmured one of the members: "Is it really true that there is a man with us or am I in a trance?"

"Hush, Hush!" whispered another.

There was roast chicken and all the "fixins" including cranberry sauce, pumpkin and mince pie, in two-inch thick slices. Mr. Nelson started to throw bouquets at the young women for preparing such a charming and appetizing feast. The salt and pepper were passed. Mr. Nelson was proffered extra pieces of pie, but not a word was spoken by the G. E. members.

Some of the young women twittered now and then, but when it come to talking, they were mute. They left it to Mr. Nelson to do all the talking. "Quite a big joke," he mused after he finished his fourth piece of pie and helped himself to a toothpick, and prepared himself for his homeward trip. Mr. Nelson before departing thanked and wished all of the members good night, but "silence" was adhered to.

Those who sat around the "silent festive' board in addition to Mr. Nelson were Mrs. A. G. Nelson, Mrs. Ogden Meeker, Mrs. Herbert Benwood, Mrs. Alfred Osmun and the Misses Cora and Iva Dayton, Alice Pierce, Irene Day, Ruth Gardner, Rita Meeker and Violet Bodine

The significance of its name has always been a secret. "G. E," according to some of the wiseacres of the villages, stands for "get engaged," "great expectation," "girl's embroidery," or the "great eating" club. During the last ten years eight male candidates for membership have been blackballed.

When the club was originally organized old maids were only eligible for membership. This rule was observed for about thirty years, then the rules were modified. About ten years ago the club was re-organized, and at that time a rule was adopted making married and unmarried women eligible for membership.

DECREE NISI GRANTED TO MRS. EUGENE MOORE.

Vice-Chancellor Garrison has advised a decree nisi to grant to Anna Moore, of West Seventh street, an absolute divorce from her husband, Eugene A. Moore, on statutory grounds. Mrs. Moore has been living with her father, Mr. Walter E. Stewart, for more than two years.

In the litigation Mrs. Moore was represented by Craig A. Marsh.

Service for Mrs. Linbarger.

The funeral services of Mrs. Sarah R. Linbarger will be held at her late residence, 293 Somerset street, on Saturday afternoon at 1:30. The interment will be in the family plot at Bound Brook.

GOLDEN WEDDING NIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hatfield Celebrate a Half Century of Happy Married Life.

RECIPIENTS OF MANY GIFTS.

More Than a Hundred Guests Gather to Offer Congratulations to Couple Well Known In This Section.

If Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hatfield ever had a more pleasant evening during the fifty years of their married life than they enjoyed last night, neither one of them can remember it. Surrounded by friends to the number of more than a hundred and congratulations pouring in from those who were unable to attend the celebration of the golden wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield were more than pleased with the tokens of friendship which were extended to them.

The Knights of Pythias, of which Mr. Hatfield is one of the oldest members, presented him with a handsome emblem of the order, made of gold and inlaid with embossed jewels. Many other beautiful gifts of gold were received by the couple. One especially notable present was a set of solid silver spoons inlaid with gold and several gold pieces of money.

During the evening refreshments were served by Warnock and music furnished by Judge William N. Runyon kept the guests in fine humor. The presentation of the emblem of the K. of P. was one of the most pleasing features. Lawyer Case handed the charm to Mr. Hatfield while delivering a speech full of feeling and the happy couple were in the midst of responding in kind when the other surprises were sprung on them.

Among the members of Mr. Hatfield's family present were Mrs. William Butcher, of Camden, and William Hatfield, of Philadelphia. Other guests from Newburgh, N. Y.; Weehawken, Somerville and this city, helped to make the evening a pleasant one. Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield said this morning that they would cherish the memory of the event until time for them is no more. They appreciate the thoughtfulness of the friends who remembered them and hope to live for many years longer in the harmony which has always characterized their lives. Neither one looked last night as though they had been through a half century of life, to say nothing of fifty years of married happiness. The congratulations were hearty and spontaneous and were appreciated by the happy couple.

ARTHUR WHITE TALMAGE DEAD AT PRESCOTT, ARIZ.

Arthur White Talmadge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Talmadge, of Belvidere avenue, died at Prescott, Arizona, on Monday, of lung trouble. He had been afflicted with the disease for sometime and last June went to Prescott in the hopes that the change would prove beneficial. This was only temporary and the best of medical skill was unavailing.

Mr. Talmadge was well known here, where he had a host of friends. Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother, Frank Talmadge and two sisters, Miss Talmadge and Mrs. Daniel Runkle, of this city. The funeral arrangements have not been announced as yet by the family.

CITIZENS TO ACCEPT MR. PARKER'S OFFER

In order to have a proper understanding and make arrangements for the gift made by A. McClean Parker to the city of a playground for the use of the High School, Y. M. C. A. and Sunday School Athletic Association, there will be a meeting in the office of Mayor Charles J. Fisk Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

The following men will be present at Mayor Fisk's invitation to discuss the subject: George P. Mellick J. W. Gavett, Lindsay Best, J. E. Kimball, W. D. Murray, Charles W. McCutchen, representing the Sunday School Athletic League; President R. I. Tolles and F. E. Mygatt, of the Common Council and Judge William N. Runyon. To these must be added the name of Mayor Fisk, who will assist at the deliberations. There is no doubt whatever that the playground will be one of the finest in the country and its proper supervision will be of paramount importance to the city.

MAYOR EXPLAINS PLAN

Mr. Fisk Does Not Consider Boston Theory Similar to His Idea.

STANDS BY RECOMMENDATIONS.

Civil Service for Subordinates Would Prevent Mayor Building A Political Machine.

When Mayor Charles J. Fisks's attention was called today to the result of the election in Boston, where the new charter's provision are on somewhat similar lines to the recommendations made by the local executive in his message to the city fathers, he declined to discuss the Boston situation. He made plain his own theory of municipal government and went further in his proposition than what he said in his message.

"I don't know anything about Boston politics and it would be foolish for me to discuss the result of that election," said Mr. Fisk. "I presume, however, that the majority of the people in that city wanted Mr. Fitzgerald for mayor or else they would not have elected him. Basing my premises on an editorial in the Newark News I cannot see that my statement in my message is similar to the Boston charter provisions. I can readily see that a mayor could build up a powerful machine if he had all the patronage at his disposal. But you will not say that I specifically declare myself in favor of civil service for all subordinate employees of the city save heads of departments. I cannot see how a mayor could form a machine when the employees are protected by civil service.

"What I do say," continued Mr. Fisk' "is that if a mayor—put a big 'If' there—is to be held responsible by the people for the municipal government, then I say that he should have the right to select his own heads of departments. If these heads of departments are not performing their duties as they should then the mayor should have power to remove them. I go further. I say that the mayor himself should be subject to removal if he is a rascal. This power might be vested in the Governor, the courts or other high authority, but neither the mayor nor his heads of departments should be removed until after they are given a hearing.

"My recommendations are similar to those in the Galveston charter. In Chicago the mayor appoints his own heads of departments and therefore should have a responsible administration. It is my belief that if the mayor is to be held responsible then the province of the Common Council is to make up a budget for the various departments and to pass such ordinances as they deem proper. Then it is up to the mayor to see that the money is spent as intended. If a head of a department fails to do this, then I say the mayor should remove him and place a man in charge who will carry out the purpose of the Common Council."

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR MERCHANTS' FEAST

The committee in charge of the annual banquet to be given Thursday night, January 20, by the Plainfield Merchants' Association at Truell Hall, has completed all arrangements for the affair. While last year's banquet was conceded to be one of the best ever given here, the committee promises to excell it this year. The dinner will be served promptly at 7 o'clock.

Thus far about 250 tickets have been sold and those desiring tickets should secure them before Monday.

William L. Saunders, of North Plainfield, has been secured as the toastmaster for the occasion, and the speakers will be Job. E. Hedges and John N. Beach, of New York.

Those who have been assigned seats at the speakers' table include Mayor Charles Joel Fisk, of this city; Mayor Newton B. Smalley, of North Plainfield; Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church; Rev. Geo. A. Warner, rector of the Church of the Holy Cross; James E. Martine, Alexander Gilbert and A. E. Force, the last named being president of the Plainfield Merchants' Association.

The committee has made arrangements with the Public Service Corporation for special trolley accommodations on the Netherwood line and the company assures the association that a sufficient number of cars will be operated to take the guests to and from Truell Hall.

LUNCHEON IN HONOR OF A BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Ethel Millar, of Madison avenue, gave a luncheon yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Marguerite Ostrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Ostrom, whose marriage to Raymond Smith, of Madison avenue, will occur on Wednesday, January 19. The guests included the members of her class at the Plainfield Seminary: Miss Millar, Miss Marguerite Carpenter, Miss Marion Brown, Miss Susanne Wharton, Miss Marguerite Ostrom and Miss Isabel Taylor.

The decorations comprised sweet peas and bride roses and the arrangements was most attractive. There were also attractive favors for the guests. Miss Ostrom was showered with congratulations and altogether the affair was a delightful one.

TEMPLE BAPTISTS HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETING

The election of two trustees and reception of reports from all the societies made the annual business meeting of Temple Baptist church, last night, an interesting one. Rev. J. W. Musson, the pastor, presided and the organizations reporting included the Christian Endeavor Society, King's Daughters, Junior Christian Endeavor Society, Ladies' Aid Society, Sunday-school, financial secretary, treasurer, trustees, deacons, clerk and pastor.

Ira L. LaRue and George Viebrock who were previously elected trustees for one year, were re-elected for a term of three years.

The church, which is now one year old, started with a membership of 106 and during the past year thirteen new members were received, making the present enrollment 119.

On December 30, 1908, there was a balance of $168.87 and the total receipts last year from all sources were $2,307.60, which together with the balance made a total of $24,076.53. The expenditures for the past year amounted to $22,036.05, leaving a balance on December 31, 1909, of $440.48. The trustees presented their annual budget of expenses for the coming year, which is the same as last year.

Charles W. McCutchen, who was formerly president of the board of trustees, sent a letter of congratulations to the church upon what had been accomplished during the past year. L. W. Randolph is now president of the board of trustees. The church has paid all indebtedness and starts the year with a balance in the treasury.

MISS KING INTRODUCED AT RECEPTION AND TEA

Mrs. Charles W. King, of 911 Watchung avenue, gave a reception at her home yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, the occasion being the debut of her daughter, Miss Lillian King. The affair was largely attended by residents of this city and vicinity, including many of the younger society set. The debutante was showered with beautiful floral gifts, as an evidence of her popularity.

Among those who received with Mrs. King and her daughter were Mrs. DeWitt C. Ivins, Mrs. Frank S. Martin, Mrs. Charles E. Brooks and Mrs. Henry E. Bowen.

Those who assisted in the dining-room were Mrs. Gerald Carle, Mrs. Walter L. C. Glenney, Mrs. John Swan, Miss Ella Martine, Miss Malcolm MacKenzie and Miss Elsie Martin.

These young women also aided in the reception: Miss Hope Ivins, Miss Louise Booth, Miss Caroline Martin, Miss Marguerite Carpenter, Miss Ruth Waldo, Miss Anne Waldo, Miss Edith Mellick and Miss Elizabeth Tweedy.

The prevailing color of the decorations in the dining-room was pink, and these together with the numerous floral gifts received by Miss King, made an attractive sight which was greatly admired by the guests.

Fourth Addition to Factory.

Building Inspector Doane today issued a permit to the Spicer Universal Joint Company to erect another addition to its factory. The new structure will be erected on Madison avenue, and will be the fourth addition to the factory since the company started in business about three years ago.

GASOLENE CAUSED FIRE

Sets Woman's Clothing Afire and Results in Serious Injuries.

MRS. V. CHICKERING BURNED.

First Aid Rendered By Chief T. O. Doane—Suffering Intensely From Burns.

Mrs. Virginia Chickering, a sister of Mrs. Charles P. Leggett, of 822 Madison avenue, was painfully burned about her face, hands and arms, and head by gasolene flames, at the latter's home this morning about 9 o'clock.

The fire was of an unusual origin. Mrs. Chickering was engaged in cleaning some articles of clothing with gasolene in the bathroom of the house. Friction caused by the constant rubbing of the gasolene on the clothing caused a spark to ignite the gasolene saturated clothing.

Without any warning there was a puff of smoke and flames shot upward, inflicting burns on Mrs. Chickering's body. When she realized her danger she shouted for help, and Mrs. Leggett hastened to her assistance. The latter by smothering the flames with a small rug saved her sister from death.

The flames from the burning clothing set fire to several rugs and curtains in the bath room and the wainscotting of the room also caught fire. Fire headquarters was notified by telephone, and five minutes later an alarm from box 78 was sent in which brought all of the downtown companies to the house. They had little to do, however, as the contents of a tank of chemicals extinguished the flames.

Fire Chief Doane assisted the family in rendering aid to Mrs. Chickering until the arrival of Dr. P. J. Zeglio. The injured woman suffered intensely from pain, and unless unfavorable complications set in, she will recover.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT PAID TO HER MEMORY

Resolutions of respect on the death of Mrs. A. L. Force were passed by the Marconnier chapel congregation at a meeting when several members spoke feelingly of her life and character. The resolution follows:

Whereas, We have received the sad intelligence of the decease of Mrs. Clarissa M. B. Force, whose beautiful life and character have brought its heavenly reward, and the remembrance of which will ever be a helpful influence to those who knew and loved her and to all who came within the reach of her Christian ministrations, be it

Resolved, That we hereby extend our deepest sympathy to her husband, Mr. A. L. Force, our beloved friend and Elder, praying that God may support him in this severe trial with His sufficient grace.

The Ladies Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, of which Mrs. Force was for several terms president, has also taken action on her death. These resolutions have been received by the family:

Resolved, That we herewith bear tribute to the Christian character, her unflagging zeal and faithfulness in any work to which she was assigned; her great faith in the ability of the society to accomplish any work given it to do, and her genial manner that inspired enthusiasm in her coworkers.

Resolved, That while we, as members of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, bow in submission to the Divine will, we with tender hearts extend to the bereaved husband and daughter, our sincere sympathy for them in their loss of a devoted wife and mother.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed upon the minutes of our society, and that a copy be sent to the bereaved family and sent to the Christian Intelligencer.

MRS. CORNELIA CLAYTON PASSES AWAY AT TRENTON.

Mrs. Cornelia S. Clayton, wife of Robert Clayton, and a sister of Miss M. H. Hoagland, of Manning avenue, died at her home in Trenton on Tuesday, aged forty-four years. She was only ill a few days. Mr. Clayton was engaged in the milk business and amassed a considerable fortune. Mrs. Clayton was well-known here, where she had many friends.

Surviving are five children, all grown up; three daughters and two sons. One daughter is married. The funeral services will be held from the late home in Trenton, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

HERE AND THERE.

Chicken train jumpers and ride stealers are exceedingly rare on the Jersey Central. Whether such practices are considered too hazardous by the members of this tribe is not definitely known, but the doings of a speckled hen, that stole a ride from Clinton avenue to Grant avenue the morning, on the New York express that leaves this city at 7:30 a. m. made conductor "Charley" Dodwell and his crew sit up and take notice.

As the train stopped at Clinton avenue to take on passengers, the hen, which is of six-pound proportions, displayed a spirit of bravado by hopping on the rear platform of the last car. The car started, and although the hen had ample opportunity to alight, she decided to stick to the train and have a free ride.

When the Grant avenue depot was reached the hen exuded a loud cackle, leaped off the steps, and excitedly made its way through a crowd of commuters, and disappeared in an open lot.

THIS ORGANIZATION IS THE "BUZZARDS' CLUB."

The Independent Social Club held a spirited meeting Tuesday night in its room in the Babcock building. The meeting was called especially for the purpose of adopting a new name for the organization, the committee appointed to prepare a list reported having listed fifty different titles. After a discussion of an hour the name of "Buzzards' Club" was chosen, and hereafter the club room will be known as "Buzzards' Roost."

Various other matters were discussed, including the advisability of securing larger and more commodious headquarters as the membership is increasing rapidly. The treasurer's report showed a neat balance and in consequence in the near future the club members intend to furnish the "Buzzards' Roost" with furniture of the latest design.

A GOSPEL PREACHER.

Rev. William R. Richards, D.D., pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York, who died suddenly last week, devoted the latter part of his ministerial life to New Jersey. For sixteen years he was pastor in Plainfield, leaving the church there in response to a call to the larger field in New York.

It is interesting to know that when Dr. Richards was examined before the Presbytery of Elizabeth, there were those who felt impelled to question his orthodoxy and who rather reluctantly voted to license him to preach. All these good, strict old ministers and elders have passed away, but they lived long enough to love Dr. Richards for his scholarship, for his Christian zeal and his plain but strong preaching. He constantly refused to stoop to sensational topics or sensational methods. He was a noble example of the kind of preacher the people need. He had no difficulty in drawing large congregations to all his services, he never lacked funds for carrying on church work. He preached the Gospel only, as applied to the needs of human nature.—Newark News.

A REVOLUTIONARY HERO.

The real origin of the greatest fake hero story every told has come to light in a scrapbook owned by an old resident of Washington.

A group of Revolutionary heroes were standing before an old bar in Washington, and from the lips of each there fell wondrous stories of what he had done in the shock of battle or the frenzy of the charge. Finally one old fellow with a long white wiskers remarked:

"I was personally acquainted with George Washington.

"I was lying behind the breastworks one day pumping lead into the Britishers when I heard the patter of a horse's hoofs behind me. Then came a voice:

"'Hi, there! You with the deadly aim! Look here a moment!'

"I looked around and sighted, recognizing General Washington, and he said:

"'What's your name?'

"'Hogan,' I said.

"'Your first name?'

"'Pat, sir—Pat Hogan.'

"'Well, Pat,' he said, 'go home. You're killing too many men.'

"'I think I'd better get a few more, general,' I said, kind of apologetic.

"'No,' he said, 'you've killed too many. It's slaughter. And, Pat, don't call me general. Call me George.'"—Washington Star.

HOME CURE FOR ECZEMA.

Does it not seem strange that so many people suffer year in and year out with eczema?

A 25-cent bottle of a simple wash stops the itch and will surely convince any patient.

This wash is composed of mild and soothing oil of wintergreen mixed with thymol and glycerine, etc., and known as D. D. D. Prescription. We do not know how long the D. D. D. Labortories will continue the 25c offer, as the remedy is regularly sold only in $1.00 bottles and has never before been put on the market on any special offers.

If you want relief tonight try a bottle at 25c on our personal recommendation.

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

GOLF.

Although the Baltusrol Golf Club is not in line for any championship for next season, the officials of this well known New Jersey organization have already decided upon an active campaign. One move under consideration is to hold an open tournament for women, the idea being to have the contest attract the best players in the East. No decision has as yet been reached with regard to the date, but it is not unlikely that a week in the spring will meet with the most favor.

Apropos of this, it is worthy of remembering that the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association may decide to change the time for holding its annual championship tournament from spring to fall, and should this be done the Baltusrol open meet, probably in May, would prove all the more welcome. The women enjoy indulging in the competitive side of the game in the spring, but an early date has always had its disadvantages as to weather.

No matter what tournament will be held over its course, the Baltusrol Golf Club will be in better condition than ever to accommodate visitors. The new clubhouse is one of the most attractive of its kind to be found anywhere in this part of the country, while the course, under skilful treatment, continues to improve. The wide hazard guarding the home green was still further altered during the fall, as from its depths tons of sand were taken. So as not to have the hazard too penalizing, part of the excavation has been refilled. There is a spring close at hand, and this has suggested a partial water hazard as well.

That the professional golfers of this country and Great Britain will ere long measure strength and skill in actual conflict is now a settled fact. It was learned recently that H. H. Barker, secretary of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association, had received assurances from the other side which makes it certain that the American representatives will be accommodated with not only one but several matches.

At a meeting of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association held a few weeks ago in New York city, it was decided to issue a challenge to the foreign golfers for a team match, and Barker was instructed to communicate with the "pros" in Great Britain on behalf of the Eastern body. At the same time Alec Smith, the Eastern and metropolitan open champion, was chosen captain.

There is no desire on the part of the visiting "pros" to array themselves against the combined strength of Great Britain in any one test, but rather take on the different professional associations one at a time, an arrangement which would be more equitable, considering that the invading team will consist only of certain members of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association who happen to be abroad this winter. Smith and Dave Hunter, treasurer of the Eastern body, have booked passage from this port on Saturday.

Besides the pair mentioned, others expected to make the American team are Gilbert Nichols, Isaac Mackie, Barker and Peter Robertson. Nearly all of these "pros" finished well up in the national open championship tournament over the Englewood links in June. Although Hunter missed the prize list on that occasion, the Essex county man had the distinction of establishing a new record for the links of 68, figures that still remain unbeaten.

Fighting Their Dismissals.

Rahway, January 13.—Former Street Commissioner B. W. Hughes and other Democratic officials who came under the civil service rules, they claim, in the matter of appointments or dismissals at the outgoing of the old and the incoming of the new council, are preparing to fight for what they call their rights. Mr. Hughes says that the Civil Service Commission will meet at Rahway this week, probably on Wednesday, and then there'll be "something doing." He is confident of winning. Meantime his competitor, William Armstrong, is sharpening up his tools and getting ready for business. The overseer of the poor, Frank Prince, is putting up a strong fight to retain his place, while Judge A. B. Cook and City Clerk Charles Lambert are on the anxious seat or listening for the ground echoes.

$1,200 Fire at Cranford.

Fire broke out at 6 o'clock last Tuesday in the section known as Prospect Park, in the suburbs of Cranford, and partially destroyed a residence owned by Peter Buffo, an Italian. About $1,200 damage was caused by the blaze. The Cranford fire department was called out, but could not give any assistance as the building was beyond the limits of the fire hydrants. The property was partially insured.

Mr. Emerson B. Parvin, the secretary of the American Mercantile Marine Association, will give a lecutre on next Tuesday morning on "The Building of a Ship." The lecture will be illustrated.

THIS PEANUT THIEF GETS TERM IN PRISON

James Green, colored, who was convicted last Friday after a trial without a jury of stealing a peanut-vending machine from the Central Railroad station in Elizabeth, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Atwater in the Court of Special Sessions to eighteen months in State prison at hard labor.

Assistant Prosecutor Walter Hetfield, Jr., requested the judge to impose a heavy sentence on the prisoner. He informed the court that Green was arrested and sent to jail for sixty days about a year ago for breaking into and looting a telephone booth in the Rahway station of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Hetfield also said that Green was arrested in Kenilworth on a petty charge several months ago and escaped from an officer while on the way to the county jail. He was not apprehended again until arrested by Detective Rabig, of the Central Railroad, two weeks ago for stealing the peanut machine.

Green was tried before Judge Atwater on an allegation and found guilty by the judge.

One of the saddest cases to come before the county authorities in some time was that of John Quinn, a fifteen-year-old boy, who was arraigned in the County Juvenile Court before Judge Atwater. Julia Gibson, the boy's mother, surrendered him to the court. She said that he is incorrigible, and despite his youth, has been intoxicated several times. He stays away from home at night and steals from his mother. The boy had pleaded not guilty, but waived trial by jury. He was on the stand yesterday and said that his mother was kind to him. He has been in the care of the probation officer for two and one-half years. Quinn admitted that he had been drinking lately.

Quinn has been arrested four times, and his case was brought before the court by the probation officer. He went to the probation night school, having been suspended from St. Mary's School.

The Rev. William B. Hamilton, assistant probation officer, was on the stand and testified to several facts regarding the boy's case. The judge placed the boy in the care of the probation officers, authorizing them to do what they desired with him.

Louis Westphalen, charged with breaking, entering and stealing, was arraigned, and sentence in his case was suspended.

EXCISE RECOMMENDATION

icating liquors should or should not be sold within its borders.

"The commission of which the writers were members, during 1908, for a period of nearly six months, heard the testimony of more than 300 witnesses, judges, mayors, prosecutors and other public officials in all parts of the State. The findings of this commission were reported to the governor. As a result of the investigation, the commission sought only to bring about a better regulation of the traffic, and, for the purpose of giving to every municipality power to regulate the same within its bounds, it was thought well to recommend the giving of the absolute power to grant or refuse licenses to an elective board of three members, one to be elected every year.

"The amount of the license fee could, in our judgment, be well left to each local board, the Legislature first having fixed a minimum license fee, which should not be less than $500 in all first and second class cities.

"We would call your attention to the fact that under the present laws there is no fixed closing hour, excepting from twelve o'clock midnight, Saturday, until Monday morning. There should be a fixed closing hour throughout the State, not later than one a. m.

"Under the present practice and rules of evidence adopted by the courts, it is more difficult to secure a conviction for a violation of the liquor laws or illegal sale of liquors than it is for murder.

"You will note the recommendations:

"First. Local excise boards elected at special elections with power to grant, refuse and regulate.

"Second. Limited number of licensed places, ratio of not more than one place to every 500 population. No new license to be granted, except to re-place an existing license.

"Third. A minimum license fee throughout the State, not less than $500. Local board to have power to fix maximum fee.

"Fourth. No transfer or assignment of license, except in the case of the decease of a former holder.

"Fifth. Liability of the owner of the property.

"Sixth. Provision for the uniform enforcement of the laws.

"Seventh. A fixed uniform closing hour.

"Eighth. Place open during prohibited hours and persons inside should be prima facie evidence that business is being conducted.

"Ninth. Publication by advertisement of all applications for license. There are other points that are already covered by the present laws.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The complications and difficulties consequent of suddenly transforming a plodding fire-builder into a full fledged king are shown in the latest musical farce comedy to be used by Johnny and Emma Ray as a starring vehicle, and which will be seen at the Plainfield theatre January 20. The title of this jumble of nonsense and music is "King Casey," and is from the pen of Aaron Hoffman, one of the brightest comedy writers of the times. "King Casey' is announced as one of the biggest and most pleasing musical offerings of the season, and local theatregoers who are familiar with the Ray offerings will accept the promise as already fulfilled, while those who may not happen to be so well informed are advised to take no chance by remaining away.

What Texas Has.

While it may be almost impossible for some to appreciate the vast teritory within the borders of the State, a statement of its wonderful resources yet in the infancy of their development and some yet as virgin as when the earth rounded into its present form, will stagger the most credulous.

Texas has—

More wheat lands than both Dakotas.

More corn lands than Illinois.

More fruit lands than California.

More timber lands than Michigan and Wisconsin combined.

More rice lands than all the rest of the States.

More marble than Vermont.

More granite than New Hampshire.

More petroleum than Pennsylvania.

More cotton than any other two States, producing one-tird of the crop of the United States.

More iron than Alabama.

More gypsum than any other State.

More lignite than the whole of Europe.

More kaolin than the whole of Europe.

More railroad mileage than any other State.

Coal fields that cover an area of 80,000 square miles.

And a thousand other things unequaled by any other State in the Union.—Galveston News.

After Borough Delinquents.

Tax Collector George F. Brown, of the borough, is making preparations to collect all unpaid personal and poll taxes. A list of the delinquents is now being prepared and will be put in the hands of Deputy Collector Frank Neal in a few days.

Rev. E. B. Brown to Speak.

Rev. Ernest B. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Dunellen, who has been conducting evangelistic services in his own church the past week, will speak at the West End Tabernacle tonight. The public is invited.

Salvation Army Meeting.

Adjutant and Mrs. Jackson will conduct a meeting of special interest at the Salvation Army Hall, tonight, the purpose being to present the industrial branch of the army work here.

The North Plainfield High School basketball team, by defeating Cranford High by the score of 100 to 0 in Debele Hall last night, hung up the record score of the season. The borough team was made up of Conroy and Stine, forwards; C. Smith, center; Becker and Dunning, guards.

THE ENGLISHMAN AT PLAY.

There are some dates one simply hos to know to hid one's own in England, writes Sydney Brooks in Harper's Weekly. August 12 is one of them—the "Glorious Twelfth" when grouse shooting begins. September 1 is the second; it marks the opening of the partridge shooting season. October 1 is more important still, for on it you may shoot pheasants without breaking the law. But greatest and most pregnant of all is November 1, when fox hunting commences its five months' reign.

To complete your social education you must also know precisely when each season closes. Grouse shooting, then, lasts from August 12 to December 10; partridge from September 1 to Februarp 1; fox hunting from November 1 to March 31, and pheasant shooting from October 1 to February 1. With these dates at your finger ends you are at least equipped to listen intelligently to the dominating conversational topic of the country. Without them you will be socially lost. The "Twelfth" has this further significance. It marks the official close of the London season. Actually the season winds up two or three weeks before.

For nearly a month before the "Twelfth" the Park, which is the best and about the only public gauge of London's "emptiness," which can alone tell you whether the half-million who count have fled and only the seven millions who do not count remain, is practically deserted. And yet, while Parliament is sitting and the light burns in the clock tower at Westminster, the season is still officially in being. You see here the advantage of being governed by rich men. I suppose half the grouse moors i the kingdom belong to members of either the upper or lower house. There is, in consequence, an immense pressure put upon legislators to get through their work and wind up the session before the "Twelfth." Bills are rushed through or ruthlessly dropped, importunate democratic members who do not shoot are gagged and crushed into silence, and the government greases every wheel to bring the Parliamentary machine up to its topmost speed.

When Englishmen finally settle down to work they work quickly, and the machine somehow never fails to respond to the call. With the smell of the heather already in their nostrils, and the pop of the guns clicking in their ears, honorable members display the most unwonted activity. A foreigner who did not know the motive might really mistake the British House of Commons, during the momentous days that precede the "Twelfth" for a business-like assembly. There is such earnestness, such speed, such relentless refusal to be led astray from the straight and narrow path. It always meets with its reward. The crisis is scarcely imaginable that would persuade the House to sit beyond the "Twelfth." It never fails to get itself prorogued in time to pack up and catch the night express for Scotland and the moors. And with its prorogration the London season that for weeks beforehand has been spluttering is finally stamped out.

The Auto Girl.

"That is a beautiful bracelet you got for Christmas."

"Yes; it was given me by an old-fashioned friend. For the same money he could have bought ten barrels of gasoline or a set of tires."—Exchange.
